National Football League Has 6-Game Weekend Program

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

The Green Bay Packers, smarting from a 41-10 whippinng at the hands of the Cleveland Browns, are three point choices to get back on the expense of the Colts in Balti- the expense of the Colts in BBaltimore's Municipal Stadium.

The contest, which begins the National Football League's six-game weekend program, will match Western Division teams with 3-2 records. The Packers and Colts are tied for second place, a game behind the Los Angeles Rams (4-1).

Los Angeles entertains the Chicago Bears (2-3) in a unday clash that probably will draw 70,000 fans if the weather is good. The Rams are favored by three points.

The other Sunday games involving first place teams will be played at Chicago and Philadelphia. The Browns (4-1) are 13-point choices to defeat Cardinals 2-2-1 for the 11th time in as many tries. The Pittsburgh Steelers, who are tied with the BBrowns for the Eastern Division lead, play the Eagles (1-3-1) at Philadelphia. Philadelphia is a three point favorite, making the Steelers underdog for the sixth straight week.

Lions Underdog Again

In the other games, the Forty-Niners (2-3) are four-point favorites to defeat the Detroit Lions (0-5) at San Francisco and the Giants (1-4) are slim, one point choices for their game with the Washington Redskins (3-2) at New York.

Green Bay was tied for the Western Division lead until it lost to the Browns last Sunday. Luckily, the Packers escaped from Cleveland with no serious injuries except in the ego department.

Many Injuries

Most of the other clubs also are hampered by injuries.

Halfback Tank Younger of the Rams comes off the injury list but fullback Dan Towler, halfback Skeet Quinlan and end Jack Bighead won't be able to face the Bears.

Halfback Hugh McElhenny, defensive tackle Bob Toneff and end Willy Wilson of the Forty-Niners are injured but may play against Detroit. The reeling Lions are hopeful of winning their first 1955 game because quarterback Bobby Layne is set for action again. Layne did no passing during last Sunday's loss to the Rams. However end Dorne Dibble of the Lions is sidelined, while Jim Martin and Dick Stanfel, two other Detroit line stars, are hurt.

Defensive back Tommy James and linebacker am Palumbo of the Browns won't play against the Cardinals and fullback Ed Modzelewski is a doubtful starter. The Cardinals, hampered all season by injuries, will play without tackle Tony Pasquesi, halfback Charlie Trippi and fullback Mal Hammack.

Rookie halfback Ted Wegert of the Eagles is ready to play after four weeks on the sidelines with a broken bone in his foot but a number of other Philadelphia players, including Jerry Norton, Bob Hudson, Tony Ledbetter an dLum Snyder are hampered by injuries.

Ken MacAfee, an offensive end who has been out with injuries and pneumonia, will be ready to play for the Giants against Washington.

NEW YORK (UP) — Lightweight Contender Joe Lopes of Sacramento, Calif., will replace Flash Elorde of the Philippines as feather weight contender Carmelo Costa's opponent in a TV-radio 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden on Nov. 11. Elorde cabled the International Boxing Club Friday that he would be unable to get into proper condition by Nov. 11.

Gonsalves Blames Listlessness For Dull Performance

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Lightweight contender Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland, Calif., blamed "listlessness" today for the dull performance he gave Friday night while winning a split 10-round decision over Lulu Perez of Brooklyn at Madison Square Garden.

"I just couldn't get going because I was so listless," said the skinny Gonsalves, who was warned four time by the referee to "get in there and fight" during their nationally televised and broadcast bout.

Long Johnny, who might have lost the verdict had not Broolkyn Lulu been penalized the 10th round on a foul for a low blow, explained, "I think I weakened myself by paring down to 133¾ pounds. I fight much better at 135." Perez weighed 133.

Meanwhile Lulu, a former featherweight contender who met his first ranking lightweight, declared, "I really won the fight. I chased him in every round. Sure, I'd like to get him for a return bout."

Although referee Ruby Goldstein warned Gonsalves four times he favored the 27-year-old Californian in the rounds voting, 6-2-2. Judge Artie Aidala also had John ahead, 5-3-2. But Judge Artie Schwartz ballotted for Perez, 5-4-1. The United Press favored Gonsalves, 6-3-1.

Stocky Perez, 22, forced the action in every round as his taller opponent back pedalled away and contended himself generally with counter punching. But his countering left jabs and hooks and straight rights were faster and much more accurate than Lulu's leads. Generally, however, Perez had an advantage at close quarters.

An estimated 2,000 fans booed or sang waltz songs during much of the bout and they jeered the decision. There were no knockdowns although Gonsalves slipped to one knee on a miss in the first round. Perez suffered a cut on his left brow in the 10th.

Gonsalves' 40th victory in 52 fights left him unbeaten in his last six although held to one draw. It was Lulu's seventh defeat in 41 bouts.

Will Attempt To Better Own Record

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UP)—England's Donald Campbell will make a second attempt to better his own speedboard record of 202.32 miles an hour the week of Nov. 8 on Lake Mead. Campbell failed in a previous effort, Oct 16.

Seeks Divorce From Elbert W. Quinn

Suit for divorce, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment, has been filed by Gates & Gates for Mrs. Vera L. Quinn, South Whitley, against Elbert W. Quinn. The couple was married July 31, 1948 and separated Oct. 27, 1955.

Judge Lowell Pefley in circuit court has granted a temporary restraining order to prevent Quinn from selling any of the couple's property until approved by the court, also approving a $10 weekly allowance for Mrs. Quinn's maintenance. Hearing on the permanent order is set for Oct. 31. According to Mrs. Quinn's complaint, they own approximately $7,000 in South Whitley and Columbia City real estate, auto, and household goods. Quinn has been directed to continue payments on real estate contracts. She is seeking $4,000 alimony. There are no children.

Steffen Not Having As Good A Year As His First Two

RIVER FALLS, Wis. (UP) — Crazy Legs halfback John Steffen, national small college rushing leader from River Falls State College, is not having as good a year as his first two, his coach said today.

"Steffen was terrific as a freshman, but we didn't keep accurate records until this year," Coach Phil Belfori said. "He's not having his best year. He was better as a sophomore and a freshman."

"He must have scored 10 touchdowns in his first seasonn," Belfiori said.

This year the 20-year-old left halfback has run for five touchdowns and passed for five more.

He gained 689 yards in 105 carries in six games for a 6.6 average. He has passed for 286 yards for an overall total of 975, also tops among the nation's small colleges. He has averaged 157.5 yards a game.

He gets a chance to up the total against Winona of Minnesota today.

Belfiori said Steffen had been injured much of the year.

"He was out a lot in the last game with a sprained ankle," he said. "and he started the season with a bum knee."

'The boy has an intriguing stlye,' the coach said. "He's not fast. He throws his feet out to the side and has a hop and a gallop along with it. He sure leaves them standing."

Steffen, a junior, came to River Falls from Turtle Lake, Wis., some 40 miles away. He had not played anything but eight-man football at the time, but he caught on quickly.

"He was terrific," Belfiori said. "He came at them with that Elroy Hirsch, crazy leg gait and just left them standing."

Richard Crampton Coaches Marine Team That Loses One Game

During the recently-passed football season, Lt. Richard Crampton, a graduate of Columbia City high school and of Wabash College, has been head line coach for the Armored Tank team at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina. His team lost its first game, 13-0, when playing for the base championship. Crampton's Armored Tank team completed the season with a 6-1 record.

Slade Scores Win Over Tommy Jackson

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP) — Another upset victory over Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson today reinstated heavyweight Jimmy Slade of New York as one of boxing's greatest spoilers.

Slade, unranked in the heavyweight division, punched his way to a split, 10-round decision over third-ranked Jackson Friday night in one of the year's greatest upsets.

It was Slade's second victory in three meetings with the Far Rockaway, N.Y., contender. He also outpointed Jackson in a New York bout in April, 1954, and then dropped a decision to his in-and-out rival last spring.

In Friday night's "rubber match," Slade once again called on his greater ring experience to outmaster Jackson's brute strength and whirlwind tactics. There were no knockdowns, but Slade was groggy and bleeding from the nose at the finish.

Referee Tony la Branche cast the deciding vote in Slade's favor. He gave jarring Jimmy 98 points and awarded Jackson 94 under Ohio's 10-point "must" scoring system.

Judge Charlie Bill aso favored Slade, 96-95, while Judge Herb Williams voted for Jackson, 96-95.

Slade piled up his important points during the early rounds, tired slightly in the middel sessions and then had to overcome a strong late rally by Jackson, who probably sensed he needed a knock out to win.

Jackson scaled 190 pounds, while Slade weighed 180.

Hornets Beat Barons

By UNITED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Hornets, who snapped a two game losing streak by beating the Cleveland Barons, 4-3, Friday night, were tied with the Barons for second place in the American Hockey League race today only a point back of the Providence Reds.

Ron Hurst's second goal of the game earned the Hornets a 3-3 tie at the 13 minute mark of the final period. Then Gerry Foley converted passes from Bob Hassard and Marc Reaume at 16:18 to give Pittsburgh the win, its fourth in six outings. The loss was Cleveland's third in seven games.

In Saturday night games, Pittsburgh is at Cleveland, Hershey entertains Providence, and Buffalo at Springfield.

On The Block

CLEVELAND (UP) — Pitchers Sal Maglie and Art Houtteman and first-baseman Ferris Fain were reported "on the block" today as a result of the Cleveland Indians' plan to "get well in '56" with young blood. The Indians acquired Chico Carrasquel and Jim Busby last Tuesday when they sent 31-year-old slugger Larry Doby to the Chicago White Sox.

Charles Bates Places Eighth In Conference Cross Country Run

Charles Bates, freshman at Manchester College and a 1955 graduate of Columbia City high school, is the mainstay on the Manchester cross country team this fall. Against the University of Chicago, he won first, and on Friday in the Hoosier College Conference at Earlham, he placed eighth against 38 college runners.

On November 4, he will run in the Little State Meet in Indianapolis, being the only runner representing Manchester College.

Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bates, this city.

Fearless Fraley's Facts And Figures

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless Fraley's Facts and Figures:

Baseball men feel that losing Frank Lane as general manager already has hurt the Chicago White Sox in that they got much the worse of the deal Chuck Comiskey made with the Cleveland Indians.

They say that Lane never would have made the deal in which the Sox gave up Chico Carasquel and Jim BBusby for Larry Doby. His basic idea in trading was not to weaken one vital spot to strengthen another and the Sox now have a shortstop problem . . . Cleveland meanwhile corrected a shortstop weakness and got a younger outfielder for Doby. . . .

Probably the only satisfied spcetator in the Marquette - Boston College 13-13 tie was a certain Mrs. Meehan. One son, John plays tackle for Marquette. Another son, Tom, plays guard for Boston college. . . she also was the only observer cheering for both teams. . .

Godfrey's Horses

Arthur Godfrey has six of his four-footed friends stabled at Laurel as the Maryland track opens today. They are Lord Willin', Sun Ruler, Galla Dice, Gone Gal, Ruffles and Sprout . . . no information is available as to how many o fthem have been fired, which in racing parlance means the application of a hot iron to an ailing leg. . . .

Lamar Lundy a six foot, six inch Purdue end from Richmond, Ind., wears size 17 shoes. The man at the corner shoe store advises that this means his foot meaures 17 inche from heel to toe, "give or take a quarter of an inch. . ." and in this case, who would miss it?. . .

Ed Mosler, a Ohio industrialist whose firm made the safes in use at Fort Knox, advises that Darrtown, Ohio, now is known as Brigadoon. In the play by that name, a sleepy hamlet comes to life after being forgotten for 100 years. . . Darrtown, now known as "Brigadoon," is the village which shook off anonymity — as the home of Dodger Manager Walt Alston, who led the Brooks to their first world championship. . . .

Those there football announcers are at it again. One of them got off this little dandy airing a game last week:

"Smith's tenacity is indicative of his particular desire to apprehend his elusive adversary'. . . .and another one popped incongruously: 'the quarterback's position now is not as advantageous, since he had to eat that old potato.". . .

Duffy Daugherty, the Michigan State football coach, isn't going to give his kids a swelled head. Last week, quarterback Earl Morrall completed five of eight passes for 136 yards and two touchdowns, caught a pass, intercepted another, kicked off, punted for a 48-yard average and starred defensively.

"You might say," Daugherty opined cautiously, "if he doesn't get hurt he'll make the traveling squad to Wisconsin next week.

SOMEWHERE IN THE ATLANTIC—Simulating actual battle conditions, Marine amphibious reconnaissance personnel, operating from submarines, infiltrated "enemy" beaches under the cover of darkness, during recent maneuvers held off the North Carolina coast. In this unique commando-type training, the submarine can surface, disembark combat Marines in rubber rafts and submerge silently in short order. One method of launching the Marine reconnaissance teams is demonstrated above. The sub is submerged from under the loaded rubber rafts once the disembarkation point is reached.

These inhabitants of the city of Volos are victims of the third earthquake disaster in Greece within three years. Immediate action following the quakes of April 19 and 21, sent CROP foods from overseas stores to the disaster area. In cooperation with authorities of the Church in Greece, CWS-CROP foods helped to feed the more than 50,000 people left homeless in Volos and the surrounding 28 villages. Official Greek Government estimates reveal that only 15% of the homes in the city were left habitable.

Truman Will Be Guest Of Honor At Dinner And Receive $30,000 For Memorial Library

CHICAGO (UP) — Former President Harry S. Truman, who has said he would support Gov. Averell Harriman if he were a New Yorker, said today he would hold the same feeling for Adlai Stevenson if he were a resident of Illinois.

He said he liked Stevenson.

Mr. Truman arrived by train to confer with Stevenson, and to be guest of honor at a dinner tonight at which a Greek committee will present him with $30,000 for his memorial library.

In an interchange of rapid-fire questions and answers with newsmen, Mr. Truman was reminded he had said that if he were a citizen of New York he would support Harriman.

"What if you were a citizen of Illinois?" he was asked.

"There would be no question of where my loyalty would lie—with Stevenson,' replied the former President.

He then was asked how he felt about Stevenson.

"He's a friend of mine, of course. I like him," said Mr. Truman.

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, was to call on Mr. Truman at his hotel.

Stevenson then was slated to board a plane for Minneapolis, where he and Minnesota Gov. Orville Freeman were to attend the Minnesota - Southern California football game.

Stevenson and Freeman will fly by chartered plane from Minneapolis to Duluth, where Stevenson will address a Democratic dinner tonight.

He is invited to a breakfast given by the Minnesota Democratic Committee Sunday, but aides here said it was still not definite whether he will attend.

Reports circulated in Minnesota that Democrats there will call on Stevenson to run for president again, with Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) as his running mate.

Stevenson spokesmen in Chicago insisted, however, that Stevenson planned no announcement of his 1956 plans during the Minnesota trip.

What to Do About a Flat Tire

By Betty Skelton, Dodge Test Driver

Don't just stand there and look helplessly at a flat tire. Change it!

Except for handling a heavy wheel, which most women can do by rolling it, changing a tire is no more complex than threading a sewing machine bobbin. You can even do it without chipping your nail polish or soiling your clothes.

Tubeless tires on today's cars mean fewer punctures. Still, many a woman must drive alone or with small children on country lanes and highways where there are few knights errant and no phones within walking distance. If she has a puncture, she is helpless.

Miss Skelton

The solution:—learn to change a tire.

To be prepared, keep the following items stored in the trunk: (1) A cheap smock and work gloves, to avoid grimy hands and clothing, (2) pliers and a screw driver, and (3) two pieces of 2"x4", about 10 inches long. One of these should be tapered at one end.

Take Nine Steps

The actual tire change can be accomplished in 9 steps:

1. Apply the parking brake. Block the wheel diagonally opposite the puncture, using the wooden chock or heavy stone. (Certain makes of cars are equipped with special blocks.)

2. Pry off hub cap with a screw driver. Loosen the wheel nuts one turn with socket end of the bumper jack handle, an angled metal bar tapered at one end and equipped with a socket at the other.

3. Place jack under the bumper at point directly behind the flat tire. To raise the car, fasten the lever on the jack. Insert the handle, and work it up and down until wheel is two inches from the ground.

4. Unwind the wheel nuts with your fingers, placing them inside the upturned hub cap. The wheel will slip off easily. Roll it toward the trunk. After the spare is removed, shove it into the trunk. Never mind securing it, because it will have to be removed for repair.

Roll the Tire

5. Loosen the bolt securing the spare tire, which may require the use of pliers. Rool the tire to the ground, then up onto the 2"x4" which has been placed, tapered end first, on the ground below the wheel hub.

6. Adjust the wheel until center holes are in position to slip over the bolts. Fasten one of the wheel nuts, tapered end first.

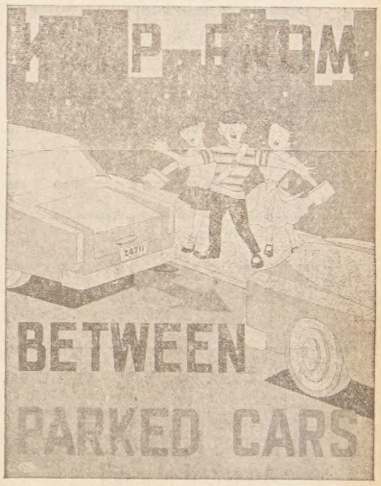
7. After wheel nuts are replaced, tighten them with pumper jack handle's socket end. Be sure they are tightened to the absolute limit.

8. Lower the jack by first releasing the lever, then pumping the handle.

9. Return the hub cap to position, then shove with the palm of your hand.

10. Now that the job is done, give yourself a pat on the back. You deserve it.

America's most famous woman driver, Miss Skelton holds the woman's automotive speed record of 143.44 mph, and is the only woman test driver in the automotive industry. Address any questions or suggestions about cars, safety, and driving problems to her in care of this newspaper.



Children should stay away from parked cars. Every year many accidents are caused because children cross streets from between parked cars. The Chicago Motor Club asks parents to help by pointing out the hazards of crossing from between parked cars. The best way to teach children is by setting good examples. The Chicago Motor Club is distributing the above poster to 44,000 elementary school classrooms in Illinois and Indiana to help dramatize this safety rule to school children.

Mrs. Edna V. Black, 82, died at 4:30 p.m. Friday at the Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient since August 24. She had been in failing health for the last six years and bedfast for many months. Since she entered the hospital in August her condition had remained critical.

She was a native of Smith township, and was born July 30, 1873, a daughter of Charles and Sarah Leach Winebrenner. While a young girl she made her home in Churubusco with her grandmother, Mrs. Diana Leach. After completing her education in the Churubusco school, she was employed in the postoffice and later the Churubusco Truth Printing Company where she worked as a type setter.

January 1, 1897, she was united in marriage to William A. Black, and the following twenty-eight years were spent in Fort Wayne where they managed several hotels. In 1925, they purchased a farm in Smith township eight miles northeast of Columbia City. They continued to operate the farm until retiring approximately a year and a half ago at which time they moved to 108 West Jefferson street.

Mrs. Black was a member of the First Methodist Church in Fort Wayne; the Shiloh Chapter Order of the Eastern Star and the Wayne Temple Pythian Sisters, both of Fort Wayne.

The surviving relatives include her husband William Black; a son, Harry L. Benner, Fort Wayne; five half-brothers, Carl and Ira Winebrenner, both of Kalamazoo, Mich., Earl and Paul Winebrenner, both of South Bend and Guy Winebrenner, North Manchester; five half sisters, Mrs. Frank Beck, Smith township, Mrs. Nellie Shock, Mrs. Marjory Omart and Miss Hazel Winebrenner, all of North Manchester and Miss Helen Winebrenner of Chicago.

The body has been removed to the Smith and Sons Funeral Home where friends may call after noon Saturday. The Rev. Verlin Vernon and the Rev. Floyd Hedges will officiate at the funeral services to be held Sunday afternoon at 2:00 at the Funeral Home. Committal services and burial will be in the South Park Cemetery.

London Newspapers Believe Princess Has Made Up Mind

By ANTHONY CAVENDISH
United Press Staff Correspondent

UCKFIELD, England (UP) — Princess Margaret and Peter Townsend today kept a weekend tryst in the secluded Sussex hills and newspapers speculated an official announcement on the romance between the princess and the pilot is "imminent."

London Newspaper reports said the 25-year-old princess is believed to have at last made up her mind on whether she wants to marry Townsend, the divorced commoner father of two sons.

Some members of Parliament said they expected an official announcement in a few days, possibly by Monday. Court officials were reported anxious to still the raging controversy that has split the crown, church and country.

Whatever Margaret's decision is —if she has decided—she had the opportunity to convey it personally to Townsend at their weekend rendezvous.

Margaret and Townsend were spending the weekend behind the closely guarded walls of Uckfield House, home of Lord Rupert Nevill, in the Sussex hills 20 miles from England's south shore.

Queen Elizabeth II and the Duke of Edinburgh were on an unexpected visit in Perthshire, Scotland. The queen stayed in Scotland also while Margaret and Townsend met at their Windsor rendezvous as weekend guests of Mrs. John Lycett Wills two weeks ago.

The events of the past few days indicated that the drama was rapidly nearing its climax.

Thursday, Margaret met privately for an hour with the Archbishop of Canterbury, Primate of the Church of England, who opposes her marriage to a divorced man whose first mate is still living.

Friday, the princess met with her sister the queen, who, as Defender of the Faith, must also oppose such a marriage.

The public and press remained divided on whether Margaret should choose duty or love.

The London Times warned that by marrying Townsend, Margaret would be "entering into a union which vast numbers of her sister's people. . . cannot in all conscience regard as a marriage."

But the tabloid Daily Mirror came stoutly to the princess' defense. It said that the "cruel plan" of obliging Margaret to give up Townsend "or be banished from the royal circle" is being discussed all over the world.

The Communist Daily Worker said the affair was a capitalist plot to take the minds of the people off the conservative government's "savage class budget."

2. Mr. Eisenhower was walking "at will" around his eighth floor hospital room, getting out of bed whenever he chose and climbing unaided from his bed to sit in the easy chair in his room.

3. The Chief Executive's diet— "because of the President's increased activities" — has been stepped up from 1,600 to 1,800 calories a day. However, the increase will be handled through slightly larger portions and not through added items on the carefully regulated menus.

Ike's Appetite Good

In their final medical bulletin of the day (at 7:45 p.m. EDT) Friday, the President's doctors said:

"The President spent a quiet, restful afternoon. For luncheon, he had steak, escalloped potatoes, mashed turnips (from his own Gettysburg, Pa., farm), green beans, a whole wheat Parker House roll, fresh fruit cup, lime ice and a glass of buttermilk. Mrs. Eisenhower joined the President for lunch.

Arends said the administration's controversial flexible price support program, which went into effect on basic crops this year, can't be blamed for the decline. He attributed it to price - depressing surpluses accumulated under the Democratic program of rigid supports which prevailed until this year.

Political Football Charged

Democratic leaders Adlai Stevenson and Averell Harriman are using the farm program "as a political football" in calling for a return to rigid supports of 90 per cent of parity for basic crops, Arends said.

Rigid supports, Arends said, wouldn't help solve the problem unless production controls which farmers don't want and which "Stevenson and Harriman don't mention."

Arends said "various proposals will be offered next year" for stabilizing farm income and "Congress owes it to agriculture to consider them."

He said that Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson, who has been under sharp fire from Democrats, is "an honest sincere man with no ax to grind who is trying to solve the farm problem."

Arends acknowledged there are some farmers who think Benson isn't solving it "fast enough." But he added that ousting Benson from the cabinet is no answer.

Benson, in a speech at Moorhead, Minn., last night, vowed that he will neither resign nor change his basic farm program "regardless of political pressure."

Warns Israel Will Not Let Egypt Choose Time And Place To Attack

TEL AVIV, Israel (UP) — A member of the Israeli parliament warned today that this country would not let Egypt choose the "time and place to attack us."

Israel Galilee, Adhut Haavoda member of the Knesset and a veteran of the Palestine war, said that Israel will not depend on guarantees from the major powers alone to preserve peace since its own strength is the "best guarantee."

"We are not obligated always to return to our own base as at Khan Yunis," he said, "and it is not our duty to let (Egyptian premier Gamal Abdal) Nasser choose the time and place to attack us at his convenience."

This warning came as Egyptian foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawsi told a correspondent for the Paris newspaper Le Monde in Zurich that Egypt does not plan aggression because it is "neither our plan nor our interest."

Galilee's statement was made at a rally demanding a regional guarantee from all the powers concerned.

Gov said Egyptians fired mortars and automatic rifle fire at an Israeli patrol traveling along the armistice line between Nirim and Beeri but there were no casualties.

He said an Israeli patrol opened fire on a group of armed Egyptians which crossed the armistice line near Neere and that the Egyptians fled back across the border.

Gen Moshe Dayan, Israel chief of staff, completed his vacation and returned to his post, the spokesman said.

A spokesman for the United Nations truce organization said today U.S. military observers had

Donald Ziegler's Injuries Slight; Car Demolished

A scraped arm and bruised head were suffered by Donald O. Ziegler, 24, of Churubusco R 2, when his car was completely demolished as it hurtled into a large tree a mile south and a half-mile west of state road 33 at 11:40 a.m. Sunday.

Ziegler was traveling in his 1953 Ford hardtop on a blacktop county highway. The vehicle rolled over just prior to crashing into the large tree along the road. State Policeman Wayne Reese investigated the accident. The Churubusco man's car was reported as a total loss.

Following the accident Ziegler was fined $1 and costs in the court of Lawrence Jones, Churubusco justice of the peace, on a charge of driving at an unreasonable speed.

Cars Are Damaged

In an accident about 10:45 a.m. Saturday at the intersection of state road 5 and old U.S. 30 route, two automobiles were damaged but none of the occupants was hurt. This accident was investigated by the sheriff and state police.

The crash occurred when Royal Wayne Hartman, 63, of Benton, eastbound on old road 30 in his 1940 Chevrolet coach, collided with the southbound 1951 Chrysler sedan operated by Calvin J. Nichols, 31, of Huntington. Nichols was traveling on state road 5, a preferential highway. Damage to the Hartman car was estimated at $75 but $300 damage resulted to Nichols's vehicle.

Hartman told officers that he halted for the state highway and saw no approaching car. He has pleaded not guilty to a charge of failing to yield right-of-way.

Four Americans Released Today By Red China

Including Priest, Fulbright Student

HONG KONG (UP) — The Chinese Communists released four more Americans today, including a Catholic priest, the White Russian wife of an American sailor and a 35-year-old Fulbright student who said Communist "rehabilitation' had improved her.

Those released were:

Father Armand Proulx, Lawrence, Mass., a Jesuit priest in China since the 1930s.

Mrs. Nadeshda M. Romanoff, wife of an American sailor, and her daughter, Irene. They have been living in Harbin, Manchuria, where the Reds refused repeated requests for an exit visa. Mrs. Romanoff is a naturalized American citizen.

Miss Harriet Mills, a Fullbright scholar of New York City.

Miss Mills came to Hong Kong by train from Peiping. The others arrived aboard the British ship Hanyang.

Father Proulx said he had spent 43 months in jail in Shanghai where he was questioned at least 30 times. But he was not tried until last Wednesday—when Red China announced his release.

The priest said the prosecutor general's office charged him with refusing to register as a member of the Legion of Mary and of as-

Adlai Stevenson Picks Up Added Support From Pennsylvania, Minnesota Democrats

CHICAGO (UP) — Adlai E. Stevenson picked up support from Pennsylvania and Minnesota democrats, even though he still hedged today on whether he is a candidate for the presidency.

In a weekend of crowded political activity, Stevenson:

1. Politely refused to say yes or no to an invitation from the Minnesota Democratic State Central Committee to enter the state's presidential primary next March.
2. Received from Pennsylvania Gov. George M. Leader a prediction that the state's delegation would be almost solid for Stevenson at the Democratic national convention next year.
3. Huddled with ex - President Truman, who says he urged Stevenson to declare his candidacy but who refused to say whether he's backing the party's 1952 presidential candidate for another nomination.

Within the next two-and-a-half weeks, Stevenson is expected to announce whether he is running for President. Political insiders say the answer will be "yes" and that it will be made at a dinner of party bigwigs here Nov. 15.

Stevenson, however, maintained his non - committal policy at Duluth, Minn., Sunday when Minnesota's top democrats drew up a resolution backing him for the nomination and urging him to run in the primary.

Stevenson answered he was "highly honored and deeply grateful" for the bid he added "as I have said before, I will make my intentions regarding the presidential campaign known in Chicago —that still stands."

NLRB Orders Elections At 3 Hoosier Plants

Paves Way For Resuming Negotiations

CHICAGO (UP)—The National Labor Relations Board in Washington has ordered decertification elections at three Perfect Circle Corp. plants in a decision paving the way for resumption of negotiations in the bitter dispute.

Representatives of the CIO United Auto Workers and the company met here today for the first bargaining talks since before a shotgun riot at the firm's New Castle plant Oct. 5.

Negotiations had been stalemated pending the NLRB decision on petition by non-strikers to oust the union at the company's two plants at Richmond and the main plant at Hagerstown.

The order does not apply to the New Castle plant where the bloody riot resulted in intervention by 1,000 Indiana National Guardsmen and a declaration of martial law.

Three-month Strike

UAW members have been on strike at all four of the plants since July 25 in a dispute involving demands for a union shop and pay increases.

The NLRB called for separate elections in each of the three plants within 30 days of the issuance of its order Saturday. Workers at each plant will decide for themselves whether they want to be represented by the UAW.

Robert Volger, Indianapolis NLRB subpregional officer, said he would seek a meeting with both sides "within two or three days" to set a date for the elections.

Taxpayers Saturday Leave $61,612 At The Treasurer's Office

Whitley county taxpayers left more than $60,000 Saturday at the county treasurer's office, payments on this date topping previous single day collections of the fall season.

Monday, Nov. 7, is the final date for paying the fall installment of taxes without incurring the delinquency penalty.

The $61,612 paid into the treasurer's office Saturday included a check for $42,818 from the Pennsylvania railroad. Other than Saturday, last Thursday was the heaviest day in the treasurer's office last week. On Thursday more than $38,000 was collected. This included a check for $22,000 from the Nickel Plate railroad.

Approximately $219,000 remains to be collected in November taxes, according to County Treasurer Foster W. Riddick.

Summerfield Has Conference With President Today

About Post Office Affairs, Not Politics

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

DENVER (UP) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, a key patronage figure in the Republican administration, had a scheduled conference with President Eisenhower this morning and the temporary White House insisted it was about Post Office affairs — not politics.

The discussion was termed "nonpolitical," concerning only "Post Office Department matters," similar to Mr. Eisenhower's conferences with other cabinet officials held in his Fitzsimons Army Hospital suite since his coronary thrombosis on Sept. 24.

Other Visits Likely

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said there was a good possibility the three remaining cabinet members who have not seen the President at the hospital would fly to Denver before the Chief Executive returns East for convalescence, sometime next week. They included Sinclair Weeks, Commerce; James P. Mitchell, Labor, and Marion B. Folsom, Health, Education and Welfare.

Mr. Eisenhower celebrated the beginning of his sixth week of recovery by walking about his suite more than he had ever done before his attack. The medical reports continue encouraging.

But the political winds howled about his strong support of Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson after their conference here late Saturday.

Mr. Eisenhower made it certain that he is solidly behind the embattled Benson and is not backing down on the administration's controversial program of flexible farm price supports.

Special Farm Message

Mr. Eisenhower also approved the agriculture secretary's six-point program aimed at dealing immediately with the biggest political headache confronting the Republicans. He said he would recommend the program in a special farm message to Congress in January.

The President's increased walking was aimed at making him "completely mobile" by the end of this week, when Dr. Paul Dudley White, the Boston heart specialist, will return for a final check on the President before a return flight East for continued convalescence at Mr. Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

Poison Pellets Are Eaten By Daughter Of James Fishers

Linda, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fisher, 940 Lake Ave. Fort Wayne, was admitted to the St. Joseph Hospital Friday afternoon after eating some pellets from a box marked poison.

The small pellets resemble insense and are the type sometimes used at the Fourth of July. When burned they form a snake which falls to ashes if touched.

Mr. Fisher has received the pellets at a gift exchange and had dropped them into a drawer and forgotten all about them.

Linda took the box to her mother when she did not like the taste. When Mrs. Fisher saw the word poison on the box the child was rushed to the hospital where her stomach was pumped. The package was not labeled as to the type of poison or antidote so the doctor telephoned the Boston Clinic for the necessary antidote which was administered.

Linda is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Fisher, West Spencer, street. The child was dismissed from the hospital, Sunday.

Is Dismissed From Hospital

Mrs. Winona Elder, a patient at the Whitley County Hospital since September 27, was dismissed Saturday evening and returned to her home in Larwill in the Smith and Sons ambulance.

This Burglar Keeps Posted On The Weather

Weather predictions for Sunday night's predicted low temperatures may have prompted the burglary of the Fisher Oil Company's office.

When the office was opened today a couple of windows were broken but the only thing missing was one quart of anti-freeze solution.

The entry into the office was made last night, Marion Fisher, the proprietor, reported. A check at the bulk plant and office about 8:00 p.m. Sunday found everything in order.

Authorities said Severns pulled out of his driveway and was rammed by a car driven by Carl Harris, 32, of near LaPorte, and pushed into the path of a third car.

Leonard Hammond, 39, Schneider, was killed late Sunday night on a county road in Lake County when his car went out of control and hit an embankment. Hammond was thrown out and crushed beneath the vehicle.

Snow In Midwest, Rains Taper Off In New England

By UNITED PRESS

Rains tapered off over sodden New England today, ending the threat of more disastrous floods.

Downpours Sunday night and early today sent small streams over their banks in upstate New York. Rivers and streams rose rapidly in Connecticut, hardest hit by the recent New England floods.

But forecasters said early today that the rains had let up and the danger of serious flooding was over.

Elsewhere, wintry weather stretched across the northern Midwest and a new Pacific cold front threatened to rout mild weather in the Southwest.

Chicago had its first snow of the season and there was five inches of snow on the ground at Grantsburg, Wis. Snowplows were broken out for the first time this fall to clear four inches of snow off the streets of Superior, Wis.

Injured In Fall

Mrs. Missouri Juillerat was taken to the Whitley County Hospital Saturday evening in a J. A. DeMoney and Son ambulance. Mrs. Juillerat fell at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Void Hively near Tri Lakes and was admitted to the hospital for a possible fracture of her right knee.

Larwill Man Is Injured As Car Hits Tractor

Charlton Suffers Rib Fractures, Cuts; LaOtto Man Hurt

William Charlton, aged 21, of Larwill, was brought to the Whitley County Hospital following an auto-truck collision on U.S. Highway 30 about 6:40 a.m. today near the intersection of state road 13.

Charlton suffered several fractured ribs and multiple lacerations.

His car, a 1954 Chevrolet, struck a Mack tractor unit which had skidded across the road, partially blocking the highway. The tractor was traveling without a semi-trailer in tow. Operator of the 1955 Mack tractor, also westbound on U.S. Highway 30, was Willie A. Linton, 36, of Society Hill N.C. Linton escaped unhurt.

Linton was being followed by the Larwill man, en route to work at Syracuse. The tractor driver braked quickly to avoid hitting a car ahead of him which was making a left turn. The tractor skid crosswise of the highway and Charlton's car hit the tractor.

The accident happened a half-mile east of state road 13 on U.S. Highway 30.

State Troopers J. D. Geiger and Roger Gerwig of Kosciusko county who investigated the accident believed that damage to Charlton's car would approximate $1,000. The tractor damage was estimated at $150.

Charlton and his wife, the former Marlene Rush, reside in the Larwill residence where Dr. L. W. Tennant resided for many years. Mrs. Charlton has a beauty shop in a part of the residence.

LaOtto Man Critical

Gaylord Campbell, 24, of LaOtto, was termed critical today at Sacred Heart hospital, Garrett, following an auto accident one mile north of LaOtto on state road 3 at 2:40 a.m. Sunday.

His 1954 Oladsmobile was a total loss. Campbell is believed to have fallen asleep and he failed to negotiate a curve. His car left the highway and struck a tree. This crash was investigated by State Trooper Richard Raub.

Maurice G. Smith Suffers Broken Arm In Auto Accident

Maurice Gottlieb Smith, 16, 602 West Van Buren, is a patient at the Whitley County Hospital where he was taken Sunday evening after an accident on Road 205 at a curve beyond the South Park cemetery, a mile south of Columbia City. He received a multiple fracture of the right arm.

Smith was northbound, driving a '47 Dodge about 5:45 p.m. He missed the curve when the car went out of control and drove onto the west berm and veered back across the road to the east side and then back across toward the west, where the Smith car struck a '55 Buick on the left rear fender. The Buick was driven by Max Dunn, 24, 607 East Van Buren. The Smith car went on across to the west berm and down a steep bank where it stopped about 20 feet beyond the pavement. Dunn had seen the Smith car and tried to avoid a collision. Damage to the Dunn car was estimated at $65 and to the Smith car at $175. Dunn was uninjured.

A light rain was falling and the pavement was slick.

Smith was taken to the hospital by Terry May, 509 West Ellsworth. He was in the car following Smith.

State police investigated the accident.

Hopes Of Clues Fade In Slaying Of Chicago Boys

Technicians Find No Fingerprints On Paper Matchbook

CHICAGO (UP)—Police crime technicians announced today they had checked out a new batch of clues in the slaying of three young boys and found them wanting.

The only new lead which held any promise was a dirty, rain-soaked paper matchbook found near the forest preserve ditch where the murdered boys' naked, mutilated bodies were found Oct. 18.

The matchbook had the names of three bowling alleys printed on it — two of them establishments which Robert Peterson, 13, John Schussler, 13, and his 11-year-old brother, Anton, visited on the night of their murder Oct. 16.

Police hope that they had at last found a positive clue faded when the technicians reported that there were no fingerprints or identifying marks on the matchbook.

However, officers pointed out that the matchbook might still link the killing to men who frequented the Northwest Side bowling alleys.

The authorities had less luck with three tennis shoes, a pair of blue jeans, and a Chicago Cubs fan jacket which were turned up in the dragnet.

The clothing was similar to garments worn by the boys when they were last seen alive. But their parents said it did not belong to them.

Scores of policemen, deputy sheriffs, and volunteers continued to search Robinson's Woods, the forest preserve where the bodies were found, for more clues. The volunteers included 22 members of th Shrine Black Horse Troop, mounted on horseback.

But top police officials were forced to admit they were practically at the point where they started when the shocking crime was revealed.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made the announcement at the fourth plenary session of the Big Four foreign ministers conference.

It came as each of the ministers made opening statements on the question of increased East-West contacts, and shortly after Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay agreed to "consider sympathetically" Israeli demands for defense arms.

Dulles told the meeting that the passport restrictions were lifted as of today. This makes U.S. passports valid for the Soviet Union and all other East European coun-

Knowland Suggests Eisenhower Should Make Early Announcement Of 1956 Political Plans

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland suggested today that President Eisenhower should make an early announcement of his 1956 political plans.

If the President should decide against seeking re-election because of his heart attack, Knowland believes that the GOP should be given plenty of time to look over available candidates before the San Francisco convention next August.

The California senator, who is regarded as a possible contender if Mr. Eisenhower bows out, still declined to discuss whether he might seek the nomination.

"Until the President gets out of the hospital and discloses his plans," he told reporters, "I consider any discussion of individual candidacies premature."

Presidential Primaries Loom

Knowland did make clear that he thinks any retirement anouncement from Mr. Eisenhower should come by late fall or early winter. The deadlines for candidates to enter presidential primaries in some of the states come early in February.

If Mr. Eisenhower should withdraw, Knowland's home state may provide much pulling and hauling because it is also the home of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, another possible contender, Gov. Goodwin J. Knight and Chief Justice Earl Warren.

On the other side of the political fence, Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) told reporters today that Republicans "ought to be indicted for murder in the first degree" if they "force" Mr. Eisenhower to seek a second term.

Douglas also showed no enthusiasm for the line being taken by some Southern Democrats who are calling for a "middle-of-the-road" platform and presidential candidate in 1956.

"If the Democratic Party ever becomes a conservative party," he said, "the voters will vote Republican overwhelmingly because they will prefer the real thing to a sham article."

Pennsylvania Governor Speaks

Another Democrat, Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania predicted that his state's delegation to the Democratic national convention next August will be almost solid for Adlai E. Stevenson.

Leader said he has taken "no formal position" regarding any candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. But he declared that he believes Stevenson is "the right man in the right place." Stevenson has not said yet whether he is a candidate for the nomination.

At Duluth, Minn., Sunday, he refused to give a flat "yes" or "no" to a resolution urging him to enter the Minnesota presidential primary next March 20. The resolution was adopted unanimously by the state committee of the Minnesota Democratic Party.

Stevenson said that he plans to make known his intentions in Chicago.

Lesson for November 6, 1955

PEOPLE describing themselves have a tendency to paint themselves handsomer than they really are. They do not like candid-camera shots of themselves. Even when a man has to admit that he has committed a sin or made a mistake, he will try to tell himself his motive was good, anyway. Now Jesus' self-portrait was extremely impressive; but nobody ever called him a hypocrite or a show-off. What Jesus had said of himself in the Nazareth synagogue was just the simple truth: he was indeed the same kind of Friend of Man that God is. He made humanity his business.

Dr. Foreman

Healing Bodies

One fact stands out, and Luke makes a great deal of it. Jesus was a healer. He never assumed that sickness or physical disability "is bound to be." He thought people's bodies were important enough to be sound and well. He never thought of himself as so "spiritual" he could be indifferent to people's physical needs and pains. Wherever he went, he brought health with him. We do not fully understand how he did this, but the Christian church has taken the cue from Jesus here. The tremendous development of hospitals in America and over the world is not today all in the hands of Christians or religious people; but it was religious people who started this kind of thing. The church of today is beginning to see how much harm another kind of illness does, and to work at curing mental diseases. Compare a Christian country like ours with a non-Christian country like Korea where the total Christian population is less than six per cent. There a cripple has ordinarily been something to laugh at. No one would give him a job, no one bothered with him. All he could do was beg, as he crawled or sat in the dust. Now, Christian hospitals there have been doing a work the heathen world never thought of, —rehabilitating amputees, making it possible for them to be self-respecting persons again. Christianity is teaching Korea a lesson. Where once diseases of all sorts were taken as a matter of course, Christian doctors and hospitals have shown the way to national health.

Healing Souls

Some people think that if a man is healthy that is enough. If a man's body is all right, he is all right. Christians know better—because Christ has shown us. Jesus did not think he had done all he could for a man if he got him on his feet, literally. Long before modern medicine rediscovered the fact, Jesus knew that men's most serious diseases are in their souls. He was the Friend of Man,—but not friend of their bodies alone. Hospitals today are more and more making use of chaplains, of counselors—and that is another Christian idea. In every mission hospital the medical missionary is an evangelist too.

What Friendship Means

To Jesus, friendship meant something deeper than what often goes by that name. How many people are "friends" only with the strong, the successful! How many people will be friendly only to those who can give them a lift up the ladder of ambition! This is the friendliness of a mosquito, who will stick close to you, but not with any notion of doing you good. Then again, a common idea of being friendly is to take other people without criticism, take them as they are. A word much in use with psychologists, psychiatrists and counselors nowadays is "acceptance." Now Jesus accepted all kinds of persons who were by everyone else rejected—lepers, tax collectors, the "lower classes," foreigners. But while Jesus opened his heart to these people, in the very act of acceptance he changed them. Some "friends" are like chameleons that take the color of whatever they lie on. Jesus never changed his own colors. He was the friend of sinners, indeed; but by being their friend he led them out of their sins. To be Christlike in friendship is to have a goodness that is contagious.

tries with which the United States maintains relations.

Dulles' move was one of the most significant actions designed to better relations between countries on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The three Western foreign ministers met for an hour and 20 minutes to line up a solid front on the Middle Eastern crisis and to align their strategy in the Big Four conference itself.

Authoritative Western spokesmen said they now are in "complete agreement" on a three-point policy for the war - threatened Middle East.

This was said to comprise:

1. "Sympathetic consideration" of Israel's requests for "limited" quantities of defensive weapons, particularly anti-aircraft guns.

2. Avoidance of any Middle Eastern arms race. There would be no attempt to match big Communist arms sales to Egypt..

3. Restatement of the May, 1950, tripartite declaration which provided for possible action in case of aggression by either Israel or the Arab states. But no new security guarantees for Israel itself.

Reports from Israel said Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov might offer to join the Western Big Three in their 1950 pact but all Western delegations were solidly agreed they want no part of Russian participation in any such guarantees.

Molotov was meeting with Israeli Prime Minister Moshe Sharett sometime later today.

Dulles and MacMillan called a morning meeting with French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay today for an urgent review of the Middle East.

Tuesday Dulles takes advantage of a one-day break in the negotiations and flies to Madrid to see Generalissimo Francisco Franco. Dulles has scheduled a "side trip" to Yugoslavia next week end to see President Tito as well.

Bases In Spain

The United States is building new air bases in Spain which would double its present strategic bases in unsettled French Morocco.

World attention was centered on the Middle East, but the Western powers hoped today to smoke out new Soviet proposals on German unity and European security to lift the Big Four conference out of its deadlock.

The ministers turn today to point three of their agenda — improving contacts between East and West. But this subject is to be turned over quickly to experts while the ministers go back to the more pressing problems of Germany and European security.

Western delegates were awaiting with interest "new security proposals" which Molotov announced he would introduce at today's session. Molotov's proposals of Friday were so obviously unacceptable that Western diplomats could only assume his new offer might contain concessions.

But, barring a major climb down by Molotov, which no one expected, Western diplomats saw little prospect of agreement.

Russian nRefusal Feared

The United States feared Russia would refuse in any circumstances to agree here on German reunification. Dulles is convinced the Russians are not ready to see a Communist regime ploughed under in genuinely free all-German elections, the sources said.

The Israeli premier returns to Tel Aviv tonight but hopes to hold his showdown meeting with Molotov before departing. He also planned a meeting with MacMillan after trying to pin down Molotov about the Communist sale of arms to the Arab countries.

Dulles saw both Molotov and Sharett Sunday. Sharett told newsmen that Israeli was seeking arms to match those of Egypt and a strong security guarantee.

Authoritative sources said Dulles did not exclude the possibility of selling Israel some arms but did not intend to match the Red sale to Egypt or engage in any Middle Eastern arms race.

The sources said the United States intends for the present to stand on the three-power guarantee of 1950 underwriting the frontiers in the Middle East without offering any additional guarantees.

He said the Egyptians were deployed in front of Bir Ein but that it had been impossible to estimate the number of troops there. He indicated the Egyptians had occupied a considerable part of the border area "although not the whole length of the border."

Major General Dean Retires Today After 32 Years In Army

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, a foot soldier who never could get comfortable in his role as the "hero of Taejon," retires from the Army today after 32 years' service.

The Army planned an elaborate farewell ceremony, complete with full dress parade, to mark Dean's last hour in its ranks.

The fuss was likely to embarrass the 56-year-old Dean. The general, captured in the early days of the Korean War while trying to spot Communist tanks, could never get used to the spotlight of fame.

"The real heroes of Taejon are the ones who didn't come back," he said. "What I have done is nothing compared to the great sacrifices made by so many others."

Dean, released from a Red prison camp in September, 1953, has since advised, too, against judging too harshly those who broke under Communist brainwashing. He has served since his release as deputy commander of the 6th Army here.

The general has only one goal in mind right now.

"My only desire is to devote my time to my wife and family," he said.

Fatal Shooting Of Millionaire Is Investigated

Question Members Of The Duchess Of Windsor Set

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
United Press Staff Correspondent

OYSTER BAY, N.Y. (UP)—Detectives questioned today members of the "Duchess of Windsor set" in an intensive investigation of the fatal shooting of multi-millionaire William Woodward Jr., 35-year-old owner of the famous race horse, Nashua, by his ex-model wife.

Nassau County Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta said the shooting was apparently an "accident" but would remain an "open case" pending full investigation. The 32-year-old Ann Eden Crowell Woodward, who was reported to be in a state of shock in New York's Doctors Hospital, told police she mistook her husband for a prowler.

The young sportsman was the son of the late William Woodward Sr., president of the Hanover Bank of New York and owner of Belair Farms whose horses have won three Kentucky Derbies.

Returned From Party

The shooting took place early Sunday morning in the Woodwards' lodge in this exclusive Long Island community shortly after the couple returned from a party honoring the Duchess of Windsor at the home of Mrs. George F. Baker.

Gulotta ordered detectives to question Mrs. Baker's 58 guests, whose names represent the cream of New York society, but there was no specific order to question the duchess, who came here recently to confer with her publishers about her autobiography. The Duke of Windsor remained in Paris.

The guests told police the Woodwards talked incessantly of their fear of a prowler and had stated they intended to "get him."

Mrs. Woodward, a one-time Powers model and radio actress turned socialite, killed her husband with a blast from a double - barrelled, 12-gauge shotgun that police said "nearly ripped off his head." Another blast from the gun nearly tore off the bedroom door in front of which he was standing.

Immediately Called Servants

The beautiful blonde immediately called servants and police who found her husband's nude body lying in a darkened hallway connecting Woodward's bedroom with his wife's. Mrs. Woodward said they had both gone to bed armed because of a prowler, believed responsible for at least 40 local burglaries, had been lurking around their home.

Mrs. Woodward said she heard their dog bark after she had gone to bed. She said she went into the hallway with the shotgun and "saw a shadowy figure." She said she fired and then realized "almost immediately" that the figure was that of her husband. Woodward was not armed but a German automatic pistol was found in his bedroom.

Mrs. Woodward, the daughter of a middle class Pittsburg, Kan., family, married the banking heir in Tacoma, Wash., in 1943. They had two children, William III, 11, and James, 7, who were reported to have been taken to the Manhattan home of their paternal grandmother after the tragedy.

Blue Lake Woman Applies For Divorce

Suit for divorce was filed today in circuit court by Biddle & Meyers, local attorneys, for Mrs. Sandra Lee Helgesen, Blue Lake resident, against Arthur G. Helgesen.

In addition to divorce from Helgesen she seeks custody of their son, Brian G., aged two months. Hearing on the custody petition is set for Nov. 7. Mrs. Helgesen has filed a petition for funds to prosecute her divorce suit and for the support and maintenance of the child.

Navy Has Plenty Of Company In Misery As High Ranked Teams Bemoan Weekend Woe

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

Navy's Middies, their perfect record sunk and their chance of a return bowl trip damaged by hard-hitting Notre Dame had plenty of company in misery today as high ranked college football teams bemoaned a "weekend of woe."

Of the nation's 18 leading teams, only 10 scored victories. Seven were beaten and another suffered a costly tie.

The Middies, who had high hopes of whipping Notre Dame for the first time since 1944 and improving their No. 4 national ranking, were the major victims of the weekend. Seventh - ranked Notre Dame, with quarterback Paul Hornung widely outplaying Navy's celebrated George Welsh in their personal duel for possible All-America honors led all the way and won, 21-7.

Watching the clash at South Bend, Ind., were officials of the Sugar Bowl game, which was won by Navy last year. The convincing loss may have dimmed prospects of Navy's being asked to return to the Sugar Bowl—or to go to the Cotton Bowl—but it was believed a bid still might be forthcoming if the Middies win all their remaining games, including an impressive victory over Army. Navy got its Sugar Bowl bid last season despite a 6-0 loss to Notre Dame.

Other Major Casualties

Here were the other major casualties:

Auburn (No. 8) lost to Tulane, 27-13, and dropped out of the Southeastern Conference lead; ouSthern California (also No. 8) bowed to Minnesota, 25-19; Texas A&M (No. 10) held to a 7-7 tie by Arkansas that left its Southwest Conference lead wafer-thin; Duke No. 14), crushed by Georgia Tech, 27-0; Pittsburgh (No. 6), drubbed by Miami (Fla.), 21-7; Holy Cross also No. 6) kayoed from the unbeaten ranks in a 49-9 rout by Syracuse; and Washington another No. 6) lost to Oregon State, 13-7, a defeat that hurt the Huskies Pacific Coast Conference hopes.

But only a spectacular rally saved Michigan, the nation's No. 1 team. The Wolverines trailed Iowa by eight points with nine minutes remaining and then exploded for three fast touchdowns, including two on long passes by Jim Maddock to win, 33-21.

It was a magnificent comeback under tremendous pressure. Not only was the Big Ten lead at stake with its goal of a Rose Bowl berth, but Michigan's closest rivals for the No. 1 national ranking, Maryland and Oklahoma, were scoring easy victories. Maryland, ranked No. 2, romped over South Carolina, 27-0, and Oklahoma breezed past Kansas State, 40-7.

UCLA ranked iiitn nationally, drubbed California, 47-0 and Michigan State (No. 6), lone conqueror of Notre Dame, impressed again with a 27-0 victory over Wisconsin.

Week-end Stars

Among the other leading individual stars of the weekend were:

Soph Bo Roberson of Cornell, who ran to two touchdowns and caught a pass for another in 34-19 win over Columbia; M.C. Reynolds of Louisiana State, who completed 17 passes for 199 yards and three touchdowns and scored another TD himself despite LSUs 29-26 loss to Mississippi; Tom Berry of Oregon State who scored two touchdowns, including one on a 72-yard run, in 13-7 upset of Washington; Jim Swink of Texas Christian, who gained 138 yards rushing and scored one TD in 28-6 victory over Baylor; Fred Wyant of West Virginia, who scored two touchdowns and passed to another as the Mountaineers stayed unbeaten with a 39-0 rout of Marquette; soph Gene Newton, whose passes scored two touchdowns for Tulane and set up aonther in 27-13 upset of Auburn; soph Rich Borstad of Minnesota, who plunged to two touchdowns and blocked a key punt in upset of Southern California; Ed Vereb of Maryland, who tallied three touchdowns in the victory over South Carolina to set new Atlantic Coast Conference season records of 11 touchdowns and 66 points, and Don Holleder of Army, who finally starred as a quarterback by scoring one touchdown and passing to three others in 27-7 win over Colgate.

Cleveland Browns And Chicago Bears Are Hottest Clubs

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Browns and Chicago Bears — professional footballs most successful teams — were the National Football League's "hottest" clubs today as the huskies hit the halfway mark in their seasons amid a swirl of player brawls.

The Browns (5-1) took the undisputed Eastern Division lead Sunday snapping a tie with the Pittsburgh Steelers (4-2) by defeating the Chicago Cardinals, 26-20. The Philadelphia Eagles gave the Browns a big assist by shutting out Pittsburgh, 24-0.

The Bears' third straight victory was a key triumph that helped the Baltimore Colts deadlock the Los Angeles Rams for the Western Division lead. The Bears mauled the Rams, 31-20, at Los Angeles after the Colts scored a 14-10 Saturday night decision over the Green Bay Packers.

In the other Sunday games, the San Francisco Forty - Niners handed the Detroit Lions their sixth straight defeat, 38-21; and the New York Giants defeated the Washington Redskins, 35-7.

Western Race Close

The Rams and Colts have 4-2 records and the Bears, Packers and Forty-Niners are only a game behind with 3-3 marks while the Lions (0-6) are last. In the East, The Redskins (3-3, Cardinals and Eagles each 2-3-1) and the Giants 2-4) are strung out behind the Browns and Steelers.

Don Paul scored on a 60-yard punt return and set up what proved the winning touchdown — Otto Grahams four-yard pass to Ray Renfro—but the Browns had trouble subduing the aroused Cardinals in the rain at Chicago.

Ollie Matson and Harry Thompson of the Cardinals plus Clevelands Herschel Forester and Bob Gain were thrown out for fighting. Coach Paul Brown said his Browns would have lost "if the game had lasted a few minutes longer.' Coach Ray Richards said fumbles and the officials stopped his Cardinals.

End Harlon Hill kept the Bears rolling by catching three touchdown passes, including one from Ed Brown that covered 86 yards for the longest pass-run of the NFL season. The Rams scored first on Larry Morris' two-yard plunge.

Rookie Scored Twice

Ted Wegert, a rookie halfback sidelined for the past four weeks with a foot injury, scored twice for the Eagles at Philadelphia. Pittsburgh's Leon Campbell and Bob Gaona and Philadelphia's Chuck Bednarik were tossed out for fighting. Steeler Coach Walt Kiesling was in a fighting mood after the game.

"We played lousy football — not on any particular play, but on the whole works,' Kiesling said. "I can't understand it—a team up there fighting for the lead yet not showing the determination or wanting to win."

Fullback Joe Perry led the Forty-Niners, who lost to the Bears last week, against the Lions. e scored twice and gained 49 yards on 20 rushes.

Rookie Jim Patton's 98-yard TD dash with the opening kickoff and his 69-yard scoring run with a punt featured New York's triumph over Washington.

Buddy Young and L. G. Dupre scored Baltimore's touchdowns against the visiting Packers but Alan Ameche was the key offensive man for the winners, gaining 17 yards on 22 carries.

Melis, 26, is a slam-bang mauler who throws much leather but is only a fair puncher. His 33-8-2 list includes only six kayoes.

Weather Threatens Snow Flurries In Northern Indiana

By UNITED PRESS

Cold weather brought the threat of snow flurries to Indiana today, as early morning temperatures dropped to 35 at South Bend, Fort Wayne and Lafayette and 38 at Evansville.

The chill weather came on the heels of a dismal weekend which saw most of Indiana pelted by a cold drizzle and Lafayette caught in a twin assault from sleet and snow.

The weatherman said the rain and snow would be confined to the north portion of the state, but temperatures over all of Indiana will be "quite cool."

Temperatures today will range from 44 north to 50 south. Lows tonight will drop to 36 north and 40 south.

Showers will fall on all of the state Tuesday, with temperatures ranging from 53 to 58.

Indianapolis recorded .11 of an inch rain during the last 24-hour period. All other weather station cities reported less than one-tenth of an inch.

Temperatures Sunday ranged from highs of 49 at Evansville and 48 at Fort Wayne and Indianapolis, to 44 at Lafayette.

The outlook for Wednesday was more showers and turning cooler.

Hearings Begin On Federal Insurance Against Disasters

By HERBERT FOSTER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Banking Committee summoned administration witnesses to testify today on proposals for federal insurance against disasters like this year's New England floods.

The administration was expected to make public its own proposed insurance program.

Also under committee scrutiny are various congressional plans for disaster insurance. The latest, disclosed Sunday by Acting Chairman Herbert H. Lehman (D-NY), would furnish coverage against risks of floods, drought, smog and atom bombs. It would be a 12 billion dollar program.

First witnesses summoned were Federal Housing Commissioner Norman P. Mason and other housing officials.

Army Engineers Chief

Other witnesses included Maj. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis Jr., Chief of Army Engineers, and spokesmen for the Civil Defense Administration, the Departments of Commerce, Agriculture, and Interior and the Small Business Administration.

The Commerce Department has reported that Hurricane Diane, which struck the Northeast Aug. 17-19, caused 179 deaths and $457,674,044 in property damage. Most of the property damage must be considered a total loss because private compaines wil lnot insure individuals against hurricane and flood.

The committee will move to New York City Thursday to hear Gov. Averell Harriman and private insurance spokesmen. It will hear state officials Friday in Goshen, N.Y., and conduct hearings later in Boston, Providence and Hartford.

Lehman's sweeping proposal would center all disaster relief in the Civil Defense Administration, which would be retitled the "Federal Disaster Administration."

Two Kinds Of Coverage

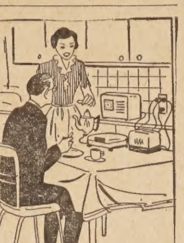
Under Lehman's plan, the administrator would set up two kinds of insurance: against natural disasters such as flood, drought, smog or volcanic eruption; and against property damage, personal injury, sickness or death caused by war. This would cover atomic or biological attack as well as conventional war.

The two-billion dollar natural disaster program, financed by a Treasury loan of half that sum, would limit property damage claims to $300,000 per person. The program also could be sold as a package to a state or local government.

The war risk insurance would be based on a 10 billion dollar federal loan.

Buying Tips

When buying fresh peppers, choose those with a bright and glossy surface, and that are well-shaped and free from blemishes.



DINING ROOM: Be careful not to overload electric circuits. Don't use too many appliances all on one circuit. If you like to dine by candlelight, use electric candles. An overturned real candle can easily set fire to your tablecloth and cause great damage to your house.

Veteran's Service Officer Resigns

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —Harvey B. Stout, Carnel, who has been state veteran's service office since the post was created 10 years ago, announced his resignation Sunday.

Stout, who has served under three governors, said the resignation would be effective as soon as Governor Craig names a successor. A veteran of both World Wars, Stout was named to the post by former Gov. Ralph Gates, and was retained by Henry Schricker and Craig.

Stout, who is 70, said his age was the main factor in his decision to resign. He said he would go to Florida later for his first vacation in "50 or 60 years."

Wheat Growers Attack Price Support Plan

Spokesmen For Oregon, Washington Urge Two-Price Plan

By BERNARD BRENNER
United Press Staff Correspondent

PENDLETON, Ore. (UP)—Pacific Northwest wheat growers today attacked the administration's flexible farm price support plan and urged, instead, a two-price plan for wheat.

Spokesmen for Oregon and Washington growers told the Senate Agriculture Committee at a hearing on farm supports here their plan would offer 100 per cent of "fair income" parity props for the portion of the crop—about half —used domestically as human food.

The rest of the crop would move into animal feed or export markets for whatever it would bring. The National Grange has endorsed this type of support for wheat, cotton and rice, three of the nation's major export crops.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La) of the Senate committee said in a statement that neither flexible nor rigid supports would, in themselves, solve the problem of sagging farm income.

The administration's flexible program will provide props between 75 and 90 per cent of parity on major 1956 crops. The rigid plan enforced until last Jan. 1 pegged supports on major crops at 90 per cent.

Ellender, whose committee today launched the second week of itsnationwide tour to gather grass roots before writing a new farm bill, said farmer witnesses heard so far had offered "many conflicting views."

The chairman said he was "prejudging" the case, but evidence heard to date indicated "it is agreed that:'

1. "Our producing acres must be reduced...and must be permitted to remain idle on condition that some payment be made by the government."

2. "We must find a way to dispose of surpluses to the point where they will not depress our market."

3. "A way must be found to encourage the production of readily salable farm commodities of good quality."

Resume Operations At Indianapolis Stockyards Today

anapolis Stockyards resumed operations today following settlement of a week-long strike that had shut down one of the nation's largest livestock markets.

About 113 CIO United Packinghouse Workers, who called the strike at midnight Oct. 23, voted late Saturday to accept a new one year contract. The agreement was reached in negotiations Friday under the auspices of Federal Conciliator James Allen.

The workers accepted a company offer of an 11-cent hourly wage increase, plus company paid medical insurance costing three cents hourly. The union, which had sought a straight 14-cent wage hike, won extensive revisions of the contract's seniority provisions.

The stockyards began receiving livestock Sunday afternoon in preparation for today's marketing.

Voting will be about 725 production workers at the piston ring manufacturer's Hagerstown plant, about 235 at the Richmond machining plant and about 100 at the Richmond sleeve casting foundry.

New Castle Exempted

No election was ordered for the 229 production workers at the New Castle foundry as the firm said there is no question the union has a majority there.

The NLRB rejected the union's plea for dismissal of the decertification petitions on grounds that leaders of the non-strikers had not signed non-Communist oaths, as required of union officials.

The board said the petitioning employes obviously acted only as a temporary and informal group, and not as a union.

New Homes Built In Westgate Addition

Three new houses in the Westgate addition have been occupied or are nearing completion.

The original houses, started along the south side of Road 30 (then the Squawbuck road) about 1947, now number nine houses.

The Columbia City Realty Corporation was organized June 18 1946. Eighty lots were plated. Streets have been laid out and named. Paralleling Road 30 on the south are Westgate Avenue and Factory street, which is nearest the railroad. North and south streets starting at the east have been named, James, Lowell, Lawrence, Royal and Nile for the first names of incorporators.

The name Westgate, submitted by Mrs. J. Claud Heritier when the subdivision was formed, was selected in a naming contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Meyer and children, Rebecca Ann, 4 and Ricky, 2, moved over the weekend into their new home facing south at the corner of Westgate and Lowell streets. They formerly lived near Laud.

Mr. Meyer is in the insurance business and has an office in his home. Mrs. Meyer assists at the Dues Coffee shop.

Combination picture windows are in the living room to the south and dinette to the north. The kitchen and dinette are partially separated by a drop ceiling partition. Natural finish wood kitchen cabinets have gray formica tops with a rolled edge. Matching tile is used above the counter back.

A grade entrance next to the kitchen leads to the basement. The house is heated by gas.

Two closets open from a hall leading from the living room to the three bedrooms. All closets have lights.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pence have been living in their new home facing east on James street at the intersection with Westgate avenue.

The two bedroom house has the living room at the east. The kitchen and dinette are separated by a snack bar. The utility room is next to the kitchen.

The solid panel doors, floors and woodwork are in natural finish.

Mrs. Pence is employed at the Fibre Form and Mr. Pence by the Thiele Construction Co., Fort Wayne.

The three bedroom home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Baker at the southwest corner of Westgate and James street is nearing completion. They have two sons, Jerry, 13, who attends West Ward school and Steve, 3.

The living room is at the north. An entrance at the west leads to the basement or kitchen. The house will be heated with an oil furnace.

Mr. Baker teaches vocational agriculture at Cromwell.

Westinghouse Grants Pay Increase To Non-Union Workers

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Westinghouse Electric Corp. crippled by a twin strike of 55,000 production workers, today granted pay increases totalling 16 per cent over a five-year period to 25,000 non-union employes.

The increases and some 30 other benefits were similar to those provided in an agreement reached late Friday night with the Federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried Unions, representing 13,500 white collar workers.

Two other unions, the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and the independent United Electrical Workers, have rejected virtually the same terms. The IUE has been on strike since Oct. 17 and the UE since Oct. 25.

For added flavor and fragrance, mix a little grated orange rind with your tea.

Palace Official's Midnight Visit Causes Speculation

BULLETIN

LONDON (UP) — A royal announcement said tonight that Princess Margaret will not wed RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

By HAROLD WILLARD
United Press Staff Correspondent

UCKFIELD, England (UP) — A palace official's midnight call on Princess Margaret sent speculation racing across Britain today that her engagement to Peter Townsend will be announced this week.

It was considered possible that he brought the draft text of an announcement to the lonely country house where Margaret spent the weekend with Townsend.

Capt. Oliver Dawnay, private secretary to Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, hurried into the princess' Uckfield House retreat with a police escort at 11 p.m. and departed shortly after midnight and raced off to London in a chauffeur-driven Jaguar at a 95-mile-an-hour clip.

Dawnay's Second Visit

This was Dawnay's second trip in two days to see Margaret.

The possibility arose that Prime Minister Anthony Eden would deliver an engagement announcement to the House of Commons today when it begins its regular week's work.

He still has before him a question about changing the royal marriage act to permit Margaret to marry Townsend but might save the answer for Tuesday's question period.

British newspapers were reporting the hurried, mysterious sequence of events as evidence that Princess Margaret has at last decided whether to marry Townsend. Opinion was predominantly that her answer would be yes.

Margaret traveled to Uckfield with considerably more baggage than necessary for a weekend. It was believed she might remain in Uckfield to avoid the publicity attending her every move in London.

It was already disclosed that Margaret did not plan to attend tonight's royal film performance, a gala annual event she has always seen previously.

It was not known officially if Townsend still were in Uckfield House.

Time was running out on Townsend's vacation. He came to Britain on a month's leave from Brussels, and the leave expires next week.

Prayer Service

A Prayer service of Trinity Methodist church will be held at 9:00 a.m. Tuesday, at the home of Waneta Scott, 304 South Elm street, which will include the southwest part of the city.

U. S. To Propose Study Of Effect Of Atomic Radiation

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)— The United States will propose in the United Nations main political committee today that a commission be established to make a global study of the effects of atomic radiation on human health and safety.

The hazard of atomic-radiation was named Friday as the next subject for political committee debate. The vote was 49 to five with 2 abstentions despite a Russian bid to force an immediate debate in the committee.

The U.S. proposal, informed sources reported, will be that a special commission be established to gather reports from government on the hazards and prevention of atomic radiation.

To Discover Real Danger

The United States, Russia, Britain and the other "atomic world powers" would be represented on the proposed commission. An American source said that the United States hoped that the commission's survey would bring out the real truth about the radiation problem.

Popular fears of the genetic threat to future generations of radiation caused by atomic test explosions make up the hard core of the problem. This commission's report might ease some of these fears, the Americans pointed out.

On Peaceful Uses

The sources said that the study will be on peaceful and peacetime uses of nuclear power. Civilian uses of A-power are posing greater and greater radiation problems, some even larger than the military threat, the sources added.

The building of atom-power stations in the United States and other nations brings the radiation hazard close to large population centers which already are subject to radiation from X-rays and similar equipment, the Americans reported.

India and Russia have underlined the radiation threat from military uses of atomic power, the sources pointed out, but the United States sees radiation hazards as peacetime problems.

Find Boy's Body One Year After His Disappearance

POWERS LAKE, N.D. (UP) — The discovery of a 4-year-old boy's body one year after he had wandered from his ranch home raised strong suspicions today that he ha dbeen murdered.

Authorities planned to drain off the slough where the discovery was made Sunday.

Sheriff Martin S. Ryan said it was "inconceivable' that Lavern's body had been overlooked in a shoulder-to-shoulder search by thousands of men last October.

Ryan also couldn't figure out how the little boy could have got so far out into the pond, located about a mile from his parents' ranch home.

Making Chicago World Port Is Step Nearer Goal

Ground To Be Broken Wednesday For Project

By EBERETT R. IRWIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP)—The dream of making this mighty industrial and transportation hub of America a world port moves a step toward reality this week.

Ground will be broken Wednesday for an eventual 95 million dollar four-year project designed to strengthen a vital link between the Mississippi Basin breadbasket and the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway outlet to foreign ports.

The project, being launched initially on a four million dollar congressional appropriation, calls for widening of the murky, smelly, 16-mile-long Calumet-Sag Channel that connects Lake Michigan with the 7,000-mile inland waterways system.

A charge of dynamite will turn the first ground at an old bridge near suburban Lemont southwest of here. Years of blasting and digging will follow as the 60-foot channel is widened to 225 feet and 31 low-clearance bridges are replaced by larger spans.

The Cal-Sag, when fully developed, still will be primarily what it is today—a barge passageway. Most ocean-going vessels cruising inland to Chicago after completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway will not be able to negotiate the Cal-Sag and travel on southwestward to the Mississippi River and Gulf of Mexico.

The significance of the Cal-Sag improvement is that it will enable barge traffic through the channel to climb from the present three million tons per year to as much as 18 million tons annually. And the barges, by-passing the backward-flowing Chicago River route through Chicago's congested loop area, will deposit their cargoes at the docks of the city's budding commercial and industrial harbor at suburban Calumet at the end of Lake Michigan.

Industrial and civic leaders say the widening of the Cal-Sag and development of the world port—just getting under way with a 24 million dollar initial expenditure—will have a tremendous impact.

"We expect Chicago to become the Rotterdam of America," said Max Cohen, executive director of the Chicago Regional Port District.

The Chicago Association of Commerce said the waterways improvements will give the metropolitan area the world's most efficient transportation system.

Professor Harold M. Mayer, economic geographer at the University of Chicago, said the combined projects would create more than 300,000 new jobs and probably support an additional population of two million in the city's sprawling south shore industrial empire.

saulting a Chinese beggar. He was sentenced to four years and immediate deportation.

Mrs. Romanoff said she was forced to leave behind property worth $400,000 and that she had arrived in Hong Kong penniless. She was being cared for by the International Refugee Organization before going to San Francisco.

Miss Mills, 35, defiantly told newspapermen "I am not a Communist" and "I have not even thought of being a Communist" but that the Chinese government was "completely justified in arresting me." She said she fully believed Communist claims that the United States had practiced germ warfare in Korea.

She quickly made it clear she considers the Americans warmongers and the Chinese "peace loving people."

"I was arrested for doing what I thought a good American should do," she said, "but in prison I learned what a true and real American should so."

By this, she explained, she meant "security and genuine peace and giving a decent life to everybody under the banner of socialism and everbody having genuine equality."

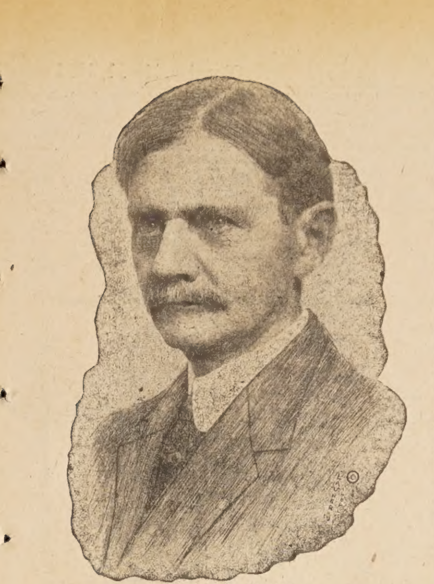
Success Of Big Four Conference Now Hinges On Soviet Promises



Thomas R. Marshall

Nixon May Be Leaning On Precedent Set By Our Most Famous Son, Thomas R. Marshall

Richard Nixon had the precedent made by Columbia City's most illustrious citizen, Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall, upon which to lean when faced with the problems which grew out of President Eisenhower's heart attack.

The parallel of circumstances has been drawn by Jack Steele, Scripps-Howard staff writer. Steele's article, which relates a bit of the Hoosier humor which Marshall did not include in his "Hoosier Salad" published in 1925, has reviewed for the readers of the Washington Daily News (Oct. 26 issue) the similar situations in which Nixon and the World War I vice-president have found themselves.

This has come to the Columbia City newspapers through the kindness of Ex-Gov. Ralph F. Gates. He is acquainted with Mr. Steele and was sent the Scripps-Howard writer's article by a mutual friend in Washington.

Before reproducing the article, it should be mentioned that the constable "back home" which Thomas Marshall quoted in announcing the role he intended to play back in 1918, is known hereabouts to be fictitious. But Marshall may have given some Whitley county philosopher this pseudonym as he had a greatness of heart and a kindliness which would not allow him to embarrass even the lowly worker.

Mr. Steele's narrative about Mr. Marshall, whom every local schoolboy knows was first governor of Indiana and later vice-president during the presidential terms of Woodrow Wilson, is entitled, "Constable Helped Veep Marshall Decide 1918 Role." This is reproduced in the following paragraphs:

"Vice President Thomas R. Marshall, way back in 1918 faced a problem not unlike that which recently confronted Vice President Richard Nixon when President Eisenhower suffered his heart attack.

"Vice President Marshall, in the midst of a public uproar about his role, sought the counsel of a lowly constable back home in Indiana.

"The constable advised him, or at least so Mr. Marshall said at the time, that he could take over President Woodrow Wilson's job — but not his salary.

"Mr. Marshall announced that, in the circumstances, he would stick to the vice presidency.

Trick-Or-Treat Night Enjoyed; No Vandalism

No reports of Halloween vandalism were received by police today.

Trick or-treat night, event of last evening, saw hundreds of children of varying ages making their way in varied costumes from door to door to collect their levy from the householders.

It was all in good humor, according to reports, and one Hanna street householder was so delighted with the trick-or-treat callers that he visited the newspaper office to express his pleasure and ask that a similar event be planned for 1956.

Official trick-or-treating was confined to last night instead of being spread over several weeks as occurred heretofore.

The event was not without its humor. Three boys, about 10, whose Halloween makeup consisted of rudely applied burnt cork, did their trick-or-treating in the business district although most of the stores were closed. They visited the restaurants, bowling alleys, confectioneries, etc., where they were liberally rewarded.

"The pay-off's a lot better down town," they explained.

Autos Collide On Van Buren Street

Eddie Frank Thompson, 20, Warsaw, R 3, following in his 1951 Chevrolet automobile behind Ray Mast, Etna Green R 1, rammed into the rear of the Mast 1950 Dodge coach when it halted in front of him on Van Buren street about 150 feet east of the Line street intersection at 9:00 p.m. Monday.

A car preceding Mast stopped in the traffic lane, causing Mast to stop also. Thompson's vehicle was damaged to the extent of $75 but Mast's received no damage. A report of the accident was made by the drivers to Morris Carlile, city policeman.

Egyptian Troops Open Attack On Israeli Position

Before Dawn, But Are Driven Back

TEL AVIV, Israel UP) — Egyptian troops tried to attack an Israeli position under cover of a heavy artillery barrage before dawn today but were driven back, an Israeli army spokesman said.

Maj. Dan Gov, the official suokesman, said the Egyptian infantry platoon charged toward an advanced Israeli position on the outskirts of Kissufim from Egyptian positions bordering on the armistice line.

He reported no casualties.

Gov said Egyptian Vampire jets stabbed into Israel Monday afternoon and that two of the jets were seen circling over Nitzana and the Patish settlement in the demilitarized zone area. He said four planes flew over the area Sunday.

The spokesman said an Egyptian military force penetrated Israeli territory in the Nirim sector Monday and opened machine gun fire on Israeli positions from an Egyptian post. He said an Israeli force put the Egyptians to flight without suffering casualties.

A foreign office spokesman said Israel had complained to the Israeli - Egyptian Mixed Armistice Commission about the Nirim attacks.

Britons Hail Princess As Heroine; Threaten Trouble For Those Who Wrecked Romance

By GENE PATTERSON

United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON (UP)—Britons hailed Princess Margaret today as a martyred heroine, and their runaway emotions threatened trouble for those who wrecked her romance.

The Archbishop of Canterbury was the first target of the romanticists who had hoped for her marriage to Group Captain Peter Townsend. The Duke of Edinburgh drew fire, too.

The Princess, who announced on Monday she would not marry Townsend, was reported determined to rebound swiftly from heartbreak by seeing her old faithful escorts and perhaps to seek happiness in a trip to the United States.

There was solid speculation that within the next few months she would announce her acceptance of Mayor Robert F. Wagner's invitation to visit New York. The royal family now would give her almost anything she wants.

Duke Of Edinburgh

The Duke of Edinburg remarked when he was last in Ottawa that Margaret "is always complaining she has never been over here yet and I think she means to remedy that just as soon as she can."

Friends close to Margaret said the hurt of her unfulfilled love will take time to dull but that she was shunning serious thoughts of sacrificial spinsterhood and probably would seek the help of her past escorts, Billy Wallace and Lord Wilton.

For the rejected Townsend, who was unacceptable because he is divorced, the future may prove more difficult. He was believed preparing to resign from his job

Prison Inmates Touch Off Fire In Cell Block

Hoped To Use It As Stage For Riot

By PAUL DIX

United Press Staff Correspondent

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Convicts, apparently plotting to start a riot, touched off a fire which swept through a cell block at the city workhouse Monday night.

About 200 inmates were herded out of the burning building into the prison yard and kept there under shotgun guard until early today.

The quick action by workhouse guards and 100 city police and detectives prevented a major outbreak. There were no injuries reported and firemen brought the blaze under control shortly after midnight.

Police officials said that a small group of inmates had started the fire in hopes of using it as the stage for a major riot.

But guards acted so quickly that the rebellion never had a chance to get started. The fire blazed for more than an hour, but damage was confined mainly to mattresses in the cells and to the building's tar-paper roof.

The inmates were transferred to cells in the women's building They showed little inclination to mutiny after the brief uprising and the switchover was completed quickly early today.

Earlier, guards and police reinforcements had kept order with the threat of shotguns and tear gas.

The workhouse is located on the outskirts of St. Louis in a hilly area bordering the Mississippi River. About 900 inmates are housed in the four cell blocks, most of them short sentences for misdemeanors.

Workhouse officials did not say whether they had identified the ringleaders of the attempted outbreak or whether they had discovered how the fire was set. No immediate plans for punishment were announced.

Chicago Police Go To Northern Wisconsin Today

To Question Two Strange Acting Men

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN

United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP) — Chicago policemen journeyed far into Northern Wisconsin today to question two "strange acting" men about the sadistic murder of three young boys.

The men were arrested Monday night in an abandoned farm house four miles north of Ladysmith, Wis. They were identified as Charles Driscoll, 19, and Ed Kline, 30, both of Chicago.

Sheriff Peter Sybers said the men had been living in the abandoned house, even though it contained nothing but a bed, one blanket, and a stove.

The men "acted strangely" when Sybers awoke them and put them under arrest the sheriff said. They did not ask why they were being picked up for questioning at the request of Chicago police, he reported.

Chicago detectives John Bickler and Art Kelly set out on a 400-mile all-night drive to Ladysmith to question the two men.

The men denied any knowledge of the slayings.

The Wisconsin arrests were the latest development in the baffling manhunt for the killers of Robert Peterson, 13, John Schuessler, 13, and his 11-year-old brother, Anton.

The boys were strangled or beaten to death on Chicago's northwest side on Oct. 16. Their nude, mutilated bodies were found stacked in a forest preserve ditch.

Chicago police asked for the arrest of Driscoll and Kline when they learned from a tipster that Driscoll had given up his factory job and left town on Oct. 20, two days after the bodies were discovered.

Frequented Riding Stables

Further investigation showed that Driscoll and Kline were together the night of the murder, police said. Officers said the two men also frequented riding stables in the area and were well acquainted with Robinson's woods, where the bodies were found.

Driscoll told friends in Chicago he was "going to blow town and head for Florida for the winter," police said. Instead, he and Kline drove to Ladysmith in Kline's 1947 Oldsmobile.

Eye witnesses have reported they saw a battered car of similar vintage in the area where the boys' bodies were found

Driscoll told Sybers he came to Ladysmith to visit with his grandmother. The two men had worked for a Ladysmith farmer for "several days," they said, and then moved into the vacant house.

More Than 81 Per Cent Reached; Returns Incomplete

"We are very near out goal and it will take only a few more dollars to make it," Clarence Gall, president of the Community Chest of Whitley County, Inc., told the Board of Directors at a progress report meeting Monday noon.

The Chest president predicted that the final totals may not be known for another week, but he emphasized that there is still a chance for individual givers to increase their gifts.

"If these who have not as yet given, will give just a dollar or more, then we can easily make our goal," Gall told the Board.

Edward Kreider Hurt Critically By Corn Picker

Is Freed By His Neighbors; Undergoes

Late today the condition of Edward Kreider, injured in a corn picker accident, was reported as fairly good by his physician.

Edward Kreider, 44, of R 6, was on the critical list at the Whitley County Hospital today following a corn picker accident at his farm three miles west of here on old U. S. 30 about 5:00 p.m. Monday.

He submitted to emergency surgery at the hospital last night. The Red Cross blood bank at Fort Wayne rushed supplies here to aid his recovery.

A employe of the Whitley County Highway department, Mr. Kreider had hurried to a 14-acre corn field upon his return home from work to continue picking the corn. He had but about two more wagonloads to harvest and wanted to get it cribbed before rains prolonged the job. He left his wife washing clothes at the house and entered the field alone.

About 5 p.m. four neighbors heard him screaming for help. They were James Gamble, George Loveland, Dee Cormany, and Paul Boggs who operates a filling station and grocery at the Old Route 30-Loon Lake road corner. The sound of the washing machine prevented Mrs. Kreider from hearing his calls for help. One of the men running to the field notified he. that there was something wrong in the field, about a quarter-mile distance from the farmhouse. She took their automobile and drove down a lane to the field.

There they found that Kreider had started to get off his tractor to shovel corn back into the wagon, and when he was leaving the tractor his pant leg got caught in the power takeoff of the tractor.

The leg of his trousers was pulled in and the mechanism had further pulled his clothing into the gears until the mechanism stalled. Coins and a cigarette lighter in his pockets were bent double by the pull of the machine. The legs and upper portion of his body were entirely free. His injuries were in the pelvic and abdominal region.

To free him, he directed the men who came to his aid to reverse the power takeoff by hand. Although an ambulance was called, Mrs. Kreider and the neighbors decided to start to the hospital with him at once. With Dee Cormany holding Mr. Kreider in the back seat and making him as comfortable as was possible, Mrs. Kreider drove him to the hospital.

Walter Sumneys Move From Farm In Family 99 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sumney who lived northwest of Churubusco in Noble county, recently sold their farm to Dale Shultz of Albion and moved to Columbia City. The farm on which they had lived for 19 years has been in the Hassinger family for 99 years. Hassinger was Mrs. Sumney's mother's maiden name.

Mrs. Sumney's grandfather bought the farm from a man who had bought the land from the government. When he purchased the land it was all woodland and it was purchased for the sum of $2.25 per acre. After buying the land they built a log house and stable.

In 1897 the log house burned and they built a new frame house and in 1898, while threshing on the farm, the straw stack caught fire and the barn burned. A short time later they built a new barn.

Mr. and Mrs. Sunney have purchased the William Ginn home, 511 E. Van Buren. They have a daughter, Mrs. Don Fisher who lives in Churubusco, also a granddaughter and grandson.

Secretary Dulles Flies To Madrid To See Franco

Pinay Returns To Paris For Consultations

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA (UP) — Success or failure of the Big Four conference of foreign ministers appeared today to hinge on new proposals for the reunification of Germany promised Wednesday by the Soviets' Vyacheslav M. Molotov.

The conference was in recess today while Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew to Madrid for lunch with Generalissimo Francisco Franco and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay returned to Paris for consultations with his government.

The recess was called because today is All Saints Day, a religious holiday in France.

Israeli Premier Moshe Sharett left today for Israel after pleading dramatically with Molotov "with all the strength in his power" to stop the flow of Communist arms to Israel's Arab enemies. The Middle Eastern crisis has largely overshadowed other issues at Geneva.

Conference Appears Deadlocked

The Big Four conference appeared thoroughly deadlocked at the moment.

These were the major developments in the conference at Mon-

Committee Hopes Its Safe Driving Campaign Will Reduce Traffic Toll

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Traffic accidents are killing 36,000 Americans a year.

Of 1,250,000 merely injured, 100,000 are disabled for the rest of their lives.

Last year traffic accidents cost U.S. citiens $4,400,000,000 in medical and burial bills and property loss.

From the turn of the century through 1951, cars and trucks killed 1,000,000 persons. At present rates it will take only another 25 years to another 1,000,000 dead.

And by 2000 A.D. the accumulated toll for the first 100 years of the motor vehicle in America could hit:

More than 3,000,000 killed, more than 105,000,000 hurt, and some 10,500,000 permanently injured.

Accidents Can Be Reduced

But does anybody care?

Public apathy toward the ceaseless carnage on the nation's roads and streets is, authorities say, suffocatingly profound.

Of course, there are many who do care—the bereaved, the injured, the Automotive Safety Foundation, the American Automobile Assn., civic groups and schools, and hosts of city, state, and federal officials, not to mention the auto and insurance industries.

And President Eisenhower cares deeply. Last year he greatly ex-

There Appears To Be Real Reason For Fear War May Break Out Between Israel, Egypt

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

There appears to be real reason for fear that war may break out any day between Israel and Egypt.

It could be caused by one of the border incidents which now are a matter of almost daily occurrence.

If it happened, almost undoubtedly other Arab countries on Israel's frontiers would be drawn into it.

It would be a war in which Russia would be among the victors whichever side won, because chaos in any part of the free world aids the Communists world conspiracy.

Israel now has military superiority, and the Arab nations almost certainly realize it.

Egypt is buying weapons from Communist Czechoslovakia — on Russia's initiative — because it fears Israel.

Israel fears the potential military power of Egypt and the other Arab countries because Israel is ringed by them, and they enjoy enormous superiority in population.

Discuss Preventive War

Influential elements in Israel are talking about the advisability of a "preventive" war against Egypt before that country gets all of its Communist arms and its troops learn how to use them.

This talk takes into consideration the fact that the rainy season is due in Palestine in about one month.

If Israel attacked before then, it is argued, the rains would bog down the Egyptians before they could organize an effective counter-attack.

Israeli Prime Minister Moshe Sharett went to Geneva to ask the foreign ministers of the United States, Great Britain and France, now attending the Big Four conference there, for arms to offset those Egypt is getting.

Apparently Sharett got no firm promises.

Instead the Western allies are trying to get Russia to stop its meddling in what has become a crisis. That is most unlikely to happen.

Russia Renews Agreement

It is reported from Cairo that Saudi Arabia, one of the Arab countries, has been offered "Czechoslovak" arms and has practically decided to take them. Syria, another of Israel's Arab neighbors, is reported considering a similar offer.

Russia also has just renewed a friendship agreement with the Arab state of Yemen and has arranged for an exchange of diplomatic envoys.

Egypt has concluded new military alliances with Saudi Arabia and Syria.

Just what the United States, Britain and France will do—or can do—to ease the present situation is uncertain.

But the Palestine issue, which is not on the formal program for discussion at the Big Four Geneva conference, may turn out to be the most important item discussed there.

Quotes From The News

By UNITED PRESS

PUMPKIN CENTER, S. D. — Mrs. Francis Drake on the passing of the old-fashioned Hallowe'en:

"The kids don't tip over outhouses any more — I suppose because there aren't any to tip over."

PENDLETON, Ore. — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), urging restoration of fixed parity support for major U.S. crops:

"We cannot permit farm prices to continue this one way ride in the wrong direction."

SAN FRANCISCO — Army Chief of Staff Maxwell D. Taylor, on retiring Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, the hero of Taejon in the Korean War.

"He is one of America's great heros. He symbolizes a great episode in the Army's history."

NEW YORK — Gloria Vanderbilt, newly-divorced from conductor Leopold Stokowski, on reports of her romance with crooner Frank Sinatra:

"We are just good friends.... there is no romance in my life. My two interests now are first, my children, and then my career."

GENEVA — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on the need for removal of information, cultural and trade barriers existing between Russia and the United States:

"We must break at some point a vicious circle in which lack of freedom in communications and the absence of normal trade relations and personal contacts lead to further misunderstanding between peoples and increased tension."

WASHINGTON — Washington Redskins' Coach Joe Kuharich on his team's Sunday game against the New York Giants:

"We gained over 400 yards, let them cross midfield only once in the entire first half, played our best game of the year offensively, and lost, 35-7."

Committee

panded the size and program of the White House Conference on Highway Safety, established in 1946, and called eloquently for reduction of the slaughter.

This year, the President's committee for Traffic Safety is promoting the country's second annual safe driving day—(SSD)—Thursday, Dec. 1.

SSD's purpose: To demonstrate that "traffic accidents can be greatly reduced when motorists and pedestrians fulfill their moral and civic responsibility for safety."

Its challenge: "Not a single traffic accident during the 24-hour period—in daylight or darkness."

The hope: To show Americans that "if they can greatly reduce the accidents for one day, they can do it every day of the year."

W.L. Robinson, associate director of the AAA's traffic engineering and safety department, said the cause of traffic accidents "boils down to inattention and poor judgment."

A normally safe driver goofs off. Another gets sore at a slowpoke. A guy who never did it before takes a chance because he is a couple minutes late for dinner. A pedestrian who knows better jaywalks across the street in the middle of the block.

What Can Be Done

What can be done to cut down the slaughter on the nation's streets and highways?

The three E's might help. They stand for Education, Engineering, Enforcement.

R.W. Tupper of the AAA believes "the great promise of the future" lies in the driver-education program in high schools.

A survey showed that drivers who received high school training had only half as many accidents as those who didn't.

The school patrol system is credited with saving many lives.

Tupper also believes that replacement of hazardous roads with express highways, coupled with limits on speed and effective enforcement, will greatly improve the safety record.

Getting the accident-prone off the highways through tougher licensing and inspection and more ruthless enforcement of the moral vital rules—such as those against drunk driving—also could help.

Fighting for Victory

Pedestrians could improve their chances at night by wearing something white to make them more visible to motorists. And by abandoning jay-walking.

Auto engineers have done a lot for safety with better lights, better brakes, better steering, improved shock absorption, safety glass and safety belts.

Is there any hope of even partial victory in this war against what has been called "highway homicide" and "mobile murder?"

Presumably it will not end as long as human and mechanical fallibility and occasional bad luck persist.

But the President's Committee for Highway Safety and a dedicated host of others are in there fighting. They consider every life saved to be a precious victory.

SAFE MEMO

HARTFORD, Conn. — (UP) — A motorist who asked the motor vehicles department for the number of his 1954 driver's license explained that it was still valuable, even though outdated. "That number was the combination to my safe," he said.

Guest Musicians Present The Story Of "The Desert Song," Before Philomathean Club

Active and associate members of the Philomathean club and guests of the club were delightfully entertained Monday evening at the R. L. Holden home, Road Nine North, with a musical program presented by Mrs. Helen Slagle Aker, pianist, Mrs. Herbert Johnston, soprano and Mrs. Hollis Peeler, contralto.

The local guest musicians were presented by Mrs. Claude I. Walker, president of Philomathean, who served as narrator in the presentation of the story of the "Desert Song" by Romberg.

Northern Africa was the setting for the musical program which opened with the "Feasting Song," and a piano introduction. The program of the well-known local musicians included "The Riff Song" by Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Peeler. and "Why Did We Marry Soldiers" and "The Desert Song" by the two vocalists.

Other numbers were "Romance" by Mrs. Johnston, and "One Alone," contralto solo by Mrs. Peeler. The piano numbers of Mrs. Aker included "Spanish Dances," and "Martial Music." The program closed with a verse of the "Desert Song" by the two vocalists.

Mrs. Walker and Mrs. John E. Ginder, a past president of the club, presided at the dining table which was attractively laid in lace and centered with an arrangement of marigolds flanked by four lighted orange candles. Nut bread, open face sandwiches, and dainty cookies were served.

There were pretty floral arrangements of chrysanthemums in the Autumn hues throughout the spacious living room, and a thought of Halloween in the pretty appointments of the serving table.

Mrs. Holden was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Gall. Guests of the club included Mrs. Kenneth Helmer and Miss Gertrude Meredith.

Thorncreek Ladies Aid Is Entertained By Mrs. Bert Bristow

Eleven members of the Thorncreek Ladies Aid Society were entertained by Mrs. Bert Bristow Thursday afternoon. For devotions Mrs. Virgil Adams read the 60th Psalm. The contest conducted by Mrs. Cleon Schuman was won by Miss Ruth Scheckler.

Mrs. Bristow served ice cream and cake.

The November meeting was announced for the 17th, at the home of Mrs. Merlin Hively.

Police Expect To Quiz Widow Of Millionaire

About Detectives She Had Hired

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK UP) — Investigators were expected today to question Mrs. William Woodward Jr. about private detectives she hired to learn about the love life of her slain sportsman husband.

Mrs. Ann Crowell Woodward, 39, killed her turfman husband with a close range blast from a shotgun early Sunday morning at their Oyster Bay, Long Island, estate following a party for the Duchess of Windsor.

She told Nassau Count District Attorney Frank Gulotta that a "reflex action" set off by fear of burglars caused her to fire into a darkened hallway where Woodward, 35-year-old heir to a 20-million dollar banking fortune and owner of the famed racehorse Nashua, was standing.

Treated For Hysteria

Gulotta said he probably would question Mrs. Woodward, the blonde "Cinderella" daughter of a Midwestern street car conductor, again today in Doctors Hospital where she is being treated for intermittent hysteria.

Gulotta said he is of the opinion that the slaying was "accidental" although subsequent developments might change his mind. He has announced that he will submit the case to a grand jury because "the citizens of this community should pass on all the facts rather than I as an individual."

The district attorney and the Nassau chief of detectives, Stuyvesant Pinnell, have been informed that Mrs. Woodward hired private detectives to get information on her husband's "love life" for a period of months every year since 1948.

One of the operatives said the society beauty gave the detective agency a list of women whom she suspected as competitors for her husband's affections but no evidence of dalliance on his part was ever turned up.

Paid In Cash

Last June Mrs. Woodward, who met the detectives on street corners and paid them in cash, was quoted as telling a detective: "Recently my husband has become very independent with me. He doesn't tell me anything any more, where he goes or when he's coming home."

"The shooting apparentl took place under certain circumstances," Pinnell said. "Unless we find out that something happened to directly create the urge to kill, we must go along with the story as we have it now."

Mrs. Ingeborg Sorensen, who was employed as cook by the Woodwards until three weeks ago, told Pinnell the couple slept behind locked bedroom doors all summer although other doors in the house remained unlocked. She said Mrs. Woodward "would sometimes get up in the middle of the night and pound on his door, screaming for him to open up."

"Very Suspicious Woman"

"She was a very suspicious woman," Mrs. Sorensen said.

Friends of the Woodwards in the "Duchess of Windsor" set said the couple had separated temporarily on several occasions.

Detectives continued to question the 58 "blue book" guests who attended the party given by Mrs. George F. Baker, one of America's wealthiest women, for the duchess at Locust Valley, Long Island, Saturday night. The guests and Mrs. Baker's servants have concurred in describing the Woodwards as "lovey-dovey" only a few hours before the tragedy occurred.

Mrs. Woodward's physician, Dr. John M. Prutting, said his patient probably would remain in the hospital for several days. This would mean she will not attend her husband's funeral Wednesday morning at St. James Protestant Episcopal Church.

May Issue Statement

A belief grew that Townsend him self might issue a statement today after sleeping off the night's heartache at the country estate at Uckfield where he and Margaret spent their last weekend together.

Pride and respect for the princess and the royal family were the first feelings of Britons when the news was thundered in great black broadsides across the pages of the nation's press.

The second feeling ranged from worried uncertainty to outright anger.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express openly questioned the actions of the Archbishop of Canterbury who in one week "twice chose to make public affirmations of his uncompromising viewpoint on divorce."

"Then it is argued that the rumored opposition of the Duke of Edinburgh to the wedding will be revived and that he will become a figure of public controversy," the Express said.

Decision Regarded Unnecessary

The influential Manchester Guardian said "her decision which has plainly been come to after subtle pressure will be regarded by the great masses of the people as unnecessary as perhaps a a great wate.

"In the long run it will not redound to the credit or influence of those who have been most persistent in denying the princess the same liberty that is enjoyed by the rest of her fellow citizens. . . ."

Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, the archbishop of Canterbury, remained silent. But the fullest glare of love's champions fixed on him as the main destroyer of Margaret's dream.

He had only upheld the doctrine of the Anglican church but an upshot of Margaret's sacrifice was expected to be stormy agitation for revision of the doctrine on divorce—or even, as the London newspaper, the Star, began demanding, disestablishment of the state church.

Engagement Not Cancelled

Margaret has made it clear immediately that she is shunning the old-maid weeds. Grieved as she admittedly is by loss of the man she loves, she plunges tomorrow into an almost daily series of public engagements with no thought of cancellation.

Friends look for the princess to bounce back into the night club set in the arms of another partner. Two old faithfuls remain Billy Wallace, a tall and understanding type, and the rugged Earl of Wilton.

The royal family, delighted by Margaret's devoting to duty, is believed offering her an get-away-from - it - all trip she wants. And Margaret's wants have long lain in the direction of north America.

New Government Strips Peron Of Military Honors

Peronista Labor Leaders Call General Strike

By WILLIAM H. McCALL
United Press Staff Correspondent

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — UP)—Discharged Peronista labor leaders called a general strike for midnight tonight in open challenge to the new government which heaped further disgrace on their fallen idol by stripping ousted President Juan D. Peron of his military rank and honors.

The nationwide walkout was called by officials of the General Confederation of Labor who accused the government of President Eduardo Lonardi of reneging on its promises. The CGT, which claims a membership of 6,000,000 was a mainstay of deposed dictator Peron's power and offered during the last days of his regime to mobilize a civil militia for his defense.

It was the second time in three days that the CGT challenged the government. The Lonardi government met the first defiance by dismissing the officials of the 2,400 member unions and ordering election of new union officers within four months.

Threatened Strike Friday

The CGT Friday threatened a general strike in an effort to regain control of unions taken over by anti - Peronist leaders after Peron was overthrown.

The government crackdown spiked — at least for the moment —the threatened walkout. But the newspaper El Lider, only Peronista organ remaining in Argentina, warned then that it may lead to "civil war."

A CGT announcement Monday night said that union secretaries had agreed to call a strike of indefinite duration because it was charged "no government official fulfilled his word or respected any agreement" with the organization.

An executive decree stripped Peron of his general's rank for conduct unbecoming an officer in his public and private life.

Peron was roundly criticized for his relations with his teen - age mistress, 16-year-old Nelly Rivas, in a report by a military court of honor which examined Peron's conduct as an officer.

The court, made up of five generals, found Peron guilty of misconduct and recommended he be prohibited from wearing an Argentine army uniform.

In its 136-page report, the court charged Peron with sowing hatred in Argentina and inciting violence and murder. It said the former dictator attacked the Catholic faith and encouraged the burning of churches. Other charges included disloyalty to the army and constitution.

Big Four

day's tumultous session during which Dulles as chairman was forced repeatedly to rap for order:

1. Molotov promised to present further Soviet proposals for the reunification of Germany on Wednesday. All his other proposals appeared to have been based on continued division of Germany.

2. The United States, leading the way in a drive to break down Iron Curtain barriers, announced it was lifting passport restrictions on American travel to Iron Curtain countries in Europe.

New Security Pact

3. The Soviets came up with a new European security pact calling for a narrower treaty based on the indefinite partition of Germany. This called for a security pact among 15 nations including the United States; the West said it would study the proposal but would never consent to the permanent division of Germany.

4. The Soviets proposed and the West immediately rejected that the heads of the East and West German governments be invited to sit down at the Geneva conference table.

5. Sharett pleaded with Molotov to use all the strength in his power to stop the flow of Communist arms to Egypt. Molotov promised nothing.

6. The Big Three, meeting earlier on the Middle East crisis, agreed to furnish limited supplies of defensive weapons to Israel but turned down Israel's pleas for new security guarantees.

Germany Key Question

It was obvious the conference was approaching a showdown over the key question of reunifying Germany and establishing a European security treaty.

Thus far all Soviet proposals would do away with NATO and the Western European Union—key to the Western defense plan. This the West refuses to do.

Soviet minimum requirements on ending the arms race in the Middle East also appeared to be based on an unacceptable condition — dissolution of the West's Baghdad Pact linking Britain, Iran, Iraq, Turkey and Pakistan in a defense belt running across the Soviet's southern borders.

ney General J. Lee Rankin in his research into the delegation of presidential powers.

"It showed that Vice President Marshall's Hoosier sense of humor did not stop with an earlier incident which has been his chief claim to fame.

"That was the time he pricked the Senate's pomposity during a windy debate in 1917. Leaning down from the rostrum, he cracked in a stage whisper to Senate Clerk John Crockett:

"'What this country needs is a good 5-cent cigar.'

Stage Set Again

"The stage was set for Mr. Marshall again late in 1918 when President Wilson decided to go to Paris to attend the peace conference which produced the covenant of the ill-ftaed League of Nations.

"While the ship taking him to France was on the high seas, Mr. Marshall called a Cabinet meeting for Dec. 10, 1918. History does not record that any Vice President had presided over the Cabinet before.

"Cabinet members settled back in relief when the Vice President 'astonished' them by saying that he was much interested in the opinions of constitutional lawyers as to whether he was entitled to the President's job.

Written To Constable

"Not knowing where he stood, he said, he had written to Newt Plum, a constable back in Indiana, to ask his advice. Then he read the Cabinet this message from Constable Plum:

"'"The President by leaving the country loses his office but retains his salary."

"'Under these conditions' Mr. Marshall said, 'I don't want anything to do with the office.'

"Mr. Marshall's decision was put to a tougher test later when President Wilson suffered two strokes which incapacitated him for many months.

"But he never made any move to try to take over the Presidency. When his term expired in 1921 he went back to Indianapolis to practice law. He died in Washington on June 1, 1925."

Not Known Here

The footnote to Mr. Steele's story about Mr. Marshall's constable friend reads:

"History does not further identify Constable Plum. If he exisited at all, it may have been in Columbia City, Ind., where Mr. Marshall ved before being elected governor."

To which Mr. Gates, counseled by those men a little older who were contemporaries of Thomas Marshall in Columbia City life, has cryptically added: "Not known here."

"Innocuous Occupation"

Vice President Marshall, your editor may add, by quoting from his recollections published the same year he died, dubbed the vice presidency an "innocous occupation" when he said:

"Since the days of John Adams there has been a dread and fear that some vice-president of the United States would break loose and raise hell and Maria with the administration. Everything that can be done, therefore, is done to furnish him with some innocuous occupation. They seek to put him where he can do no harm. Among the other nameless, unremembered things given him to do is the making of him a regent of the Smithsonian Institution. There, is anywhere, he has an opportunity to compare his fossilized life with the fossils of all ages."

Quoting the Ballad

Elsewhere in his recollections Mr. Marshall might from the grave be quoting the ballad of a decade ago which went, "Knock, knock; who's there. Richard!" This might have suited Richard Nixon's duties as well as Mr. Marshall's when Wilson took sick.

For he mentions: "The standing joke of the country is that the only business of the vice-president is to ring the White House bell every morning and ask what is the state of health of the president."

Join Search For 3-Year-Old Boy

EAST MEADOW, N.Y. (UP) — Some 500 Air Force troops joined civilian and Coast Guard fliers, police and hundreds of aroused neighbors today in search for an Iowa airman's 3-year-old son who disappeared mysteriously from in front of a supermarket Monday.

Police said there was a possibility but no evidence so far that the child had been kidnaped.

Throughout Halloween night volunteers and Nassau County police combed woods and residential areas with flashlights, sound-trucks and bloodhounds without finding a trace of the youngster.

The child, Stephen Damman, dressed in blue jeans and a red sweater, last was seen about 2 p.m. Monday. He was said to have "a slight impediment in his walk" which led those who know him to believe he could not have walked very far.

The youngster is the son of Sgt Jerry Damman, Newton, Iowa, who is stationed at Mitchel Air Force Base.

They Open Doors To Hundreds Of Gyms And Run For Cover; Basketball Blitz Opens

By KURT FREUDENTHAL
United Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — They opened the doors to hnudreds of gymnasiums and ran for cover today as Indiana's annual five-month high school basketball blitz opened with a few scattered games.

From now until the champion is crowned next Marsh, Hoosiers will be fed a steady diet of hardwood hash—and most of them love it.

The first couple of weeks or so will be devoted primarily to several hundred small-town schools to whom basketball is the No. 1 extra-curricular activity.

Thus, it's not surprising that a good many teams in rural areas start banging away tonight. Among the better Tuesday openers are Austin at Salem and Oolitic at Brownstown.

Milan Opens Soon

Madison's Cubs, the 1950 state champs with a mediocre 5-13 record last year, open at Salem Friday while Scottsburg goes to Providence. Vevay, a tall and talented crew that caused some trouble in the Southeastern Conference last time, clashes with Milan's 1954 state champs at Versailles Saturday.

The state champs from Indianapolis Attucks, however, wait nearly three weeks before launching another season. The Tigers, the first All-Negro and capital city team to go all the way, open at Fort Wayne Central Nov. 18. Only Connersville late in the season beat Ray Crowe's boys last year.

The ever-changing educational the map since the 1954-55 campicture has wiped eight schools off paign, but there are five new quintets will be in the state tourney next March.

18 New Gyms

Discontinued were Bowers at Darlington, Burket, Carrollton at Flora, Scotland, Scott Center at Angola, Wayne Twp. at Huntington, Washington Center at Columbia City, and Raleigh.

A survey turned up at least 18 new gyms since last season—the largest East Chicago Washington's $1,125,000, 7,200-seat plant expected to be ready in plenty of time for the 1956 state tourney.

IHSAA commissioner L.V. Phillips said he plans to help dedicate the following structures: Nov. 1 at Van Buren Twp. near Brazil; Nov. 2 at Western (Howard Co.); Nov. 4 at Charlestown near Jeffersonville; Nov. 9 at Knox; Nov. 10 at Switz City; Nov. 11 at Syracuse; Nov. 18 at Yorktown; Nov. 19 at Jackson Twp, Jamestown, Boone Co.).

Other new gyms are at Highland, Wakarusa, Scottsburg, Clay City, Concord, Lafayette Central, Elmhurst Odon and Plainville.

Fans deploring stalling tactics have won a partial concessionn from the rule-makers. This year, stalling by an individual player will result in a "held ball" after five seconds, at the official's discretion. However, team stalling will not be whistled down.

Tip Rule Changed

Another important change says time is "in" when the ball is actually tipped by a player, rather than when it leaves the official's hand.

Some of the little "big-wigs' are ready to roar, others are moaning.

Yorktown, which gave mighty Muncie Central fits before losing in the sectional, lost eight lettermen from last year's once-beaten outfit.

Galveston, which upset Logansport in the sectional, lost big Bob Kitchel but retained several veterans, including four starters. Harlan, another one-game loser, has a new coach in Herm Moyer and three lettermen back.

Macy and Markle are out to snap long losing streaks. Macy takes its 24-game string to Tippecanoe Friday. Markle's 23-game skein gets a workout against White's Institute Saturday, and coach Sanford Brueckheimer was optimistic.

"We should be better this year," he said. "After all, there's no way to go but up.'

Editor's Note: Basketball is in the air again around Whitley county schools and most of the high school squads already have in several weeks of practice. How do the boys look this year—who was left after last year's graduation—and who's on this year's squads at the various schools in the county? These and other questions we will try to reveal in a series of articles featuring the high school basketball squads.

Coach LaFollette says he will know more about the prospects of the Indians after he sees a little of the opposition. He is well-satisfied with the pre-season practice and feels the team is in good condition. He feels that their principal handicap is that they have only 14 boys out for basketball at the present time. This number is for the first and second team combined.

The players who will make up this year's first team for the Indians:

Player	H	Yr.
Larry Barnes	5-8	So.

Nine of the twenty games will be against Whitley county teams. The outside opposition includes 4 Allen county teams, three Huntington county teams, two Noble county teams and one Wells county team. Only seven of the twenty games will be played at home.

This is Coach LaFollette's first year coaching the Coesse Indians. He was graduated from Ridgeville High School. He attended Huntington College one year and graduated from Ball State in 1951. He spent three years in the Navy and was stationed in the Bahrain Island, Arabia one year.

The Coesse school colors are red and black. The yell leaders for the first team are Jo Diebold, Lois Coulter and Judy Lauer. Betty Wherry and Karen Palmer were chosen as yell leaders for the second team. Their uniforms are black skirts lined with red satin with headbands and moccasins.

MANY HAWTHORNS

KENT, O. — (UP) — There are 165 species of hawthorn trees in U.S forests, according to Martin L. Davey, Jr., tree expert. The hawthorn is more numerous if not mightier than the oak, of which there are only 65 species, not counting hybrids and other varieties.

Larwill Trojans Relying On Ball Handling And Sharp Shooting Ability, First Game With Coesse Tonight

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another article in a series being run by this newspaper previewing the prospects of the county basketball squads for the 1955-56 season. The team featured is the Larwill Trojan squad. Paul Patterson is principal of the school.

There were 38 boys who reported for basketball practice this season. This number has been cut to 10 boys on the varsity squad and 12 boys on the reserve, plus nine boys on the freshman squad.

"Things are looking brighter at Larwill this year," says coach Zwayer. "The spirit is high and after losing all but one game last year they have only one direction to go and that is up. The boys are out to redeem many of their losses."

The boys on the team do not have a lot of height and will have to rely on ball handling and sharpshooting ability. The varsity players are about equal calibre.

The reserve team this year is a promising group of sophomores added to several juniors who are lacking in experience. They should develop into a pretty fair team later in the season.

Before coming to Larwill, Coach Zwayer was basketball coach at Jefferson Center two years.

Here is the roster of boys whom Coach Roger Zwayer says will make up his first line five this season:

PLAYER	P	H	Yr.
Fred Cornelius	G	5-10	Sr.
Tom Wiley	G	5-8	Jr.
Larry Woll	F	6	Jr.
Lynn Brunner	C	6-1	Sr.
Gene Leedy	F	5-11	Sr.
Norm Metzger	G	5-9	Jr.
Roger Tuggle	G	5-10	Jr.
Jerry Metzger	C	6	Jr.
Ronald Waterman	F	5-8	Sr.
Larry Schuman	F	5-10	Sr.

The Trojans play a 17-game Schedule with nine games to be played at home and eight away, plus the County Tourney. The schedule:

Nov. 1 Coesse	H
Nov. 8 Arcola	T
Nov. 11 South Whitley	H
Nov. 18 Urbana	T

Burns, Hurt In Motorcycle Spill, Ordered To Hospital

Robert L. Burns, 29, Tri-Lakes, who suffered a head injury Oct. 22 when thrown from his motorcycle on North Main street, was directed in circuit court Monday to apply for admission to a veteran's hospital to receive treatment.

This came as a result of a charge brought by his wife, Vivian Burns, that last Saturday he struck her. Burns pleaded guilty to assault and battery charges and was fined $1 and costs. A 6-month penal farm term was suspended by the court for two years conditioned upon his complying with regulations of the court and the probation officer and that he report for the veteran's hospital treatment as soon as he can be admitted. Burns was instructed not to operate a motor vehicle until released by the hospital and upon his release, only to drive to and from work. He was allowed 90 days in which to pay his fine.

Around The Clock: Around The World!

By UNITED PRESS

TOKYO (UP)—Gen. Nathan Twining, U.S. Air Force chief of staff, said today both the Chinese Communist and Soviet Far East air forces are being modernized with late type planes and other equipment.

Referring to Soviet air forces in the Far East, Twining said, "Whether they're building up I don't know, but they are certainly reorganizing their forces."

Twining was asked to comment on a published report that the U.S. Far East Air Forces had been given permission to use atomic weapons without Washington clearance in certain emergencies.

"I'd rather not discuss that subject. It's a little out of my sphere," he replied.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia UP)—The semi-official news agency Yugopress reported today that Yugoslavia had conditionally released the last high-ranking Catholic churchman still held in jail.

The news agency said Dr. Peter Cule, bishop of Mostar, had been paroled from a 1948 conviction for "hostile activities during the war."

YOKOHAMA, Japan (UP)—Two American soldiers received the highest U.S. peacetime award for heroism Monday, one for preventing the explosion of an ammunition ship and the other for saving a Japanese boy from drowning.

Awards went to M-Sgt. Murphy M. Williams, Oakland, Calif., and Cpl. Billie Nyman Jr., of Potter, Neb.

HAMBURG, Germany UP) — The first German commercial airline passenger handled by an exclusively German crew flew from Hamburg to Frankfurt Monday.

German Flight Capt. Walther Blume was the first German pilot to fly a Lufthansa DC3 passenger plane without a foreign pilot sitting beside him.

Until recently, German pilots were banned from flying over German soil under Allied occupation laws. German pilots up to now served as co-pilots.

CAIRO (UP)—The U.S. Embassy made an appointment with Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser for today to introduce a group of U.S. congressmen touring the Middle East.

The congressmen, members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, included Clement Zablocki D-Wis), John Jarman (D-Okla), Robert Byrd D-WVa), Walter Judd R-Minn), Ross Adair R - Ind, and Richard Wigglesworth (R-Mass).

PACHUCA, Mexico UP)—Police today questioned two men who have confessed to "40 murders or more."

The admitted mass-murderers were identified as Macario Covarrubias and Hilario Martinez. Covarrubias was quoted as telling police "we have committed something like 40 murders or more. As we remember them, we will continue confessing."

Mrs. Blanche Harvey Dies In Fort Wayne Hospital Late Monday

Is Suddenly Stricken On The Street

Mrs. Blanche Harvey, a nurse in Columbia City since 1918 died at 5:45 p.m. Monday, a half hour after her arrival at St. Joseph hospital. Stricken with coronary thrombosis, Mrs. Harvey collapsed on the street in Fort Wayne where she had gone to have her glasses changed.

She was on a case at Zanesville, and was in Fort Wayne for the day. She was the wife of Samuel Harvey, who died in 1917. Mrs. Harvey is survived by four children, Paul Harvey of this city, Ralph Harvey of Hobart, Harold Harvey, Walkerton, and Mrs. Robert Baker of Fort Wayne, and a brother, Milton Brown, Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Harvey was 70 years old on July 3.

The body has been taken to the Harper Funeral Home in New Haven.

Loose Pair Of False Teeth, Sneeze Land Him In Hospital

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UP) — State Rep. Marvin Rowell said today a loose pair of false teeth and a violent sneeze landed him in a hospital where he is recuperating from a minor shotgun wound.

En route here by train Sunday night to attend a meeting, Rowell said he suffered a violent sneezing spell on a vestibule of the train. His teeth went flying.

Rowell got off the train at a small farming community near Tallahassee to recover them and the train pulled away without him. The lawmaker said he finally found his teeth and trudged to a nearby cabin to try to get someone to drive him to Tallahassee.

George Merritt, a Negro owner of the cabin, apparently thought the legislator was a midnight prowler and opened fire with a shotgun at 45 feet.

Authorities were holding Merritt for further investigation of the case.

Hoosierland Due For Cold Weather For Next Five Days

By UNITED PRESS

Hoosierland was due for its coldest weather of the season during the next five days, with temperatures possibly as low as five degrees below freezing.

The weather bureau's five-day outlook called for temperatures averaging four to seven degrees below normal. Tonight through Thursday will be colder, followed by a warming trend during the weekend. Snow and rain also were on tap.

Normal temperatures are 54 north to 63 south at maximums and 34 north to 40 south at minimums.

Meanwhile, the weatherman said today will be warmer than Monday's highs which ranged up to 64 at Evansville. Scattered showers will accompany temperatures ranging from 60 to 68. Lows ranging from 36 to 50 will be recorded tonight.

Rain south and rain or snow north was slated for Wednesday and again towards the end of the week, the outlook said. Wednesday's highs will be considerably colder than today's, ranging from 42 to 50.

Lows early today ranged from 38 at Indianapolis and Fort Wayne to 51 at Evansville. Highs Monday ranged down to 44 at South Bend.

Farm Support Bill One Of First Before Senate Next Year

By BERNARD BRENNER

United Press Staff Correspondent

PENDLETON, Ore. (UP)—Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La) of the Senate Agriculture Committee predicted today a new farm price support bill will be one of the first major measures before the Senate next year.

Ellender said his committee currently holding field hearings on the politically explosive farm issue, would complete its task of writing a farm bill in January.

The House last summer passed a bill junking the administration's flexible price support program and restoring the old Democratic program of rigid supports on major crops at 90 per cent of "fair income" parity level.

Ellender, however, said neither flexible nor rigid supports would in themselves restore farm prosperity. He told a witness who appealed for a "new approach" at a hearing here Monday the committee "might be able to work out" a program under which the government would reduce surplus farm production by "rent" subsidies to keep a portion of the nation's farm land idle.

The witness was Hyrum Gibbons, a Logan, Utah, farmer who also offered the committee a solution to the vexing problem of government farm surpluses — seven billion dollars worth of wheat, cotton and other assorted crops.

"If I had a lot of stuff of questionable value on my hands, I'd just be trying to find a place to conveniently lose a lot of it," Gibbons said.

Some of the government's wheat surplus is stored in surplus Maritime Commission ships in East and West coast ports.

"Let's take it out in the ocean and kind of let it run out," he suggested.

Second Session Of Negotiation For Perfect Circle

CHICAGO (UP)—A second negotiation session in as many days brought union and company officials together with a federal mediator today in an attempt to settle the long and bitter Perfect Circle Corp. strike in Indiana.

Monday's initial session, the first since nine persons were wounded and injured in a gun fight at the firm's New Castle foundry Oct. 5, made "some progress," but mediator Edward Windes declined to go into details.

The strike, involving four plants at New Castle, Richmond and Hagerstown, began July 25. Main grievance was a demand by the CIO United Auto Workers for a closed shop.

Following the Oct. 5 riot, Gov. George N. Craig proclaimed martial law and called out the Indiana National Guard to maintain the peace. Martial law has since been lifted and only a token Guard force remains in New Castle.

Atomic Scientists Begin Safety Tests On Nuclear Weapons

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Atomic scientists began "safety" tests in the field today to find out whether a nuclear weapon can be exploded accidentally.

The Atomic Energy Commission refused to disclose the times of the tests on the Nevada proving ground. It said the blasts, if any occur, "probably won't be seen or heard" in Las Vegas, about 75 miles away.

Scientists said that laboratory tests have convinced them that atomic weapons can not be triggered accidentally by fire, explosion or other means. The field tests, labeled "strictly routine" by the AEC, will involve no military, civil defense or other observers.

The AEC said the tiniest atomic devices ever used since atomic tests began at the proving ground four years ago will be involved in the current "safety" series, announced Oct. 10 in Washington, D. C. The AEC said if there are a "few nuclear detonations" they probably will be measured by "tons" of TNT. Kilotons equivalent to 1,000 tons of TNT have been used previously in describing the size of detonations.

"If there should happen to be a nuclear explosion, it would be of low caliber," one AEC spokesman said. "No radioactive fallout problem is anticipated outside the test area."

While the AEC maintained official silence on all but the barest details of the tests, some nuclear experts viewed the series as reflecting the AEC's concern with the growing stockpile of atomic weapons in the country. The nation's nuclear arsenal may number in five figures, the expert's estimated.

Archers Hunt Deer In Indiana Park

WINAMAC, Ind. (UP)—About 25 deer hunters, armed only with bows and arrows, invaded Tippecanoe River State Park bright and early today in search of bucks with forked antlers.

The Fish and Game Division of the Indiana State Conservation Department set up a round-the-clock checking station in the park for the opening of the Hoosier deer season.

Archers were confined to a single 2,000-acre tract wet of U.S. 35 in the Tippecanoe park. It was the first time in history there was an open season on any game in the park.

The season for archers lasts from dawn today to sunset Nov. 30. Hunters are welcome at the park any day except Sunday.

Game experts estimated there is a herd of 200 deer in the park. They believed about one of every six or eight is a buck with a forked antler. Thus, an estimated 25 to 35 game animals are in the preserve.

At Indianapolis, conservation authorities said 147 bow and arrow deer licenses were sold in advance of the season's start. They believed many others would be sold as the season progresses.

Park officials expected up to 60 hunters to show up for the opening day.

Good Reasons

GREENSBORO, N.C. UP) — John Franklin Summers, a 110-pound man, who is being sued for non-support, told a court he had good reasons for leaving home.

Summers said that while he was cleaning house, his 170 - pound spouse and her 22-year-old son by a former marriage, took $26 from his wallet, beat him, tore his shirt, and trampled eggs and garbage all over his two best suits.

Podres Called By Draft Board For Physical Examination

WITHERBEE, N.Y. (UP) — Southpaw Johnny Podres, who pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to their first world championship last month, has been ordered by his draft board to report for a physical examination on Nov. 14, members of his family said today.

Podres, 23, was rejected for military service on a previous examination in 1952 because of a back injury.

Out of action part of the time with arm trouble, Podres won only nine games for the Dodgers during the regular 1955 season but blossomed as their top star of the World Series. He beat the New York Yankees, 1-3, in the third game at a time when the Yankees had the Dodgers on the ropes.

Then he returned to shut out the Yankees, 2-0, in the seventh and deciding game. He was awarded a sports car as the "outstanding player" of the Series.

Danny Giovanelli Outpoints Melis

NEW YORK (UP) — Danny Giovanelli of Brooklyn said today he will remain in the welterweight division and try to win the 147-pound title because of the speed he displayed while outpointing Paolo Melis of Montreal in their TV fight at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night.

Rangy Danny had tried a fling in the middleweight class, but was soundly trounced by Ray Drake; so he returned to the welters Monday night and won the unanimous 10-round decision over Melis, former welterweight champion of Italy.

He weighed 150¼ pounds to Melis, 148½.

Another TV Bout

Promoter Tex Sullivan will give 23-year-old Giovanelli another TV bout at St. Nick's on Dec. 19, probably against the winner of next Monday's Chico Vejar-Danny Jo Perez fight at St. Nick's.

They went into the ring at even money Monday night, but stocky Speed Melis indicated with rapid-fire counters in the second and third rounds he would win the fight. Then Giovanelli switched tactics and began using his left jab at long range and forcing Paolo to do much of the leading. Danny was very effective in countering with jabs, left hooks and right crosses.

Giovanelli took the fourth, fifth, seventh and eighth rounds of the official score sheets and broke even in the sixth. He had taken the first. Accordingly, Melis' stronger finish in the ninth and 10th was not enough to win. The voting favored Danny, 6-3-1, 6-3-1 6-4. The United Press agreed, 6-4.

Six Stitches Required

Giovanelli said today, "I was much faster last night than as a middleweight. Of course, I hadn't fought since Aug. 24, and I'll be a lot sharper with a couple more welter fights under my belt. I think I'll be able to do well against any of the contenders."

It was Danny's 27th victory in 33 fights, and Paolo's ninth loss in 44.

Ike Continues To Operate In Political Vacuum

No Appointments Scheduled Today

b .w UP21 Nov. 1 .... .bm525

By MERRIMAN SMITH

United Press White House Writer

DENVER (UP) — President Eisenhower's top advisers maintained the position today that although the Chief Executive is improving daily he alone must determine when and how he breaks the political vacuum now settled over Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

Visitor after visitor to the President's hospital suite continued, at least for the public record, to disclaim any suggestion that they discussed domestic politics with the President.

They were willing to discuss other difficult problems of the presidency. But there was a unanimous administration decision not to bring up domestic politics and 1956 until the President, himself, raises the subject.

Key Administration Politicians

Mr. Eisenhower conferred for more than 30 minutes Monday with one of the key politicians of his administration, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

"We really did not discuss politics," Summerfield said. "I thought it would be most inappropriate for me, under the circumstances and conditions, to discuss politics with the President, or frankly, with anyone else."

This has been the administration line for every major visitor appearing in the hospital suite where the President is recovering satisfactorily from a Sept. 24 heart attack.

"Do cabinet members agree as a unit that it would be inappropriate to discuss politics in these visits out here?" the postmaster general and former GOP National chairman was asked.

"I think that is just a general understanding," he replied.

World Political Situation

"Why is it less appropriate . . . to discuss with him, say, the general political situation in the country than it is to discuss the general political situation in the world, which has been discussed with him for some length?"

Urbane and unruffled, Summerfield referred to an earlier statement on how well the government was operating in the President's absence.

Mr. Eisenhower was not completely insulated from politics. He sees an assortment of daily newspapers, but if he has had anything to say about recent domestic political developments and the big public question over his own future, it has escaped distribution to the public.

His next major visitor was scheduled to be Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell who will see him Wednesday. Dillon Anderson, the President's aide for national security matters, will arrive today to take up with him some of the subjects pending before the National Security Council.

Dale Carnegie Dies After Month's Illness

NEW YORK (UP) — Dale Carnegie, 66, teacher and author of the best seller "How to Win Friends and Influence People," died today at his home here after a month's illness.

A public speaking instructor, Carnegie published his famous book in 1936 and almost immediately it became a best seller. Subsequently, he established classes in public relations in major U.S. cities, using Carnegie-trained men as instructors.

The son of a farmer, Carnegie was born, in 1888 in Maryville Mo., later the family moved to Warrensburg, Mo., where Carnegie graduated from State Teachers College.

He began his career as a public speaking teacher in 1912 when he was 24, launching classes in a New York City YMCA. He charged each pupil a nominal fee but in two years the classes became so popular that Carnegie was earning $500 a week.

After his book appeared his lecture tours attracted large crowds at cities throughout the nation.

Speech Contests Start Thursday

The Whitley County extemporaneous speech contest for high school students will be at the Churubusco school Thursday. Contestants will have an hour to prepare their talks on current topics. Each county high school will send one contestant.

James McFadden, head of the speech department at Central high school, Fort Wayne, will be the judge.

For the December contest, each school will send a panel discussion group of five members.

Mrs. Louellyn Hood, Larwill, is the county chairman.

There will be five speech contests with the last one in March. Placings will be tallied then for all the contests.

This year the county principals association has purchased a speech trophy which will go to the winning school at the end of the contests. The trophy is at the Churubusco school now and will be sent to South Whitley, Larwill, Coesse and Jefferson Center where the last contest will be held.

Mrs. Gale Harris of the Churubusco faculty and her speech students will be the hosts for the meeting.

Ronnie Weitkamp Has Been Missing For Three Weeks

CRANE, Ind. (UP) — Three weeks ago today, tow-headed Ronnie Weitkamp disappeared from his home, and authorities still are up a blind alley in the search.

A $1,000 reward and efforts by 1,000 Marines and neighbors, bloodhounds, state police, the FBI, Crane authorities and the 3-year-old boy's parents proved futile.

Lawrence Weitkamp, 34, Ronnie's father and depot civilian employe, resigned himself to a kidnaping theory when a comprehensive air-land search of the wooded, hilly reservation turned up no clues.

"I think somebody has just driven by and taken him away," Weitkamp said.

Safecrackers Wear Halloween Masks, Rob Terre Haute Store

TERRE HAUTE, (UP) — Safecrackers wearing Halloween masks tied up a night watchman in a Terre Haute department store today and robbed the store of $2,000 to $15,000 in cash and checks.

The watchman, Roy Monk, was grabbed in Root's Department Store about 4:15 a.m. by two men who stuck a gun in his back, taped his eyes and mouth and tied him up, he told authorities.

The safe combination was knocked off and the burglars escaped with a sum estimated by State Police at $12,000, and by store officials at $15,000, most of it in cash.

They fled in Monk's automobile.

Monk was found bound when authorities investigated why he failed to make an hourly report to a commercial protective organization.

Monk told authorities the burglars did not harm him. He said they hid their identities with masks and wore gloves.

Big Airliner Crashes In Flaming Explosion Killing All 44 Aboard

LONGMONT, Colo. UP) — A United Air Lines four-engined DC-6B airliner crashed in a flaming explosion on a farm 30 miles east of the Rocky Mountain foothills on Tuesday night, killing all 44 persons aboard.

Among the 39 passengers who lost their lives were at least one child and 14 women besides the crew.

The plane, United's Flight 629 enroute from New York to Seattle, Wash., had taken off from Denver's Stapleton Municipal Airport for a 1,075-mile non-stop flight to Portland, Ore., less than a half hour before it crashed at 7:10 p.m. MST (9:10 p.m. EST) in a sugar beet field eight miles east of here.

Searchers Find Bodies

Three hours after the crash, searchers had accounted for the bodies of all the victims among the littered wreckage, which was scattered over a two-mile area

There was no immediate explanation of the tragedy, the second major airliner accident in less than a month. The other, on Oct. 6, also involved a United Air Lines plane, a DC-4, which smashed into 12,005-foot Medicine Bow Peak in Southern Wyoming killing 66 persons in the nation's worst civil aviation disaster. The Wyoming crash site is about 100 miles northwest of Longmont.

The weather was clear in the vicinity of Tuesday night's accident although it was cold a8 about 34 degrees — and there had been light snowfall in the region in the afternoon.

The plane's crew members were identified by United Air Lines as Capt. Lee H. Hall, 38, the pilot; D. A. White, 26, the first officer; S. F. Arthur, 28, the pilot-engineer; and stewardesses Peggy Peddicord and Jacqueline Hinds all of Seattle.

One of the dead was a member of the armed services, not otherwise identified. Another was a nationally - famed nutrition expert, Dr. Harold Sanstead, deputy secretary of the U. S. Public Health Service.

CHICAGO UP) — Two Chicago men who were arrested in an abandoned Wisconsin farm house underwent lie tests today to see if they know anything about the wanton slaying of three young boys.

The results were inconclusive, it was reported, and police planned to put Charles Driscoll, 19, and Ed Kline, 30, before the lie detector again later today.

The two men were brought 400 miles from Ladysmith, Wis., late Tuesday night. They were immediately hustled into the special headquarters which have been set up to track down the sadistic murderers of Robert Peterson, 14, John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton, 11.

Both men had already denied any connection with the killings on Chicago's northwest side Oct. 16. But police said they had given contradictory answers during prolonged questioning at Ladysmith and ordered the lie tests to check the truth of their stories.

Saw Murdered Boys

Kline who quoted Biblical verses to the policemen, was reported as telling one officer that he saw the murdered boys on a Chicago street on the night they vanished.

But he later reversed himself, telling officers at one point that he had spent the evening watching television and saying later that he had gone roller skating with Driscoll on the fatal night.

Faure Calls For Another Vote Of Confidence

This Time On Program For Special Elections

By ARTHUR HIGBEE
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP) — Premier Edgar Faure gave the National Assembly its fourth chance in four weeks today to vote him out of office, this time on his program for special parliamentary elections in December.

The vote of confidence was set for 9 p.m. (3 p.m. EST) but usually several hours of debate precede the actual balloting. Observers gave the premier a bare 50-50 chance of surviving the vote and saving France from another international crisis.

Faure's own Radical Socialist Party was split this time, with former Premier Pierre Mendes-France ranged solidly against him. Mendes-France, showing increasing signs of eagerness to regain office, called his first press conference in many months for today (6 a.m. EST).

Early General Election

Faure posed the confidence question Tuesday night over a one-sentence bill dissolving the current parliament Jan. 2 instead of May 3. Its adoption would clear the way for a general election onethe r for a general election on either

Check Telephone Tips In Search For Missing Boy

1,000 Persons Join Search For Stephen Damman

EAST MEADOW, N.Y. (UP) — Detectives today checked telephoned tips in their search for 3-year-old Stephen Damman, missing since Monday.

Persons with records of sex offenses against children were questioned on the chance that the boy may have been kidnaped.

Police also checked records for recent child deaths on the theory hat Stephen might have been taken by a bereaved mother.

Some 1,000 Nassau County police and volunteers have searched for the child since he disappeared from in front of a supermarket Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Marilyn Damman, the boy's mother, told police she left Stephen outside with a carriage containing his 7-month-old sister, Pamela, while she went into the store. When she returned, she said, both Stephen and the carriage were gone.

She went home believing that her husband, Sgt. Jerry Damman, Newton, Iowa, had taken the children. When she found they weren't there she returned to the store with a neighbor and found Pamela in her carriage around the corner from the market. The baby was unharmed.

She said it would have been physically impossible for Stephen to push the carriage to where it was found because he was unable to walk very far because of a foot deformity.

Mrs. Damman notified police who began an immediate search.

Some 500 airmen from nearby Mitchel Air Force Base, where Sgt. Damman is stationed, joined officers who used sound trucks to ask residents to search their homes and property for the boy.

Bloodhounds, planes and helicopters covered a 20-mile square area of Nassau County, but no trace of the boy was found.

Two American Scientists Win 1955 Nobel Prize

For Physics; Third Wins Prize For Chemistry

STOCKHOLM (UP) — Two American scientists won the 1955 Nobel Prize for physics today and a third won the prize for chemistry.

Dr. Vincent du Vigneaud of Cornell University was awarded the chemistry prize for discovering a process to make synthetic hormones.

Lamb, 42, lives at Palo Alto, Calif., with his wife. Reached at his home, he said he was "delighted and pleased" to receive the prize.

To Be Composed Of Members Of Both Parliaments

Of West And East Germany

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA (UP) The Soviet Union proposed today the establishment of an all-German council while Germany remains divided.

The council would be composed of members of both West and East German parliaments.

The council would work on East-West German economic and cultural ties, financial, transportation and other such matters. It also would reach agreement on the size of West and East German armed forces.

The Soviet plan made no mention of all-German elections.

The Moscow plan was presented to the fifth session of the Big Four foreign ministers conference by Soviet Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov.

Ask Quick Showdown

It came shortly after U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan decided to call for a swift showdown with Russia on the question of German unity.

A high Western source said the Western ministers agreed to:

1. Keep challenging Molotov to say yes or no on German unity
2. Listen politely to anything additional he says on security and then hit back with renewed demands for a statement on Germany.
3. Refuse to comment on Russian security proposals or enter into any debate on security until Molotov lays his German cards

Visit By Dulles To Tito, Franco May Prove As Important A Development As Conference

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The visits of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to Spain and Yugoslavia may prove to be as important in the development of American foreign policy as the Big Four conference.

There was no hint when Dulles flew to Europe to attend the meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers in Geneva that he intended to see either Generalissimo Francisco Franco or President Tito.

Apparently Dulles decided on the visit to Tito while he was in Paris, on his way to the Geneva meeting.

Geneva dispatches say he made up his mind to visit Franco only last Saturday.

There was considerable surprise in the diplomatic world that Dulles should have chosen to take time out from the Geneva talks to make side visits to the two leaders.

Seven Years Ago

There is the added fact that no American secretary of state ever had visited either Franco or Tito, and that only a very few years ago American relations with both Spain and Yugoslavia were definitely bad.

Now Dulles is emphasizing that Spanish-American and Yugoslav-American relations are definitely good.

Franco is the most anti-Communist leader in Europe. The United States now has an economic and military treaty with him under which it is building an impressive system of air and naval bases in Spain.

Tito is a Moscow-trained Communist. But he rebelled against Kremlin domination seven years ago and is determined that Yugoslavia shall not again be a Soviet satellite country. He has joined a defensive military alliance with Greece and Turkey, both members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Russian Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov could not have been pleased at the news that Dulles was visiting either Franco or Tito at this time.

But it seems clear that the Geneva conference will merely emphasize the differences in United States and Russian policy.

The visits to Madrid and Belgrade are an example of the determination of the United States to pursue its own policy of building up strength against the threat of Russian aggression.

In Madrid Monday, Dulles had a chance to ask France to use his influence with the Arab countries in trying to ease the dangerous situations in North Africa and the Middle East. Spain's recent application for membership in the United Nations, which the United States supports, was another topic for discussion.

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Top society and sports figures gathered here today to attend last rites for millionaire turfman William Woodward Jr. while police fitted together a puzzling personality picture of the jealous "Cinderella" wife who slew him.

Special police were assigned to St. James Protestant Episcopal Church on Manhattan's fashionable East Side to handle the crowd of hundreds of mourners and curiosity seekers who were expected to attend Woodward's funeral services there at 11:30 a.m. EST.

The body of the 35-year-old Woodward, its face riddled beyond recognition by the fatal shotgun blast triggered by his wife, Ann Crowell Woodward, will be buried in the family mausoleum in the Bronx's Woodlawn Cemetery.

Woodward's beauteous blonde widow, the 39year-old mother of two sons, was still too ill from shock and hysteria at Doctors Hospital to attend the services.

Nassau County District Attorney Frank Gulotta said a grand jury will decide later this month whether or not to indict Mrs. Woodward for murder.

A New York society columnist who was close to the Woodwards reported that Woodward had asked his wife for a divorce "many times" but she "always refused or asked for a 2-million-dollar settlement. The couple's former cook housekeeper, Mrs. Ingeborg Sorensen, said the Woodwards quarreled violently as recently as three weeks ago.

Mrs. Woodward has told Gulotta and Nassau Chief of Detectives Stuyvesant Pinnell she mistook her husband for a long-sought neighborhood prowler when she shot him virtually pointblank in their darkened Oyster Bay, Long Island, home early Sunday morning.

Police arrested the prowler, Paul Wirths, a 22-year-old German refugee, Tuesday. Pinnell announced, however, that long questioning of the prisoner and a visit with him to the 30acre Woodward estate failed to indicate that he had been on the Woodward property the night of the tragedy.

Gulotta said he intends to question Mrs. Woodward, an ex-model and showgirl of humble Pittsburg, Kan., origin, again today concerning discrepancies in her version of the slaying.

Those who knew Mrs. Woodward best agreed with the contradictory personality profiles of her that police have compiled by questioning her family, friends, servants, and the private detectives she had hired for the past seven years to keep tab on her husband's suspected but never proven "extra-curricular love life." The two portraits were summarized thus.

1. The devoted wife and mother who shared her husband's racing and game hunting interests and moved with ease and popularity in the exclusive international social circles to which she was not born.

2. The hysterically jealous wife and mother who absented herself from her home for monthslong solo trips abroad. This portrait shows her as a small-town girl who turned socialite at the cost of acquiring a great sense of insecurity which raised a shadowy wall between her and her husband's friends.

Faure

Dec. 4 or Dec. 11.

Faure has survived three votes on his North African policies—two of them formal votes of confidence—which could have toppled his government. But each time his slender majority was trimmed.

Faure's formal challenge stopped the debate in the bickering lower chamber until the 9 p.m. session. Deputies already had turned down 11 different electoral system reform schemes in three days of deadlocked and highly complex discussion.

Faure hoped to force the hand of the deputies, most of whom have come out publicly in favor of early elections but who hoped by parliamentary maneuvering to put off the day of decision.

Blow To Mendes-France

Faure's call was regarded as a severe blow to Mendes-France who is just getting started with his own election campaign.

One of the major reforms asked by Faure is a system by which parties would form alliances before the voting and not after. Under the alliance system, small parties could gang up on big ones, a system that held the Communists to a sixth of the seats in the Assembly they normally would have won.

But French voters detest the system because they find their votes go to a candidate they had no intention of supporting. Under Faure's proposal, the voters would know whom they were voting for and the Communists still would be cut down.

Fortnightly's Topic "Biblical Explorers By Land And Air"

The 14 members of Fortnightly were present Tuesday afternoon for the first November meeting of the club held at the home of Mrs. Martin Zumbaugh, 276 North Walnut street.

Each member responded to roll call by naming her hobbies. Mrs. L. L. Chapman presented the topic "Bibical Explorers by Land and Air" by Norman Carlisle.

It was a most interesting story on the life of Dr. Nelson Glueck an American archaeolgist who has unearthed stirring evidence of the Bible's accuracy, Mrs. Chapman stated. The Bible's reefrence to copper mines in the region between the Dead Sea and the Gulf of Akaba led to the discovery of King Solomon's copper mines which have been reopneed and are being worked again for ore, according to Mr. Carlisle.

Seal impressions found on jar handles dug up at this site corroborated description found in the Old Testament, states the author.

Mrs. Zumbaugh served assorted candies at the close of the program.

Friends

SAN PEDRO, Calif, (UP)—When Robert C. Porter, 25, paid a $37 fine for his friend Alice Marte, 26, he was arrested on a 13-month old traffic warrant.

Porter had to call another friend to bring $58 bail to the station.

Thought Crown Of Andes Missing

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—For a few anxious moments police an a jeweler thought the Crown of the Andes, containing the largest collection of emeralds in the world, was missing somewhere between New York and Minneapolis.

Stanley Smith, manager of the J.B. Hudson Co., a Brink's armored truck, four pistol-toting guards, and two Minneapolis policemen went to Wold-Chamberlain airport Tuesday to pick up the crown, valued at 4½ million dollars.

But the crown wasn't aboard the Northwest Airlines plane from New York. Neither was it aboard two more planes which arrived later in the afternoon.

Smith was frantic. Northwest Airlines officials were, too. They called New York and got the answer—an embarrassing one.

Coesse Indians Win Opener At Larwill By A 41-26 Score

Coesse and Larwill broke into their 1955-56 basketball schedules Tuesday night with the Indians taking a 41-26 version played on the Trojan floor.

Walker led the Indians in their victory. Coesse jumped off to a first quarter lead and were never in serious trouble. The Indians led 11-4 after one quarter of play, 25-14 at halftime, and 37-16 at the three-quarter mark.

Coach Roger Zwayer cleaned his Trojan bench looking for a clicking combination, but the Indians were not to be denied their first game win.

The evening was not a complete loss for Larwill, as the home team reserves took the preliminary game 36-15. Bennett with 12 and Burnsworth with 10 led the Larwill reserves, while Shoda with 5 and Barnes with 3 were high scorers for Coesse.

Peron Leaves For A New Haven

ASUNCION, Paraguay (UP) — Juan D. Peron, the deposed Argentine dictator, left his Paraguayan axile today by plane for a new haven in the Central America republic of Nicaragua.

Peron left Asuncion National Airport for Lima, Peru, where he was due about 6 p.m.

The deposed Argentine leader who was exiled to Paraguay on Oct. 2 after his decade of dictatorship was overthrown by revolution, left his exile at a lonely villa outside Villarica at 3:25 a.m.

He moved in the greatest secrecy and only seven persons were at the airport to see him off, one of them a United Press correspondent.

Notice To All Voters
Contrary to anything you may have been told by workers of the other party, you cannot vote for both Republican and Democratic candidates for city council appearing side by side on the ballot, or your ballot will be entirely thrown out.

These councilmen are running against the men appearing beside them on the ballot, and any information given you that you could vote for two men appearing side by side on the ballot was an absolute falsehood.

To play safe, give Full Time Mayor Tom Hood a council he can work with and see eye to eye with by voting with your "X" in the first circle on the top of the ballot. That would be a straight Republican ballot, unquestioned at counting time.

Reach Decision On Negotiations At Perfect Circle

Federal Mediators Make Announcement

* * * *

CHICAGO UP)—A long-sought compromise has been reached on which to base negotiations in the three-month-old strike of CIO United Auto Workers against four Perfect Circle Corp. plants, federal mediators announced today.

Company and union agreed to negotiate a new contract only at the New Castle, Ind., foundry, scene of an Oct. 5 shotgun riot which wounded nine persons. Only at New Castle is the UAW's majority undisputed.

Federal Mediator Edward Windes said any agreement reached on the New Castle plant then will be extended to the firm's two Richmond plants and one at Hagerstown if the UAW retains bargaining rights at the latter three.

The National Labor Relations Board has recognized decertification petitions at Richmond and Hagerstown and ordered elections held to determine representation. Dates for the elections have not been set.

Soviet

on the table.

The Big Four conference was on the verge of deadlock with the Western ministers unable so far to get Molotov to set forward a plan for German unity. Thus far his various proposals called for a permanently divided Germany.

Last night the West slapped down an East German effort to slip into the conference through the back door with a plan for an "all-German council" — an all-German government made up of Communist and Western leaders.

Communist sources hinted that Molotov's plan would be on similar lines but would call for a "United States of Germany." It was the same type of plan that brought the non-Communist government of Poland home from London after the war only to disappear into the red maw.

All-German Council

Increasing Communists "leaks" said Molotov's plan called for an all-German council which would leave East and West Germany with senates selected by their respective states in the same way as the American Senate. These senates would cooperate to negotiate for German unity.

The Molotov plan would sidestep the free elections demanded by the West — a move that would lead to immediate Western rejection.

The West already was prepared to slap down Molotov's new plan for a European security treaty including West and East Germany and an arms control buffer zone across Europe including both.

Dulles To Dinner

Today's session came after an All Saints Day holiday during which Dulles flew to Madrid for talks with Generalissimo Francisco Franco and Pinay made a quick trip to France.

It gave the two men a chance to probe into the whole question of Mediterranean and Middle East defense. Spain has close contacts with the Arab world as well as North Africa, and American air bases are going up on the Iberian peninsula itself.

The visit also will balance the flying trip Dulles plans Sunday to visit Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

Tonight Molotov invited MacMillan to dinner at the Soviet minister's yellow stucco villa near the marble Palace of Nations. Two nights ago he invited Dulles.

Lie Tests

The men, both unshaven and wearing blue jeans, protested that they had never entered Robinson's Woods, where the murdered boys' nude bodies were found dumped in a ditch Oct. 18.

However, police said they had been informed that Driscoll and Kline frequented riding stables near the woods.

Kline's maroon car also assumed top importance in the investigation. The parents of the Schuessler boys said they had seen a maroon car cruising slowly past their home on the day before the murder. And police found a length of clothesline with stains which might be blood, a blood-stained handkerchief jammed in the sun visor, and other possible clues in the auto.

Cut On Head

Kline, who appeared "disturbed" under questioning, explained that he had used the handkerchief to staunch blood from a cut on his head several months ago.

Kline and Driscoll were picked up Monday night in a sparsely-furnished, abandoned farm home four miles outside of Ladysmith.

Police Chief Orville Woods of Ladysmith reported that Kline told him he had seen the murdered boys on the night of the murder and even noticed that the letter "U" was missing from the "Chicago Cubs" jacket of one of the boys.

It was pointed out that such minute descriptions of the boys' apparel have been widely publicized in Chicago.

Israeli Army Attacks In Force To Drive Egyptian Troops Back

By ELIAV SIMON
United Press Staff Correspondent

TEL AVIV, Israel (UP) — The Israeli army attacked in force early today to drive Egyptians from the Israeli half of the neutralied El Auja zone, and first reports indicated Israel was winning a major victory.

An Israeli communique reported 50 Egyptian soldiers slain and more than 40 captured in the first sudden onslaught which came in bright moonlight that bathed the Sinai desert.

It was Israel's second raid in force since arms from Communist Czechoslovakia began reaching the Arab world and the most costly in lives in a year of steadily worsening tension along the Israeli border with Egypt.

Atack Follows Peace Offer

(In Cairo a high Egyptian source said large Israeli forces occupied the El Auja demilitaried zone "within ten hours" after Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion had offered to sit down and talk peace with Arab leaders.

(Reports reaching London said both sides were using aircraft for reconnaissance in the battle but that there were no reports of air battles.)

The last heavy fighting flared only last Thursday at El Kuntilla, casting a pall over opening of the Big Four foreign ministers conference in Geneva.

Full details of the action were not immediately available. The Israeli communique said the attackers brought back four Israeli dead and 19 wounded and quantities of Egyptian war material.

A spokeman said Egyptian prisoners included two officers, mobile artillerymen, riflemen and machinegunners.

New Cabinet Installed

The new attack came the evening after Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion and his new cabinet were installed. And it followed the failure of outgoing Premier Moshe Sharett to win a firm guarantee from the Big Three at Geneva on Israel's borders.

23,000 Civilians To Be Cut From Defense Payrolls

Department Expects To Save 100 Million

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Defense Department expects to save 100 million dollars between now and July 1 by reducing its civilian pay rolls, a manpower official testified Wednesday.

Gus C. Lee, the department's director of manpower utilization, said about 23,000 civilians will be cut from defense payrolls between now and the end of December and 23,000 more will be cut in each of the two subsequent quarters.

He said the reduction was ordered by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson as part of a drive to save 500 million dollars the rest of this fiscal year. Wilson said recently the cuts would be necessary to bring military spending in the fiscal year to about the 34 billion dollars which President Eisenhower allowed the Defense Department in his budget.

Wilson did not break down the hoped-for savings when he announced the economy drive. Lee's testimony before the House Civil Service subcommittee means the department must look somewhere besides civilian employment for savings of about 400 million dollars.

Venezuelan Authorities Take Precautions To Protect Juan Peron During His Stop-Over

CARACAS, Venezuela (UP) — Venezuelan authorities took special precautions today to protect deposed Argentine Dictator Juan D. Peron during his stop-over here on his way to Nicaragua.

The Paraguayan military transport carrying Peron from Asuncion, Paraguay, was expected to arrive here before dawn. It was reported that Peron would spend several hours here before continuing the flight to Managua, the Nicaraguan capital.

The director of national security announced special precautionary measures have been taken to insure against any untoward incident during Peron's lay-over. The press was informed that no interviews or photographs would be permitted.

Peron ended 30 days of exile in Paraguay Wednesday and left for Nicaragua amid great secrecy. He left Asuncion at dawn and made a brief stop at Rio De Janeiro before heading toward Caracas.

Reports from Asuncion said Peron planned to make Nicaragua his future residence. He is a personal friend of Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza.

The new Argentine government was officially informed of Peron's departure by the government of Paraguay.

Peron took refuge in Paraguay Oct. 2 after his 10 year dictator-

Charles Wilson Investigates DC Airliner Crash

Which Killed 44 Persons

By GENE MEAKINS
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONGMONT, Colo. (UP)—Charles Wilson, Wisconsin explosives expert, today will attempt to trace the source of the blast-or blasts that rocked a United Air Lines DC-6B airliner before it crashed Tuesday night near here killing 44 persons.

Wilson, head of the Wisconsin State Crime Laboratory, was scheduled to arrive in nearby Denver aboard a UAL plane (at 7:15 a.m. EST) to join government and company investigators.

Before leaving Madison, Wis., on Wednesday night, Wilson told reporters that in investigating such a plane crash "you look for the same things you do in a bombing of a car."

Employed By United

The Wisconsin explosives specialist was employed by United Air Lines officials to aid in the investigation.

Evidence appeared indisputable on the basis of accounts by residents of the area who saw the crash that at least one and possibly two explosions rocked the four - engine transport before it smashed in flames into a sugar beet field eight miles east of here

One witness, miner La Voyze Popino of Frederick, Colo., said he saw a "flare hanging in the sky" where the plane went down. He said it took "three or four minutes" to float to the ground, indicating the pilot might have attempted to signal just before the crash.

Early Probe Phase

Jack Parshall, regional CAB investigator, completed "the organization phase of the investigation" Wednesday in meetings with representatives of the airline, the Civil Aeronautics Administration, FBI, air line pilots association (AFL), the flight engineers international (AFL), and Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Co., engine manufacturers.

As the investigation began, relations between United Air Lines and the flight engineers union which is on strike, grew more tense.

Union President Bill Kent said he had "brought to the attention of the CAA some matters" about United's operations but declined to elaborate.

Some Damage Done By Heavy Rainfall

The 1.91 inches of rainfall which fell from 6 p.m. Tuesday to 6 a.m. Wednesday caused some damage to basements in the north and east sections of Columbia City.

Herb Kneller and his crew of workmen were busy most of the night clearing leaves from catch basins and opening up sewers and pumping water. High winds and rains have brought many leaves down clogging the gutters.

Many small limbs fell from trees but the REMC, city linemen and telephone repairmen did not report any excessive damage in this area.

A trip to the Jefferson street sewer outlet disclosed high water nearly covering the outlet to the river.

It turned colder during the night and the temperature fell to a low of 29 degrees.

Father, 3 Sons Burn To Death In Their Home

Flames From Exploding Stove

NAPPANEE, Ind. (UP) —An Amish farmer, father of 13 children, and three of his sons were burned to death when flames from an exploding stove roared through their home near Nappanee late Wednesday night.

Dead were Smon Slabaugh, 47 and his sons Larry, 5, Glen, 10, and Simon Jr., 9.

Slabaugh's wife, Susie, and three other teen-age children escaped before flames leveled the building.

Th fire was discovered by Mrs Slabaugh shortly after 10 p.m. EST. It apparently started from exploding corn cobs thrown on the fire by a daughter shortly before the family retired.

Mrs. Slabaugh aroused most of the family and they escaped into the yard. A few minutes later Slabaugh discovered his three sons missing and ran back into the house to rescue them.

Shortly after he reentered the burning building it burst into a mass of flames. The rest of the family tried to get a ladder to a second floor window where the boys were sleeping, but the heat drove them back.

The family, in line with Amish religious beliefs, had no telephone or automobile.

Edward, 14, rode on horseback to a neighboring farm and phoned a fire department. Fire fighting units from Nappanee, Wakarusa and Bremen hurried to the scene but were unable to control the blaze. Gusts of wind and snow fanned the flames into a roaring inferno.

There were 13 children in the Slabaugh family, but seven of them were staying with relatives at the time of the fire.

Faure Wins Decisive Vote Of Confidence

Saves Government And France's Voice At Conference

By ARTHUR HIGBEE
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP)—Premier Edgar Faure won a decisive vote of confidence early today saving his own government and France's voice at the Geneva Big Four foreign ministers' conference.

The vote was 330 to 211, a solid 119-vote majority for the premier.

Although Faure did not seek their support, the Communists cast their 94 votes for the government.

Faure staked the life of his government on his demand for new elections next month to "get a new assembly and a stable government capable of the direct action France requires."

Pinay At Geneva

Had the premier lost, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay would have been reduced to the role of an observer at the Geneva conference.

It was Faure's fourth victory in votes of confidence in four weeks He won at the price of throwing overboard a chance to reform Frace's unpopular election law and at the cost of an open break with former Premier Pierre Mendes-France, his long-time friend and fellow member of the Radical Socialist Party.

In winning today's vote, Faure cleared the way for new elections expected to be held Dec. 18. Originally, the assembly was scheduled to expire May 30.

Consider Big Four Meeting Again Next Year

To Try To Break The Deadlock

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA (UP) — The United States was believed ready today to accept shelving of German unity until at least next year.

The same old deadlock over free elections to unify the two halves of Germany threatened further progress at the present Big Four foreign ministers' conference.

As a result, the United States and its Western partners, Britain and France, were considering a new Big Four meeting with Russia next year to try again to break the deadlock over Germany and European security.

Reporters covering the present conference have been encouraged to take the optimistic view that enough progress is being made at the current parley to warrant hopes that detail work on the twin problems can be left to a committee of experts.

Authoritative sources said the remaining differences then could be tackled by a new foreign minister's meeting some time next year.

Dulles Is Optimistic

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay told Russia's V. M. Molotov Wednesday that a settlement of East-West differences was possible if he made concessions on Germany as he had done on security.

However, Dulles, MacMillan and Pinay flatly refused to conclude a European security treaty at this time until there is agreement to unify Germany.

The three Western ministers met in another preliminary strategy session before the sixth plenray session met.

At that preliminary meeting, the West decided that Russia's "loaded" plan for Germany was "unacceptable" and "hopeless."

McCarthy Demands Immediate Investigation Of National Labor Relations Board Today

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy demanded today an immediate investigation of the National Labor Relations Board. He said he has "facts which, if true," indicate that the NLRB harbors a Communist cell.

The Wisconsin Republican said his own investigation indicates that the labor board is "literally honeycombed with individuals identified either as members of the Communist Party, or as having had years of constant and close association with known and or suspected Communists and Soviet agents."

McCarthy said he had not been able to double-check his evidence. But he demanded an immediate closed session of the Senate Investigating subcommittee, of which he is ranking Republican member and former chairman, to receive his information.

The Wisconsin Republican cited eight cases allegedly involving NLRB officials or employes. He mentioned no names but said one five-man board who was appointed by former President Truman.

The two Democratic members of the board are Abe Murdock, former Democratic senator from Utah, and Ivar Peterson, former administrative assistant to Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore). Peterson identifies himself as an independent.

Peterson said he had not seen McCarthy's letter and declined comment. Murdock said in Utah he would have "no comment on that kind of tripe." An NLRB spokesman also declined comment.

McCarthy did not disclose his evidence concerning the board member to whom he was referring but said it was "alarming" enough to justify investigation. He said the case was submitted to the White House but that Mr. Truman took the entire file with him into retirement at Independence, Mo.

Police Regard Confession Of Man Worthless

Truck Driver May Be Mental Case

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP) — Police today discounted the triple slaying "confession" of a 30-year-old truck driver who was so nervous he couldn't even take a lie detector test.

Ed Kline, who was picked up in an abandoned Wisconsin farm house, admitted the murders of Robert Peterson, 13, John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton 11, police said.

But Sgt. Michael Spiotto, temporarily heading the investigation, said police regarded the "confession" as the worthless "rambling of a mental case."

He could give no concrete account of how the murders were committed, investigators reported.

Kline was so nervous and upset that he was unfit for a lie detector test, Spiotto said, and he once gave 15 different answers to the same question. When police caught him up in discrepancies, Kline would explain "I'm just nervous."

Although Kline's disjointed statement late Wednesday was shrugged off, Spiotto said, "We intend to pursue every angle he discusses with us."

Kline and 19-year-old Charles Driscoll, who was also picked up in the Ladysmith, Wis., farm house were held on disorderly conduct charges. However, a lie test had already cleared Driscoll of any connection with the murders, police said.

Meanwhile, the three-week manhunt for the boys' sadistic killers was once again set back on its heels.

The boys were killed somewhere on Chicago's northwest side on Oct. 16. Two days later their naked, mutilated bodies were found dumped in a forest preserve ditch. Two had been strangled and one had been beaten to death.

One of the biggest manhunts in Chicago history has failed to turn up a single clue. Scores of suspects have been questioned and an estimated 1,000 possible clues have been checked out, all without result.

Detectives Will Question Several Society Beauties

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — Detectives prepared today to question several society beauties whom Mrs. William C. Woodward Jr. suspected were competitors for the love of her slain sportsman husband.

Mrs. Ann Crowell Woodward, who killed the millionaire turfsman last Sunday with a shotgun blast, was placed under a round-the-clock suicide guard at Doctors Hospital while authorities moved to complete the case for grand jury action next week. The jury must decide whether or not the slaying was accidental as Mrs. Woodward reported.

Private detectives hired by the 39-year-old former radio soap opera heroine to spy on her 35-year-old banking heir husband gave the list of prominent society women to police who are gathering evidence on marital discord in the Woodward home.

Sports Figure Named

The list of names was reported to include that of the wife of a prominent New York sports figure. The private agents said they trailed Woodward for seven years without turning up anything deeper than friendship with the women named.

Nassau County District Attorney Frank Gulotta, who is in charge of the investigation also confirmed reports that Woodward hired detectives to keep tab on his wife's private life. He said reports on her activities were "all negative."

Gulotta already has questioned dozens of socialites, including the Duchess of Windsor, who attended a party with the Woodwards shortly before the slaying. Still to be questioned is Brenda Fraler Kelly, a leading pre-war debutante

Did Not Attend Funeral

Woodward was buried Wednesday after a celebrity - starred funeral from which Mrs. Woodward was barred by her physician Dr. John M. Prutting.

Gulotta said he does not intend to subpena Mrs. Woodward for the grand jury investigation. He said he could not stop her from appearing before the grand jury voluntarily, adding that she would have to sign a waiver of immunity "before I would let her testify."

ship was ended by revolution.

Sources in Paraguay said that Peron had been preparing his trip to Nicaragua for the past two weeks. His secret was well kept by the diplomatic representatives of the South and Central American Republics he approached for necessary documents and permits.

It was learned that Peron was traveling under a Latin American "safe conduct" paper carrying the visas of the countries he will pass through to his new place of asylum.

Quotes From The News

By UNITED PRESS

HOLLYWOOD — Comedian George Burns on writing a book of his memoirs:

"The first thing in writing a book is never learn to read or write."

NEW ORLEANS — Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz, former publisher of the Argentine newspaper La Prensa which was confiscated by the Peron government in 1951, on the announcement that the new government of Argetina may take over the paper:

"It means we won't see the continuation of the situation where Peron's henchmen were still running the paper. It is a step in the right direction that could not be delayed."

SCARSDALE, N.Y. — Dr. Vincent du Vigneaud, head of the biochemistry department at Cornell University Medical School, on receiving the Nobel Prize for chemistry:

"Oh boy, oh boy, oh boy—if it's true."

WASHINGTON — Fashion Editor Robert L. Green on a black raincoat designed for fashionable men of 1956:

National Shortage Of Nurses To Last At Least 15 Years

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — If you get sick any time between now and 1960 you may become the victim of a national shortage — nurses.

The shortage will continue to plague us for at least 15 years but we can't blame our young girls. A higher percentage of 18-year-olds entered nursing in 1954 than in 1940.

We simply have fewer 18-year-olds now, which can be traced back to low birth rates in depression years. And we have twice as many people admitted to hospitals each year as we did during depression years.

Mrs. Lucile Petry Leone knows as much about our chances for having a nurse stand by our sick bed as any woman in the United States. She is the assistant surgeon general of the United States and chief nurse office of the U.S. Public Health Service.

High Birth Rate

"We may catch up in 15 to 20 years," Mrs. Leone said in an interview here. "The birth rate was high in the early 1940's, and by 1959 those girls will be the right age to begin training."

Mrs. Leone, a pretty, white-haired woman, came here this week from Washington to accept a group award from the Albert Lasker Foundation for leadership in improving the nation's sick room situation.

"We have done nationwide surveys that show how we can solve some of the problems," Mrs. Leone said.

More Hospital Aides

"We must have more paid hospital aides to take over some of the clerical duties the nurses now do," she said. "It has been shown that the average head nurse spends as much as 30 per cent of her time on clerical duties, and it could be cut to 5 per cent."

New hospitals in small communities are helping too, she said. A woman who has retired from nursing often goes back into the field when her community gets its own modern hospital.

"Of course, one of the ways to make nursing more attractive would be to increase salaries," Mrs. Leone said. "That may come too. But each year more opportunities for nurses to move into executive positions are opening. Until 1940 there was no nurse who made a five figure annual salary. Now there are a number of $10,000 a year nursing administration jobs."

Nature Sometimes Succeeds Where Man Fails, Cures Cancer

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—As incredible as it sounds, and despite the many millions and the tremendous efforts which go into cancer research, science has never made a thorough-going effort to understand precisely how nature now and then does what man hasn't done yet—really cure cancer.

Dr. Robert C. Mellors, pointing this out at the annual meeting of the American Cancer Society, revealed that first steps toward a complete, precise understanding "probably" has brought science "a giant step" closer to the conquest of Bright's disease, which is remote from cancer but quite serious.

Science has always called nature's mysterious cancer cure, "spontaneous regression." They're exceedingly rare but, Dr. Mellors said, they're "fully documented." He cited a recent case at the Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases here in New York.

Cancer In Advanced Stage

The woman's cancer was in an advanced stage. "Suddenly there was an explosive development of allergic reactions," Dr. Mellors said. Not enough time has passed to show how lasting this "explosive development" will be, but for the time her cancer is under a "biological control" which was supplied by her own body chemistry

It seemed evident, he said, that some "alteration" had occurred in the protein of her tumor. It became "foreign," from the viewpoint of her body chemistry which set itself to manufacturing the chemical antibodies with which to expel the foreign invader. This "immune mechanism" operates in infectious diseases but it has never been clearly demonstrated to operate in cancer.

Neglected Research Problem

Dr. Mellors, who is a section head in the Sloan Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, granted that his explanation of what happened to the woman, was "conjecture" but "it is clear that a better understanding of the host mechanisms in the biological control of cancer . . . is one of the most pressing and in many respects most neglected problems in cancer research today."

Ways and means of studying such intricate and wellhidden natural mechanisms are extremely difficult, he also granted — and then outlined technical niceties with which he demonstrated the presence of localized immune bodies—proteins capable of stimulating body chemistry into producing specific antibodies — in human body cells and tissues.

That led him to a passing mention of Bright's disease—glomerulonephritis. Medicine has long suspected it was an allergic disease but immune bodies have never been demonstrated in the glomeruli of the kidneys. By his technical method, he demonstrated their presence.

As the result, we are now probably a "giant step" closer to working out a means for the eventual prevention and control of glomerulonephritis, he said.

Know Your Candidate

Editor's Note: That voters may become better ecquainted with the candidates, brief sketches are hereby presented concerning those who oppose each other in the Nov. 8 City election.

Thomas H. Hood, Rep.

Garland F. Stickler, Dem.

Candidate for re-election as mayor is Thomas H. Hood, 62, Republican, who resides at 320 North Washington street.

He is a native of Columbia City, born Jan. 21, 1892, and a CCHS graduate in the class of 1911. He took two and a half years of academic work at the University of Michigan, including pre-law studies, following completion of his high school work, then returned and entered business here with his father, Frank Hood.

They owned a retail furniture business, and prior to the death of the senior Mr. Hood his interest was sold to Charles S. Smith, local funeral director. The firm engaged in both the furniture and undertaking lines until some years later when the partnership was ended and Mr. Smith continued the undertaking business and Mr. Hood retained the furniture business. A fire which destroyed his store in March, 1950, caused Mr. Hood to decide to retire from business, ending 35 years in mercantile experience. While engaged in the furniture business he served 12 years on the school board, most of it as president of the board.

In 1951 he was elected mayor

He and Mrs. Hood have two chilldren. Their son, Robert, resides in Columbia City and is employed by the Grip-Nut Corp., at South Whitley. Their daughter, Evelyn, is Mrs. James Obermiller. The Obermillers reside in Boston, Mass.

Having served four years as president of the Common Council from 1948 to 1952, Garland F. Stickler, local pharmacist and partner in the retail drug business here with Walter Meyers, is candidate for election on the Democratic ticket as mayor at next Tuesday's election.

He is a native of Columbia City and a CCHS graduate with the class of 1929. Completing high school, he went to the Indianapolis College of Pharmacy, the pharmacy school of Butler university from which he was graduated in 1933. From 1924, when he was a high school freshman, until he completed his pharmacy education, he worked part time in the store which he and Mr. Meyers now own. This was operated during the 1920's and early '30's by John Meier and Edward Hildebrand.

From 1933 to 1936 when he and Mr. Meyers bought the local store from Mr. Meier, he worked for a former Columbia City resident, Chester A. Hall, at Hall's drug store in Wabash.

During World War II Mr. Stickler served as county chairman of the War Price and Rationing board. He served five years in the Indiana State Militia, receiving his honorable discharge as a staff sergeant in 1929. He is a past president of the Whitley County Old Settlers' Day association and has been active in civic, fraternal and church affairs.

He and Mrs. Stickler, the former Georgia Kneller, have two children who are CCHS students. Roberta, aged 17, is in her senior year while Kent, 14, is a freshman. The Stickler home is at 323 North Main street.

Red Carpet Treatment Kremlin Gave U Nu Of Burma Seems to Be Paying Off In Big Way

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The red carpet treatment which the Kremlin has given to Prime Minister U Nu of Burma during his visit to Russia seems to be paying off in a big way.

In various speeches, Nu has pictured Russia, under its Communist dictatorship, as being about as nice a country as could be imagined.

Nu worked up to a climax Wednesday when he invited Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin and Communist Party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev to visit Burma and they accepted.

Nu previously had made the startling proposal at a dinner in Moscow Tuesday night that the Soviet Union should be invited to the next conference of the Asian African bloc of countries.

Khrushchev interrupted him to agree heartily. Khrushchev said that such an invitation would strengthen world peace. .

Moscow dispatches said that diplomats of other countries which belong to the 29-ation African Asian organiztion were both startled and embarrassed by Nu's statement.

It certainly would be helpful to the promotion of world tension if the Kremlin were to be handed an invitation to increase its present meddling in the affairs of Middle Eastern and Southeast Asian countries.

Nu justified his remarks by saying that, on a tour of the Soviet Union before he arrived in Moscow, he found that a number of the so-called "republics" of the Soviet Union had much in common with Asian countries.

Of course, the Soviet Union is Asian in the sense that it occupies a vast area of that continent.

Nu's implication was that not Russia itself but some of its Asiatic "republics" should be invited to the next Asia-Africa conference.

Bulganin, replying to Nu's statement, intimated that he thought that would be the way to do it.

It was noted that, when Nu arrived in Russia, he was given a reception more elaborate than any accorded any foreign visitor except Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India.

Nu and Nehru are fellow "neutralists." They oppose Western "colonialism" and "imperialism," and are for the admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

Constable Newt Plum Was Created By Abe Martin

After reading the item which appeared in this paper Tuesday evening concerning Vice President Thomas R. Marshall and the doubt raised as to the identity of Constable Newt Plum, James D. Adams comes forth with the answer.

The author of the story which appeared Tuesday evening said, "history does not furt heridentify Constable Plum. If he existed at all it may have been at Columbia City Ind., where Mr. Marshall lived before being elected governor.".

Constable Newt Plum was a ficticious character by Kin Hubbard, better known as Abe Martin, who was a feature writer for the Indianapolis News about the time Mr. Marshall became governor. Constable Newt Plum frequently expressed bits of wisdom as did other characters created by Abe Martin.

Here are some of them:

"I'll drive, said Mrs. Lafe Bud as she climbed in the back seat."

"Lafe Bud lost his job at the butcher shop because his thumb didn't weigh enough."

"It is rumored that Lafe Bud and his wife are unhappy. special session of the Art-Embroidery Club was called."

"It used to be that two could live cheaper than one but now it doesn't make any difference."

There is the Door

Mr. Adams recalled another incident in Mr. Marshall's life that is not unlike the situation in Washington today.

Mr. Marshall related circumstances surrounding a visit of a group of republican senators who called at his office after President Woodrow Wilson had suffered a stroke of paralysis. The senators asked Mr. Marshall whether he would accept the presidency if the senate should declare the office of president vacant.

"What did you reply?" Mr. Marshall was asked.

"I got up from my desk, walked over and opened the door and turned to the group of senators. 'Woodrow Wilson is the president of the United States and there is the door.'"

The senators got up and walked out, Mr. Marshall concluded.

Ali Seeks 'Final' Meeting With Nehru

KARACHI, Pakistan (UP) — Prime Minister Chaudri Mohamad Ali will seek a "final" meeting with Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru on the Kashmir issue before submitting the controversy once again to the United Nations, government sources said today.

This meeting, sources said, was one of "certain conclusions on initial steps" Ali has decided should be taken to strengthen Pakistan's efforts to obtain a plebescite in predominately Muslim Kashmir to decide whether it should be a part of Pakistan or India.

PEN NOTES

LITTLE HANDS AND FEET
(To Judy Two Years Old.)

Your fingers busy all day long....
Will they be busy when the throng
Of other years comes marching on?

Will they be hands that work and pray,
Or paint a fine picture some day
As other years come marching on?

Your pattering feet-here-there-all day....
Will they go stepping all in play
When other years come marching on?

Or will they step in paths so gay
You'll love and hate the self same way
When other years come marching on?

Or will your hands and feet be blessed
To do, and go at God's request
As other years come marching on?

DIAGNOSIS AMERICANS!

We groan about the income tax
High living costs are facts.
We shudder when we think about
The billions we are giving out,
And politics is such a gripe
Just like a melon over ripe.
We growl at every thing that's done
In our great city Washington!
Forgetting these, we must admit
We have the very best of it!
Margaret O. Painter

AUTUMN BERRIES

Autumn gives a bounty
Of holly, thorn and yew;
Birds enjoy the banquet
In a rendesvous.

There never will be famine
When birds can find a haw -
The crow who eats the berry seed,
Will thank you with a "caw."

The wild crab flaunts it's brilliant fruit
To outdo berried shrubs,
And birds use all as winter food;
A substitute for grubs.

With summer's garmets growing thin
On the edges of the wood,
Autumn shows a loveliness
In her berried hood.

President Takes Full Charge Of Government; Return To Washington May Be Months Away

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Reporter

DENVER (UP)—President Eisenhower is taking "full charge" of the government now, Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, reported, although the Chief Executive's return to a daily working schedule at the White House may be some months away.

Mitchell saw the President late Wednesday and was asked, "did you discuss with the President when he might be taking full charge of the government again—when he might be back on the job?"

Mitchell replied, "I would assume he is taking full charge now."

Not since the President suffered a heart attack Sept. 24 has there been any serious question of his not being in legal command of the government, although much of his normal work and areas of decision had to be taken over by key members of his administration.

Seek To Lighten Load

Several cabinet members who have visited recently at Fitsimons Army Hospital which Mr. Eisenhower expects to leave Nov. 11 have commented on their efforts to speed his recovery and lighten his load by assuming more responsibility themselves.

Mitchell's brief reference to "taking full charge now" represented no sudden change in the President's hospital routine, but it did reflect the fact that each day finds him stronger and able to devote more time to official duties.

The main purpose of Mitchell's visit was to review administration legislative recommendations to be submitted to Congress next year. Mitchell said the administration would continue to back the long delayed amendments to the Taft Hartley law, but he saw no chance of the Democratic controlled Congress in 1956 passing them.

Changes Sought Twice

The amendments to the controversial law were recommended by the administration in 1954 and again this year, but without success.

Asked to discuss the amendments in any detail, Mitchell mentioned two or three, including the proposal involving secondary boycotts and non-Communist affidavits. But he begged off giving a detailed review, "because very frankly I don't feel that any action is going to be taken at all by Congress on Taft-Hartley this year (1956)."

The President scheduled no official callers at the hospital today. His next announced visitor is Field Marshall Viscount Montgomery of Eel Alamein, deputy commander of NATO defense forces, who will arrive Saturday for a social call.

Distribution Of Precinct Supplies Is Set For Saturday

County Clerk Kenneth Nichols on Saturday will distribute to the inspectors named for each of the four Columbia City precincts the election supplies for the Nov. 8 election for city officers.

These will be available at the court clerk's office until 3 p.m. Saturday.

Until this hour also those persons properly qualified as absent voters may cast their ballots at the county clerk's office. This would include persons such as students who will be absent from their place of residence next Tuesday on election day.

There will be no election school this year.

Gamble Lives On Drinking Bout, Lose

MANILA (UP)—Two brothers gambled their lives on their drinking capacity and lost, police reported today.

Authorities said the brothers Velacio and Ciriaco Aure, aged 24 and 20, used a drinking contest to settle a long - standing feud with Nicasio Hernandez.

The first to pass out would be killed. After several rounds of rum, Velacio and Ciriaco dropped.

Hernandez shot one and stabbed the other.

Indiana High School Basketball Coaches Predict Better Balanced Race For Crown

By KURT FREUDENTHAL
United Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —Indiana's high school basketball coaches today predicted a better balanced race for Hoosierland's top sports crown next March than last year with defending champion Indianapolis Attucks and Hammond the top contenders.

While Muncie Central was the overwhelming favorite a year ago —the Bearcats lost their bid in a semi-final thriller to Attucks, 71-70 —the experts this time mentioned at least 15 pre-season pretenders to the throne.

Attucks received seven votes in the United Press pre-season poll, followed closely by Hammond with six. Both clubs have key performers back for another season. Attucks has city scoring champion Oscar Robertson. Hammond depends on 6-8 Frank Radovich for much of its scoring and backboard work.

Givens Is Pessimistic

Four teams got four nods apiece —Muncie, South Bend Central, Richmond and New Albany. Three votes went to Kokomo and Seymour, while other outfits mentioned included Anderson, Logansport, LaPorte, Fort Wayne South, Lafayette, Indianapolis Tech, Jasper.

New Albany's Jonnny Givens, whose boys lost to Attucks in last spring's afternoon session of the grand finale, is pessimistic despite the pre-season bouquets from his rival coaches.

"We have more height but we're weaker," he said. "We won't be able to hit unless we develop some shooters."

Scholarly-looking Elmer McCall, who piloted the South Benders all the way in 1953, didn't hide his joy.

"My three front men will average 6-3 plus," he said. "The good part is the fact I have 2-3 other boys over 6-2 battling for front positions. It's going to be hard for two of last year's regulars to make the starting line-up, and that makes for good competition within the squad."

McCall also conceded that "all South Bend teams will be good" this year.

Hammond lost only three regularly-scheduled games last time, but Bob King hopes for an even better record.

"We're hoping to be stronger," he said.

Fort Wayne North's Don Bruick refused to turn to the crying towel despite the fact his club was hit hard by graduation. The Redskins also belonged to the "Fieldhouse Four" last March.

"We expect a good season and possibly a very good one. Much depends on a couple of our key players," he said.

Crosstown coach Herb Banet, whose Central crew dropped only two games before tourney time, said his Tigers are much weaker this time around. "I hope we can win half our games," he said.

Conference Choices Listed

Muncie's Jay McCreary lost his big front line and that'll "hurt some, but we'll manage," he said.

The coahces also singled out the following teams for top honors in the major conferences:

South Central—Seymour.

Southern—New Albany, Princeton, Jasper.

East NIHSC—South Bend Central, LaPorte, Mishawaka.

West NIHSC—Hammond, East Chicago Washington, Gary Mann.

Western—Terre Haute Garfield and Gerstmeyer.

Wide-open, according to the survey, are the North Central and Central Conference title races. In the NCC, the coaches tabbed no less than six contenders—all listed among the top choices for state honors.

Elwood, Hartford City, Monticello and Huntington top the CIC hopefuls.

Jim Tomlinson, Bob Butcher, Dave Phillips and Larry Juillerat, all seniors, are back from last year's squad. Phil Miller and Max Aker are seniors this year, seeing action on the B team last year. Notice To All Voters

Contrary to anything you may have been told by workers of the other party, you cannot vote for both Republican and Democratic candidates for city council appearing side by side on the ballot, or your ballot will be entirely thrown out.

These councilmen are running against the men appearing beside them on the ballot, and any information given you that you could vote for two men appearing side by side on the ballot was an absolute falsehood.

To play safe, give Full Time Mayor Tom Hood a council he can work with and see eye to eye with by voting with your "X" in the first circle on the top of the ballot. That would be a straight Republican ballot, unquestioned at counting time.

Roosevelt Rough Riders Remain Top Team In U. P. Poll

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —Seymour's South Central Conference champions, who last week turned in a perfect season, were rewarded with a spot in the Indiana high school football "Big 10" today as East Chicago Roosevelt remained the team to beat for state honors.

For the sixth time in seven weeks, Roosevelt's Rough Riders topped the United Press Coaches Poll, garnering a total of 98 points, the same as their season high a week ago.

Seymour, 13th last week, moved up to 10th place to join the elite for the first time. Four other outfits improved their state-wide rankings, three skidded and three more retained their positions.

Undefeated South Bend Adams remained second, Sullivan fourth, and Evansville Central fifth.

Fort Wayne North vaulted from sixth place to third, Evansville Reitz from ninth to sixth, Marion from 10th to a tie for seventh with South Bend Washington, and Boonville from 11th to ninth. The latter was in the select circle previously.

The South Benders rated third last week but lost ground after their second straight loss. Terre Haute Wiley, toppled from the perfect ranks by Lafayette, skidded from seventh to 12th, and Kokomo from eighth to 11th. Kokomo was beaten by Logansport.

Up and coming Terre Haute Schulte was the lone brand-new addition to the "wellregarded" ranks.

Money Talks ,But Duty Muffles Sound

NEW YORK (UP) — Money may talk, but its sound was muffled by duty Tuesday night.

The Rev. Alvin Kershaw, a rockjawed jazz fan from Oxford, Ohio, gave up his chance for top mone on CBS-TV's "The $64,000 Question" because in his words, "my mission has been accomplished. I didn't go on the program for the money."

Kershaw, pastor of the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in Oxford, had answered a series of jazz questions in his four previous appearances on the quiz show to pile up a stake of $32,000. Tuesday night, Kershaw was offered a double-or-nothing chance, but bowed out.

After the show, Kershaw explained that he had consented to appear on the show only because he wanted to call attention to the culural and religious importance of the music.

"It would have been tragic if it all ended in an anti-climax—if I missed the last question," said Kershaw. "I made the decision late in the afternoon before the show."

Careless Drivers Are Called Nation's Sixth Columnists

CHICAGO (UP)— An American College of Surgeons group was told Tuesday that careless drivers are America's "sixth columnists."

Ross A. McFarland, associate professor of industrial hygiene at Harvard University's public health school, said "this kind of driver is a bigger menace than the drunken driver because he generally has the use of his senses."

He spoke before a symposium on injuries meeting in conjunction with the 41st congress of the American College of Surgeons. About 6,000 surgeons are attending the convention, which lasts through Friday.

John O. Moore, director of automotive crash injury research at Cornell University medical college, told the symposium that within 10 years all new cars will be equipped with maximum safety devices.

The safety belt is "the most fundamental" of these new developments, Moore said. The belts, together with other devices, should reduce traffic injuries 60 per cent, he predicted.

In papers delivered before the congress today, two Pittsburgh, Pa., doctors reported thta the preservative used in blood banks may be the cause of bleeding which sometimes occurs in patients receiving massive transfusions during operations.

In another report, a team of Detroit surgeons said a synthetic fabric has been made to substitute for blood vessels.

SOUTHAMPTON, England (UP) — American evangelist Billy Graham called for prayers today for Princess Margaret and Peter Townsend.

Margaret's decision not to marry Townsend has increased the influence and prestige of the royal family, the North Carolina minister said Wednesday night.

"I think all our hearts go out to the princess and Group Captain Townsend, but I think both need our prayers," Graham said.

When better automobiles are built Buick will build them

IT COMES upon the heels of the most successful Buick in history—and beats it on every score.

In shimmering steel and solid sinew, it's Buick for 1956—and there's never been anything like it for pure automobile.

You get an even better hint when you open the doors and see the dazzle there.

But it's when you put this beauty to the city streets and the open highways that you learn the best of it.

For here is performance without parallel. A new advance in Variable Pitch Dynaflow* goes airplanes one better—steps up your getaway in normal driving without flooring the pedal to switch the pitch. But when you do need that extra surge, it's there instantly—and in extra abundance.

The might of big 322-cubic-inch V8 engines in every Series brings new record high power to all Buicks—ROADMASTER, SUPER, CENTURY, and the bedrock-priced SPECIAL. And to handle such dynamic driving power, the whole rear end has been endowed with extra brawn and heft and solidity.

TO LIVE AGAIN

When Autumn's breath is in the air,
  And leaves are showering everywhere;
When every corn-shock turns to brown,
  And hides the gold within its crown;
We know that God in nature sings
  A quiet lullaby.

When fields have lost the furrowed rows,
  And the abundant harvest shows;
When mother earth says—"One two, three,
  Come leaves and keep me company;"
We know that God in nature sings
  A quiet lullaby.

When leaves make soil a rich display,
  And live again another way;
When grains of corn fall in the earth,
  And bear a fruitage in rebirth;
We know that God in nature sings
  A quiet lullaby.

When sunset comes and time for rest,
  And Eden's garden we have dressed;
When God, someday, says—"One two, three,
  Come child, and keep me company"
When all shall know to die is gain,
  That Heaven's call is not in vain;
We know that God and fruitage bring
  A quiet lullaby.

LANDS SONNET

I'm satisfied to own a bit of land,
  And see the rich earth rise in nature's breast,
When ploy points pierce the heart of heard packed sand
  And the earth breathes with life at Spring's request.

  The kernels burst and brisk green spears appear
  On soil that long had looked so packed and drab,
Replenished now with jest since Spring is here—
  Depression buried with the winter scab.

The green crop grows and ripples in the breeze,
  I see the colors change as seasons pass;
I chill within to see my green sea freeze—
  Depressed when winter browns the pasture grass.

Knowing my land will green again I wait
  For Winter to depart and close the gate.

"A" IS FOR APPLE

A was for apple,
  At the time I was three.
By six I explored
  The gnarled apple tree.

Then came the school days,
  Each rare as a prize
And I ate a red apple
  Of neat pocket-size.

At twelve I was friendly
  With the fair's personnel,
As I munched taffee apples
  On the red carousel.

We had Halloween apples,
  And Christmas ones too,
All polished and shining
  As if they were new.

The legend of peelings
  Entangled my mind
With teen-aged conviction,
  His initials I'd find.

And now that I'm older
  I take childhood's hand,
To trek the long journey
  Back to Holiday land.

A MAN IN SQUIRREL SEASON

Never could figure the reason
  Why on work days six is early
But even five o'clock is late
  Come time to hunt the squirrely

He should get up by maybe three
  No later sure than four,
Must get into the woods while dark
  And camp by squirrely's door.

No need for an alarm clock now.
  He wakes up bright and pert.
"Hain't like on all those workin' days
  His bones don't ache and hurt.

He doesn't pause a bit in bed,
  Nor rub his head and say,
"I'd give most anything if I Could stay in bed today."

He jumps out o' that bed so fast
  He hits his toes and shin;
But you never hear a whimper
  'Cause squirrel season's in!

Indiana Piles Up A Deadly Traffic Toll During October

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —Indiana piled up a deadly traffic record on its highways during October, pushing up to 936 the number of accident fatalities in the first 10 months of the year, state police reported today.

The provisional figures listed 133 deaths on the highways during the colorful fall month when Hoosiers often take Sunday afternoon drives.

Police said it was the 10th year out of the last 27 that October earned a "most deadly" label During the last 27 Octobers, 3,209 persons have died on streets and highways in Indiana.

Maj. John Barton, state police executive officer, blamed "a letdown in public interest and variable driving conditions" for the high toll.

Comparing the toll to a year ago, police said there were 921 deaths through midnight Oct. 30 as compared to 860 at the same time in 1954.

Transit Strike At South Bend Has Been Averted

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP)—An eleventh hour contract agreement based on proposals submitted by Mayor John A. Scott, assured about 40,000 transit patrons today of uninterrupted bus service.

Scott, acting in the role of mediator, issued the proposals to union and management Wednesday night, only hours before a midnight strike deadline.

The terms were accepted by Northern Indiana Transit, Inc., serving South Bend and Mishawaka, and were ratified "overwhelmingly" by some 200 drivers and mechanics of the AFL Motor Coach Employes union.

The proposals included a 10½-cent hourly wage increase and two paid holidays per year. The union formerly had no paid holidays. The company had offered a 10-cent pay hike, but had rejected union demands for fringe benefits.

It was the third time an upstate transit strike has been averted in the past two weeks. Earlier, bus drivers at Gary and at Hammond accepted similar agreements shortly before strike deadlines.

The South Bend transit strike deadline originally was set for Monday night, but was postponed pending the outcome of Wednesday night's meeting with Scott.

Girl Scout troop 2 enjoyed a Halloween party last Friday evening at the shelter house in the city park. Each member of the troop brought a guest and all were masked. Micheal Street, who was disguised as a clown, was judged the best dressed.

The shelter house was decorated with orange and black crepe paper. A large pumpkin face was on the fireplace mantel. The refreshment table was laid with a Halloween tablecloth and napkins. Three pumpkin faces, which were on the table, held doughnuts. Popcorn, candy, Coke and cider were also served.

Games, folk dancing and relay games formed the entertainment.

Leaders of the troop are Mrs. Richard Boyer and Mrs. Robert Boyer.

Indiana's High School Basketball Season Is Open

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —Indiana's high school basketball season opened Tuesday night with mostly the town and township schools taking to the hardwood for an early start.

Little Milan, the "people's choice" state champion in 1954, won 59-52 over Rising Sun in a game played at Versailles. Last season, Milan won 15 games and lost six.

In a southeastern conference game, Salem whipped Austin 68-55, while Harlan of Allen County, beaten only once in last year's regular season, topped Arcola 69-46 with new coach Herm Moyer at the helm.

Montpelier started successfully under first-year coach Carl Honaker, who in 1954 was Indiana's leading college scorer at Taylor University. Jerry Robbins led Montpelier with 29 points to a 64-49 victory over Lancaster Central.

Some of the other more important results: Milford beat Syracuse 44-35, Oolitic beat Brownstown 54-47, Washington Catholic beat Elnora 67-39, and Vincennes Catholic beat Decker 81-59.

West Gives The Bonn Republic Solemn Pledge On Peace Treaty

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA (UP)—The West gave the Bonn republic a solemn pledge today not to sign any cold war peace settlement with the Soviet Union without agreement to reunite Germany.

The pledge was given by the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France in their first joint meeting with the official West German observers since the present Big Four conference started.

Officials disclosed that, in a 90-minute session at the villa of British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan, the Western ministers reaffirmed their decision to keep hammering at Russia's Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov to get him to disclose his position on free all-German elections and German unity.

At the same time, it was agreed the West would refuse to sign any agreement on European security that did not include a reunified Germany.

Purpose Not Known

The Western strategy session came before the start of the seventh plenary session of the four ministers and close on the heels of private meetings between Molotov and the French and British foreign ministers.

Molotov called first on French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay for 30 minutes. Then he drove to see MacMillan at the British delegation villa. He did not meet with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who has clashed repeatedly with the Russian at the conference sessions.

Purpose Not Known

Molotov's purpose was not immediately known but the crafty Soviet diplomat made similar direct approaches in past Big Four conferences to try to break deadlocks.

This was the first time since this conference of foreign ministers began eight days ago that Molotov has made any such move.

The Western foreign ministers were expected today to ask Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov once again to halt Communist arms shipments to Egypt.

In talks with Molotov last week the Western ministers pleas for the Soviets to slow down the Middle East arms race received what one source called an "impassive stare from Molotov." The new crisis was expected to bring further appeals.

Israeli To Return

An Israeli foreign office official was expected back in Geneva this weekend to make contact with the Big Four delegations of the new crisis.

In Thursday's session Molotov bluntly balked at Western suggestion he propose a Russian plan for unification at the conference called to carry out the "Spirit of Geneva" forged at last summer's summit conference.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, in an angry about face from earlier optimism, told Molotov: "It seems to me that that confronts us with the problem of the good faith in which the summit) directive is being carried out."

U. S. Officials Blame Russia's Arms Sales For The Latest Egyptian-Israeli Fighting

WASHINGTON UP) — United States officials today blamed Russia for the latest Egyptian-Israeli fighting and any Middle Eastern war it may spawn.

Pulling no punches, the officials said Russia's decision to push Red arms sales of the Middle East is the cause of the bigget outbreak of fighting in the area in more than six years.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles personally has talked over the crisis with Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov on at least three occasions in New York and Geneva.

The United States likewise has warned Egypt that its purchase of Czech arms could spark a war just at a time when the Korean, Indochina and Formosa tension areas of the Far East were somewhat quiet.

The State Department said on Thursday that the latest flareup in the Middle East was "very serious." It said that "this situation has been explosive for some time. . it is getting worse."

Israel within the next few days will present the United States with an important and perhaps fateful request for arms to balance those Egypt is getting from the Communists. American officials have promised that the request will be given "sympathetic consideration." But U. S. policy to date has been against entering into any Middle Eastern arms race.

Israel's list of wanted weapons is expected to be headed by jet planes, anti - aircraft guns, and perhaps some anti - submarine equipment. The Reds are reported delivering Soviet MIG15 jet fighters and Soviet IL28 medium jet bombers to Egypt.

The State Department already is under some congressional pressure to provide Israel with arms if peace proposals fail.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) said the United States should back Israeli demands for further negotiations. The State Department on Thursday gave support to Israel's suggestion for direct talks with Egypt.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.) urged Dulles to take immediate steps to arrange mutual security treaties with Israel and other states.

Police Consider Case Of Missing Woman Solved

Discovery Of Skeleton Causes Supsect's Suicide

By JOHN A. HAHN
United Press Staff Correspondent

MANCHESTER, Mass. (UP) — The mysterious disappearance of a Pennsylvania woman two years ago was considered solved today by the discovery of a skeleton which caused the murder suspect's suicide.

William Ray Turner, 41, committed suicide Thursday as the police of three states were closing in on him with a warrant ordering his arrest for the murder of a former part-time employe, Doris Hatch 22, of Cambridge Springs, Pa.

Turner's legal training apparently kept him one shaky step ahead of the law for two years until the skeleton of the victim was found by a hunter and his dog Tuesday at Stafford Springs, Conn.

Pennsylvania police had questioned Turner about the girl's disappearance, but could not begin prosecution until the body was found.

A medical examiner in Hartford, Conn., said the woman had been killed by multiple stab wounds with a sharp, thin-bladed instrument. Miss Hatch, a bank teller vanished during her lunch hour on July 27, 1953. She was employed as a part-time secretary for Turner who operated a family hardware business in Cambridge Springs.

When the skeleton was identified by dental charts and a watch as that of Miss Hatch, a warrant for Turner's arrest was issued. As police arrived to arrest Turner they were informed an off-duty police sergeant found his body on deserted White's Beach, about one mile from the Turner home on Sea Street.

Turner had killed himself with a .45 caliber Colt automatic pistol. Two brief handwritten notes were found beneath the body which was in an upright, sitting position. Sgt. Daniel MacEachern, who discovered the body, turned the notes over to his superiors who would only disclose the contents of one.

It was addressed to Turner's 33-year-old wife Diane. "Sorry for all the trouble I have caused you. This is the only way out," the note said.

Two Women Shot To Death Today In Princeton

Estranged Husband Of One Is Being Held

PRINCETON, Ind. (UP)—Two women were shot to death today and a man was wounded in a shooting in a rooming house. The estranged husband of one of the women was held as a suspect.

The women were identified by police as Mrs. Ella Cox, 65, and Mrs. Ethel Bryant.

The wounded man was Floyd E. Dillard, 46.

Mrs. Cox was killed outright by a gunshot. Mrs. Bryant was dead on arrival at Gibson General Hospital.

Dillard was shot in the head and wounded critically.

Police held Mrs. Bryant's husmand, Lawrence, Palestine, Ill., as a suspect.

According to police, the two women were shot in Mrs. Bryant's apartment in the rooming house.

Dillard was shot in the hall outside the room.

Arnold Cox, no relation to the dead woman, was also fired at in the hall but was not hit.

Bryant was arrested through a coincidence shortly after the shooting.

Police were called to investigate a traffic accident on U.S. 41 near Princeton about the same time the report of the rooming house shooting reached police headquarters.

The accident investigators heard the names of the shooting victims on police radio and were struck by the fact the name Bryant cropped up in both reports. They then determined that the Bryant involved in the accident was the estranged husband of one of the shooting victims.

Police said a revolver like the one used in the slaying was found in Bryant's car.

Mrs. Bryant and her mother Mrs. Katherine Selfe, resided at the rooming house. Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Bryant's aunt, had stopped in to visit when the shooting occurred.

Mrs. Selfe was sleeping in a downstairs room and did not witness the shooting.

Convicts Tunnel Beneath Prison Wall To Freedom

10 Inmates Still At Large

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (UP) — Ten convicts accomplished a "masterpiece of engineering" by tunneling 60 feet under the state prison wall to freedom and were still at large today.

The 10 inmates bored through a 7-inch concrete floor into a basement, then tunneled to a point outside the west wall between two towers. The escape was discovered at 8 p.m. Thursday at the evening roll call.

"It looks like they had help from somebody on the outside," said L.F. Davis, chief engineer. "They came out at a point that was directly between Towers 7 and 8 between two shacks where it was impossible for them to be seen by guards in the towers."

Davis estimated the maximum depth of the tunnel at 15 feet.

Shortly after the break, state patrolmen surrounded a one-mile square area near the prison where it was believed six of the 10 escapees were hiding. However, the area was combed without turning up any trace of the missing convicts.

Officials said the convicts had to know the exact depth of the wall so that they could figure where they could dig underneath most easily. They did it with an engineer's precision, digging at the exact angle which brought them out between the shacks.

The tunnel was roomy - big enough to crawl through on hands and knees.

Davis said the convicts must have started digging during a 26-hour prison riot last July. They cracked through the floor of Cell 5, using a cement block employed for leather tooling as a lid.

Once they were in the prison's unused basement, they simply dumped the dirt on to the floor. They even ran an extension cord into the basement to provide them with light.

Asst. Supt. David Gerechi said the convicts probably covered the noise of the digging by turning up their radios, talking, singing, shouting, and shaking their bars.

Wind-Driven Rain Hits The Pacific Northwest Today

Great Lakes Also Has Violent Storm

By UNITED PRESS

One of the worst rainstorms ever to hit the Pacific Northwest forced hundreds of evacuations and millions of dollars' damage in western Washington and British Columbia today.

In the Midwest, meanwhile, a hard chill followed one of the worst storms to lash the Great Lakes in recent history.

The Pacific Northwest crisis was getting worse instead of better. A new storm, packing 80-mile-per-hour winds, hit the floodlands Thursday night. Rivers kept rising and sandbag workers labored through the night under the glare of floodlights to shore up the defenses.

A Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer said "the situation is desperate."

Hundreds of persons were forced from their homes, and damage in British Columbia alone was estimated at five million dollars.

In western Washington, where from 3 to 7 inches of rain fell in 24 hours, coast guardsmen turned out in life boats to rescue stranded families.

Meanwhile, the storm which raced across the Great Lakes Thursday was described by a ship captain as the worst in years.

A freighter was towed in from Lake Huron with a storm-damaged rudder, while other ships dashed to the nearest ports. Twelve freighters were temporarily stranded in Detroit when the wind blew the water out of the lower Detroit River, dropping its level 5 to 6 feet.

Wind-driven rain lashed Detroit, knocking out 2,600 telephones. Fallen power lines closed two high-knocking out 2,600 telephones ways and Gaylord, Mich., had a 5-inch snowfall.

A hard freeze kept the first heavy snows of the season on the ground and turned many Midwest highways into ice-slicked death traps.

In Chicago an investigation was ordered into why eight persons were killed on icy streets.

Winter weather ruled from the Mississippi to the Appalachians.

The mercury ranged from a brisk 13 above zero at Duluth Minn., to 30 at St. Louis, 26 at Bowling Green, Ky., 31 at Memphis, Tenn., and 45 at Tallahassee, Fla.

In the Great Plains, however, the weather was warming up after the first real cold snap of the season.

Faure Battles To Hold Leadership Of Divided Party

Against Assaults By Mendes-France

By ARTHUR HIGBEE
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP)—Premier Edgar Faure battled today to hold the leadership of his bitterly divided Radical Socialist Party against determined assaults by former Premier Pierre Mendes - France.

Faure, fresh from a parliamentary victory in his drive for early elections, stepped into the political fight with his one-time close friend in the second day of his party's national convention at the big Salle Wagram sports arena here.

Hostility toward Faure within the party was reflected in a National Assembly vote early Thursday on his election bill. The party vote was almost evenly split with 32 voting for Faure and 31 against him.

The vote also indicated that the political star of MendesFrance was asending. He led opposition to the election bill on grounds that reform of election laws should come first.

Faure won the vote 330 to 211 Faure was unable to attend the first day of the party convention Thursday because he was busy getting Council of the Republic (Senate) President Gaston Monnerville of the election bill.

The Senate set Tuesday for the to set a date for Senate reading reading of the bill, which dissolves the current legislature Jan. 2 and clears the way for general elections Dec. 11 or 18.

Mendes - France, failing to block the election bill in the National Assembly, was attempting to line up the Radical Socialists under his own leadership.

Faure, as premier, is nominal leader of the party. The two are former schoolmates and once were good friends.

But at the opening of the party congress, Mendes - France presented a program every line of which was an implied criticism of all Faure has done, or left undone

Another Night Of Bitter Fighting In Gaza Strip

Crunch Of Mortars Still Sounds Today

JERUSALEM (UP) — Israeli and Egyptian mortar barrages shattered the brief-lived calm on their tense frontiers today after another night of bitter fighting in the Gaza strip.

Egyptian armed forces struck at advanced Israeli positions near the northern tip of the Gaza strip in a moonlit, pre-dawn raid and an Israeli spokesman said the attackers were put to flight.

Afterwards, an Egyptian spokesman said, both sides dueled with heavy mortar barrages. United Press correspondent Walter Collins reported from the Sabha area further south that the crunch of mortars still sounded today.

Maj. Dan Gov, the Israeli military spokesman, said in Tel Aviv that two Egyptian units stormed Israeli strongpoints at the outskirts of Nir Itzhak near the Gaza strip, using rifles and mortars.

Gov said the Israelis repulsed the latest attack without casualties in the second straight night of moonlight fighting that has brought Egypt and Israel close to resumption of their 1948 war.

More Fighting Expected

The attack was reported as Cairo dispatches said the whole Egyptian war machine was moving into top gear for expected resumption of the border fighting.

The dispatches said both sides were pouring men, guns and tanks into the El Auja border one where a major battle was fought Thursday, but Egyptian military sources

Two Hundred Women Attend Achievement Day Program; Hear Mrs. Hartman Speak

Approximately 200 women heard Mrs. Nina J. Hartman, girls probation officer and adult probation officer in Allen county, speak Thursday afternoon at Achievement Day of the Home Economics clubs of Whitley county, held at the 4-H Community Center.

In discussing delinquency problems, Mrs. Hartman, who has been a probation officer in Allen county since 1942, related a number of her own experiences. The speaker touched on the home, church and community and brought up the question whether or not the adult had failed in his or her responsibility.

Mrs. Hartman stated that perhaps 30 per cent of the delinquency had been found in the upper class, 30 per cent in the midle class and 40 per cent in the lower class but in the past year or so, there was an increase in delinquency in the upper class.

Mrs. Hartman's talk was most informative and was well-received by the large group of women. The speaker was introduced by Mrs Roy Metzger, outgoing president of the Whitley County Home Demonstration Association.

The Home Demonstration Chorus sang three numbers as an opening to the program under the direction of Mrs. Paul Zumbrun with Mrs. Earl Hoover as accompanist. Their program included "The Hill Road of the Hill Road," "Home on the Range" and "Give Thanks."

The chorus sang "Now the Day Is Over" during the impressive Memorial service conducted by Mrs. Sam Galbreath and Mrs. Richard Fisher of the Town and Country club. Turning the pages of the old family album, Mrs. Galbreath read the lovely memorial while Mrs. Fisher read the names of the deceased. They were three county presidents, Mrs. J. L. Keisler, the first to pass away, Mrs. Clarence Trimmer and Mrs. Roy Humbarger. During the past year six members of the various Home Demon-scoffed at reports Egypt already was using its arms from Communist Cechoslovakia.

Israel

Egyptian military sources were generally agreed that fresh fighting may break out any moment along the tense front but claimed the initiative was more likely from the Israeli than the Egyptian side. Israel has maintained that Egyptian aggressions started the shooting.

It was the worst crisis to hit the Middle East since the end of the 1948 war between Israel and its Arab neighbors and an Arab spokesman in New York said Israel already had launched its threatened "preventive war."

The fighting started with what Israel called a "punitive" attack against Egyptians who had entered Israeli territory near the outpost of El Sabha. Conflicting Arab and Jewish claims said 304 died in the fighting.

The United Nations was working behind the scenes to try to prevent a full scale war and urged both sides to withdraw fro mthe disputed area.

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief U.N. truce supervisor, was en route here with the United Nations peace proposals. It was understood he would sound out Britain today during a stopover in London on the possibility of invoking the Big Three declaration of 1950 which guaranteed against aggression by either side along Israel's borders.

It was a battle of conflicting claims, for each side accused the other of aggression. An Israeli spokesman said Israel launched the attack to drive Egyptian forces out of Israel territory. Egyptian military officials promptly produced maps showing Sabha half a mile inside Egyptian territory.

Israel Seeks Arms

In New York, Israeli Ambassador Abba S. Eban was reported going to Washington to seek new arms for Israel to meet threats of war.

Syria, which maintains close military ties with Egypt, warned U.S. Ambassador James Moose Jr., in Beirut that the Arab states can "no longer bear repeated Israeli aggressions" and that the Arabs will be "forced to undertake a military campaign" if it continues.

Actually the duties of the Mayor in our City are to preside over the council meetings, appoint and supervise Department Heads, sign proclamations, ordinances and contracts, and also acts as City Judge. Surely, with competent and efficient councilmen and other City personnel, the Mayor could perform all his duties in less than eight hours a day.
For the first time in many years the duties of the Mayor have been decreased by the present administration's decision on Your Million Dollar Light Plant.

New Jersey champion, anked seventh among the middleweights, but lost the rating when an operation for appendicitis put him on the sidelines for six months. The test against Boyd, Illinois middleweight champion who has beaten Gene Fullmer and Willie Troy in his last two outings, was expected to vault the winner into the ratings again.

Johnson has had seven fights since his operation, losing only to Ralph "Tiger" Jones while winning six. His victory over Bobby Dykes, former middleweight and light-heavyweight contender, in his last start was the most impressive on his comeback path.

Johnson was a substitute battler for his bout with Dykes and tonight both he and Boyd will be substitutes. The card tonight was to have matched Bobo Olson and Ray Robinson for the middleweight title, but it was postponed until Dec. 9 when Robinson sprained an ankle.

Chances that the bout would end before its scheduled 10 rounds were good. Johnson has 22 knockouts in 32 wins and lost only six times, while Boyd has won 14 of his 35 victories by knockout. He too has been beaten six times and has drawn twice.

All 3 National Hockey League Games End In Ties

By UNITED PRESS

Thursday night's action in the National Hockey League proved a night of lost effort as all three games wound up in ties.

The league - leading Montreal Canadiens battled back from a 2-1 deficit on a pair of goals by Bernie (Boom Boom) Geiffrion and then saw them go by the boards as Toronto's Ron Stewart gained the equalizer in a 3-3 decision with only eight seconds left to play.

The New York Rangers and Detroit Red Wings battled to a 1-1 deadlock on second period goals by Len (Red) Kelly of Detroit and Wally Hergesheimer, of New York, while the Boston Bruins, the lightest scoring club thus far, rammed home three third period goals to tie the Chicago Black Hawsk, 3-3.

A crowd of 13,801 saw the Montreal - Toronto game in Montreal's forum. Tod Sloan scored a goal in each of the first and second periods to give the Leafs their 2-1 edge going into the third period, while Floyd Curry netted the Canadiens' first goal.

Doug Mohans, Vic Stasiuk and Cal Gardner scored within a four-minute period in the final session to earn the Bruins their tie. Chicago had taken a 1-0 lead in the first period on a goal by Jack McIntyre and boosted it to 3-0 in the middle session on goals by Harry Watson and Nick Mickoski.

Montreal leads in the standings with 15 points with Toronto second with 12. New York, Boston and Chicago are tied for third place with 11 points, while the defending Stanley Cup Champion Detroit Red Wings are last with only eight points.

Police Indicate No Charge Against Mrs. Woodward

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Investigating authorities indicated today it is unlikely that charges will be brought against Mrs. William Woodward Jr. for the shotgun slaying of her millionaire turfman husband.

Nassau County District Attorney Frank Gulotta said an intensive five - day investigation of the tragedy that rocked the society and sports worlds had produced nothing in the way of evidence "to change my opinion that the slaying was accidental," as claimed by Mrs. Ann Crowell Woodward.

Nassau Detective Chief Stuyvesant Pinnell said no evidence of marital discord serious enough to establish a possible motive for murder on the part of Mrs. Woodward has turned up so far. He said he did not believe the marriage of the Kansas - bred "Cinderella" and her 35-year-old blue blood husband "was at a serious point of failure."

Mistaken For Prowler

The former radio and stage actress told Gulotta and Pinnell previously that she shot her husband, owner of the famed racehorse Nashua, virtually pointblank in a darkened hallway of their Oyster Bay, Long Island, estate in the belief that he was a prowler. The couple had just returned from a lavish party for the Duchess of Windsor.

The Duchess discounted reports that Mrs. Woodward was hysterically jealous of her husband based on evidence that she had hired detectives for seven years in an unsuccessful attempt to catch him in an act of infidelity.

The former Wallis Warfield Simpson told detectives Thursday that the Woodwards, whom she had known for 12 years, were "an ideal couple with no difficulties that I know of."

The Democratic Candidate for Mayor And his Councilmen Have No Intention of Building Municipal Swimming Pool with The Taxpayers' Money.
The following is as stated in the Democratic Platform as published on July 22nd.

If it should come about through the combined efforts of civic, industrial, fraternal, philanthropic and social groups and individual citizens, with public subscription of needed funds, that a MUNINCIPAL outdoor swimming pool is desired for our community to protect our children from hazards of polluted and unsupervised streams, gravel pits and lakes, then we will make available land for this purpose in one of the public parks, with supervision and maintenance of same"

Recipe For Longevity

CHICAGO (UP)—Mrs. Mathilda Abraham celebrated her 115th birthday with the following recipe for longevity: "Don't let worries fret you none and have yourself a man-sized chaw of chew-tobacco every day."

NAVY'S AMAZING NEW ARCTIC FABRIC

Keeps you warm without bulk

Now you can hunt, fish, ski in perfect comfort in

ALLEN-A THERMAL Undershirts & Drawers

The Navy needed a wonder-fabric—warm enough for far-below-zero weather, yet not heavy or bulky. Unusually absorbent so men could wear it indoors or in mild weather without sweltering. And 100% laundry-foolproof.

Here's the fabric they developed—in well-made shirts and drawers especially designed for active men. Now you can shed extra layers of bulky, heavy outer clothing—dress lighter, have more freedom.

This new fabric is made of down-soft cotton (doesn't itch), knitted in unique 3-dimension pattern. Traps body-heat in thousands of tiny "pockets" for perfect insulation. Rigorously tested for warmth in arctic conditions. Can be machine-washed, tumble-dried. Won't shrink out of size or stretch out of shape.

Shirts available in long or short sleeves. Chest sizes: S (34-36), M (38-40), L (42-44), XL (46-48). Drawers have taped front for gentle support, elastic waist, and are ankle length. Waist sizes: 30-44.

A. D. Zuber Dies Early Today At Veterans Hospital

Funeral Services Monday Afternoon

A. D. Zuber 77, 105 East Hanna street, a well-known Richland township farmer and former resident at Tri Lakes, died unexpectedly of a severe coronary heart attack at 8:25 a.m. today at the Veteran's Administration hospital in Fort Wayne. He became quite ill last Sunday evening, and on Monday morning was taken to the Fort Wayne hospital for X-ray examinations and medical treatment. Although he had not improved, his condition was not termed critical, and ten minutes prior to his sudden and unexpected death, he had eaten a hearty breakfast.

Mr. Zuber was a native of Antwerp, Ohio, and was born February 6, 1878, a son of Frances and Anna Kauffman Zuber. When a young man he served with an Ohio Cavalry Division in the Spanish American War, and following his discharge, he came to Fort Wayne, where he became associated with the Old Fort Supply Company. In the year 1929, he moved to the J. W. Schuh farm six miles west of this city in Richland township, and he and Mrs. Zuber continued to operate the farm until 1939 when they moved to Tri-Lakes. The first of October they moved to 105 East Hanna street where they were living at the time of his death.

He was a member of the Trinity Methodist church and the Men's Organization of the church; the Lloyd D. Clapham Camp 83 Spanish American War Veterans; the Maumee Masonic Lodge F, and AM and the Scottish Rite Consistory, both at Fort Wayne.

March 24, 1920, he was united in marriage to the former Nora Schuh, who survives with one son, Herman K. Zuber, Fort Wayne; two grandchildren, three great-grandchildren; three brothers, Earl Zuber, Burnes, Oregon, Herman Zuber, Los Angeles, Calif., T. K. Zuber, Lima Ohio and one sister Mrs. Homer Smith, Antwerp, Ohio. In addition to his parents, he has been preceded in death by one brother and a sister.

U.S. State Department Calls In Israeli, Egyptian Ambassadors

HE'S ALL EARS—Farmer Jerry Main has big ears, and he's glad of it. They're ears of corn that he grew on his farm near Bucklin, Mo. His field averaged an outstanding 169¼ bushels per acre. Last year, his average 144 bushels an acre took first place in the Missouri Farmers' Association contest.

Soldiers Of Israel, Egypt Watch Tensely Over An Uneasy Truce

JERUSALEM (UP) — Israel and Egypt gathered up their dead today and soldiers in slit trenches watched tensely over an uneasy truce which settled over the bloody border battlefield.

Egypt claimed victory in the fierce two-day battle for possession of the El Sabha outpost in the El Auja demilitarized zone.

A dispatch from Cairo quoted an official spokesman as saying an Israeli denial that the Egyptians recaptured El Sabha was "completely untrue."

"Egyptian forces cleared the El Sabha position of Israeli troops and completely occupied the area," the spokesman said.

A dispatch from El Sabha by United Press Correspondent Walter Collins, who went there from Cairo, reported tremendous military activity all along the Egyptian side of the line.

Charge Truce Violations

In the Israeli sector of Jerusalem, a foreign office spokesman charged Egypt with continued violation of armistice provisions limiting the number of troops and types of equipment allowed in the border sector.

The Israeli spokesman, Joseph Tekoa, said the El Auja sector was quiet. He said the only Israeli forces there were police and soldiers normally stationed in the area.

Tekoa said Israel was permitting U.N. truce observers freedom of movement to carry out their duties as long as they did not expose themselves to danger. He charged that no U.N. observers were permitted anywhere on the Egyptian side.

He said Israel would abide by the U.N.-called cease fire as long as the Egyptians did not attack.

Casualty Figures Conflict

Casualty claims in the bitter El Sabha fighting conflicted. Egypt said 204 Israelis were killed and 70 Egyptians were dead or missing. Israel claimed 50 Egyptians killed and 46 captured with a loss of five Israeli lives.

An official spokesman in Cairo said Israel had asked the U.N. truce commission to request Egypt to allow the Israelis to collect their

Joint High School Announced 11-6-'54

The local newspaper for November 6, 1954 carried the headline and official announcement that the five townships of Thorncreek, Jefferson, Washington, Union and Columbia and the City of Columbia City had signed a contract to form the Columbia City Joint high school.

The announcement was made by Superintendents Harry Yoder and Edward Glenn. The contract drawn October 22, 1954 replaced a contract drawn April 30 by Columbia City, Thorncreek and Columbia townships.

This was followed by the purchase of the James Adams home as a site for the proposed school and early this fall the approving of plans for the construction of the building.

The birthday of the official announcement concides closely with National Education Week and the Back to School program Tuesday at 7:30.

Army Recruits Will Be Used In Test Of Vaccine

Against Colds, Grippe And Similar Infections

By MICHAEL J. O'NEILL
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Public Health Service said today it hopes to use 10,000 Army recruits in a mass test of its new vaccine against severe colds, grippe and similar infections.

Officials said "fairly large" quantities of the triple-threat serum already are in the final stages of production. They would like to get the military field trials started by January, if possible.

The Army was reported enthusiastic about the idea. But officials said it has held up a final decision pending the outcome of safety tests now in progress at the National Institutes of Health.

The Health Service formally announced development of the vaccine in a detailed report Thursday night. It signaled a major new victory in the centuries-long struggle to conquer colds and the other common respiratory infections which cause Americans more misery and lost wages than any other illness.

Won't Whip Common Cold

The vaccine is not the answer to the mild, common cold. And officials emphasized it still is in a preliminary stage with no prospect that it will be made available to the general public in the near future.

But the Health Service report

Three-Day Annual Convention Of National Mental Health Association Reaches Midway

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — The three-day annual convention of the National Association for Mental Health reached the mid-way point here today with a warning that "mental illness is still the nation's number one health problem."

The warning came from F. Barry Ryan Jr., New York advertising executive who was re-elected Friday as president of the NAMH.

Ryan called mental illness a challenge to the nation which is being met by a partnership of government, the psychiatric and allied professions, and the voluntary mental health movement.

Claims Treatment Lacking

"The problem of mental illness would not have swelled to its present immense proportions if the people of this country had been properly organized to combat it 20, 15, or even 10 years ago," Ryan declared.

He said that despite the good work now being done in the field, the majority of mental patients still are receiving little or no treatment.

Ryan urged "sweeping" changes in the care and treatment of the mentally ill so every mentally sick person will get the best, most modern treatment available—and get it in time.

Dr. Morgan Speaks

"These changes will not take place until the people themselves ask for them and see to it that funds are made available to carry them out," Ryan added.

Another speaker, Dr. Margaret Morgan, Indiana mental health commissioner, urged more research in mental health work.

"The time has come for all leaders in the field, both lay and clerical," she said, "to focus their attention on the basic need, research, and to distinguish this need from all other things which may make the patient momentarily more comfortable but do not cure or prevent mental illness."

Mystery Around Bomb Death Of Former Gangster

Racketeers Bent On Revenge Blamed

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP) —Gangsters bent on revenge, possibly members of the dreaded, murderous Mafia, were blamed today for the violent car-bomb death of former labor racketeer William (Willie) Bioff, 54.

"We're certain it was a revenge killing," said Sheriff's Capt. Vernon La More. "We're trying to determine whether any known gangsters were here at the time of the killing, but it's a pretty tough job."

The former convict, found guilty in 1941 of a one million dollar extortion plot on the movie industry, was killed Friday when he stepped on the starter of his pickup truck and triggered a bomb, believed to be made of dynamite.

Bioff was blown 25 feet through the steel top of the truck's cab. His body was blown to pieces from the waist down. The explosion also tore off his right arm and leg. Tiny pieces of his body were scattered throughout the yard of his $40,000 home.

Blast Shattered Truck

The blast was so violent that it shattered the truck, crumpled the doors of the garage like tinfoil, damaged Bioff's home and broke windows in neighborhood houses.

Sheriff's investigators said the bomb apparently was planted under the driver's seat and wired to the truck's ignition system.

Los Angeles police telephoned officers here to say that the bomb-killing fitted "a pattern of Mafia vengeance." One Los Angeles officer called it "a typical Mafia job."

La More said his Maricopa County sheriff's office had received "several volunteer long - distance telephone calls" from police, most-

Christmas Seal Sale Opens On November 16

Tuberculosis Association Not A Part Of The Community Chest

November 16 is the date set for the opening of the Tuberculosis Association's annual Christmas Seal Sale according to an announcement made by the Whitley County Tuberculosis Association. The quota set for this county for the 1955 seal sale is $4300.00, which is higher than that for the past several years. Of the amount raised, 12 per cent goes to the state association for publication of materials; a state-wide program for prevention and control of tuberculosis; and a general supervision of the work of the ninety-two county associations in Indiana. Five per cent is sent to the National Association for research and other work on a national level. The remaining 82 per cent is retained in Whitley county for the purpose of carrying out the program of the county association.

The county program includes many activities. At the present time the association, with the assistance of the county health nurse, is patch testing all school children from kindergarten age through the freshman year of high school, and x-raying all reactors to the patch test. Many adults and children are referred by the medical profession for x-ray by the association, often at association expense. Tuberculosis clinics are conducted four times each year with Dr. O. T. Kidder superintendent of Irene Byron Tuberculosis Hospital, acting as clinician. Dr. Kidder is paid by the association and other expenses incident to the clinics are met by association funds.

In February, 1956, as is the usual custom, an x-ray unit from the State Board of Health will be in the county to x-ray sophomores, juniors and seniors of the various high schools, as well as the general public. In August a unit will be here for the purpose of x-raying industrial employes; also the general public at the 4-H Club Fair. The expense of having the films read and the follow-up work is met by the association.

Health education and rehabilitation are two other important features of the program of your tuberculosis association.

Because of the nature of its organiaztion the tuberculosis association cannot be a part of the Community Chest, but must rely on the sale of Christmas Seals and Health Bonds for the funds to carry out its numerous activities.

Deadlocked Big Four Scatter Across Europe

Conference Will Resume Tuesday

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA (UP)—The Big Four foreign ministers scattered across Europe today but speculation increased that the Soviet Union may come up with a new proposal on Germany when the deadlocked conference resumes Tuesday.

The ministers took a three-day recess after the West put the Soviets "on the spot" by proposing that free and secret all-German elections be held next year. The proposal received a cold reception from Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov.

Molotov was flying back to Moscow today. There were hints that he may return with a new proposal.

U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay also took advantage of the three-day "holiday" to mend some political and diplomatic fences.

Talks With Tito

Dulles was leaving by plane for Belgrade and conferences with Marshal Tito. The meeting Sunday in Brioni, Yugoslavia, will be Dulles' first with Tito.

Pinay was to leave this morning for Paris to help negotiate the return of the exiled sultan of Morocco, Mohammed ben Youssef.

Increase Of 306 Eligible To Vote In City Election

In the 1951 city election 3084 persons were registered to vote. Only 61 per cent or 1881 total ballots were cast in the race for mayor.

Only a few more than half of the registered voters go to the poles. The 40 per cent who do not vote could elect the defeated candidate or could elect the winner by a greater "Vote of Confidence."

In the 1955 city election 3390 voters are registered or an increase of 306. The Southeast precinct is the only one showing a loss of 11 voters. The greatest gain is in the Northwest of 170 voters, the Northeast with 124 and the Southwest with 23.

One reason for the very light vote in 1951 was the snow, rain, and sleet in one of the worst storms of the season. A low of 21 was recorded on the Monday night before election and at noon Tuesday the temperature was 26 with a high for the day of 29. The headlines reported a paralyzing snow in the midwest and that the weather kept thousands from voting in Indiana.

The Southeast district was the first to report in the 1951 election, the Northeast the last.

President Enters Seventh Week Of His Recovery

Has Increasingly Good Recuperation

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

DENVER (UP) —President Eisenhower today entered the seventh week of recovery from his Sept. 24 heart attack with all evidence from his hospital room pointing to an increasingly successful recuperation.

He scheduled a 9:30 a.m. MST (11:30 a.m. EST), meeting at Fitzsimons Army Hospital with one of his close friends and World War II comrade, British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein who is now deputy commander of NATO forces.

In this seventh week after the initial coronary thrombosis, Mr. Eisenhower hoped to leave the hospital here and fly to Washington, probably next Friday. He was expected to rest in the White House over the weekend, then go to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., in time for Mrs. Eisenhower's 59th birthday Monday.

White To Return

The final timetable on his movements and a more detailed plan of recuperation for the next two months will be worked out here Sunday when Dr. Paul Dudley White, the eminent Boston heart specialist, is scheduled to return to Fitzsimons for a conference with the other physicians handling Mr. Eisenhower's case.

From the consultation will come a blueprint for Mr. Eisenhower's immediate future—at least until the first of the year. Pending this review, there has been no change in the expectation that it will be Jan. 1 or after before the President can return to anything resembling a regular working schedule at the White House.

Montgomery, the man who led the rout of the Germans in the African desert, has visited Mr. Eisenhower in this country somewhat regularly since Mr. Eisenhower gave up his NATO command to run for President in 1952.

Wanted To See Gettysburg

"Monty" expressed some disappointment at not being able to visit the Gettysburg battlefield, but he promised to do so on his next trip to this country.

"But I shan't be coming next year," he said. "I wouldn't dare come near the States on an election year."

Mr. Eisenhower had another visitor Friday—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the Army chief of staff, and Mrs. Taylor.

Best medical news from Fitzsimons Friday was that chest Xrays of Mr. Eisenhower at the end of his most active week since his illness showed no enlargement of the heart.

Smith Township Lets Contracts For New School Building

Smith township has been granted the sum of $120,000 from the Veteran's Memorial School Construction Fund by the state. The township is required to pay this sum back in 10 years. This sum was granted to the township for the building of an eight-room addition to their present school building.

The contracts have also been let to the following firms: Darley and Carey Construction of South Whitley received the general contract for the sum of $116,498. The plumbing contract was received by Shambaugh and Son of Fort Wayne for the sum of $28,135. Central Electric Company of Fort Wayne received the electrical bid for the sum of $9,165.

The total amount of the bids exceed the amount granted by the state but the township has an accumulative fund which will cover the balance of the cost of the building.

Peron Takes Off For Nicaragua To Spend Old Age

Spent First Month Of Exile In Paraguay

CARACAS, Venezuela (UP) — Deposed Dictator Juan D. Peron of Argentina, admittedly too old for "politics, war and women," takes off today for Nicaragua in search of a new home to spend his old age.

The one-time boss of Argentina, who left a teen-age sweetheart behind when he was forced to leave the country, arrived here by plane Friday from Paraguay where he spent his first 30 days in exile.

President Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua has assured Peron of a warm welcome there, but also let it be known he does not expect Peron to be a permanent resident.

On his arrival in Venezuela aboard the Paraguay military transport taking him to Nicaragua, Peron issued a veiled warning to the government of Argentina which took over after his downfall.

He told newsmen that the Argentine General Confederation of Labor, a bulwark of his fallen regime, "is capable of overthrowing Peron and Lonardi." Eduardo Lonardi is the provisional president of Argentina.

"They are six million men able to act legally as well as illegally," Peron said. The CGT, which he sponsored during his 10 years rule, holds the balance of power in Argentina, he added.

Since Peron's ouster, the CGT has twice openly challenged the Lonardi regime but a showdown in the battle between Peronist and anti-Peronist leaders for control has been averted thus far.)

Pressed by reporters on whether his reference to his age meant that he would not be a candidate for president in his country again, Peron replied.

"That's right. Any of my followers could be the candidate. There are 15,000 political prisoners in my country and the candidate will be the one selected by the masses."

The fallen dictator said he might return to Argentina "when guarantees are restored."

Sunday Designated As Eastern Star Visitation Day At Indiana Masonic Home At Franklin

FRANKLIN, — Sunday has been designated as Eastern Star Visitation Day at the Indiana Masonic Home at Franklin, by Mrs. Velma Vanderkolk, Lafayette, Worthy Grand Matron, and Virgil O. King, Hebron, Worthy Grand Patron, of the Indiana Grand Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Invitations have been sent to the 476 chapters in Indiana inviting the 135,000 Eastern Star members in the State and their families and friends to attend the Eastern Star Visitation Day program. It also affords an excellent opportunity to inspect the spacious buildings and grounds at this magnificient fraternal Home for Master Masons, Eastern Stars and wives, widows and orphans of Masons.

Worthy Matrons and Worthy Patrons of the Eleventh Eastern Star District (Marion county) will be in charge of the program, at 2:00 p.m. in Holloway Hall at the Indiana Masonic Home. Mrs. Rosa Hansen, chairman of the Marion County Matrons and Patrons, will be in charge of the program.

Traditionally this annual event is in commemoration of the birthday anniversary of the late Nettie Ransford, Grand Secretary of the Indiana Grand Chapter from 1894 to 1927. She was an instigator of the idea of a Masonic and Eastern Star Home for Indiana. She was a Past Worthy Grand Matron of the Indiana Grand Chapter and a Past Most Worthy Grand Matron of the General Grand Chapter.

This year special interest will focus on the new $2,000,000 Nursing Hospital now under construction at the Masonic Home. This modern 200-bed structure will be completed in 1957. The cornerstone of the new hospital was laid in appropriate ceremonies October 1.

The Indiana Masonic Home is located on a 320-acre tract at the south edge of Franklin. It is maintained by Indiana Masons and the Order of the Eastern Star to provide for indigent members and their families. Started in 1915, it has grown steadily and now ranks among the leaders of its kind in the nation. The Home now houses 314 adults and 45 children.

Effort To Quell Bloody Fighting And Possible War

Asks Cooperation With United Nations

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The State Department today called in the Israeli and Egyptian ambassadors to urge that their nations cease fighting and cooperate with United Nations peace efforts in the Middle East.

Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen, the department's top Middle East trouble - shooter, planned frank, but separate, talks with Israeli Ambassador Abba S. Eban and Egyptian Ambassador Ahmed Hussein. He arranged to see Eban first (at 10 a.m. EST) and Hussein an hour later (at 11 a.m. EST).

The urgency and importance of the talks were reflected by the fact that the State Department made extraordinary efforts to confer with the two envoys Friday night. But when meetings then could not be arranged, they were quickly set for today.

The talks marked the latest U.S.

7 Of 10 Convicts Who Escaped Are Back In Prison

WALLA WALLA, Wash., (UP)—Seven of the 10 convicts who escaped by tunneling 60 feet under the state prison wall were back behind bars today and a widespread search was on for the three still at large.

Three of the escapees were captured Friday night at Milton-Freewater, Ore., only three miles south of the prison gates. Four more had been cornered earlier Friday in a farm field about 16 miles north of the prison. They all surrendered without opposition.

Those captured Friday night were Barclay Bracey, 20, a murderer; Arthur Lee Walker, 28, and John W. Munn, 24. The other four were Ollie Wiles 42, Gene Kensler, 32, Jimmy Darven, 26 and Sebastino B. Crudele, 30.

Still at large were William Paul Lee, 42, Ralph Elmer Lockerby, 25, and William James, 37.

Road blocks were set up on main roads and nearly all secondary highways within 50 miles of the prison. In Montana a statewide alert was ordered following a report the three escapees might have been spotted in a stolen car.

The inmates bored through a 7-inch concrete floor into a basement and then tunneled 60 feet to a point outside the west wall between two towers Thursday. Prison officials called the escape "masterpiece of engineering."

The prison was the scene of a major uprising last July when 35 maximum security inmates seized nine hostages, who later were released unharmed. There was another disturbance Aug. 14 which was quickly put down.

Byrnes Replies To Things Said About Him In Truman's Recently-Published Memoirs

EDITOR'S NOTE: Former secretary of state James F. Byrnes replies, in the following statement under his signature, to some of the things said about him in former President Harry S. Truman's recently - published memoirs.

Byrnes gives in this statement his own version of what caused the rift between him and his one-time friend, Harry Truman.

It is the first comment Byrnes has made on Mr. Truman's memoirs.

By JAMES F. BYRNES
Distributed By United Press

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UP)—It was shocking to read that Mr. Truman believes I deceived him with reference to the vice presidential nomination in 1944. I did not tell him President Roosevelt would advocate my nomination. I did not know that the President favored him. Prior to my talk with Mr. Truman, President Roosevelt, in a conversation over the telephone of which I have shorthand notes, told me political bosses had expressed a preference for Mr. Truman or Mr. Douglas, but that he had expressed no such preference.

It is difficult for me to understand how Mr. Truman could possibly have asked a man he believed guilty of deceit to occupy such a position of trust as secretary of state—particularly since he states he selected me because of his belief that I was the man best qualified to succeed to the presidency in case of his death.

A Calmer Atmosphere

I have written about my concept of the relations between Mr. Truman and myself in my book "Speaking Frankly" and in Colliers magazine of April 26, 1952. I shall, in a calmer atmosphere, write further on these subjects.

It is regrettable that Mr. Truman in his memoirs portrays our relations at the time I was secretary of state as being so different from what the evidence shows them to have been.

My previous writing makes clear that I always had the impression, while I was secretary of state, that Mr. Truman had unreserved confidence in me. I certainly endeavored to consult him on problems likely to confront us in international conferences and to keep him informed of the progress of negotiations, so far as the difficulties of communications from distant points like Moscow permitted.

Henry Wallace Affair

The only time I thought there might develop differences between us was over the Henry Wallace affair; and I was delighted that his own independent judgment brought him to the same conclusion that I had reached and had urged upon him.

It was and is my belief—I gather it is Mr. Truman's own belief—that it is necessary in the interest of the country for the president and the secretary of state to have utmost confidence in each other.

Had Presiden Truman read to me in January, 1946, the "lecture" he now reports, I certainly would have resigned immediately; not in personal pique but because of my deep conviction that the President of the United States must at all times have complete confidence in his secretary of state, and that it would have been detrimental to the national interest for me to remain in office if I did not enjoy such confidence.

"Et Tu Brute"

Subsequent events have greatly altered the relationship that existed when I was a member of the cabinet; but I do not conceive that any subsequent event could change the cordial relationship that existed while I was in office and for two and one half years thereafter. Those relations remained cordial until I made an address at Washington and Lee University in June 1949 in which I was critical of the degree of government spending occurring in the domestic field. Mr. Truman did not like that speech and wrote m ea note in which he said:

"Since your Washington and Lee speech I know how Caesar felt when he said, 'Et tu Brute.' "

In my reply to this note I wrote to him that in my speech there was no mention of him and my criticism was of the trend of both political parties. In concluding, I said:

"I hope you are not going to think of me as a Brutus, because I am no Brutus. I hope you are not going to think of yourself as a Caesar, because you are no Caesar."

I fear my shaft struck more deeply than I had intended. Certainly, there was no thought of accusing him of playing the part of Caesar.

That ended our cordial relations.

The Bible at the Top

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

I have just come across an interesting incident in connection with the Bible.

It is in a book, "Jungle Giants," which is the story of the travels through Africa of a young anthropologist from Boston, Newell Bent, Jr. Among many adventures is the account of his climb to the top of Mt. Kilimanjaro, Africa's highest mountain. At its very top, 19,730 feet above sea level, he and a companion found a tin box. Supplied by the Mountaineering Club, it contained the names of the few who, up to that time (about 1935), had climbed to the very top.

And also in the box was a Bible, and this is its somewhat tragic story. Some years earlier Mr. Roome, the traveling director of the British Bible Society, had come to Tanganyika and attempted to climb the mountain. He fainted twice on the way, and porters brought him to Leopard Point, where he left the Bible, which he had brought with him.

Roome died after returning to England, but in his will he asked Dr. Reusch, a missionary and authority of Kilimanjaro, to place the Bible at the summit. He requested that this be written in it: "May the jewel of the world's literature rest on the topmost point of the British Empire."

It is an interesting story, but to me it is also a symbol of the highest place that the Bible should have in every land and in every life.

It is fortunate that the Bible at the top is also in the lowlands, accessible to all, but it may still have the highest place in the mountain of the human soul. Roome gave his Kilimanjaro Bible a place of distinction.

Each of us, too, can give it a place of distinction in the highest point of reverence, faith and obedience to its teachings.

There is something mountain-like about the teaching of Jesus. He said that He came to bring life, and to bring it more abundantly (John 10:10). The Christian life is a life of ascent, of climbing and St. Paul has portrayed the summit of the mountain: "Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ."

But there the parallel with the climbing of a physical mountain ends. The successful climber must quickly descend to lower areas where breathing is easier. But the spiritual peak, attained, is a permanent possession.

Whenever I mention a book, readers are sure to ask where it can be obtained. So far as I know, "Jungle Giants" is out of print. The intrepid young Bostonian later lost his life mountain climbing in South America, and the book was published posthumously by the Plimpton Press, Norwood, Mass.

Masked Bandits Rob Suburban Bank

CHICAGO (UP) — Masked bandits, shouting "Trick or treat" and levelling a sub-machine gun and automatic rifles, cleaned out $25,000 to $30,000 in a smooth suburban bank holdup Friday night.

Three of the gunmen's faces were covered by blue silk stockings when they stepped into the Maywood-Proviso State Bank, which was open for late Friday evening customers.

"Trick or treat!" they yelled and the man with the tommy gun took up a station in the middle of the floor. Five customers and seven employes were told to turn around and kneel on the floor.

Outside, another bandit stood guard at the door and another sat at the wheel of a brand-new Cadillac getaway car.

The other two bandits, brandishing automatic rifles, vaulted over the counters and scooped up money from the cashiers' drawers.

Bank officials managed to touch off alarms which sounded in Maywood police headquarters. But the gunmen had fled 45 seconds before police arrived.

A squad car chased the gang car at speeds up to 100 miles per hour but was outdistanced.

Novak To Receive Honorable Discharge

WASHINGTON UP) —The Army will grant an honorable discharge to 1st Lt. Walter K. Novak, a 28-year-old electronics engineer it previously ousted on so-called "guilt-by-kinship" charges.

A spokesman said Tuesday Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker ordered the honorable discharge after a "personal review" of the case of the Clio, Mich. officer. Novak, a Michigan State College graduate, had been given a security discharge previously after a hearing before an Army field board on charges involving alleged leftist activities by him or associations by his parents.

Novak himself was accused of having been a member of the International Workers Order, a defunct organization on the attorney general's subversive list. He also was accused of failing to admit this on an Army loyalty form.

Novak denied membership in the IWO and his mother testified she enrolled him without his knowledge to obtain cheap insurance.

Average American Protestant Gives Church $1 A Week

WASHINGTON (UP)—The average American Protestant gives his church about a dollar a week.

If that figure seems small for the richest country on earth, it is well to bear a couple of facts in mind:

1. It is the highest level of giving in U.S. history.
2. It is a year-round average for some 34 million Protestants of all age groups from the early teens up. And it includes the offerings of Christmas-and-Easter church-goers as well as those of regular givers.

The National Council of Churches has just finished compiling Statistics on giving for 1954. It found that 49 denominations, with a total claimed membership of 34 million, received contributions totalling $1,687,921,729. This represented a jump of 145 million dollars, or nearly 10 per cent, over contributions to the same churches during the previous year. It works out to an average of $49.65 a year or slightly less than $1 a week.

Taking into account the numerous factors that tend to drag the average down, these figures indicate that a considerable number of American Protestants have responded to church appeals in recent years to base their giving on the Biblical principle of tithing.

A tithe originally was considered to be 10 per cent of a person's income. Many denominations now embrace a modern concept of tithing as meaning 5 per cent of one's income to the church, and 5 per cent to charitable causes.

Without Hesitation

LONDON (UP) — President of the Board of Trade Peter Thorneycroft drew cheers in the House of Commons when Member R. A. Pilkington asked him if he could pronounce the name of a chemical recently added to a government subsidized list.

"Hydrazinoearbonylmethyltri - methylammoni u m," Thorneycroft replied without hesistation.

Big Four

MacMillan left for London Friday night to face a hot parliamentary debate over the Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean spy case.

The ministers had little to show for after seven sessions of the "acid test" conference. Western diplomats believe that Moscow is not ready to agree to German reunification now or even in the near future.

Dulles, carryig the ball for the Big Three Western powers, slapped down a three-point plan for German elections in front of Molotov Friday night. It had the full backing of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West German government.

Molotov Renews Demands

But Molotov renewed demands that East and West German representatives be called in when the Big Four begin detailed consideration of the Western plans and "other drafts." Some sources saw in Molotov's use of "other drafts" a hint that he will have some new plan himself.

The Western proposal called for (1) free and secret voting throughout divided Germany in September, 1956, to elect representatives for an all-German national assembly. The assembly would draft a constitution and form a government for a unified Germany, (2) creation of a four-power commission to draft an electoral law and safeguards to ensure free voting in consultation with German experts, and (3) "prompt" activity by the committee which would report back to the Big Four by next January.

Members Beta Upsilon Chapter Of Delta Theta Tau Sorority Attend Convention

Mrs. Douglas Clapp is attending the Beta province convention of Delta Theta Tau sorority in progress at Elkhart today and Sunday, as a delegate. Others attending are Mrs. Martin Nelson, president Beta Upsilon chapter, Mesdames Allan Rush, Vernon Trier, Garland Stickler, Verlin Jackson, Sally Meier, Robert Sharpe.

Has Membership of 15,000

Delta Theta Tau, a philantropic sorority founded in 1903 at Muncie, has 197 active chapters and 87 alumnae associations throughout the United States. Membership is more than 15,000.

This past year these local chapters spent a total of $110,793.47 for various charities and their members gave 34,842 service hours to hospitals and other institutions. Also, the members collected $132,125.44 for other humanitarian agencies such as the Red Cross.

Each chapter has its own philanthropy such as aid to hospitals, schools, children's homes, and other related projects.

Completes Pledge

This year, Delta Theta Tau completed a $25,000 pledge to the Magnetic Springs Polio Foundation, Magnetic Springs, Ohio, making possible the remodeling of a 28-bed section known as the "Delta Theta Tau Wing."

This Foundation renders complete service in a rehabilitation program equal to that of the famous Georgia Warm Springs Foundation. Polio patients from any part of the country are accepted. Through physical therapy methods, the patients learn to do everyday living tasks for themselves. Patients who have been completely dependent on others for such services as combing their hair, feeding and dressing, learn to care for themselves, and many learn to walk again.

The sorority also supports the Delta Theta Tau Nursing Service at Pippapass, Ky. Two nurses, Ivallean Caudill and Evelyn Mottram, trained in midwifery as well as mother and baby care, minister to the needs of mountain families. They operate a clinic, and make calls far back in the hinterland in a jeep. The mountain folk pay as best they can, sometimes twenty-five cents a call, often with eggs and potatoes. This past year they made 856 home visits, received 911 clinic calls, made 28 deliveries and visited 38 schools where they gave almost 4,000 immunizations. They conducted 13 clinics in remote areas and held 6 schools for local midwives.

The Delta Theta Tau Community School at Brinkley, Ky., was founded by the sorority in 1927. Today the third generation of children attends this school, a model institution for that part of the Kentucky mountains.

The sorority is divided into seven provinces, each having its own philantropic project. This year meetings are being held at St. Louis, Canton, Ohio, Santa Barbara, Calif., Omaha, Nebr., Seattle, Wash. and Terre Haute and Elkhart.

National Convention

The sorority's national convention will be held at French Lick Springs July 11, 12, 13, and 14, 1956. Mrs. J. Russell Fair, Bloomington, is the national president and Mrs. Bernard Gola, Belleville, Ill., the vice-president.

Dr. Niccum To Speak Before PTA

Mrs. William Geyer, president of the Parent-Teachers Association of the Columbia Centralized school, announces the second meeting of the association for Monday evening at 7:30, in the school gymnasium.

Dr. Warren Niccum of Linvill Memorial clinic will speak, and there will be movies for the children.

Chicago Police Turn To Stolen Cars In Hunt For Slayers

CHICAGO (UP)— Police turned to stolen cars today in their dogged hunt for the vicious slayers of three young boys.

The new line of police inquiry concentrated on cars which were stolen from Chicago's Northwest side on Oct. 16 or 17 and have not yet been recovered.

Orders were issued that police crime technicians will go over such cars for clues after they have been recovered and before they are turned over to their owners.

Special importance was attached to a car stolen Oct. 17 from Raymond Liermann. Police were told not to touch the car until the technicians arrive.

It was apparently hoped that the killers stole a car to aid them in the slaying Oct. 16 and that the auto might still contain vital clues.

The manhunt for the killers of Robert Peterson, 13, John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton, 11, has been pressed by hundreds of policemen for more than two weeks. But they have not yet turned up a single clue.

Two Cases Filed In Circuit Court

The Universal CIT Corp. has filed a complaint in the Whitley circuit court against Roland L. Davis for $387.70 and costs. The complaint states that Davis purchased a 1950 Ford 4 door sedan from C. W. Schrader and Sons on July 2, 1955.

The plaintiff financed the purchase of the car. The complaint states the defendant has failed to carry out the agreement of the contract. Barrie C. Tremper of Fort Wayne is representing the plaintiff.

A suit was filed in the Whitley circuit court by the Citizens State Bank against Frederick Everett Magley for the foreclosure of a mortgage in the sum of $326.65 against property in Columbia City.

John W. Whiteleather is representing the plaintiff.

Ike Strengthens Legs For Try At Climbing Steps

President Increases Activity Daily

DENVER (UP) — President Eisenhower's continued recovery today found him virtually free of his wheel chair and strengthening his legs steadily for that first try at carefully going up and down steps.

His physicians weren't yet ready for that last step to his "complete mobility," but the Chief Executive's increased daily activity indicated clearly that he is well on the way toward being able to walk onto his plane for the return flight east late next week.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower were looking forward to a social visit late today from Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, and Mrs. Taylor. Taylor, who is on a tour of Army installations, was due here (at 7 p.m. EST) from Colorado Springs.

Montgomery To Visit

Another presidential guest, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of El Alamein, was due to arrive shortly after the Taylors for a call on the President Saturday at Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

Mr. Eisenhower rang up two more "firsts" Thursday in his march to recovery.

His doctors permitted him to walk "at will" over the entire eighth floor of the big hospital. And he joined Mrs. Eisenhower for lunch in a small dining room on the same floor to eat from a table for the first time since he was stricken by a heart attack Sept. 24.

Montgomery, the ascetic little Scot who put Rommel to rout at El Alamein, will be a personal guest of the President and Mrs. Eisenhower. He was one of the top Allied commanders under Mr. Eisenhower in the European campaigns of World War II.

Visited Last Thanksgiving

Now deputy commander of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, "Monty" visited Mr. Eisenhower last Thanksgiving at Augusta, Ga.

The temporary White House was still eyeing Nov. 11 as the likely date for the return flight to Washington. But definite arrangements will await a final okay this weekend from Dr. Paul Dudley White.

The renowned Boston heart specialist will arrive Sunday for another bi-weekly check on the President and another consultation with the other specialists.

The plaintiff asks judment in the sum of $2,000.

This proposal was not confirmed on the Israeli side.

Collins' dispatch from El Sabha reported the morale of Egyptian troops was high although life along the front is grim for the soldier who has to spend the day and night in narrow trenches.

A political party should let the voters know where they stand on the local issues and what their intentions are for betterment of your community and mine.

Where is the Republican Platform?
Are the Republicans afraid of the Issues?

For one example: Our Republican Opponents know as well as the citizens that regardless of whom is in office that some action must be taken on our sewerage and disposal problem as the State of Indiana has mandated the City into action. But our opponents act as if they never heard of this problem.

Mike Higgins Selected As American League Manager Of Year In United Press Poll Today

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Mike Higgins who brought about a 30-game improvement in the Boston Red Sox last season and kept them in pennant contention until the final two weeks of the season was selected today as American League "Manager of the Year" in a United Press poll.

In a wide open contest in balloting by 56 baseball writers from the eight league cities, Higgins won out by two votes over Marty Marion of the Chicago White Sox. Higgins received 17 votes and Marion 15. Casey Stengel, who brought the Yankees their fifth pennant in the six seasons he has been manager, finished third with 11 votes, while Lou Boudreau of the improved Athletics at Kansas City drew 10. Al Lopez of the runner-up Cleveland Indians received two votes and Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers drew one.

Braved Numerous Plagues

Higgins, operating under a succession of complications in his first season as a big league boss, did not elevate Boston in the standings, as it also finished fourth in 1954.

But this time the Red Sox finished only 12 games out whereas in the previous season they were 42 games behind.

When Higgins, a quiet Texan from Dallas, succeeded Boudreau he sized up the club and said, "Well, there's room for improvement." As it turned out that was the understatement of the year.

This is what the former star third baseman had to contend with.

Ted Williams, who reneged on his vow to retire, came back and had a great year but because of personal matters he could not join the club and get into the lineup until May 28, and then had to operate at half speed until he rounded

Lost Crippled Bolling

In spring training young shortstop star Milt Bolling suffered a crippling injury and Higgins had to install a cast off from the Giant minor league system into the post. But the youngster, Billy Klaus, developed into a dependable performer. Likewise Grady Hatton, who had been cast adrift by Cincinnati, was stuck into the lineup at third and came through well enough.

Higgins switched his fielding star, Jimmy Piersall, from right field to center and moved Jackie Jensen to right and the improvement defensively was notable.

Higgins; who engendered a spirit of relaxed confidence in his players, kept insisting all along that the Red Sov "have as good a chance as anybody else." And it was only when their lack of bench strength manifested itself that they dropped out of the pennant chase.

Considering all of the complications, the consensus was that Higgins got more out of less than any other manager.

Stolen Car, Set Of Seat Covers May Be New Clues

CHICAGO (UP)—A stolen car and a set of ripped-away seat covers were sought today in the search for the killers of three young boys.

A three-state alarm was broadcast through Wisconsin, Indiana, and Illinois for a 1955 green and white Chevrolet stolen from a northwest side corner on Oct. 17, the day after the murders.

A search was also ordered for seat covers which were stripped from a car which was stolen from the same corner on the day the boys were killed, Oct. 16.

The latter car has been recovered and police said nothing was taken from it but the tattered, green-plaid plastic seat covers.

Officers theorized that the first car might have been stolen to help in the murders and that the seat covers became covered with blood. The killers may have returned to the same corner on the next day to steal a getaway car, police said.

Orders were issued that if the second car is found, police should keep their hands off of it until it has been examined by crime technicians.

The boys, Robert Peterson, 13, John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton , 11, were killed sometime on the night of Oct. 16 as they wandered about the northwest side.

Two days later their nude mutilated bodies were found in a forest preserve ditch.

From Hell To Paradise

PARADISE, Mich. (UP) — Park ranger Harold Peterson said today he has been boosted from hell to paradise.

Peterson, until recently, lived at Hell, Mich. Then he was promoted to another ranger job and moved to the nearby town of Paradise. He got a pay increase along with the promotion.

HANDY DOG

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (UP) — Mrs. Joe Dunning was fishing from a boat on Moon Lake when she ralized she'd left the fish stringer on shore. She called to her son on the dock, then put her dog in the water. The animal swam to shore, paddled back with the stringer attached to his collar.

Mystery Explosion Shakes New Castle

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UP)—This jittery city, which recently was under martial law as a result of a strike riot, was shaken late Friday by a mysterious explosion.

Some residents feared a blast had occurred at the Perfect Circle Corp. foundry, scene of a shotgun riot a month ago. The jarring blast also was felt at Connersville and Hagerstown.

A thorough investigation by police in the area uncovered no signs of damage which could be blamed on an explosion, and authorities believed the noise may have been caused by a jet plane breaking the sound barrier.

Nervous homeowners jammed switchboards with telephone calls to report the blast shook houses, rattled windows and toppled chinaware.

"I was in California when they had a slight earthquake tremor and it wasn't as hard as this," a local newspaperman reported.

Explosive Forces Evidence Turns Up In Airliner Crash

LONGMONT, Colo. UP)—Evidence of "explosive forces" has been turned up in the crash of a United Air Lines plane that killed 44 persons and the FBI has been called in on the case.

Jack Parshall, Civil Aeronautics Board investigator, confirmed he had heard rumors the plane was sabotaged but said, "we have no answers to them at this time."

"It's a little too early to make any conjectures," Parshall said. "We're studying the whole thing with an open mind."

Two Scientists Announce Results Of Work With Virus

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP) —Two scientists have succeeded in crystallizing pure polio virus for the first time, a step that will give man another major weapon in the war against virus infections.

The scientists responsible for the discovery are Drs. Carlton E. Schwerdt and Frederick L. Schaffer of the University of California's virus laboratory. They formally announced the results of their work at a meeting of the National Academy of Science in Pasadena.

Schwerdt and Schaffer hastened to emphasize that their discovery will involve no dramatic or sudden changes in the treatment of polio.

Rather, they said, it means that scientists from now on will be able to work with virus that is 90 per cent pure. They can be sure that they are studying the properties of the virus itself, and not the virus contaminated with a large per cantage of foreign substances.

Bulldogs Open Cage Season With 55-56 Home Game Victory

South Whitley's Bulldogs opened their 1955-56 basketball season Friday night with a home game and a thrilling 56-55 victory over Huntington township. It was a close, hard-fought game all the way, with South Whitley leading at all intermissions. After one quarter, the Bulldogs led 15-13, at halftime it was 25-24, and 41-39 at the end of the third quarter.

The Bulldogs, seriously lacking in height against the Huntington township team, which boasts two boys reaching the 6-3 mark, made up this difference with plenty of scrap and drive. The tallest of Coach Beck's Bulldogs is Evans, who is slightly under 5-11. However, the Bulldogs played for position and were able to hold their own against the taller players in what was a rough game.

The Huntington township team visited South Whitley with a 56-40 win under their belts on Tuesday night, taken from Van Buren.

Huntington township won the preliminary game 45-30.

—NOTICE—

A retired gentleman would possibly spend more time at the City Hall than an active business man.
If I thought I had not sufficient time to administer the office of Mayor, I would not have announced for the office.
After having spent four years as president of your council, I am acquainted with the time requirements of the office of Mayor.
My present personal business schedule leaves me ample time for the duties of Mayor, and if I find that more time is needed this can and will be arranged.
Respectfully
Garland F. Stickler

effort to quell the bloody fighting which threatens large-scale war. The State Department is particularly anxious that both sides stay out of the El Auja demilitarized area and support creation of a demarcation line in the disputed region as proposed by the U.N.

Eban arrived in Washington Friday night from meetings in Geneva with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and in New York with U.N. Secretary General Dag. Hammarskjold. The Israeli envoy planned to give the State Department a list of arms his country wants to balance shipments to Egypt from the Soviet bloc.

Diplomats would not say what the United States' response would be to Israel's request. Dulles has said only that the arms request will receive "sympathetic consideration."

Arms For Israel

But delivery of powerful Red air, land and sea weapons to Egypt may prompt the United States and other Western powers to provide some defensive arms to Israel.

Officials expressed doubt that the United States alone would attempt to meet Israel's request. They said Britain and France might help out on certain weapons if the Allies decide to provide arms.

A three-power move to provide arms jointly would stave off any Allied friction on the Israel weapons issue. But the final decision depends on current peace efforts.

ly in Los Angeles and Chicago, providing "good leads about gangster movements in recent weeks."

Sheriff's investigators here indicated they believed revenge - seeking mobsters planted the bomb because Bioff once "squealed" in court.

Sent To Prison

Bioff and George E. Browne, ex-president of the AFL International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employes, turned informer on Al Capone hoodlums after being sent to prison on charges of shaking down Hollywood movie heads for $550,000 by threatening to call a nationwide strike of film projectionists that reportedly could have ruined the movie industry. Bioff later admitted he had extorted $1,800,000.

Bioff and Browne turned state's evidence in the trial of five Al Capone hoodlums from Chicago and two associates in March, 1943, testifying the Capone mob was the real power behind the movie extortion racket.

Bioff and Brown, however, were released from prison only a year after the trial. Browne had been hiding since his release and last was heard from in Richmond, Ill., more than seven years ago. Bioff had been living here under the name of William Nelson.

Air Force Plane Crashes In Rain Swollen Stream

4 Men Swim To Shore, Others Still Missing

HOLYOKE, Mass. (UP)—Four of eight men aboard a military transport plane that crashed into the Connecticut River were missing in the rain-swollen stream today.

The four survivors managed to swim 100 yards to shore after their Air Force C47 plunged into the stream at 11:46 p.m. Friday during a lashing rain storm.

Police and volunteers searched the banks of the river for the missing men.

The two-engined plane was enroute to Westover Air Force Base at nearby Chicopee from Bolling Air Force Base, Washington, D.C.

Military officials at Westover awaited better visibility to send helicopters and planes over the scene.

Police boats were ordered off the river early today because of the dangerous currents in the river which is 1,200 feet wide at the point of the crash.

However, more than 100 police, firemen and volunteers from Westover searched the banks for survivors throughout the night.

The four survivors were in "good" condition today at the base hospital at Westover.

One of the survivors, Navy Capt. Henry C. Nichols, 58, of Salem, was found in a dazed condition near the riverbank.

They didn't tell us anything except to put on parachutes. Next thing we knew, we hit the water," Nichols said.

"A few minutes later, the plane began to sink. I got the 'chute off and made a dive for the door. I saw another fellow go out the door just ahead of me, but I don't know what happened to the others.

"One of the boys couldn't swim, though," Nichols said.

"The water was really cold and kind of brought me back to life. I just made it to shore. It must have been about 100 yards," he said.

The other three survivors were identified as 1st Lt. Joseph Delaurentis, 40, of South Hadley Falls, Mass., T-Sgt. Richard Gerhard, 32, of Rochester, N.Y., and Sgt. A. Meremickik of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The operations office at Westover said the last message from the plane came at 11:23 p.m. and reported the plane was having engine trouble.

Army Recruits

said tests on volunteer prisoners showed the first version of the vaccine provides "substantial protection" against one of the so-called APC viruses — adenoidal, pharyngeal, conjunctival — which cause such things as grippe, severe colds, and virus pneumonia.

And in a surprise move, the scientists who developed the vaccine revealed they are now making a far more powerful version designed to combat three APC viruses rather than one.

This triple-acting vaccine is now being laboratory-tested for safety and potency and shortly will be given to small groups of volunteers to determine what dosage should be used. Then, the Health Service scientists hope to try it on from 5,000 to 10,000 Army recruits who are hit hard by APC diseases.

Doctors Are Optimistic

Drs. Robert J. Huebner and J.A. Bell, government researchers who sparked the vaccine's development, told newsmen they would like to run the trial this winter — while the cold season is in full swing.

Huebner, Bell, and Dr. T.G. Ward, cold expert at Johns Hopkins University who helped develop the vaccine, are generally optimistic about their product. They made these points to newsmen:

1. they have reason to believe the vaccine provides long-term immunity—ranging from "at least a year" to five years or longer. This is a vital factor in assessing the practicability of any vaccine.
2. The vaccine appears to be exceedingly safe. Ten times more formaldehyde is used to kill the virus in the vaccine than is employed in the Salk anti-polio serum.
3. At least two drug firms already are doing preliminary work looking toward production of the vaccine for mass tests and possible commercial use.

Butler Offers Big Basketball Bargain Apartment House

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—You can see Butler University's 13 home basketball games for the bargain of $3.

Or a season ticket for two—including games with Big Ten foes Ohio State, Michigan and Indiana can be had for $5.

Butler's ticket office placed 5,000 of these specially-priced ducats-every seat unreserved—on sale today in an effort to drum up support for the Bulldogs.

"This is practically giving away tickets," said coach and athletic director Tony Hinkle. "But if it's necessary to get our crowds back it will be worth it."

The card also includes home encounters with Notre Dame and Princeton.

Good And Bad News For The Week Listed On Balance Sheet

By CHARLES M. McCANN

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

The Good

1. Quiet, determined Premier Edgar Faure of France won his fourth confidence vote in four weeks in the National Assembly. This time the issue was Faure's demand for a national parliamentary election next month, instead of next June when the life of the present parliament normally would have ended. Faure won his vote on the plea that a new parliament, with a five-year mandate, was essential to take decisions on the "grave and important" issues which faced the country.

2. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had a cordial conference with Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain in Madrid. They discussed problems affecting peace and security and found themselves in agreement.

3. France's troubles in its protectorate of Morocco were eased when the way was prepared for the restoration of Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef as sultan. France ousted Youssef two years ago. But he is now ready to cooperate in a limited program of home rule.

The Bad

1. A few hours after Israeli Premier - designate David Ben Gurion offered to talk peace with Arab leaders, Israeli forces made a big night attack on Egyptian positions in the border zone. The Israelis said Egyptians encroached on Israeli territory. The Egyptians counter-attacked. Savage fighting broke out on a 30-mile front. It was the biggest battle since the 1948 Israeli-Arab war.

2. The American, British and French foreign ministers reached a deadlock with Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov in the Big Four conference in Geneva. The issues were German reunification and European security. The Western Allies adopted an attitude of determined hopefulness that something might be salvaged and that another foreign ministers' meeing might be held next year. It was certain, however, that the division of Germany must continue indefinitely due to Russian obstruction.

3. Premier U Nu of Burma, visiting Moscow, suggested that the Soviet Union ought to be invited to the next meeting of the Asian-African bloc of nations. This would give Russia a fine opportunity to increase its meddling in the affairs of the Middle East and Southeast Asia. Nu, who is a fellow "neutralist" with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India, also invited Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin and Communist boss Nikita S. Khrushchev to visit him in Burma. They promptly accepted.

Joint Declaration About Freeing Red Satellites May Anger Kremlin

GENEVA (UP)— A Joint declaration by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia that the Soviet Satellites should be freed may anger the Kremlin, it was believed today.

Dulles flew to Yugoslavia and conferred with the Yugoslav president for seven hours on the Adriatic island of Brioni. They issued a "common accord" calling for independence for the satellite countries.

Diplomatic observers here said Tito's main idea was believed to be to have Communist states independent from Russia — as is Yugoslavia. However neither defined the meaning of the word "independent" and neither went into specific detail.

Look For Soviet Anger

But his statement came on the eve of the October Revolution which first brought Communism to Russia and was expected to cause anger in the Soviet Union. Informed sources said the Soviet Union always denied Russia was the "boss" of the satellites and would find itself in a difficult position because of Tito's demands.

There was no indication whether the statemetn woudl have any effect on the Big Four conference here.

Though Dulles brought back an accord on the satellites, he apparently failed to win the backing of Tito for Western plans to reunify Germany.

Dulles said the views he got from Tito on the linked problems of European security and Germany

Ford Motor Company Makes Plans To Sell 60 Per Cent Of Voting Stock To The Public

NEW YORK (UP) — The Ford Motor Co. made plans today for the first public sale of more than one billion dollars worth of common stock in the family-owned automobile empire.

The Ford Foundation, which owns 88 per cent of the company's securities, announced it will put 6,952,293 Ford shares on public sale in January.

Sixty per cent of Ford's voting stock would be sold to public investors. The 40 per cent retained by the family still will give them "working control" of the company. Many huge U.S. corporations are controlled by a considerably smaller percentage of voting stock.

The announcement was hailed as "a land mark in the history of public ownership" by Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange. It was the first time the investing public was offered a voting share in the company since the family gained exclusive control in 1919.

Company Stock Reclassified

The plan calls for a recapitalization which would reclassify the present 3,495,040 shares of company stock. Of these the family owns 172,645 shares of common stock. The remaining 3,322,395 non voting shares are divided among the Ford Foundation, 3,089,908; the family, 190,347; and Ford executives and key employes, 42,140.

Under the refinancing plan the 3,322,395 shares of non-voting stock will be split on a 21-for-1 basis.

The reclassified 53,461,470 shares would be divided into 39,396,293 non voting shares and 14,065,143 shares

Correctly Mark Ballot To Make Your Vote Count

Common Mistakes Made On Ballots

Each election a great number of ballots are thrown out by the boards because voters make an arrow or check mark instead of an X on their ballot. An X, with one line plainly crossing the other is the only mark which can be make of a ballot and counted as correct, according to Kenneth Nichols county clerk.

Another common mistake is to retrace the X to make it heavier and as a result have two X's on the ballot. This does not make a countable ballot. A third common mistake is to try to erase the blue pencil mark, which spoils the ballot. When a voter makes a mistake he or she should ask the board for a new ballot and begin over.

Another suggestion to be sure your ballot counts, use the blue pencil provided and don't absentmindedly use your fountain pen or an ordinary pencil from your purse or pocket.

A few reasons why some ballots could not be counted in the 1951 election are repeated.

One voter voted for a candidate for council on one ticket and then crossed over and voted for the candidate for council on the opposite ticket in the same district. Perhaps he wanted to be impartial.

Some voters marked ballots with a check mark instead of X in the square or circle and some voters put the X alongside the square but outside the square.

One voter, to be doubly sure, put an X in the party emblem and then voted for each candidate by voting in the square beside the candidates name. Naturally that ballot was void.

If a straight ticket is intended to be voted the X must be in the circle containing the emblem and no other marks may be on the ballot.

Most precincts counted the straight tickets first.

In Columbia City some voters are under the impression that a vote may be cast only for the candidate for city council from the precinct where they live.

Kenneth Nichols, clerk, states that each voter may vote for a councilman from his precinct and for a candidate from each of the other precincts and for a council man at large.

Big Four Says Molotov Will Bring Proposals

On His Return That Could Break Current Deadlock

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA UP) —Big Four conference sources predicted today Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov would return from Moscow with new proposals that could break the current deadlock on German unity.

Molotov took advantage of a three-day conference recess to fly home to Moscow for consultations with the other Kremlin leaders. All three Western foreign ministers also were absent from Geneva.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew to Yugoslavia where he and Marshal Tito reached an "accord" that Soviet satellite states should be free. British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan flew to London for conferences with Prime Minister Anthony Eden on the Middle East and other problems. French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay returned to Paris for decisions to restore Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef to the Moroccan throne.

New Russian Proposals

The unofficial reports said Molotov was expected to return with new proposals on German unity and all-German elections that would go at least part way toward meeting the West. The Western Big Three and West Germany proposed Friday that free all-German elections be held in September, 1956.

Army Ordered To Step Up Program On Germ Warfare

Bucker Approves Committee Report

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army was under orders today to step up is program for germ and gas warfare.

Army Secretary Wilbur M. Brucker issued his order in approving a civilian advisory committee report urging that chemical, biological, and radiological warfare be made a part of regular military planning.

The approved report, released Sunday night, also decried the public conception that such forms of warfare are "horrifying in character" and said they should be recognized for their "unique potential."

Among other things, the cimmittee proposed appointment of a top-level officer in the Chemical Corps to keep tabs on germ warfare developments and fit them into overall military planning. It also called for "aggressive" intelligence to discover what other nations are doing in the field.

"Recognition must be given to these weapons as having unique potential in warfare without associated destruction of faciliies and the atendan problems of rehabilitation," the committee said.

"Recognition also must be given to the ability of these weapons to weaken the 'will to fight' of the enemy's miliary personnel and civilian population without attendant loss of lives or permanent injury."

The committee made clear its belief that an adequate arsenal of such weapons might remove any temptation for some future enemy to resort to germ warfare.

An Army announcement said Brucker had approved "implementation" of the report.

The committee was appointed earlier this year to recommend measures to improve the effectiveness of the Chemical Corps in carrying out its assigned missions in this field.

In the past Army officials have generally steered clear of discussing U.S. activities in the germ field of warfare. A major reason has been a fear of adverse international and domestic psychological reactions.

It was only last year that information leaked out that the Army was engaged in development of deadly nerve of "G-gases" which can kill an individual in minutes.

Crisp, Cool Weather For Election Day In Far North Predicted With Snow Flurries

By KEITH L. MARTIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — Crisp cool weather with snow flurries in the far north was predicted today for Indiana's municipal elections Tuesday, featuring mayor races in 104 cities.

Temperatures ranging from 18 as the polls open at 6 a.m. CST upstate to 52 in midafternoon downstate were forecast. Skies will be partly cloudy throughout the state, and around Lake Michigan there may be snow.

An estimated 700,000 Hoosiers are expected to vote in 104 cities and more than 400 towns, if the weather is decent. Interest statewide will center on who is elected as mayor.

Seventy-six Indiana mayors test their records by seeking new four year terms. If the incumbents win, that will give Republicans a sizeable edge in the GOP's attempt to hold onto its healthy majority control.

There now are 70 Republican mayors, 33 Democrats and one Independent.

Any National Signs?

GOP State Chairman Alvin Cast predicts about the same split as a result of Tuesday's voting, while Democratic State Chairman Charles Skillen expects to score enough gains to give his party majority control.

It was hard for Hoosiers to read into the results any national significance. The farm attitude hardly could be felt in the outcome because only city and town dwellers will vote. The farm issue is considered a major issue in advance of the 1955 presidential election.

Campaign issues among the municipal office - seekers were

CAST YOUR BALLOT

If you reside within the city or town limits of Columbia City, Churubusco or South Whitley or any corporation having an election and you are of voting age, cast your ballot.

This is a privilege which has been lost to many thousands of men and women in Europe and for which thousands have in the past given their lives.

It is a precious birthright and only by exercising it can we preserve it.

Americans have an all too sad habit of neglecting to vote which is revealed in elections where perhaps less than 50 per cent of the eligible population vote. In the last city election only 61 per cent voted, or a total of 3084 persons were registered, 1881 votes were cast for mayor and 1902 votes were cast in the four precincts. A total of 1182 voters registered did not go to the polls. The Northeast precinct led with 65 per cent of their voters casting ballots; Southeast had 54 per cent and Northwest and Southwest each 63.

How you vote is a matter for your own conscience to decide. It is one of the few rights a person has that he can keep secret and locked within his heart.

Arrest Follows Collision

Late Friday afternoon on U.S. Highway 30 four miles east of here, Paul Joseph Rose, 46, 1613 South Barr street, Fort Wayne, was arrested for not having turn signals and brake light in working order.

About 4:25 p.m., driving east on the highway, he turned left into the drive at the Harold Keirn home just west of the Coesse road. Rose was operating a Diamond T truck owned by Himmelstein Bros., Fort Wayne. Following Rose was Harry Franklin Marshall, 49, 1638 West Fourth street, Fort Wayne, in his 1955 Ford station wagon.

Marshall's vehicle struck Rose's truck as it turned. Damage to the truck was estimated at $200 but Marshall's station wagon received damage of approximately $800.

This accident was investigated by the local sheriff's department and State Policeman Reese.

Bandit, Accomplice Robs Hebron Bank And Kidnaps Cashier

Hebron, Ind. (UP)—A bandit with a blond woman accomplice held captive the family of a bank cashier for hours today, then robbed the bank of nearly $3,000 and kidnaped the cashier.

The cashier was released hours later at the junction of U.S. 30 and Ill., 45 in Illinois, state police said.

Cashier Robert McGinley, 54, was forced to accompany the bandit to the Citizens Bank of Hebron just before the bank was to open for the day.

The bandit stuffed money from the vault into a black zipper bag, drove McGinley's car with the cashier in it back to the cashier's home, and picked up the accomplice.

Hours after the robbery, state police said a car answering the description was seen at Kankakee, Ill. They also said a car believed to be McGinley's broke through a roadblock near Kouts, Ind., when police and the occupants exchanged gunfire.

Farmers are urged by biochemists at Purdue University not to send samples of fertilizer to the state chemist for a test. It is preferable to have an official inspector draw a representative sample.

The Golden Rule

Lesson for November 13, 1955

LIVING is an art, not a science. Jesus did not come to give us a heavenly rule-book. On the other hand he did not live and die merely to provide us with tickets to heaven. For others, as for himself, he felt the tremendous importance, here and now, of this present life. He left behind him not rules but general broad principles for living in this world as sons and daughters of the Most High God. Jesus' principles were not the stuffy sort of thing that only philosophers can understand. His disciples, we know, were all men of limited education, the plainest of plain people. If Jesus had tried any theological gobbledygook on them, it would have gone clear over their heads. What he said could have carved on short tombstones, written on a postcard,—any one sentence of his teachings. The one the church has nicknamed the "Golden Rule"—short, sharp, and in Jesus' own view very important—is alone worth long study.

Dr. Foreman

"It's Too Hard"

Luke's version of the Golden Rule (6:31) is clear enough: "As you wish that men would do to you, do so to them." Words of one syllable, but what words! It is saddening to see how many efforts have been made to by-pass this Golden Rule. One kind of by-passers will tell you this is much too hard. Some very religious people have fancied that Jesus did not mean this for here-and-now, but only for some "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," sometime after Judgment Day. Other religious people have said that Jesus really meant to say, "You can't possibly do this, — don't you feel ashamed?" Now we can be sure of two things. One is, that Jesus was (to say the least of it) a man of common sense, an honest man.

And honest men do not deliberately tell their friends to do what they know is impossible.

"It's Too Easy"

An opposite way of by-passing the Golden Rule is to think it is too easy,—that it is just a nice-sounding bit of advice that is not only easy to do but which won't do much good. For example: a little girl cries for candy. The mother thinks: What would I want her to do for me? Why, I'd want her to do as I say. So I'll do as she says—give her the candy. (And make her sick, of course.) Or again: a wife's birthday is coming along. Husband thinks: What would I want for my birthday? New power saw, of course. So he gets his wife a power saw, which she certainly does not want . . . No, the Golden Rule is not so easy as all that. It calls for imagination, for a wide vision, for a Christian spirit. It is indeed all too easy—for fools and knaves. But Jesus assumed that his friends were neither knaves nor fools. The Golden Rule is not something to save any one the trouble of thinking. It simply points out the direction in which our actions and decisions ought to go. It often means, not—What does this person want me to do, now? but—What will this person at last wish I had done for him? In other words, if we are to apply the Golden Rule we have to look at it in the light of eternity.

"It Won't Work"

Another way of by-passing the Golden Rule is to say simply that it won't work. "It is a lovely ideal, the world would be much pleasanter to live in, for all of us, if we could live by it; but we can't, so let's get on with the practical business of dog-eat-dog, every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost." Again let us remember that if Jesus had not lived by his own rule, every listener would have known him for a hypocrite and the Golden Rule would have perished in a blast of cynical laughter. It worked in Nazareth, it worked in the carpenter shop. To bring it down to our own times in America, and to take the hardest of applications of the Golden Rule,—loving your enemies. Will it work? Well, who are today the leaders in the War of the 1860's who are most widely and gratefully remembered on both sides of what once was a battle line? Lincoln and Lee, beyond much doubt. And these are the two men who most undeniably loved their enemies. The Golden Rule, in a life devoted to God and man, will work.

Zhukov Reviews Armed Forces On Red Square

Parade Marks 38th Anniversary Of Revolt

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW UP) — Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov called today for "vigilance" and "battle preparedness" in a Communist Revolution anniversary celebration marked by the appearance over Red Square of a "mighty airborne battleship."

Marshal Zhukov reviewed the Soviet armed forces in a great parade on Red Square marking the 38th anniversary of the October Revolution.

A giant jet bomber escorted by swept - wing jet fighters streaked overhead following Zhukov's speech atop the mausoleum of Stalin and Lenin.

Earlier First Vice Premier Lazar Kaganovich, in a speech before Soviet and Communist Party leaders at the Bolshoi theater, declared that the 20th century will see the triumph of Communism throughout the world.

Seek Full Victory

"Under the banner of Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin we have triumphed and will continue to triumph to full victory for Communism," Kaganovich said.

Zhukov spoke to thousands of troops and citizens massed in Red Square. He said the Soviet Union continues "undeviatingly and consistently to struggle for the cause of peace throughout the world."

The goodwill shown at the Geneva summit conference has led "to a certain relaxation in international tension," he added, but he warned sailors, soldiers and airmen not to relax their guard.

"While strengthening the cause of peace, the Soviet people do not forget that there are reactionary forces in certain capialtist countries which are striving not toward the relaxation but the exacerbation of international tension and are trying to wreck the cause of peace," he said.

Indiana Riding High As One Of Top Industrial States

By ROBERT V. HUDSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —The growth of industry in Hoosierland during the postwar era has put prosperity in the saddle, economists said today.

With the boom came higher employment, higher wages and shorter working hours. Indiana is riding high as one of the nation's top industrial states.

In the past 10 years the state has become primarily industrial instead of agricultural. As national industry grew in the postwar boom, Indiana's blossomed even more rapidly.

In 1947 about four per cent of the nation's manufacturing was in Indiana. Since then it has risen one quarter of one per cent, ostensibly minute, but enough to boost the state from ninth to eighth among the states.

"Indiana ranks second highest —next to Michigan—in the percentage of durable goods produced for its concentration of population," said Dwight Kelley, chief of research for the Indiana Employment Security Division.

Seventy-five per cent of manufacturing is durable goods, like steel, autos, television, radio and telephones.

The Calumet region, of course, is one of the foremost industrial centers of the world. It includes Gary, Hammond, East Chicago and Whiting and claims the world's largest steel plant.

During the postwar period the products manufactured each year almost doubled. The economic council estimated about 5.5 billion dollars in goods will be produced this year.

A partial explanation is the phenomenal increase in the total industries. From 1948 to 1953 industry soared 31 per cent, the Indiana Commerce and Public Relations department reported. The department said there are 10,500 industries in the state today.

Industries like Indiana principally because it is a focal point for rail, highway and air transportation, it is near the center of the United States population, markets and sources of raw materials, it's produce is diversified. It's still among the top five agricultural states.

"Hoosiers never had it so good," economists seemed to agree.

BANKERS' HOURS

MARION, Ill., —(UP) —"Bankers' hours" have a new meaning at the Bank of Marion. It recently installed a teller's window accessible from the sidewalk, and customers can now do their banking there one hour before and one hour after the traditional banking hours of 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

with a single vote each. Public investors would own 6,952,293 new voting common shares.

The foundation gave no clue in its announcement of the value of the new stock or the total worth of the company. At he end of 1954 he company had total assets of the company. Tt the end of Board Chairman Ernest R. Breech said the company's 1955 earnings before taxes are expected to surpass Ford's total earnings for the 21 years prior to World War II.

Value Believed High

The Ford Foundation's holdings have been given a "book" value of $135 a share for tax purposes, but financial experts believe the stock actually has a much higher value.

Ford must now file all details of the company's financial history and present standing with the Securities and Exchange Commission which will make them public before the stock goes on sale. The company will disclose its net income in this filing.

Henry Ford and 12 associates founded the company in 1903 with an investment of $28,000. The family gained exclusive control in 1919 when Ford and his son Edsel bought out the other stockholders for $105,568,858.

On his death in 1947, Ford left the foundation 1,400,000 shares of non voting stock. Edsel had left the foundation additional shares which gave the tax exempt organization a total of 88 per cent of non voting stock.

Sandwich Corner Makes Lunch-Pail Filling Easier

NEW YORK — (UP)—Use assembly line technique to make the packing of school lunch pails a simple task.

For fast production of hearty noon-time meals, not only for the youngsters but the grown-ups, set aside a preparation area in the kitchen. Keep such supplies as wrappings for sandwiches, individual containers for salads and desserts, for milk and other beverages. A section in the refrigerator also can be reserved for spreads, pickles, and other foods.

Follow a "blueprint" to assure a balanced menu. Your guide might be the Type A lunch of the government school lunch program. It includes a 2-ounce serving of some protein rich food such as meat, eggs or fish; a ¾ cup serving of vegetables and-or fruits; 1 portion of bread enriched or whole grain; 1 cup of milk; and 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine.

Change of Bread

The sandwich makes for easy serving of the protein foods. Use fillings of meats, eggs or cheese. Bread also is a good source of protein and also supplies needed quick energy. Youngsters seldom tire of old favorites—peanut butter and jellies. But by introducing different breads—cracked or whole wheat, rye, French bread or buns—the homemaker can add variety. A change in seasonings adds appeal. For instance, liver sausage if sparked with plenty of bright red pimento, dill seeds and combined either with dairy sour cream or cream cheese becomes popular "space cadet" food.

For that liver sausage filling, you will need 1 cup (½ pound) of liver sausage, mashed; ¼ cup sour cream or cream cheese, 1-3 cup chopped pimento; and 1 teaspoon dill seeds. Blend all ingredients and spread. Yield filling for 8 sandwiches.

Beef and Cabbage

Another hearty sandwich for the school lunch pail is a combination of cold roast beef and chopped cabbage. To make you will need 1 cup of diced roast beef; 1 cup of chopped cabbage; 2 tablespoons of chopped green pepper; ¼ teaspoon; of salt; ⅛ teaspoon of celery seed; and ½ cup of mayonnaise or salad dressing. Combine ingredients, and use about 1-3 cup of filling per sandwich. Yield, filling for 5 sandwiches.

Deviled egg and cheese combine for a filling popular with both the children and grown-ups. You will need ¾ cup of chopped, hard-cooked egg; ½ cup of creamed cottage cheese; 1 teaspoon of minced onion; 1 tablespoon of chopped green pepper; ¼ teaspoon of salt; ⅛ teaspoon paprika, ⅛ teaspoon of celery seed, and a dash of pepper. Combine ingredients. Yield, filling for 7 sandwiches.

Hunting Suggestions From Conservation Department Given

With the arrival of the hunting season in Indiana, Harley G. Hook, Director of the Department of Conservation is making a special appeal to hunters, trappers and landowners to practice the Golden Rule.

"Put yourself in the other fellows position," suggested Mr. Hook. This will bring happiness to every one concerned.

By all means, the hunter should go to the landowner and ask permission to hunt. Find out where his livestock is located and in which field he wants you to hunt. Ask him where you should park your car so that it will not be in his way.

When you open a gate, be sure you close and fasten it leaving it as you found it. Be careful when you climb a fence and find a solid post that will not break. Never shoot in the direction of livestock.

Mr. Hook, who is a Bartholomew County landowner, also asks other landowners to be considerate of their neighbors from the near-by towns and cities.

"If the hunter is a factory worker or business man, the day he spends on your farm may be the only day he has during the season to enjoy the out-of-doors," says Mr. Hook.

"He likely has planned and looked forward to this day for a long while. When you help him enjoy it, you will cement a warm friendship and get a lot of joy in knowing that you have helped a neighbor to enjoy every day in the year."

"My greatest wish is to see this hunting season pass without a single accident," said Mr. Hook.

He asked that six lessons in gun saftey be presented to the citizens of every community in the state as follows:

1. Handle your gun with the thought in mind, that it will kill.
2. Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your automobile, camp and home.
3. Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you should stumble.
4. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot. Even watch the muzzle of the empty gun. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.
5. Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it first. Before you climb a fence or a tree, be sure the gun is unloaded.
6. Never shoot at a flat hard surface or the surface of water. Last but not least, don't mix gunpowder and alcohol.

Horticulturists at Purdue University report that onions should be thoroughly cured before storing. The onions should be stored in a cool, dry place.

Birthday Greetings

DULUTH, Minn. UP) — Albert Woolson, the last survivor of the Civil War Union Army, sent birthday greetings Sunday to the oldest living Confederate soldier.

Woolson, 108, wished Walter Williams of Houston, Tex., a "happy birthday and a good year to come."

Williams, the senior of the two, won't reach his 114th birthday until Nov. 14. But he held a warmup celebration Sunday.

Both Williams and Woolson were drummer boys in the war between the states.

U. S. May Provide Some Defensive Arms To Israel

If Investigation Shows Need To Offset Soviet Aid To Egypt

WASHINGTON UP)—The United States may provide some anti-aircraft, anti-tank and other defensive weapons to Israel if Allied investigation shows they are needed to offset Soviet bloc deliveries to Egypt.

Israel within the next few days will present the State Department a long list of "defensive weapons" it wants quickly from the United States. The list has been promised consideration but no definite commitment has been made pending new reviews of the tense Middle Eastern situation.

Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen said on a television program Sunday that any request for arms from Israel will be "considered sympathetically." Allen has charge of Mideast affairs at the State Department.

But Allen said he believes Egypt and Israel "very well might" accept the United Nations proposal for a cease fire. He said his optimistic view was based on conferences with Israeli and Egyptian envoys.

Israeli Ambassador Abba S. Eban said his country is preparing the weapons list carefully. He said that Egyptian "reinforcement" from Czechoslovakia "makes it essential that defense arms be made available to Israel." Modern jet planes are expected to be a big item on the list.

The United States will confer with Britain and France before making any limited arms deliveries to Israel. More information will be obtained on the quantity and quality of the Communist deliveries to Egypt before a final decision is made. Britain and France probably would help out on some weapons.

Local Funeral Firm Retains Membership In National Group

A release from the Associated Funeral Directors Service with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., in explaining the purposes of membership in their organization, announces that the J. A. DeMoney and Son Funeral Home, Van Buren at Washington, represents the organization in this city.

AFDS, as the organization is known, is an international organization with an affiliated membership of more than 1800 funeral firms throughout the United States and Canada which are invited to membership. Sustained membership is based on professional standing in the community, policies and service records.

The basic purpose of the AFDS organization is to assure standards of service on those cases where death takes place away from home.

The funeral home is operated by J. A. DeMoney and his son, Robert J. DeMoney.

mostly local. Therefore, it was hard to say whether the popularity of the Eisenhower administration, or lack of it, would have much effect on the voting.

Observers recalled that in 1947, the year before Harry S. Truman was elected president, Indiana voters chose more Democratic mayors than they did Republican. And in 1951, the year before the Eisenhower election, the majority control of mayors swung back to the Republican party. However, before 1947 the GOP mayors were in the majority through the last three terms of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Some persons consider it a bit easier to re-elect an incumbent than to vote him out of office. If that is true, the Republican cause has an advantage in that 49 GOP mayors seek another term, slightly more than twice the 24 Democratic incumbents in the running.

Big City Targets

Three other incumbents in the race are Independents. Two of these are one-time Democrats who were beaten in the May primary but refiled under the "neutral" party label.

Five of the mayors are assured another term, because they have no opposition. These include Republican mayors in Angola, Greensburg, Rensselaer and Tipton, and the Democratic mayor in Loogootee.

In his prediction of Democratic gains, Skillen said his party would boost its representation primarily in the industrialized areas.

That focuses attention on the state's larger cities. Of the seven biggest, Republicans now control Indianapolis, Evansville, South Bend, Fort Wayne and Hammond, while Democrats hold Gary and Terre Haute.

The races which well might go either way, according to dopesters on the scene, were in South Bend and Evansville—and possibly Indianapolis and Hammond.

President Has Extensive Medical Examination Today

BULLETIN

DENVER (UP) — Dr. Paul Dudley White today approved plans for President Eisenhower to fly back East Friday but said the chief executive will have to "decide for himself" whether to run again.

DENVER (UP) — President Eisenhower this morning underwent an extensive medical examination to determine how fast and how actively he can resume the full reins of the presidency.

The best educated guess before the doctors emerged from his Fitzsimons Army Hospital room was that the President could fly back to Washington on Friday. But, pending a definite medical repor there was a small possibility that the President might remain here in the Rocky Mountains beyond Nov. 11.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the Boston heart specialist, flew here from the East late Sunday o join Mr. Eisenhower's large medical staft in a "wind-up" or re-evaluation of his clinical progress in the last two weeks.

White saw the President Sunday night and again this morning. The Boston doctor was scheduled to make a public report today at the Denver White House on Lowry Air Force Base between 10:30 and 11:00 a.m., MST 12:30 and 1:00 p.m. EST.).

Decision Up To President

While the people around the President talked confidently of his departing from Denver on Nov. 11, the question had not been raised with the President, himself — as of Sunday night.

Michigan's Jarring Upset By Illinois Leaves Oklahoma, Maryland Unbeaten Contenders

United Press Sports Writer

Michigan's jarring upset by old nemesis Illinois left Oklahoma and Maryland as the top unbeaten contenders for the national college football crown today—and also left promoters of the Orange Bowl game chotling with glee.

For Oklahoma and Maryland seem certain to finish the season unbeaten and the resulting bids to the Orange extravaganza at Miami, Fla., could make that game not only the top bowl but also the "game of the year."

Oklahoma rolled to its 26th straight victory, 20-0, over Missouri and Maryland retained its perfect record by fighting off Louisiana State, 13-0. West Virginia, the only other major unbeaten team, kept pace with the Sooners and Terps by beating George Washington, 13-7, on Friday to clinch the Southern Conference crown.

But mighty Michigan absorbed a stunning 25-6 drubbing from Illinois. Michigan entered the game a 13-point choice but the Illini turned loose a 20-year-old sophomore named Bob Mitchell for 173 yards gained in 10 carries, including a 64-yard sprint for a touchdown and a 54-yard ramble to set up another.

Michigan's loss left the Big Ten half of the Rose Bowl picture clouded. Ohio State took over the league lead with a 20-13 victory over Indiana but the Buckeyes, last year's Rose Bowl winner, are ineligible to return. That leaves Michigan State, which smashed Purdue, 27-0, as Michigan's chief rival.

If State winds up its season with a 5-1 league record by beating Minnesota next Saturday, then Michigan must win both its remaining games — against Indiana and Ohio State—to take the bowl berth with a 6-1 mark. A split would give the bid to State's Sparans.

Oklahoma, which meets Iowa State this week, is headed for a showdown with co-league - leader Nebraska on Nov. 19 that will decide the Big Seven's representative in the Orange Bowl.

Maryland is tied with Clemson in the race for the Atlantic Coast conference berth in the same bowl and the two rivals wind up their league season this coming Saturday in a head-on collision that will decide the matter.

The Texas Aggies held onto their half-game lead in the hot battle for the Southwest Conference's berth in the Cotton Bowl by downing Souhern Methodist, 13-2. Closest rivals Texas and Texas Christian meet this week, while the Aggies visit Rice.

Mississippi stayed atop the Southeastern Conference as it beat Memphis State, 39-6, in a non-league game. Ole Miss can clinch the crown by winning its final league game, Nov. 26, against Mississippi State.

Michigan was the only team in the nation's "top 10" to lose this week, although Georgia Tech (No. 7) was held to a 7-7 draw by Tennessee and Navy (No. 10) was held to another 7-7 split by Duke.

Other major surprises were Yale's 14-12 victory over Army, Harvard's 7-6 win over Princeton, and Stanford's 28-20 triumph over Southern California.

Here's a thumbnail sketch of how the other major conference races now are shaping up:

Pacific Coast — UCLA (4-0-0) won non-league, 34-0, game from College of Pacific, and plays next to-last league game this week against Washington, while second-place Oregon State (4-1-0) plays California; Ivy — first-place Yale (4-0-0) and second-place Princeton (4-0-0) meet this week in next-to last league game for each; Missouri Valley — wide open among Wichita (2-1-0), Detroit (2-1-0) and Tulsa (1-1-0) with no league games this week but Tulsa-Detroit Nov. 19 and Tulsa-Wichita Nov. 26 the deciding factors; Skyline —Colorado AM, (5-0-0) can clinch at least a tie for title by beating Utah this week in next-to-last league game; Border — Arizona (Tempe) St. leads at 2-0-0 but faces three more games; Rocky Mountain —Idaho State has clinched.

Giovanelli-Perez 10-Rounder Tonight

NEW YORK (UP)—Welterweight Danny Giovanelli goes in as a substitute with only a week's rest tonight against Danny Jo Perez but he is favored at 9-5 to win their television 10-rounder in St. Nicholas Arena.

It's a return bout. Giovanelli of Brooklyn stopped Perez of New York in the sixth round because of a gashed brow on March 2, 1953. That's the only kayo against Danny Jo in his 22 fights. Each is 23 years old.

Last Monday, Giovanelli won a unanimous decision over Paolo Melis of Montreal at St. Nicks. He suffered no cuts and was able to accept the invitation to substitute for Chico Vejar against Perez. Vejar suffered a split lip in training.

Giovanelli is favored not only because of his 1953 victory over Danny Joe, but because he was impressive against Melis last week and because hard-luck Danny Jo hasn't registered a victory in his last four bouts, although he had one draw.

Perez was outpointed by lightweight contender Kenny Lane on Dec. 13. This year he was held to a draw by Orlando Zulueta, and outpointed by lightweight contender Frankie Ryff and by Gene Poirier, July 25. He weighed 147 pounds for Poirier.

Giovanelli fought as a middleweight in the first three of his four fights this year. He knocked out Jimmy Martinez (5), outpointed Chris Christensen and lost to Ray Drake. Then he returned to the welterweight ranks and beat Melis last Monday. He weighed 150¼ for Melis. His 27-5-1 record includes 12 knock outs. He was stopped once.

Perez' 16-5-1 list includes only four kayoes.

The winner of tonight's bout probably will be matched with Chico Vejar at St. Nick's on Nov. 21.

Lakers Trade Holstein

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP) — The Minneapolis Lakers today traded Jim Holstein to the St. Louis Hawks for the rights to six-foot-eleven center Marcus Freiberger, now playing with the ADA Oilers of Houston, Tex. The Lakers said they hope to persuade Freiberger to turn professional.

Hecht New German Heavyweight Champ

DORTMUND, Germany (UP) — Gerhard Hecht is the new German heavyweight champion. The 32-year-old, former fighter pilot won the title Sunday night by outpointing Heinz Neuhaus in their 12-round bout. Hecht scaled only 178 pounds, while Neuhaus weighed 218

Mizell Displays Midseason Form

HAVANA (UP) —Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell is displaying midseason form with Havana in the Cuban Winter League. The St. Louis Cardinals southpaw struck out 15 batters Sunday night in pitching his way to a 2-1 victory over the Almendares.

Etna-Troy Defeats Columbia Township

The Etna-Troy basketball team defeated the Columbia Center grade school team by a score of 24 to 6 at Columbia township, Thursday.

The score by quarters was 8-0, 19-0, 24-4 and the final score 24-6. Columbia township substituted freely but was unable to find a combination that could conect with the basket.

Jackson, Zumbrun and Egolf each accounted for two points for Columbia. Schrader and Walker were also in the line-up.

Tuggle and Robertson each scored 8 for Etna Troy; Franks and Lundy 4 each. Other players were Long, Sheets, Wise, Couch, Ostermeyer, Runk, Hill and Krider.

Jack McGrath Killed Sunday On Race Track

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP) —Veteran racing driver Jack McGrath, making what he announced would be his last appearance on a dirt track, was killed Sunday when his car flipped four times near the end of the Bobby Ball Memorial 100-mile event.

Death ended the 35-year-old Los Angeles driver's career on the 87th lap of the race. McGrath, who finished third in two Indianapolis 500-mile big car races, was killed instantly when his canary yellow auto flipped as he was about a mile behind Jimmy Bryan, the winner of the Ball race.

It was the last race held under the sanction of the American Automobile Association which announced earlier this year that it was withdrawing completely from racing. J. Gordon Bet, chief steward for the AAA, said a special investigator had been assigned to seek the cause of the fatal accident.

McGrath had told friends that he would restrict future racing activities to the Indianapolis event, where he had established track records for one and three laps. His wife, Caroline, did not accompany him to Phoenix for the race. She was expected to come here today to arrange for return of McGrath's body to Los Angeles.

It was believed that McGrath's Hinkel Special had struck a rough spot on the track just before the accident. But witnesses also said they thought the right front wheel had folded under the car as it went into its flip. A sheriff's investigator who was present said he thought a broken front axle resulted in the accident.

McGrath was in third place, about a mile behind Bryan, at the time of the mishap.

Bryan paid tribute to McGrath as "one of the best drivers" he had been competing against since 1951, one of the two years in which the Los Angeles driver had finished third at Indianapolis.

Cleveland Browns, Los Angeles Rams Out In Front In National Football League Races

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Browns and Los Angeles Rams are out in front in the National Football League's division races today but the Chicago Bears are ripping through the pro circuit like an enraged grizzly.

Cleveland cashed a dividend on its quarterback "insurance" Sunday by using substitute George Ratterman to whip the New York Giants, 24-14, and take a two-game lead in the Eastern Division. Ratterman threw two touchdown passes and ran for another score to wipe out a 14-3 Cleveland deficit after the Giants sent Otto Graham to the sidelines with a concussion.

Los Angeles also trailed at the half, 14-3, but took the undisputed Western Division lead by rallying to defeat the San Francisco Forty-Niners, 27-14. Andy Robustelli and Corky Taylor sent 85,302 Los Angeles fans home happy by stealing two of Y. A. Tittle's fourth-period passes and racing for TDs.

Bears Smother Packers

But the Bears produced the campaign's biggest touchdown explosion at Chicago. Looking more each week like the Bears of old, they ran up a 45-3 lead and defeated the Green Bay Packers, 52-31.

The Bears' fourth straight triumph set the stage for the game which may decide the Western Division champion — next Sunday's Rams-Bears game at Chicago.

Los Angeles (5-2) now leads the Bears and Baltimore Colts (each 4-3) by one game. The Detroit Lions won their first 1955 game Saturday night, defeating Baltimore, 24-14, when halfback Doak Walker scored twice in the last four minutes.

The Chicago Cardinals (3-3-1) gave Cleveland an assist by defeating the Pittsburgh Steelers in the other Saturday night contest, 27-13. The Washington Redskins converted five of six recovered fumbles into scores to defeat the Philadelphia Eagles (2-4-1) in the other Sunday tilt, 34-21.

Washington and Pittsburgh (each 43) are second in the Eastern Division. All teams have five more games.

New York held a 14-3 edge on touchdowns by Frank Gifford and Kyle Rote when Graham was knocked groggy with five minutes to go in the first half. Ratterman, the league's highest - paid benchwarmer, replaced Graham. He shot a 30-yard TD pass to Ray Renfro in the third quarter and a 14-yarder to Pete Brewster early in the final period to give Cleveland a 17-14 lead. Then Ratterman guided the Browns 80 yards and clinched the victory by hiding the ball and skipping four yards around end to score with 71 seconds remaining.

Rams Intercept Passes

Robustelli put Los Angeles in front by running 10 yards after intercepting a Tittle pass in the opening seconds of the final quarter. Taylor, a rookie back, clinched the triumph by racing 65 yards to score after stealing another of Tittle's tosses.

Rookie Bobby Watkins scored twice and Rick Casares, Chick Jagade, Ron Drzewiecki, Harlon Hill and Bill McColl each scored once as the Bears buried the Packers under seven touchdowns.

Roy Barni, Ralph Guglielmi, Jim Monachino and Bert Zagers scored for Washington. Bobby Thomason threw TD passes to Pete Pihos, Bobby Walston and Bill Stribling for the Eagles.

Gern Nagler and Dave Mann scored TDs after the Cardinals recovered Steeler fumbles and Pat Summerall scored the other Card touchdown on a 26-yard dash after intercepting a Jim Finks pass.

Rangers Make Coach Look Like Prophet

By UNITED PRESS

The New York Rangers made Coach Phil Watson look like a true prophet during the weekend as they took over undisputed possession of second place in the National Hockey League.

Watson boldly predicted a weekend sweep which probably even startled his own players, but they backed up their coach's confidence by blanking the Maple Leafs, 3-0, at Toronto Saturday night and then whipped the Black Hawks, 4-2, Sunday night at Chicago.

As a result of their twin victories, the Rangers now are only three points back of pace-setting Montreal and enjoy a three - point bulge over Toronto, Boston and Chicago, who are tied for third place.

Larry Popein, Andy Bathgate and Dean Prentice — operating on the same Ranger line — each scored a goal against the Black Hawks. Popein's performance was particularly outstanding, for he suffered a mild concussion in Saturday night's game at Toronto but insisted on playing against the Hawks.

Jean Beliveau, who scored four goals for Montreal Saturday night, came back Sunday night and earned the Canadiens a 3-3 tie with the Bruins by scoring with less than two minutes to play.

The cellar - dwelling Detroit Red Wings finally flashed some of their old-time power by whipping the Maple Leafs, 4-1. It was the defending champions' first victory in their last nine games.

Japanese All-Stars

SHIMONOSEKI, Japan (UP) — Andy Carey hit three home runs, one with the bases loaded, to lead the New York Yankees to a 12-2 victory over the Japanese All-Stars Sunday in an exhibition game. Carey wound up with eight runs-batted-in.

Providence Crushes Pittsburgh 6-1

By UNITED PRESS

The Providence Reds show no signs of relinquishing the American Hockey League lead but the second-place Buffalo Bisons are staying right at their heels, just in case.

Led by wingman Jim Bartlett, who triggered home a pair of goals, Providence crushed third - place Pittsburgh, 6-1, Sunday night. Bob Hassard put the Hornets out in front with a first period goal but goalie Johnny Bower stopped Pittsburgh thereafter.

The victory by the Reds kept them one point ahead of the Bisons, who defeated last-place Hershey, 4-2. Eddie Slowinski's goal at 10:24 of the third period snapped a 2-all tie and Larry Wilson added an insurance marker nine seconds before the end of the game.

Springfield scored three times in the second period to beat Cleveland, 4-2, and hold on to fourth place.

by the West.

Western diplomats believed such a "concession" if it should come would be designed to put the West on the spot with demands for similar "concessions" on its side rather than with any real intention of reaching a cold war peace setlement in Geneva.

Diplomats saw two developments which cast cold water on any rose-colored outlook, however:

1. The East German Communist observer delegation in Geneva already has turned down the West's proposals for all-German elections and said they were unacceptable as long as West German remains a member of the Western alliance.

Seek To Communize Germany

2. Soviet Vice Premier Lazar Kaganovitch in a speech in Moscow Sunday made it clear that Moscow's aim still is to swallow up all Germany into the Communist system as well as to smash the Western alliance.

The Big Four conference had little hope of breaking the present deadlocked German unity and with some startling new proposals. Failing these, it was expected to abandon further discussion on the deadlocked German unly and European Security issues and go on to the problem of disarmament.

Highly placed Western informants disclosed meanwhile the Big Three are drafting a solemn pledge to continue working for a united Germany after the Geneva conference.

Consider Kidnap Charges Against White Defendants

GREENWOOD, Miss. UP) —A grand jury meets here today to discuss kidnaping charges against two white defendants in the Emmett Till case, one of the most widely publicized racial incidents of the decade.

District Attorney Stanny Sanders said he would ask the Leflore County jury to indict Roy Brant. 24, and his half-brother, J. W. Milam, 36—acquitted of murder charges — for abducting the 14-year-old Negro boy.

BANK MIXUP

BELOIT, Wis. — (UP) — On a recent Friday an employe of the Beloit State Bank thought it was Saturday and set the vault's time-lock to open Monday morning. Saturday's business was saved when bank officers secured cash loans for business transactions with a few hurried telephone calls to banks in nearby cities.

must remain secret, but he failed to mention German unity. Tito told questioning newsmen later they agreed the German question must be settled, but when asked how he replied, "That's another question."

Reach Accord On Satellites

Dulles said the two men were of common accord on the importance of the independence of the East European states. Non - interference in their own internal affairs and their right to choose their own social and economic system.

Vice President Edvard Kardlj told newsmen the talks took place in a "very friendly" atmosphere and that the Yugoslavs were "very satisfied." He called the talks a contribution to international peace.

Dulles said they talked about the major Geneva problem and that he reported to Tito on the status of the four power talks. They also discussed the explosive Middle East, "having regard to President Tito's scheduled visit to Premier (Gamal Abdel) Nasser of Egypt in December." Dulles said.

Some Republicans Think Nixon Gaining Long Lead On Field

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON UP) — The call for early public announcement whether President Eisenhower will run again suggests that some Republicans believe Vice President Richard M. Nixon is gaining a long lead on the field.

Mr. Eisenhower has done nothing to divert public attention from Nixon or to weaken public confidence in his young friend. On the contrary, before and during his illness, the President's liking for and dependence on Nixon have been freely and enthusiastically acknowledged. Mr. Eisenhower now might almost be said to be giving Nixon a build-up looking toward his possible nomination for President next year.

However that may be, the vice president can accept the role to which the President, himself, has assigned him without being liable to the accusation that he is campaigning for the nomination. No Republican can go out for the nomination just now. They must know Mr. Eisenhower's own intentions before they may make a move. That is a considerable handicap when one of their number is placed by chance daily in a spotlighted position where he shows to most advantage. That is the happy spot in which Nixon finds himself. All others, for the time being, are in the shadows.

The vice president already is a well established national figure. That is what Sen. William F. Knowland, Senate Republican leader, may have had in mind when he called Monday for an early decision from Mr. Eisenhower. Knowland said the party should have time, plenty of time, to look over the possible candidates before choosing.

Knowland, like Nixon, is a Californian but there is no evidence that he is a Nixon-for-President man. He has teamed up, on occasion, with California's Gov. Edwin J. Knight to lick the Nixon forces in California. Knight is maneuvering now for a bedrock alliance with Knowland to stop Nixon. Knowland is believed to be turning over in his mind a go for the presidential nomination.

Most Republicans were clamoring for months for an announcement that Mr. Eisenhower would run for a second term. His illness hushed that clamor, but it is beginning to rise again. Knowland is not part of it. He was saying months ago that there was no indispensable man, meaning that Mr. Eisenhower was not essential to Republican victory in 1956.

Cattle Owners Stage War On Brucellosis

LAFAYETTE: — Time is running out in Indiana's war against brucellosis in cattle but herd owners and veterinarians in 34 counties are joining hands to clean up the disease.

F. A. Hall, Purdue University extension veterinarian, says it's a race against the calendar since Hoosier milk producers have only 15 months left to conquer brucellosis. By January 1, 1957, a dairy man who wants to continue selling to a grade "A" market must have his herd on a brucellosis testing program.

Hall reports that county area programs are underway in each of the 34 counties, thanks to approval by a majority of cattle owners in those areas. He says all infected herds are being retested under plan "A" the only acceptable method for meeting the health requirements for sale of grade "A" milk by the first day of 1957.

Herd owners on plan "A" in these active counties are sending reactors to slaughter and allowing their herds to be retested at intervals of about every 15 days until the herd passes one clean test. The veterinarian retests at 30 to 90 days intervals until three clean tests spaced over a year's time are obtained. A county is certified when reactors number less than one per cent.

All Indiana dairymen not already on a brucellosis testing program are urged to get the latest facts on how to fight back at the disease in their herds. A free copy of extension leaflet 379, "Clean Up Brucellosis on Your Farm," can be obtained from the county extension agent or the office of agricultural publications at Purdue.

Hundreds of cities and many states have set up clean milk programs which place a market barrier around farmers milking infected herds. A positive approach to brucellosis will enable Hoosier dairymen to hurdle this grade "A" barrier and keep milk profits intact.

Corn Silage Will Cut Feed Costs For Brood Sows

LAFAYETTE: — Feed costs for sows during gestation can be reduced as much as 20 per cent if corn silage ration is fed, report J. H. Conrad and W. M. Beeson, Purdue University animal husbandmen.

In addition to reduced feed costs, sows fed corn silage farrowed up to 2 more pigs per litter during two recent experiments at the Purdue Livestock experimental farm. The sows fed silage weaned an average of 1.3 more pigs per litter at eight weeks than other sows.

From these two experiments, the Purdue specialists concluded that normal healthy litters can be produced when sows are fed a ration of good quality corn silage supplemented with proteins, vitamins, and minerals.

During the Purdue experiments, silage was fed twice daily in large flat bottomed troughs with the supplemental feed distributed over the silage. Thirteen pounds of corn silage were consumed daily per sow in addition to 1.5 pounds of high quality protein supplement.

Adequate protein and minerals must be fed if optimum gestation performance is to be obtained since corn silage is extremely low in these two items. The daily feeding of 1.5 pounds of a highly fortified protein supplement corrected the nutritional deficiencies of corn silage during the Purdue tests. Sows fed this limited amount of supplement and corn silage made satisfactory gains and were in good condition at farrowing time.

Detailed information on the experiments can be obtained by writing to the office of agricultural publications at Purdue for A. H. Mineo 151, "Corn Silage as a Feed for Brood Sows."

Economical Dairy Feed Plan Listed

LAFAYETTE: — A Purdue University extension dairyman, G. A. Williams, believes that unless one pound of grain, when fed with the roughage part of the ration, produces four pounds of milk the dairy herd is not being fed for the most economical production.

A study of 500 DHIA herds in Indiana revealed that only 22.8 per cent of the herds reached that level of efficiency.

Some of the low milk-grain ratios arise when dairymen attempt to force mediocre and low producing cows to higher levels. Too much grain and not enough hay silage and pasture is fed.

Williams lists three pointers in the interest of a higher milk-grain ratio:

When plenty of good quality roughages are available, 3 to 5 pounds of grain daily is enough for dry cows.

Cows producing less than 2 to 3 gallons of milk daily will not need liberal grain allowances if they are supplied with roughage.

With liberal supplies of high quality roughages, grain fed at the rate of one pound of concentrated feed for pounds of milk daily is more profitable on the basis of present day prices than one pound of grain for three pounds of milk.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM FOR COMMUNITY BETTERMENT

We Believe A Definite Stand Should Be Taken Regarding Many Much-Talked-About-But-Nothing-Done Projects In Columbia City. For This Reason We Have Drawn A Democratic Platform And All Candidates Endorse It And Intend To Follow Out The Mandate Of The People Of This Community If Elected Tuesday.

1. ABOUT SEWAGE FACILITIES

To execute the mandate by Indiana Stream Pollution Control Board, we will immediately start procedure whereby this community will have adequate sewage facilities and disposal system.

This will eliminate raw sewage in open ditches in our city. This will eliminate contamination of Blue River ---- the costly flooding of basements with subsequent damage to equipment and property.

This problem alone, we believe, is largely responsible for many refusals of FHA loans, GI loans and has retarded the growth and expansion of our city.

New industries hesitate to come into a town with such a sewage problem as we now have.

2. ABOUT THE WATER TOWER

We will build for you the water tower which the Democratic administration had in mind when it started the sinking fund for this purpose over four years ago.

3. ABOUT PUBLIC UTILITIES AND CITY EMPLOYES

We will conduct a complete and thorough investigation into the operation of public utilities. If excess labor is found for the amount of work being performed, we believe the voters have a right to know. There will be no excessive payroll on the taxpayers money. By the same token there will be no haphazard elimination of needed employes for political puroses. Because the production of power has been terminated at the light plant, we believe administration costs should be lowered since many responsible duties have been eliminated.

The city wage scale in all departments will be studied and remedied to equalize if necessary. With discontinuance of the city light plant, we feel that if possible, electric light rates should be reduced.

4. STREET REPAIR

All city streets and alleys will be maintained and repaired throughout the four year administration, if elected; therefore not making it necessary to put on a great show of effort in an election year.

5. ABOUT THAT SWIMMING POOL

If it should come about through the combined efforts of civic, industrial, fraternal, philanthropic and social groups and individual citizens, wth public subscription of needed funds, that a MUNICIPAL outdoor swimming pool is desired for our community to protect our children from hazards of polluted and unsupervised streams, gravel pits and lakes, then we will make available land for this purpose in one of the public parks, with supervision and maintenance of same.

6. POLICE AND FIRE PROTECTION

We will continue adequate police protection for your school children at cross walks on state highways.

WE WILL GIVE THE CITY AN ADEQUATE FIRE WARNING WHICH CAN BE DISTINCTLY HEARD AND UNDERSTOOD BY ALL.

7. GOVERNMENT BY THE PEOPLE

The city hall and city affairs will be placed into the hands of the people. There will be no select "Click" which rules the city ---- there will be no "fast" deals made without adequate advanced publicity. We wholeheartily approve of government of, by and for the people. We plan to accept and welcome any suggestions for the betterment of our city from individuals or civic groups.

8. ABOUT CITY SCHOOLS

We promise to cooperate to the fullest extent with the Columbia City School Board and with the Columbia City Joint High School Board before and during the erection of any school plants and property.

9. AND IN CONCLUSION

If we could accomplish the above projects of a more adequate system of sanitary sewage disposal, new school plant and facilities for better education of our youth, give proper fire and police protection, wholesome places for our children to play and grow, we believe our city would be more receptive to Federal Housing Loans thus creating new housing developments for home ownership and rental units. We believe Columbia City would then be in a position to attract new industries into our city. This we MUST do if we are to continue to grow and prosper.

Hope To Set Up Joint Military Defense Pact For Syria And Egypt

JERUSALEM (UP)—Syrian Premier Said El Ghazzi and Defense Minister Rashad Barmada flew from Damascus to Cairo by plane today with a military mission to set up a joint Syrian-Egyptian military defense pact.

Before taking off for Cairo, El Ghazzi announced that Syria had obtained a 10 million dollar loan from Saudi Arabia to help Syria meet its current economic difficulties and help finance the military pact with Egypt.

The Cairo radio meanwhile reflected official displeasure at efforts of British Ambassador Sir Humphrey Trevelyan to persuade Egypt to adopt cease fire proposals made by Dag Hammarskjold, secretary general of the United Nations.

The radio, quoting an unidentified political commentator, said, "Egypt won't accept interference by unqualified parties and holds that whoever ignores justice and dignity is mistaken."

Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns, the U.N. truce supervisor, conferred with his advisers in Tel Aviv Monday on the tense Nitzna area, scene of a major clash last week between Egyptian and Israeli forces.

It was understood he would contact Egyptian representatives on Hammarskjold's proposals, details of which have still not been made public. However reliable sources said they did not call for the establishment of a buffer zone, but called for a clearly established border and withdrawal of all fighting forces from the area.

The Syrian premier said the question of concluding a military pact with Iraq had not yet come under formal consideration but might be approached after a trade accord with Saudi Arabia is completed.

Reports reaching Cairo from Aden said a Saudi Arabian delegation was negotiating a military defense pact with Yemen.

The Student Council sponsored the program Tuesday morning. Phil Miller, president of the council acted as chairman. Charles Hinen gave as a reading "The American Creed." The group sang, "God Bless America," led by Paul Rupert. Jeralynn Bishop played the piano accompaniment.

Senate Monopoly Subcommittee Opens Hearings

On General Motors; Will Last 4 Weeks

By HERBERT FOSTER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — A former big business executive told Congress today it should sharply restrict, and even break up, General Motors and other giant corporations.

Theodore K. Quinn of New York, a former vice president of General Electric Corp., said the government should stunt the growth of corporate giants. He made the statement in testimony prepared for the opening session (10 a.m. EST) of Senate Monopoly subcommittee hearings on General Motors. The hearings will last four weeks.

Quinn proposed setting a limit of perhaps 100 million dollars on the net worth of a corporation. Firms larger than that would incur increased income tax rates and would not be allowed to absorb other companies. Their officers and directors could not serve other companies. The giant firms would be required to publish profit and loss statements and balance sheets for each department yearly.

Could Avoid Penalties

He said a firm could remove it self from this class and the attendant special penalties by breaking up into smaller companies.

General Motors is the nation's largest manufacturer, with annual net sales of 10 billion dollars, annual net profits of one billion

Mist, Snow, Rain Produce Typical Election Weather

Autos Transport Voters To Polls

Temperatures in the low 30s, light mist, snow and rain produced typical "election weather" today, for the voting for city and town officials for the next four years in Columbia City, South Whitley and Churubusco. They will take office in January. Polls are open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Columbia City is choosing a mayor, clerk-treasurer, and 5 councilmen.

Churubusco residents vote for three trustees and a clerk-treasurer.

South Whitley is electing three trustees. The present town clerk-treasurer Mrs. Lucy Keller is unopposed.

Candidates were selected by party committees.

Four years ago election day was accompanied by snow and slush. Many drivers had chains put on their cars, because of the very slick pavements. City employees had sanded the streets. A low temperature of 21 was recorded for the Monday night before election, with a Tuesday noon high of 26.

A low last night of 28 was recorded with noon temperatures today of 33 degrees.

In the Columbia City election in 1947 a total of 2,143 votes were cast; in 1951 a total of 1902 votes. Voting was expected to run about the same or somewhat higher today especially in the late afternoon.

Several voters were reported as

Early Reports Of Voter Turnouts In Indiana Range From Surprisingly Heavy To Light

By KEITH L. MARTIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Hoosiers tramped through light snowfall in record numbers in at least one city Tuesday as early reports of voter turnouts in the Indiana municipal election ranged from surprisingly heavy to very light.

On the basis of early spot checks, local issues rather than the weather appeared to be the chief factor in determining the extent of balloting.

Snow flurries at South Bend failed to discourage voters who entered the balloting booths at the rate of about one per minute. Observers predicted a record turnout of 50,000 votes. The old mark for an off-year election was 44,600 set eight years ago.

The state's largest city, Indianapolis, reported a "fairly heavy' vote in near freezing temperatures. Balloting was expected to hit 120,000.

"Hot" Evansville Race

The "hot" mayoralty race Evansville was being decided on the season's chilliest day. Voting in the 30-degree temperature was described as "moderate."

Republicans said they have installed 40 private detectives at the polls in Evansville to check for vote frauds in the heated election battle, and police officials sent out 41 officers to check on the polls. Democrats charged that broken voting machines in Democratic wards are not being repaired fast enough.

At Gary, where state police troopers are helping guard against disturbances, the voting was described as "quiet and light." The only incident reported was some damage to a sound truck which had toured a section of the city Monday charging police brutality under the incumbent Democratic administration.

Anderson, also plagued by sno flurries, reported a "surprisingly heavy" vote. A number of industries were shut down in the city to give voters every opportunity to cast their ballots.

Terre Haute balloting started light but became "moderate" as the morning progressed.

The weather generally over the state was cold and overcast.

United Nations General Assembly Again Balloting

In Deadlocked Security Council Election

By BRUCE MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y (UP) — The United Nations General Assembly resumes balloting in the deadlocked Security Council election today with little chance of a decisive outcome despite United States endorsement of a compromise to end the impasse.

Behind scenes, while the assembly sought to decide between the Philippines and Yugoslavia for the remaining council vacancy, Columbia led diplomatic maneuvering to strike from the agenda the Algerian question, which caused France to walk out of the world parliament Sept. 30. The political committee, by a 59-0 vote, Monday night approved creation of a 15 nation committee to conduct a worldwide survey of the human hazards of atomic radiation.

It defeated a Russian attempt to gain a place for Red China and Romania on the committee. But the West was forced to agree to adding Argentina, Mexico, Belgium and Egypt to its original committee list which included: Australia, Brazil, Canada, Czechoslovakia, France, India, Japan, Sweden, Britain, the U.S. and Russia.

Qualified observers saw small chance that either the Philippines or Yugoslavia would gain the two-thirds majority required for election on the 13th ballot, which began today's (10:30 a.m. EST) assembly voting.

The U.S. gave full endorsement to a compromise move, understood to have been originated by Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak, a U.N. "elder statesman."

The Security Council seat in contest is the one granted, under a gentleman's agreement reached in London in 1946, to a representative of Eastern Europe. The United States contends that agreement no longer holds. Britain and Russia argue that it still is in force.

Under the compromise proposal, the disputed "Eastern European" seat would go to a Southeast Asian Pacific country — in this instance, the Philippines, for two years and then revert to a country from East Europe. It then would rotate biennially.

Supreme Court May Have Opened Stockade Doors

For Turncoats By Striking Down Part Of Military Code

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court, by striking down a vital part of the nation's military code, may have opened stockade doors for three ex-GI's who went over to the Communists in Korea.

The high court ruled unconstitutional Monday a provision of the 1950 Uniform Code of Military Justice under which the armed forces have arrested veterans charged with serious crimes overseas. The tribunal's 6-3 decision in effect held that once a soldier becomes a civilian he must be tried in civil court rather than by court martial.

The three turncoats, now in the Army stockade at Fort Baker, Calif., demanded immediate freedom in view of the Supreme Court's ruling. A hearing on their plea was set for today (5 p.m. EST) in federal court at San Francisco.

The three — William A. Cowart, 22, Dalton, Ga.; Lewis W. Griggs, Jacksonville, Tex., and Otho G. Bell, Hillsboro, Miss. — were arrested and helf for courts martial on their return to the United States from Red China last summer. They had turned their backs on repatriation after the Korean armistice but changed their minds later.

The Supreme Court's far-reaching decision was made in the case of Robert W. Toth, a Pittsburgh, Pa., veteran, whom the Air Force sought to court-martial for the murder of a Korean civilian. The ruling completely cleared Toth, since no American court under present law has jurisdiction over a crime committed overseas.

In addition to the turncoats, the cases in which the Army acted under the law thrown out by the Supreme Court involve Pvt. John D. Martin, Tule Lake, Calif., and Edward C. Kirby, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

The Army would not state what effect the court's decision would have until the opinion was studied by Army lawyers.

However, the ruling apparently applies to the three turncoats, since they are now civilians, having received dishonorable discharges while they were embracing Communism in China. But there is still the possibiity they could be tried in civil courts on treason charges.

Eligible Voter Figures High

In the listing of total figures for persons eligible to vote in the Columbia City municipal elections, party chairmen Merl Plattner, D., and Charles White, R., have estimated that actually there are 10 to 25 per cent less voters than the figure of 3390 shown from the compilation of voters' registration records.

The chairmen explain that the reason for this is that the names of voters who have died or moved away are not removed from the registration books until cards are sent out by the county clerk after a general election to all names of persons who did not vote. The cards are to be returned if the person is still living in the precinct. Names of voters moving into a precinct are added to the book.

Cards will be sent out after the 1956 elections.

In the 1951 city election a total of 1902 votes were cast in the four precincts in Columbia City.

A vote of 2,000 has been predicted.

Prowler Says He Was In William Woodward Home

Night Of Slaying; Changes Complexion Of Investigation

OYSTER BAY, N.Y. (UP) — Police indicated today the belated confession of a derelict prowler may clear Mrs. William Woodward Jr., of all suspicion in the shotgun slaying of her multi-millionaire husband.

The prowler, Paul W. Wirths, Jr., admitted to police Monday he probably made the noise which alarmed Mrs. Woodward into firing at her husband in the dark.

He said he climbed to the flat roof of the Woodward mansion about 2 a.m. on Oct. 30 and, forced open a door to a guest room directly above Mrs. Woodward's sleeping quarters.

Wirths said the butt of his shotgun banged against the jam of the guest room door and he became entangled in a curtain as he stepped inside the room.

A few minutes later, he said, he heard the roar of a shotgun blast. The shot he heard was the one which felled Woodward in the darkened hallway on the floor below.

"It sounded like a cannon. I ran like hell and jumped off the roof," he said.

Wirths volunteered the confession which changed the complexion of the case.

When he was first arrested Nov. 1 he maintained he hadn't been on the grounds of the Woodward home the night Woodward was shot.

Detective Chief Stuyvesant Pinnell said Wirths re-enacted the details of his entrance to the Woodward home and they "checked out."

Detectives said Wirths would "definitely" be a witness in the forthcoming grand jury investigation.

No date for the hearing has been set and it presumably depended upon Mrs. Woodward's release from Doctors Hospital in New York where she has been confined since the day her husband was shot.

Molotov Returns Following Talks Held In Moscow

Ministers Absent During Weekend

BULLETIN

GENEVA (UP) — Soviet Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov today flatly rejected the Western plan for free elections to unify Germany and made it clear that Russia intends to hang on to the Communist East Zone.

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA (UP)—The Big Four foreign ministers met again today to see if Russia's V.M. Molotov had brought back any new proposals from Moscow that might break the conference deadlock.

This was the eighth plenary session of the meeting and the first since last Friday. All four ministers were absent from Geneva during the weekend.

Molotov flew back to Geneva shortly after noon smiling and affable. But he gave no clue on arrival as to whether he had brought back new instructions or concessions following his talks with the other Kremlin leaders.

The three Western ministers held a half-hour private strategy meeting before the main session was convened.

The four ministers plunged once again into their deadlocked debate on European security and a unified Germany.

But Western diplomats made it clear that any hope of progress

Elections Today Offer Last Large-Scale Test Of Sentiment Before 1956 Campaign

By UNITED PRESS

Voters turned out today for hundreds of state and city elections which offered the last large scale test of political sentiment before the 1956 presidential campaign.

Although state and local issues were dominant in virtually all cases national party managers watched the balloting for clues to what may happen in the big show next year. They were particularly interested in these contests:

1. The Kentucky gubernatorial race in which former Gov. and former Sen. A. B. (Happy) Chandler was trying for a political comeback against Edwin R. Denney, the Republican nominee. The GOP hoped that bitterness growing out of the Democratic primary campaign would help Republicans win the governorship and improve their chances of carrying normally Democratic Kentucky next year.

Indiana Forecasts Nation

2. Indiana municipal elections which have sometimes foreshadowed the results of future national elections.

3. The Philadelphia mayoralty election in which Richardson Dilworth is the candidate of the Democratic reformers who ousted a long-established GOP machine four years ago. His opponent is a GOP reform nominee, W. Thacher Longstreth. The outcome can affect the 1956 outlook in the critical state of Pennsylvania, where Democrats elected a governor in 1954 for the first time in 20 years.

4. The New Jersey contest for control of the legislature The democrats, who put Gov. Robert B. Meyner in office last year, were

Woman Admits Killing Husband

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (UP) — A wealthy San Antonio woman, who declared her husband of two months hypnotized her out of $135,000, said she killed him on a lonely island when he tried to force her to kill her own daughter.

The woman, Mrs. Sunny Canales Worden, told Texas Rangers that her husband ordered her to dig a shallow grave and then handed her a diamond-studded pistol and said: "Go ahead and shoot the kid. Then I know you'll blow your own brains out if you do."

The killing took place Oct. 22. Canales, 5, screamed and tried to run away, Mrs. Worden related.

Queen Elizabeth's Scotts Guards

The 100-strong Regimental Band, massed pipers and highland dancers of Queen Elizabeth's Scots Guards come to the Coliseum on Friday, November 25, under the auspics of the Fort Wayne Central Lions Club.

The Scotts Guards, famed contigent of Britain's Buckingham Palace guard, are displaying their marching ceremonies, exhilarating music, and highland dancing on a 48-city good will tour of the U.S. and Canada. They are presented by arrangement with the British War office.

The Guardsmen's North American visit began October 9 in Washington, before a turn-out of the diplomatic corps seldom equalled even in the nation's capitol. Critics and the capacity audience hailed the magnificent spectacle, which went on to thrill near-capacity houses at Toronto and Ottawa.

A valiant and much-decorated battle regiment, the Scots Guards perform peaceful service at the Royal Palaces when on home duty. Thousands of tourists come to watch the regiment mount guard, troop the color at the Queen's birthday parade, and demonstrate rituals of arms at other historic ceremonies. The band, perhaps the most famous in the world, will be remembered by Americans who watched the Coronation parade on TV and newsreel screens.

What Is New In Washington

WASHINGTON (UP) — What's new in Washington:

At a briefing at the State Department, reporters were pumping Linc White, the press spokesman for the department. One scalywag popped the suggestion that somebody ought to extend an invitation for Secretary Jhon Foster Dulles to visit the United States. In recent weeks, the busy traveling secertary has been in Rome, Paris, Madrid, Belgrade and Geneva. All on government business.

Robert F. Loftus, director of public relations for the National Association of Home Builders, has just returned from a trip around the land with the Russian housing people. The language barrier was pretty rough. "We got along pretty fine, though," says Bob, "at least on a couple of counts. We combined some slang. 'Ochen' in Russian means our 'okay.' We put it together to make it 'ochenkay'."

And vodka is the same in Russian as in English!

One of the oldest bar and grill places in the capital is missing one of its oldest customers. This fellow made a habit of coming in during the lunch hour with a sandwich in a paper sack. He'd order only a cup of hot water. No charge. Then he'd reach for the catsup bottle, dump a load of the red stuff in, and make himself some tomato soup. The management now serves catsup only when ordered. The old-timer has taken his business elsewhere.

According to the National Geographic, American red oaks now are growing in Britain's Sherwood Forest, where Robin Hood and his merry band of yoeman outlaws carried on. They were transplanted from northeast United States. Reason: Tracts of English oaks have become stunted by fumes from industrial plants.

A couple of our best unions are hard at it (in a friendly sort of way) over whether the man in the work suit is entitled to cuss out his boss.

Earl Jamerson and Pat Gorman, top executives of the AL MeaFt Cutters, think that swearing is ungentlemanly. The United Mine Workers, in an editorial, takes exception. It points out that a lot of important doctors have said in the magazines and elsewhere that cussing is a good way to let off steam.

Steam held in, the mine workers feel, might explode at the wrong time. At the supper table, maybe.

Lights Will Aid Egg Production

LAFAYETTE, — Purdue University's poultry extension marketing specialist, M. L. Wilson, has reported that hens will lay more eggs this winter if electric lights are left on in the laying houses.

Wilson says the lights will extend the hen's working day and stimulate the egg laying function. The greatest value from lights comes from a change in distribution of egg production to seasons of higher prices, rather than in a greater yield.

Prices of eggs usually go up about 10 per cent during fall and winter months. Since the number of layers on farms is down, the supply of eggs is expected to be even less for the next several weeks.

Under favorable managment conditions, electric lights in the laying house will increase egg production during the fall and winter by 20 to 30 per cent. Four systems for lighting hen houses are used today — all are equally advantageous.

Morning lights are the most common system of artificial lighting. Under the method an automatic timing clock turns lights on and off as desired by the poultryman. Lights are generally turned on at about 5 a.m. from the first week of September until December. When days grow shorter in December the lights should be turned on as early a 3:30 a.m. or 4:00 a.m. Layers should have about 13 to 14 hours of artificial light each day.

A second system is the use of both morning and evening lights. Evening lights, however, will require a dimmer to allow the layers a chance to roost before the lights are turned out.

Some poultrymen use a third system where lights are turned on at dusk and used until around 9 p.m.

A fourth method is the use of all-night lights.

"Don't expect immediate results," Wilson warns. Tests show that layers do not react to artificial lighting until after a period of 10 to 14 days.

now depended on the answer Molotov brought back to the West's latest proposals for free all-German elections in September, 1956.

A substantial Russian Concession would keep the talks on this issue alive. A flat rejection probably would cause the conference to abandon the subject for the time being and to switch over to the disarmament point on the agenda.

Molotov said before leaving Moscow he was bringing back "even better baggage" than he brought to the conference in the first place and diplomats leaped on this as meaning he was bringing new plans for German reunification.

But when he landed at Geneva he smiled and refused to issue a statement.

The feeling grew in Geneva that Molotov might make some proposal to break the deadlock on German unity. Western diplomats who conferred with top Soviet Leaders last night at a Kremlin reception said they believed Russia would make some concessions to reconcile the East-West positions.

Molotov, in statements to the press, also confirmed that Russia expects another conference will follow next year. But he left open the issue of whether it would be foreign ministers, their deputies or even another meeting "at the summit."

German Minister Expected

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano also was due here this afternoon as the West prepared to pin down Molotov on Germany now or pass on to the problem of world disarmament. Von Brentano was expected to confer with the Western Big Three Wednesday.

Though Molotov's departure statements from Moscow raised hope of a Soviet compromise, West Germans were still dismayed at the long range prospects of reuniting their country. Soviet statements at the 38th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution made it clear the Soviet Price of German unity might be a Communist Germany.

Western diplomats, preparing for the eventuality that the conference will end in deadlock, were all set to propose a new summit meeting, diplomatic sources reported.

There also was some discussion of setting up a permanent Big Four foreign ministers organization with headquarters in Geneva. Less pressing problems could be worked out by deputies at such a headquarters.

Police Seek West Coast Mobster For Questioning

In Gangland Slaying Of Willie Bioff

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—Authorities today sought a West Coast mobster for questioning in the gangland slaying of former labor racketeer Willie Bioff.

Police sai dthe office is checking a tip that the mobster arrived by plane in Phoenix about 16 hours before Bioff was murdered Friday by a dynamite bomb rigged to the starter of his pickup truck.

An inquest was scheduled today (at 3:30 p.m. EST) into the murder.

The hoodlum left Phoenix a few hours after Bioff was killed, according to the tip which Boies' office received.

Bioff is believed to have been the victim of a revenge killing, inspired by his testimony against several men — including members of the Al Capone gang — in connection with a million-dollar extortion racket against movie studios in Hollywood.

In another development, police arrested William (Bill) Savoie, 29, of New Orleans, on charges he tried to extort $10000 from Mrs. Bioff by claiming he knew where to find her husband's killer.

Savoie admitted telephoning Phoenix jeweler Ben Rosner, a friend of Mrs. Bioff, on Sunday night and saying he knew who murdered Bioff, police said. He offered to give his information for $10,000, Rosner said.

Oklahoma Replaces Michigan As Number 1 Team In U.P. College Football Ratings

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP) — Oklahoma's slick Sooners, with a string of 26 victories and an almost certain berth in the Orange Bowl, replaced Michigan today as the No. 1 team in the United Press college football ratings.

For the fourth week in a row, voting was close for the top three places as Michigan State moving up behind runnerup Maryland to comprise the new member of the nation's "big three." Michigan, upset by Illinois, dropped all the way to sixth place after leading the ratings for four straight weeks.

The leading coaches who make up the United Press rating board were sharply divided this week in the voting for the top team. Oklahoma received 12 first-place ballots, Maryland 11 and Michigan State eight. The only other team to attract first-place votes was fourth-ranked UCLA with four.

In the matter of points (distributed on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 for votes from first to 10th places), Oklahoma compiled 305, Maryland 295 and Michigan State 280.

Tie For 10th Place

What usually comprises the United Press "top 10" became a 'top 11" this week as Ohio State and West Virginia tied for the No. 10 ranking. In addition to Ohio State, this week's other newcomer in the top 10 was Texas A & M which jumped three spots to the No. 9 rating.

The teams which filled the fifth to eighth rankings in order following UCLA were Notre Dame, Michigan, Texas Christian and Georgia Tech. UCLA attracted 259 points; Notre Dame 223; Michigan 117; TCU 80; Georgia Tech 74; Texas A & M 68, and Ohio State and West Virginia 60 each.

Texas A & M's jump from 12th to ninth represented the biggest advance among this week's top 10 teams. Michigan State and Texas Christian each moved up two places, while Oklahoma, Maryland Notre Dame, and Ohio State each advanced one spot from last week. West Virginia, which struggled to a 13-7 victory over weak George Washington Friday night to remain undefeated and untied, dropped two places, while Georgia Tech, held to a 7-7 tie by Tennessee, fell one.

Oklahoma, which sweeps aside its outclassed opponents with ease, has only Iowa State, Nebraska, and Oklahoma A & M left on its schedule. Maryland has games remaining against Clemson and George Washington.

Both these top teams have won the national championship before, Maryland in 1953 and Oklahoma in 1950. If they remain undefeated and finish the regular season in the 1-2 spots, the Terrapins and Sooners undoubtedly will stage a showdown in the Orange Bowl.

Navy, held to a 7-7 tie by Duke, dropped out of the top 10 into the No. 11 ranking. For the third week in a row, not enough teams received votes to comprise a "second 10." Following Navy came Auburn, Mississippi, Illinois, Stanford and Duke, with Mississippi State and Yale tied for 18th place.

Boston Red Sox Acquire Vernon

BOSTON (UP)—The Boston Red Sox today acquired first baseman Mickey Vernon, pitcher Bob Porterfield and two other players in a big nine-man trade with the Washington Senators.

The Red Sox also acquired southpaw pitcher Johnny Schmitz and outfielder Tommy Umphlett—a former Red Sox player—in exchange for pitchers Dick Brodowski, Truman Clevenger and Al Curtis and outfielders Karl Olson and Neil Chrisley.

The big deal was announced simultaneously by Red Sox General Manager Joe Cronin in Boston and by the Senators in Washington.

Marciano Will Referee In Fort Wayne

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)—Rocky Marciano, world's heavyweight boxing champ, has been signed to referee a preliminary match in the Nov. 15 boxing card here.

Marciano will referee the semifinal bout between Indiana middleweight champ Andy Watkins, Indianapolis, and George Boddie, Dayton, Ohio, promoter Bluff Clearey said today.

The main bout will match Bob Baker of Pittsburgh against Sgt. J.P. Reed, Los Angeles.

Arnold Moss

NORTH MANCHESTER: — Arnold Moss, considered without peer as a Shakespearean actor, will appear in the Manchester College auditorium on November 15 in his popular solo program of dramatic readings, "The Seven Ages of Man."

Hailed on Broadway for his perfection in "King Lear," "The Tempest" and "Twelfth Night," Arnold Moss is the only native-born American of his generation who has received critical honors for his interpretation of three starring Shakespearean roles.

While at Manchester, Mr. Moss will be doing humorous and satiric readings from Shakespeare, James Weldon Johnson, Ring Lardner Robert Fontaine and others.

He has won acclaim from both critics and public on the New York stage for the roles he has played in productions of the Theare Guild and the Playwright's Producing Co.

Georgia Will Abandon Parks Before Co-Mingling

ATLANTA (UP)— Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia said today his state will abandon all state parks before "co-mingling of the races" will be alowed as ordered by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Former Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia, one of the South's most outspoken segregationists, saw the decision as a threat to the continued existence of the public recreactional places.

Remembers Pals

LONDON (UP) — An unselfish rhesus monkey remembered his pals when he broke out of his pet shop cage Monday.

He freed 27 white mice, seven parakeets, two canaries and seven finches.

Rats and mice will move from the field into farm buildings and houses as cold weather approaches. Purdue University entomologists say this invasion can be prevented by cleaning out sources of food and eliminating hiding places. Anticoagulent baits should be placed around as well as inside buildings.

The Golden Rule

Lesson for November 13, 1955

LIVING is an art, not a science. Jesus did not come to give us a heavenly rule-book. On the other hand he did not live and die merely to provide us with tickets to heaven. For others, as for himself, he felt the tremendous importance, here and now, of this present life. He left behind him not rules but general broad principles for living in this world as sons and daughters of the Most High God. Jesus' principles were not the stuffy sort of thing that only philosophers can understand. His disciples, we know, were all men of limited education, the plainest of plain people. If Jesus had tried any theological gobbledygook on them, it would have gone clear over their heads. What he said could have carved on short tombstones, written on a postcard,—any one sentence of his teachings. The one the church has nicknamed the "Golden Rule" —short, sharp, and in Jesus' own view very important—is alone worth long study.

Dr. Foreman

"It's Too Hard"

Luke's version of the Golden Rule (6:31) is clear enough: "As you wish that men would do to you, do so to them." Words of one syllable, but what words! It is saddening to see how many efforts have been made to by-pass this Golden Rule. One kind of by-passers will tell you this is much too hard. Some very religious people have fancied that Jesus did not mean this for here-and-now, but only for some "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," sometime after Judgment Day. Other religious people have said that Jesus really meant to say, "You can't possibly do this,—don't you feel ashamed?" Now we can be sure of two things. One is, that Jesus was (to say the least of it) a man of common sense, an honest man.

And honest men do not deliberately tell their friends to do what they know is impossible.

"It's Too Easy"

An opposite way of by-passing the Golden Rule is to think it is too easy,—that it is just a nice-sounding bit of advice that is not only easy to do but which won't do much good. For example: a little girl cries for candy. The mother thinks: What would I want her to do for me? Why, I'd want her to do as I say. So I'll do as she says—give her the candy. (And make her sick, of course.) Or again: a wife's birthday is coming along. Husband thinks: What would I want for my birthday? New power saw, of course. So he gets his wife a power saw, which she certainly does not want . . . No, the Golden Rule is not so easy as all that. It calls for imagination, for a wide vision, for a Christian spirit. It is indeed all too easy—for fools and knaves. But Jesus assumed that his friends were neither knaves nor fools. The Golden Rule is not something to save any one the trouble of thinking. It simply points out the direction in which our actions and decisions ought to go. It often means, not—What does this person want me to do, now? but—What will this person at last wish I had done for him? In other words, if we are to apply the Golden Rule we have to look at it in the light of eternity.

"It Won't Work"

Another way of by-passing the Golden Rule is to say simply that it won't work. "It is a lovely ideal, the world would be much pleasanter to live in, for all of us, if we could live by it; but we can't, so let's get on with the practical business of dog-eat-dog, every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost." Again let us remember that if Jesus had not lived by his own rule, every listener would have known him for a hypocrite and the Golden Rule would have perished in a blast of cynical laughter. It worked in Nazareth, it worked in the carpenter shop. To bring it down to our own times in America, and to take the hardest of applications of the Golden Rule,—loving your enemies. Will it work? Well, who are today the leaders in the War of the 1660's who are most widely and gratefully remembered on both sides of what once was a battle line? Lincoln and Lee, beyond much doubt. And these are the two men who most undeniably loved their enemies. The Golden Rule, in a life devoted to God and man, will work.

No Method Safe For Unclogging Running Picker

LAFAYETTE, — Not many corn picker accidents have been prevented by the safety slogan, "Shut off the power when unplugging the picker," Why? F. R. Willsey, farm safety specialist at Purdue University, says it's because many corn picker operators think that they have discovered a novel way of unclogging the running picker that's perfectly safe.

Hearing of another's accident or seeing pictures of farmers crippled for life in picker accidents doesn't scare some operators either. "Too bad," they think "Too bad he wasn't using my method."

But no method of unclogging a running corn picker is really new And somewhere, someone has been caught using each method. Some were poking at the rollers with long sticks. Others were working from beneath, or jerking on the stalks. On mounted pickers some were reaching over from the platform while trying to keep one foot on the clutch. All these methods worked for a while. Then suddenly one day, using the exact method that worked a hundred times before, the operator got caught. This happens every day during corn picking season.

Some other farmers deliberately take chances. They're disgusted, or in a hurry. Those who have been caught say it's disgusting to go through life crippled, too. And it's hard to find a man who thinks he made a bargain by trading a hand for a few minutes time.

Purdue University has recently published four mimeos on corn picker safety and picker adjustment. You should look them over before the busy harvest season begins. They are Mimeo FS-28, "Harvest of Hands;" FS-28a, "Care in Corn Picking;" FS-28b, "A Safe Corn Harvest;" and AE36, "Corn Harvest Hints." These mimeos can be obtained from county extension agents or from the office of agricultural publications at Purdue University.

Snow In Texas; California Has Indian Summer

By UNITED PRESS

A premature winter snow storm cut deep into the heart of Texas today while record-breaking Indian summer reigned in California.

From two to four inches of snow fell on the Amarillo area in Texas' Panhandle and Lubbock reported one to two inches. The snow continued through the night, moving eastward, and falling temperatures were expected to follow.

More snow came down on western Colorado and New Mexico. Weathermen measured four inches at Roswell, N.M., three at Denver, Colo., and two at Carlsbad N.M. Packed snow made highways dangerous in the area.

Meanwhile the 82 at San Francisco Monday set a warm-weather record for Nov. 7. Los Angeles was even warmer, with 87 degrees.

Cold weather covered most of the country, however, spreading from the Rockies to the Atlantic states. The temperature dropped to 10 below zero at Fraser, Colo., and was in the 20s and 30s from the Midwest to New York.

Light rains fell on southern New England while Grand Rapids, Mich., got three inches of snow.

Woman's Whim

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A woman's whim set John E. Thompson free from felonious assault charges. The charges were lodged by his girl friend Lawanda Deakin 28, last Oct. 30 for allegedly knocking her down, kicking her, choking her and then spraying her with a water hose.

Municipal Judge F. Ray Bennett dismissed the charge Monday when Lawanda told him she and Thompson were married on Nov. 2.

Agricultural engineers at Purdue University report that overloading wagons and trailers at harvest time can be an expensive speedup measure. Bent axles and frames, blown out tires, and damaged wheel bearings are results of this practice.

Officials Say 'Bomb' Explosion Shattered Plane

DENVER (UP) — A "bomb-type" explosion shattered a cargo hold in a United Air Lines DC-6B which crashed a week ago, killing 44 persons, two Civil Aeronautics Board officials said today.

James N. Peyton, investigation chief for the CAB in Washington, said an intensive examination o. the wreckage — which is spread over three spuare miles near Longmont, Colo. — has shown definite evidence of an explosion.

The No. 4 baggage hold was "shattered," Peyton said.

Luggage which had been in the No. 4 compartment smelled "like gunpowder, or an exploding firecracker," and this same smell was detected on other parts of the wreckage, the CAB investigation chief said.

Jack Parshall, the CAB regional investigator from Kansas City, said Monday that "we have no evidence that there was any kind of bomb explosion.

"We are not far enough along to say what kind of explosion it was", Parshall said.

Parshall also said Monday that "no evidence" had been found of an explosion in the No. 4 cargo hold.

His statements were made in reference to a report published in American Aviation Daily, a trade paper, that crash investigators had discovered definite evidence of a bomb-like explosion in a cargo compartment.

But after Peyton revealed that the American Aviation Daily report was correct, Parshall told United Press:

"I'll have to say that Mr. Peyton's statements are correct. I wasn't at liberty before this to say how much we had found, and we still must await the FBI laboratory reports on the items we have s[illegible] them before we can be more definite."

Peyton also said, "There has still been no evidence of malfunction (mechanical failure in the lane), and the rumors of metal fatigue being responsible for the accident are not true."

Tuesday night a solemn and impressive memorial service was held for the 98 Indiana War Mothers who had passed away in the past two years. Mrs. Martha Gray, Newcastle, state chaplain, was in charge of the memorial service when all local presidents dressed in white formals placed a white carnation for each deceased member of her chapter. Mrs. Roy Hawn, local president placed a carnation in memory of Mrs. Rosa Snyder, from the Whitley County chapter.

Preceding the memorial Mrs. Woodie Slaybaugh, Nappanee, state americanism chairman, conducted a dedication of the new State American flags following the massing of the colors from many chapters over the State.

At the banquet Thursday night the retiring state president, Mrs. Ruth Wagner, West Lafayette, presented her official family; 7 of the 9 living past state presidents the oldest of whom is 90 years young, guests from Kentucky, Illinois and Kansas and the special services directors of the State V. A. Hospitals in Indiana who are the contacts with the volunteer workers in the veterans hospitals. Following the banquet the National President, Mrs. Prather, installed the following new State officers: President, Mrs. Breedlove; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Mary Brown, Indianapolis; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Louise Willson, Indianapolis; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. Minnie Joyce, Vincennes, 4th vice-president; Mrs. Gladys Thomas, Lafayette; recording secretary, Mrs. Blanche Frazure, Gary; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mary Harmon, Indianapolis; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Mitchell, Muncie; historian, Mrs. Woodie Slaybaugh, Nappanee; and chaplain, Mrs. Mabel Yoder, Auburn.

The War Mothers reported a very successful two years in which hospital work has been stressed where a total of more than 9,000 volunteer hours were spent in 6 veterans hospitals and 9 other hospitals in Indiana with a total of $18,00 jn volunteer hours, mileage and gifts was reported. The groundwork was laid for Americanism essays in grade schools on "Why I Am An American," and Americanism is to be the focal point for the next two year term. There are to date 81 chapters in Indiana with a 1955 membership of almost 3400. There were 181 registered delegates and 25 visitors at the convention.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP)—During the election eve campaigning for Mayor of Columbus, a man poked his head into a diner and shouted: "Vote for Sensenbrenner!"

"Who was that guy?" a customer asked.

The campaigner was the Democratic nominee for Mayor, Maynard Sensenbrenner.

Ike Will Make Statements At Airports Friday

First Public Statement Since Address August 24

By MERRIMAN SMITH

United Press White House Writer

DENVER (UP)—P ersidetn

DENVER (UP) — President Eisenhower plans to make brief public statements when he leaves Denver Friday morning and when he arrives in Washington that afternoon, it was learned today.

The temporary White House had no official comment. But barring unforeseen circumstances, the President is expected to speak briefly to newsmen at Lowry Air Force Base when he boards his plane for the return flight east after a seven-week recuperation from his heart attack.

He is planning another, similar statement when he lands at Washington to spend the weekend in the White House, before going to his farm near Gettysburg, Pa., for further recuperation.

These would be his first public statements since the President addressed the American Bar Association at Philadelphia on Aug. 24, just one month before his heart attack in Denver. Mr. Eisenhower has not had a press conference since he came to Denver on Aug. 14 for a work-and-play vacation.

Final Approval For Trip

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the eminent Boston heart specialist who has been visiting the President every two weeks, gave the final approval Monday to plans for the Chief Executive to return east Friday.

But White told newsmen that the Chief Executive will have to decide for himself whether he should seek another term.

White and Maj. Gen. Howard C. Snyder, the the White House physician, agreed that it probably will be late January or February before Mr. Eisenhower has a sufficiently complete medical report on his recovery to make such a decision.

White gave a complete and encouraging account Monday of the President's recovery. He said there "has been no evidence of any complications."

An important indication of the President's rapid progress was his greatly - increased stair - climbing activity. He climbed up and down a flight of 10 stairs six times Monday in his most strenuous exercise to date.

trying to finish the job by wresting control of the legislature from the GOP.

Today's elections provided no clear test of sentiment among farm voters, whose sagging income is supposed to be threatening trouble for the Eisenhower administration and its GOP supporters in 1956. However, municipal elections in small towns may give some indirect indications of how the farmers feel.

Mississippi Elects Governor

Along with Kentucky, Mississippi also was electing a governor today. Attorney General J. P. Coleman, the Democratic nominee, was unopposed.

Virginia, Kentucky and Mississippi, all Democratic states, were electing members of the legislatures, as well as New Jersey.

Besids Philadelphia, major cities holding elections today included San Francisco, Boston, Indianapolis, Ind., Memphis, Tenn., Columbus, Ohio, and Hartford Conn.

In Michigan, both Republicans and Democrats in the 15th congressional district held primaries to nominate a successor to the late Rep. John D. Dingell, a Democrat, who died last summer.

having waited until this morning to leave on trips or some returned especially to vote.

Election polls opened at 7:00 a.m. today in Whitley county. In some places voters had left for work to come in later in the day. In most places voters were waiting when the polls opened.

dollars, and a total worth of five billion dollars the subcommittee said.

Quinn charged that mere size in a corporation is bad — "in a world of mice cats are evil. . . any active giant is evil per se in a land where it is sought to preserve life, liberty and opportunity for the ordinary individual."

Quinn, now president of two small firms, is the author of two books attacking big corporations.

He said, "the decisions of company managements like General Motors and U.S. Steel can determine the whole course of a country's development. . . regardless of our people or their representatives."

Could Silence Protests

Quinn charged that "by adroit use of its purchasing power" GM could silence anyone who protests against it. He said GM acquired 76 per cent of the nation's locomotive business — "What railroad president would dare say no to the largest shipper over his lines?"

Quinn also charged that newspaper and magazine editors do not protest "the evils of giantism" because "they must be constantly careful to see that nothing in their papers offends any giant advertiser."

Quinn's proposal for a higher tax rate for big corporations would require a change in present tax laws. Corporations now are taxed at the rate of 52 per cent of their annual profits over $25,000.

GAS CLOTHES DRYER

Let him know a clothes dryer is a "must" with modern homemakers...but be sure he knows you want a GAS dryer

IT DRIES CLOTHES FASTER
No other Dryer can match the speed of a Gas Clothes Dryer. It's the only one that will dry your clothes as fast as your automatic washer washes them.

IT DRIES CLOTHES BETTER
Because a gas clothes dryer dries faster, it is better for drying woolens.. especially blankets. And speedy drying gives clothes longer life.

IT COSTS LESS TO OPERATE
Clothes dry for an average cost of about one cent per load. This is only one-third the operating cost of a competitive automatic dryer.

IT COSTS LESS TO INSTALL
Only a simple gas connection is needed. There's no special, costly wiring required.

Giovanelli Beats Danny Jo Perez

NEW YORK (UP) — Welterweight Danny Giovanelli of Brooklyn, fresh from his second TV victory in eight days, said today he would be ready to fight 10th-ranking Chico Vejar at St. Nicholas Arena on Nov. 21 "if Chico will take the match."

Lanky Giovanelli substituted for Vejar Monday night at St. Nick's and again beat Danny Jo Perez of New York. This time it was by a unanimous 10-round decision over Danny Jo, whom he had stopped in the sixth round on March 2, 1953.

Vejar, of Stamford, Conn., had been slated to fight Perez Monday night but he suffered a split lip in training. Promoter Tex Sullivan was trying today to match Chico and Giovanelli for the 21st.

Gipvanelle had but a week's rest since he outpointed Paolo Melis of Montreal at St. Nick's on Oct. 31.

Giovanelli threatened to duplicate his 1953 technical kayo over Perez Monday night. In the early rounds he inflicted four cuts about Danny Jo's left eye. They bled persistently but Dr. Alexander Schiff examined them twice and permitted the bout to continue.

Giovanelli, scaling 150½ pounds o Perez' 151, was favored at 9-5. He won the lively bout with long left jabs and straight rights against his speedier opponent. The vote was 7-3, 7-3, 6-31. The United Press agreed, 64.

It was Danny Jo's fourth loss in his last five fights which included a draw. And it was Giovanelli's second victory since he deserted the middleweight ranks and returned to the welters.

"Last night s win was another step toward the welterweight title," he said today. "It's my division."

MORE WATER ACTION FOR ACTON—Auto repairman Joe Acton of Dublin, Ireland, seems to be playing it safe in his latest water contraption. Acton, who once built an outboard motorboat from a truck roof, has come up with one made from two truck fenders—and a truck tire inner tube. He hasn't revealed whether the tube is for comfort or safety, but he has disclosed other details. The "boat" rips along at nine m.p.h. and, like a lot of cars he works on, it "gets you there and back."

Watch for signs of sheep scab, advise Purdue University veterinarians. If individual animals in the flock show loss of wool or skin irritation, sheep scab should be suspected. Supervised dipping is the only satisfactory method of controlling this infection.

Former Resident Sees Dying Whales On Florida Beach

Word has been received here from Thomas Baugher, former resident of Columbia City, who now resides at Eau Gaillie, Rocky Water Park, lorida. Mr. Baugher sent a clipping from the Orlando Sentinel newspaper which told of more than 50 pilot whales which followed their leader and washed helplessly ashore in the surf near Sebastine Inlet in Florida last week.

When some of the jet-black creatures, also known as "black fish," the article stated, were set free by a group of men and given a chance to swim away, they refused. The big mannals allowed themselves to be tossed back on the beach with the others.

The leader, or bull whale, was an estimated 14 feet long and weighed about a ton. The sight of the whales lining a stretch along the shore about 11 miles south of Melbourne Beach was one of the strangest on record there.

Mr. Baugher also stated that he had the pleasure of seeing the whales and that it was a sight. Some of them swam away but most of them died. He said he saw them burying the whales last week with a bulldozer. The episode happened south of where he lives.

Harry Goode, lifelong resident of Orlando, Florida and sports expert, said the National Geographic Magazine listed the mammals as pilot whales, the name coming from the way they follow their leader.

Mr. Goode was quoted as saying the natural habitat of the whales is the Artic region, but they move south each year at this time. They are often seen in the Gulf of Mexico, he said.

The whales probably got out of a cold current found near the shore and wandered into the Gulf Stream, which is about 14 miles out from the shore at this point, Mr. Godde said.

In addition to his wife, he has been preceded in death by one brother and two sisters.

The body has been removed to the Sonday Funeral Home where friends may call after 7 p.m. today. The Rev. Darrel Taggert, pastor of the Methodist church, will officiate at the funeral rites to be held Thursday at 2:00 p.m. at the Funeral Home. Burial will be in the Eel River cemetery.

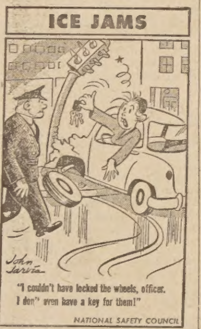
SAFETY FIRST—That's the aim of this photographer in Saarbruecken, Germany, during the recent Saar referendum. While the Saarlanders were voting down international control of the area, he was wearing this white crash helmet inscribed with the plea: "Don't hit me." But he didn't have to, as there were no violent demonstrations.

STARE THAT COULD SCARE—These stony stares greet visitors to the suburban Pittsburgh, Pa., home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cline. The two "watch dogs" have guarded the entrance for the past 20 years. Mrs. Cline believes the stone dogs once adorned the mansion of George Westinghouse, famed inventor of the air brake and other appliances. She guesses they were placed in front of her house by its former owner. The dogs are about four feet long and two and a half feet high.



"I couldn't have locked the wheels, officer. I don't even have a key for them!"

Negro Witnesses In Till Trial Ready To Testify

GREENWOOD, Miss. (UP)—Two star Negro witnesses in the "wolf whistle" kidnap slaying case of Negro Emmett Till were ready to testify today before a grand jury investigating the teenager's abduction.

A 20-member, allwhite Leflore County grand jury reconvened for its second day of reviewing criminal cases (at 10 a.m. EST) with the state's kidnap charges against white half-brothers Roy Bryant and J. W. Milam expected to come up for the first time during the day.

Bryant, 24, and Milam, 36 were acquitted of slaying young Till or an alleged "wolf whistle" directed at Bryant's pretty wife but they were turned over to Leflore authorities to face charges they snatched the Chicago boy from the home of a relative near here.

Uncle Returns From Chicago

Mose Wright, who testified at the murder trial at Sumner, Miss., that Bryant and Milam were the armed men who abducted Till from Wright's plantation shanty, arrived here Monday from Chicago along with Negro farmhand Willie Reed.

District Attorney Stanny Sanders was expected to ask the grand jury to return the kidnap indictments against Bryant and Milam, paving the way for a trial in circuit court here, possibly during late November.

The district attorney said it "more than likely" would be Wednesday before the jury finished its "full session." An announcement of the jury's decision on the kidnap charge would be made no sooner than then, officials said, and possibly not until Friday when a formal report is made.

Census Report Shows Why Schools Are Overcrowded

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Census Bureau report showed clearly today why so many schools are overcrowded.

The bureau said the number of American children in the 5 to 13-year-old bracket has increased 26.8 per cent in the last five years—by far the fastest growth of any segment of the population.

It estimated that on July 1 there were 28,096,000 youngsters in this age group. That is a rise of about 6,000,000 over mid-1950.

The 14- through- 17 age group showed a 9.5 per cent increase in the same five years, from 8,435,000 to 9,238,000.

But the 18-24 age group—reflecting the low birth rate during the depression years of the early 1930s—actually contained about 1,000,000 fewer persons in 1955 than the same bracket covered five years ago, when the overall national population was smaller.

Next to school age children, the largest jump was in the over-65 age bracket. The number of persons past the so-called retirement age of 65 increased 15.9 per cent during the five year period, and now totals about 14,128,000.

The total U.S. population on July 1, was estimated at 165,248,000, an increase of 14,116,000 over mid-1950.

Christmas Clubs Pass Billion Dolllar Mark

This month the largest Christmas check ever will be sent to the largest number of Christmas Club savers when 6600 financial institutions distribute one billion, one hundred and thirty million dollars to twelve million, five hundred thousand Christmas Club members.

Edward F. Dorset, president of Christmas Club a Corporation, announced today that for the fourth successive year annual savings in Christmas Club had passed the billion dollar mark! Commenting on the continued growth of the Club, Mr. Dorset emphasized the contribution that is made to the national economy when such a huge sum is distributed to the American public. Individual security will be increased when nearly a third of the total is redeposited in permanent savings accounts. Debt will be reduced when a substantial slice of the billion is used to pay accumulated bills. Department stores and merchants will feel the boost when those 12-½ million members start their Christmas shopping. And Santa Claus will seem more real than ever when Johnny and Jane find those bikes and dolls under the Christmas tree.

The 1955 payoff is the largest in the history of the Club and represents an increase over 1954 of 50 million dollars (4.6 per cent) with three hundred thousand more members. The average check this year amounts to $90.40 for each member.

Of the 6,600 institutions 154 had clubs in excess of $1,000,000 each. As in past years, New York leads with 2,493,559 members and $236,334,189.

Dairy specialists at Purdue University say that 40 to 60 per cent of the cows on dairy farms will freshen during the next three months. Heavy milkers, especially first calf heifers, should be placed on full grain feeding gradually. Often udder trouble is caused by feeding too much grain, especially corn, immediately after calving. Full grain rations should not be fed until four to six weeks after calving.

Ezra Benson Warns Protective Umbrella Of American Price Support May Be Withdrawn

By ROBERT E. JACKSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

ROME (UP)—U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson warned today that the protective umbrella thrown over the world's farmers by the American price support program may be withdrawn.

The statement was made before the biennial meeting of the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization (FAO). Benson was unable to attendand his state men was read by Earl L. Butz, assistant secretary of agriculture.

"In some nations today," Benson said, "many of us fear that present trends are leading toward 'quick return' attitudes, toward single-crop rather than balanced agricultural economies.

"We see new agricultural production springing up in some countries, not because it is economically justified, but only because it can creep under the umbrellalike protection of the United States price support program.

"Gentlemen, I must assure you that any production based on such hope of short-term benefits may sooner or later find its protecting umbrella withdrawn."

Benson made these other highlight points:

1. American surpluses are "like money in the bank." The problem is not their existence but how to distribute them.

2. One aim of the U.S. flexible price support system is to make import controls "less and less necessary" so the United States can be genuinely competitive in world markets.

3. The time is ripe for all nations to join in lowering trade barriers.

4. The challenge in agriculture today is not greater production but distribution.

Benson said many nations claimed "reasons of self-sufficiency" for imposing trade restrictions and added, "uneconomic production has been brought about, in country after country, in the name of defense and security."

"Whenever this has happened," Benson said, "it has had the three unfortunate effects of building an agricultural industry on an insecure foundation, raising the cost of farm products to consumers and reducing the flow of advantageous trade with other nations.

"Where consumers must pay more they buy less. Uneconomic production is its own worse enemy. It cannot build the type of strong domestic market that means a thriving agricultural industry."

Benson said of the problem of American surpluses:

"In a world still beset with large area of undernourishment and subject to the vicissitudes of weather, including floods and drought, it is a fortunate thing that buffer stocks of agricultural commodities do exist. In some cases the stocks held by the United States are larger than we desire to have on hand. The real question, however, is not the existence of these stocks but the problem of their distribution."

New Jersey GOP Staves Off Bid By The Democrats

To Control State Legislature Despite Loss Of Three Seats

NEWARK, N. J. (UP) — New Jersey Democrats took three state Senate seats away from the Republicans Tuesday, but the GOP's control of the state Legislature held firm under one of the strongest assaults in years.

The Democratic inroads boosted Gov. Robert B. Meyner's prestige as a vice presidential hopeful in 1956, but failed to strike the decisive victory note his party had predicted.

The GOP retained its 40-20 edge in the Assembly but its Senate majority was shaved to 14-7. This was still enough, however, to give the Republicans power over Meyner's absolute vetoes.

In the only statewide issue, voters swamped by a two-to-one margin a referendum proposal to permit the state to issue 100 million dollars worth of bonds to develop new water supplies.

On the basis of final unofficial returns, the Democrats picked up three new Senate seats in Camden, Essex and Salem counties. They came so close to another GOP Senate seat in Somerset that they demanded a recount. Republicans said they would seek a recount in Camden because of the close race there.

In the Assembly races, with all 60 lower chamber seats at stake, both parties retained the same seats they now hold by approximately the same victory margins of two years ago.

Only 11 of the 21 Senate seats were at stake—10 of them now held by the Republicans.

Meyner declined to comment on the election other than to say the returns the state's first Democratic chief executive in a dcade two years ago.

Justus Higham, executive director of the Democratic State Committee, said he was "very happy" over the three Senate gains and thought Meyner's program had been "enhanced."

A Republican Party spokesman said the Democratic gains were "not too significant on a statewide basis" because deep local issues were involved in every case.

New York State Democrats, GOP Battle To Draw

Party Leaders Make Conflicting Readings

By KIRTLAND I. KING
United Press Staff Correspondent

ALBANY (UP)—New York State Democrats and Republicans battled to a political draw in Tuesday's off-year election but party leaders today made conflicting readings of a trend for 1956.

In an election lacking a major statewide contest, the voters did the unexpected in most sections. It was a rough day for the "ins." They changed the political com- ors and lost six. Their victories

The Democrats won eight may- plexion of 15 city halls. were in the larger upstate New York cities, but observers saw the gains offset by Republicans wins in other sections. Gov. Averell Harriman's "favorite son" presidential candidacy, said the voting shows definite signs of ousting Republicans from the White House next year. He was joined by Democratic State Chairman Michael Prendergast.

"Returns from local elections in the counties, cities and towns of New York State show a mounting Democratic trend as we head to the important presidential year ahead," Prendergast said.

"New York's voters have given their vote of confidence to the program and policies of the Harriman administration by electing more Democrats at the grass roots level of government."

.L. Judson Morhouse, Republican state chairman, had a different interpretation.

Claims Tammany Stopped

"The Tammany attempt to high pressure upstate voters has been stopped cold," he said. "In the local elections the voters chose 25 Republicans mayors and 19 Democrats. In addition, the number of upstate county boards of supervisors with Republican majorities was increased from 51 to 52 of the 57 boards...the highly touted government in upstate New York Tammany drive to smash good fizzled."

The outstanding wins for the Democrats were registered in Auburn, Glen Cove, Ithaca, Little Falls, Newburgh Port Jervis Schenectady and Troy. Republicans up mayors in Cortland, Dunkirk, Fulton, Lackawanna, North Tonawanda and Ogdensburg.

The voters also upset the experts by rejecting most of the proposed 10 constitutional amendments, including one providing for a 750 million-dollar highway construction program. The road building plan, backed by both Republican and Democratic leaders, would have been financed by increases in the gas and diesel fuel taxs.

Democratic State Chairman Happy

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Democratic State Chairman Charles Skillen, "very happy" with his party's unprecedented municipal victory, said today it wasn't easy.

"This is one of the roughest elections I've been through," he said, "because the Republicans had a mint of money."

Dilworth Leads Democrat Sweep Of Philadelphia

Regard Race As Test Of Popularity Of

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Richardson Dilworth, a veteran of the political wars, led a Democratic sweep of the city Tuesday when he gained a smashing mayoralty victory over W. Thacher Longstreth, Republican newcomer running under the mantle of President Eisenhower.

The race highlighted an off-year election throughout Pennsylvania, devoid of state-wide battles but replete with local skirmishes.

Dilworth's whopping 132,487 vote triumph filtered from the top of the ticket down through the contests for district attorney, sheriff, clerk of quarter sessions court, city council — with one exception—and the magistrate's courts.

Complete, unofficial returns from the city's 1,512 precincts gave: Dilworth 420,140; Longstreth 287,-653.

Democrats were successful in Pittsburgh also, with a sweep in the making. Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, the state's two biggest population centers, have been strongholds in the recent successes of the Democrats, both on a local and state level and including Democratic Gov. George M. Leader's decisive victory one year ago.

The mayoralty contest between the 57-year-old Dilworth and the 35-year-old Longstreth, an advertising company executive, was regarded as a straw in a wind blowing toward the 1956 presidential elections.

Longstreth had told the voters that if he were elected in his first bid for public office he would institute the policies of Mr. Eisenhower here. The towering former Princeton University football player ran independently of the GOP organization after a squabble over the selection of a party chairman. The organization, however, supported him.

Dilworth said the "good government" administration of Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr., "frankly was the issue." Clark was swept into office four years ago and revamped administration practices, bringing the city a new charter. Clark is said to be seeking the party nomination for U. S. Senate next year.

Happy Chandler Makes Comeback On Landslide Win

Vote For Kentucky Governorship May Be All-Time High

By TOM E. GISH
United Press Staff Correspondent

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — Former Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler pushed his way back into the national political limelight today by winning the Kentucky governorship with what may be an all-time high vote.

Chandler's lead edged above 100,000 early today with returns in from 2,344 of Kentucky's 4,044 precincts.

The count was Chandler 300,741; Republican Edwin R. Denney 200,-706.

Chandler had an excellent chance of bettering the record margin of 106,000 run up by former Gov. Keen Johnson, a Democrat in the 1939 governor's race.

Chandler's tremendous victory margin came as a surprise to Kentucky political observers because the one-time governor and former senator ran up his vote without any help from Kentucky's present Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby.

Had Expected Split

A split in Democratic ranks, an outgrowth of the August primary battle in which Chandler defeated the Wetherby candidate, Judge Bert T. Combs, Prestonsburg, had been expected to hold Chandler's victory margin to no more than 50,000.

Nationally, Chandler's victory is expected to play a part in the 1956 Democratic National Convention. As governor, Chandler will lead Kentucky's delegation, a circumstance not expected to help the candidacy of Adlai E. Stevenson.

Chandler is looked upon as a member of the southern conservative Democratic wing opposed to Stevenson.

The Chandler victory, however, might help the chances of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn). There have been widespread reports here that Chandler looks upon Kefauver with favor.

Wins Assembly Control

Chandler carried with him to victory a complete slate of nine Democratic state officials, also won easy control for his party in the General Assembly.

One surprising aspect of the Kentucky election came on a proposal to amend the state Constitution to lower the legal voting age from 21 to 18 years. With returns in from 1,169 precincts, the amendment was winning 86,354 to 70,869.

If the amendment goes ahead to its apparent victory, Kentucky would be the second state to lower the voter's age. Georgia is the other state.

A second amendment to abolish taxes on household furniture won an overwhelming victory.

Mayor, Who Summoned National Guard, Beaten

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UP)—Paul McCormack, the Republican mayor who summoned the National Guard to enforce law in the aftermath of strike violence, was beaten by 1,433 votes in his bid for reelection.

His associates believed McCormack lost to Democrat Sidney E. Baker because of his action in urging martial law for this city. McCormack called for Guard help even before the Oct. 5 shotgun riot at the Perfect Circle Corp. foundry.

McCormack was the city's second GOP mayor in 25 years. Baker served three terms in the 1930s and 1940s.

Ohio Soundly Defeats CIO On GAW Proposal

Heavy Opposition In Industrial Areas And On The Farms

By HASKELL SHORT
United Press Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP) — Ohio voters, in the first test of public sentiment on the Guaranteed Annual Wage issue, soundly defeated Tuesday a CIO proposal to permit payment of such benefits in Ohio.

Rejection of the GAW issue thus delayed putting into effect immediately the contract the United Auto Workers (CIO) negotiated last summer with Ford Motor Co. It also may delay the effective date of a similar contract for General Motors employes.

The contracts, heralded as a new concept in labor - management relations, provided that states in which 67 per cent of the workers affected must change their laws to permit furloughed employes receiving benefits from their company to still receive state unemployment compensation.

Ohio's vote did not kill the contracts, as the UAW may still win changes in the laws of other states to cover 67 per cent of the employes. However, Ohio employes of the companies would not benefit.

All Areas Against Idea

The voters almost everywhere voted against the CIO proposal, which also would have boosted unemployment payments from $39 to $59 a week maximum. Heavy opposition was registered on the farms and in industrial areas including Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, and Cincinnati.

Returns from 6,654 of the state's 11,626 polling places showed 789,954 votes against the CIO proposal, 457,654 for it.

The Ohio vote contained a few

Democrats Score Best Triumph Ever In Municipal Election; Roll Over Republicans In Indiana Cities

By KEITH L. MARTIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Democrats scored their best triumph ever in Indiana's municipal election, rolling over the Republicans in big and small cities alike.

Voters turned the GOP out of office with such consistency it apparently denoted a trend. Democratic leaders said it was a repudiation of the state and national administrations.

The Democrats swept mayors into office in 73 cities, leaving 29 to the Republicans and two to Independents. One race ended in a tie. Entering the election, the GOP had 70 mayors, the Democrats 33.

The balloting in wintry weather was too much for some big names among Republican mayors. Those who lost included Former Republican State Chairman Noland Wright of Anderson, Hammond's Vernon Anderson, and South Bend's John Scott, once tagged a possible 1956 nominee for governor.

Democrats set a modern-day political record with their victory. They did not do as well even during the Franklin D. Roosevelt heydays, their best previous mark being 56 cities in 1930.

"First Time in Years"

In a nutshell, here's what happened:

23 cities stayed Democratic.

21 cities stayed Republican.

48 cities switched from Republican to Democratic.

Eight cities switched from Democratic to Republican.

One city switched from Independent to Democratic.

Two cities switched from Democratic to Independent.

Republicans and Democrats tied in one city.

One new city was formed and went Democratic.

In many communities, the introduction of Democratic rule was an historic event. Paoli elected a Democratic town board for the first time in 75 years. Rochester had its first Democratic mayor in 26 years, Delphi had its first in 42 years, Logansport its first in 25, Attica its first in 20, Warsaw its first in 23, and Goshen its first in 17.

"It's definitely a trend," said Democratic State Chairman Charles Skillen. "It means the Democrats wil elect a governor and carry the state for president next year."

If they do the latter, it would be the first time since 1936.

"This repudiates Republican administrations in the state and nation," Skillen continued. "Republicans have failed the little people. They lost a lot of diplomatic relations, they failed to balance the budget, they failed to keep their promises. The only promise they kept was to favor big business."

Demos Win Big Cities

Republican hopes started slumping as soon as voting machine tallies came in early election night. The big industrial cities moved almost en masse to the Democrats.

First came Indianapolis, where Former Democratic Mayor Phillip Bayt whipped Republican James Birr by more than 16,000 votes—73,895 to 57,781.

Then Evansville and South end fel into line, also switching from GOP rule. When the last report was in, Democrats held 17 of Indiana's 20 largest cities. Republicans salvaged only Fort Wayne, Elkhart and Lafayette out of 14 of the top 20 cities they held going into the election.

In two of those 20 largest—Hammond and Michigan City—the Republican incumbents were seeking a third term. The mayor lost in Hammond to Democrat Edward Dowling by 422 votes out of 32,000 cast. Michigan City's Russell Hileman bowed to Democrat Francis Fedder by about 1,100.

The tie was at Shirley City—

McCarthy Says 'No Plans To Enter'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) said today his supporters are considering entering his name in three or four state presidential primaries.

The Wisconsin Republican told a reporter, however, that he personally has no plans to be a candidate.

McCarthy said in response to a query that "there has been some talk" of entering him in GOP primaries in Wisconsin, Nebraska, Massachusetts and perhaps New Jersey.

"I have no plans to enter" the primaries, he said.

Election Day Fracas

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (UP)—Harry Robbins, a French Lick policeman, was under 1,000 peace bond today as a result of an election day fracas with a news photographer.

Robbins, a former police chief, was arrested by present Chief Fred Cave on a warrant signed by Freedly Rose, free lance photographer.

Rose claimed he took a picture of Robbins entering the polling place and the officer threatened to shoot the camera from his hands.

Butler Hails Party's Gain As Growing Trend; Hall Says It Has No National Significance

By HERBERT W. CHESHIRE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler today hailed his party's smashing gains in many state and local elections as a growing national trend to the Democrats in next year's presidential elections.

But Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said Tuesday's scattered off-year elections had "no national significance." He predicted that next year, with the presidency and control of Congress at stake, the country will give the GOP "a resounding vote of con fidence."

Hall and Butler issued statements placing diametrical opposite interpretations on the outcome of Tuesday's contests in which Democrats reained the governorship of Kentucky and the Philadelphia mayor's office, won a majority of mayoralty races in Indiana, and scored local gains in Connecticut and upstate New York.

"Traditional", says Hall

Republicans held control of both houses of the New Jersey Legislature, (but lost three state Senate seats) and won some key local contests in Fairfax County, Va., a residential suburb of Washington, for the first time in history.

Hall contended that "it is a mistake to read a national trend into these local elections in an off-year ...The contests were scattered and fought in purely local issues. It is traditional for the arty out of power to make some gains in off year elections."

But Butler said:

"After making full allowance for local factors, there is no doubt that this has national significance... (It) springs from the injection of President Eisenhower into key local elections and from many Democratic victories in traditionally weathervane areas."

Butler said there were "numerous" cases in which Democrats won local elections over the Reublicans had staked their campaign "on President Eisenhower's popularity."

A "Trend,' says Butler

Hall said one reason for discounting any "trend" in Tuesday's voting was that "taking the country as a whole, apathy was widespread and only a few million voters went to the polls.'

Butler called special attention to Indiana, which, he said, has accurately foreshadowed national political trends in the past. He said Democrats carried "a great many traditionally Republican towns" in Indiana, in some instances for the first time in from 16 to 75 years."

"The 1955 trend is a continuation of one which started in 1953 and has grown stronger as the Democratic Party has carried forward its constructive records on national issues," he said.

Stevenson And Nixon Both Rate High With Men Voters, Even Higher With Women

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson rates high with men voters but higher with the women. He is far in front of the pack for next year's Democratic presidential nomination.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon also seems slightly more popular among women than men voters, but he has no comparable advantage over other Republicans who might be nominated next year.

These conclusions are based on an unusual sampling of political opinion just completed by the United Press Results of a poll among 100 selected male voters was reported on Oct. 26. A poll among women in the same pattern now has been completed.

Seventeen suitably located United Press bureaus made the sampling. Each asked a given number of representative women to state who they believe at this time to be the most likely Democratic and Republican nominees next year, assuming that President Eisenhower does not seek a second term. It was requested that the participants name the individuals most likely to be nominated rather than their personal choices.

The United Press polled 87 women in many fields of women's activity.

Foretelling a scramble among Republicans if Mr. Eisenhower drops out, the women scattered their fire among 11 first choice Republicans who might be nominated. But they limited the Democratic field to 6 names. That followed the pattern of the men who last month named 13 Republicans and 6 Democrats.

Here are the leaders in the women's poll:

Democrats
Adlai E. Stevenson	66
Averell Harriman	13
Estes Kefauver	3
Republicans
Richard M. Nixon	37
Earl Warren	21
William F. Knowland	9
Goodwin J. Knight	3
George M. Humphrey	3
Henry Cabot Lodge	3
Milton Eisenhower	3

The leaders in the men's poll had been: Democrats — Stevenson 55, Harriman 31, Kefauver 5. Republicans — Nixon 36, Warren 25, Thomas E. Dewey 6 Milton Eisenhower 6, Knowland 5.

The also-rans in the women's poll were: Democrats — Lyndon Johnson 1 Frank J. Lausche 1, William O. Douglas 1. Two women answered "don't know." Republicans — Harold Stassen 2, John Foster Dulles 1, Herbert Brownell 1, Christian A. Herter 1. Three women answered "don't know."

The poll was among a cross section of women voters in all parts of the United States which, for purposes of this poll, were East, Northeast, South, Midwest, Southwest, Northwest, West, Stevenson, Nixon and Warren were the only prospective nominees named in all seven areas.

The poll of these women, scattered from coast to coast, suggests some political trends bordering on political fact.

Democratic: The women have narrowed the field to Stevenson, Harriman and Kefauver and, like the men, seem to establish Stevenson with a long lead. His strength is the weakness of other Democrats. Stevenson is an established national figure. The others need some of the build-up which Stevenson acquired in the 1952 campaign and has continued to get since. Stevenson also seems to have a good hold on the women.

Republican: The nomination remains wide open, but with Nixon well in the lead of a large field. Nixon, like Stevenson, rated higher in the women's poll than in the poll of men voters. Chief Justice Warren was second to Nixon in both polls. He has said and repeated that he will not leave the bench to seek political office. His standing among the voters is such, however, that great pressure may be brought on him to re-enter politics. That pressure would come largely in the form of a stop-Nixon movement.

Farmwife Has 1956 Convertible As Her Consolation Prize

NEW YORK (UP)—Mrs. Polly Culbertson, a farmwife from Pottstown, Pa., who blew a chance at ..16,000 on a TV Quiz show headed back to a hospital bed today with a 1956 convertible in tow as a consolation prize.

Mrs. Culbertson who suffers from arthritis, spent the past week in a hospital at Valley Forge, Pa., after piling up an $8,000 stake in the category "literature," on "The $64,000 Question."

Her husband, retired Naval Capt. W. L. Culbertson, a coronary thrombosis case, also is a patient in the same hospital.

The 59-year-old contestant, who had successfully answered a series of questions on books in her previous appearance, was given the chance Tuesday night of doubling her winnings or bowing out. She chose to go on, but was stymied completely by a multiple-part query on Utopian literature.

She was asked to name the authors of "The Republic," "Erewhen," "Looking Backward," "Brave New World' and "Utopia.'

But when emcee Hal March asked for her answers, Mrs. Culbertson could only shake her head and say: "No...no...no.'

The answers were, in order, Plato Samuel Butler, Edward Bellamy, Aldous Huxley and Sir Thomas More.

Says There Is No Inherent Right To Withhold 'Info'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif) today described as "fantastic' a federal agency's claims that it has an "inherent right" to withhold information from the public.

"There is no inherent right to withhold information" he told newsmen, "and certainly not on the broad basis claimed by the Civil Service Commission. I think that is fantastic."

The commission was the first agency called Tuesday by Moss' Government Operations subcommittee to justify withholding of information from the public, the press and Congress.

The subcommittee today summoned officials of the Post Office Department to explain, among other things, the use of their own secrecy labels on non-defense information. The department has revealed that it uses "confidential," "restricted for use of principal quarters" on non-defense material it wants kept secret.

The subcommittee also called for an explanation of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield's request for secrecy on the names of men determined to be eligible for postmaster appointments.

Scheduled to testify later today were officials of the Treasury Department to explain the secrecy imposed on applications of organizations for tax-exempt status.

Acting general counsel Lawrence V. Meloy of the Civil Service Commission insisted Tuesday that the commission has an "inherent right" under the Constitution and under the Civil Service Act to bar information from the public. He said it is a "question of judgment, a question of reasonableness."

Moss complained that federal agencies "don't consciously have a desire to give information. They tend to withhold information in practice. They have a proprietary interest rather than an interest as custodian of the people."

HAZARD, Ky. (UP)—Five children burned to death Tuesday night when fire destroyed their home here.

The fire was believed to have started in the back of the home, near a heater.

The dead were listed as Ellen Kay, 14; Phyllis, 9, and Susan, 7 all daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Justice Bentley and two of Bentley's grandchildren Yvonne, 6, and Vickie, 4. Bentley is a former sheriff of Perry County.

A neighbor first discovered the fire and turned in the alarm, but was not able to awaken the children. He said the fire department, when it arrived, was unable to help because of a lack of water pressure.

The 1956 Buick SUPER 4-Door Riviera

What you see pictured here is Buick for 1956—and from the gleam of that "V" grille to the sassy slant of the tail fins, you can see it has no equal for gorgeous good looks.

But what you see from the curb is more than matched by what you feel at the wheel—and that's gospel.

For this Buick gets its zoom from a mighty 322-cubic-inch V8 engine lofted to a new record high in power and compression—and from a spectacular new advance in Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*

What's new in the '56 Dynaflow is this: in the first inch of pedal travel—and not with wide-open throttle—your Buick moves from standstill to cruise with silk-smooth, instant and certain getaway.

But comes a sudden need for safety-surge action to get out of a tight spot—and you floor the pedal to switch the pitch of this airplane-inspired transmission. Instantly and smoothly, you're at full-power acceleration—a thrill beyond words.

There's a lot more we could tell you about these great new Buicks—about brilliant new interiors, a superb new ride with a safer "sense of direction," and new safety features everywhere you look.

But the best way to get the whole story of the best Buick yet is right at the wheel of one of these '56 beauties. So drop in this week and do just that.

Federal Building Commissioner Peter Strobel Resigns

WASHINGTON (UP) — Federal Buildings Commissioner Peter A. Strobel, under fire in a "conflict of interest" case, resigned Tuesday, it was announced today.

Strobel's resignation was accepted "with regret" today by the General Services Administration.

Strobel was investigated by a House judiciary subcommittee last month for possible conflict of interests between his government post and his New York consulting engineering firm, Strobel & Salzman.

In a letter of resignation to GSA Administrator Edmund F. Mansure Tuesday, Strobel said, "in no case has any official action of mine been influenced by my private interests."

"My firm has not received any financial benefit, directly or indirectly by reason of my official position," he said.

Strobel admitted retaining an interest in his fir mwhile serving as public buildings commissioner. However, he also denied in testimony before the House group that he ever used his official position to benefit himself financially or to get business for his firm.

But he admitted that on at least two occasions clients of his firm received government contracts.

He also acknowledged that since assuming his federal job he had dunned the Army Corps of Engineers for $7,500 for work previously performed by his firm. He also negotiated another contract with the engineers the day before he joined the government.

In his letter of resignation, Strobel said it appears that "no matter how honorable my conduct" the "mere existence of my private business connections will be seized upon by some people to create suspicion and embarrass me and the administration."

Strobel said he plans to return to the engineering firm which he claimed suffered a 50 per cent loss in business since he accepted public office.

Chicago Boys Were Not Drugged Before They Were Murdered

CHICAGO (UP)—Three young boys who were murdered on Chicago's Northwest Side last Oct. 16 were not drugged or poisoned before their deaths, a scientist reported today.

Dr. Walter J.R. Camp, coroner's toxicologist, said a thorough examination showed no trace of alcohol or drugs in the bodies of Robert Peterson, 13, John Cchuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton 11.

The tests also showed that the boys did not eat from the time they left their homes until the time of their sadistic murders.

Bomber Crashes Killing The Three CrewmenAboard

Wreckage Scattered Over 3-Mile Area

MARLIN, Tex. (UP) — A B47 "Globetrotter" jet bomber capable of carrying an atomic bomb to nearly any part of the world exploded and crashed in a densely wooded section of central Texas Tuesday night, killing the three crewmen aboard.

A spokesman at James Connally Air Force Base at nearby Waco, Tex., said he understood the plane was carrying "considerable classified equipment." This was denied by Biggs Air Force Base at El Paso, where the plane was based.

Maj. Robert P. Nelson, public information officer at Biggs, said the base was reluctant to put out details of the crash until it was determined if the ship actually was based at Biggs. He said this led to the "mystery," in which few details of the crash could be learned until early today.

Strategic Air Command headquarters at Omaha, Neb., said it was its understanding that concern over notification of relatives of the crewmen caused a "misunderstanding."

Search parties from Connally and from Ellington AFB at Houston found the bodies today.

The victims were identified as Capt. E.O. Tilton, 35, aircraft commander of Brady, Tex.; Capt. A.G. Sterling, 29, the pilot, Eagle Grove, Iowa, and Capt. H.P. Courcier, 38, Wichita Falls, Tex., observer.

Nelson said the crash occurred five minutes after the plane had reported by radio to Connally base while on the navigation training flight. He said the ship indicated no trouble in its last radio report.

The wreckage was scattered over a three-mile area and was in such small pieces that it was hard to tell if they came from an airplane.

Expect Jury To Make Announcement

GREENWOOD, Miss. (UP) — A grand jury was expected to complete its investigation and announce today whether it will indict two white men accused of kidnaping Emmett Till.

Stanny Sanders, district attorney, said the 20 white jurors would complete their "full session" at the hearings beginning today and possibly would announce their decision immediately.

If the grand jury decides that half-brothers J.W. Milam and Roy Bryant must stand trial for kidnaping the 14-yearold Chicago boy, the men would have to be taken into custody before the decision is made public, Sanders said.

Bryant, 24, and Milam, 36 have been free on $10,000 bonds since their acquittals on a charge of murdering the boy and dumping his mutilated body in a river.

treasurer in 1938 and started his duties in office in 1939. Tuesday's election guaranteed him a tenure of 21 years — until 1959.

Precincts Reporting

The Southeast precinct was the first to report to the canvasing board members; Donald Alberty, D., Ira Webber, R., and Kenneth Nichols, clerk.

Charles Keiser, sheriff, and Mrs. Tressa Trout, inspector, brought the official report from the South east precinct to the courtroom at 9:55. They reported a total of 403 votes cast.

Mrs. John Lillich and Mrs. Desta Mullendore, judge and inspector, brought the report from the Northwest precinct at 10:50. They reported a total of 678 ballots cast.

The Southwest precinct report came in at 11:03 with Ralph Ferrey, inspector. A total of 385 ballots were cast, about 74 per cent.

The last precinct to report was the Northeast brought in at midnight by Mrs. Helen Foust and Robert Meyers. They reported a total of 660 ballots cast.

In 1951, the Southeast precinct reported election results first, followed by Southwest, Northwest and Northeast.

Ballots Not Counted

Election officials reported a number of ballots not counted because some had been marked in the circle with the emblem at the top and then for each candidate in the squares. Some had used a check mark instead of an X. Some ballots were marked for two candidates from the same precinct. One precinct had thrown out a dozen ballots and another seven.

Churubusco Returns

Republicans won all but one of the places on the town board elections in Churubusco. Merl Leitch, D., won over Wilbur Gaff, R., for trustee of the third ward. The vote was Leitch, 193, Gaff, 146.

Other Churubusco results were: First ward, Cecil Allman, R., 173; William Veazey, D., 169; trustee second ward, Abraham Nestel, R., 173; Nile Egolf, D., 164.

Present clerk-treasurer Dale LeFever, R., received 200 votes and Mrs. Vernon Harrold, D., 139.

The total number of votes cast was 353. The counting was completed about 10 o'clock Tuesday night. Election board members are Dale LeFever, clerk; Roscoe Anderson, R., and Mrs. J. L. Isay, D.

Marion Mayberry is the Republican chairman and E. Dale Barrett, the Democratic chairman in Churubusco.

Larwill Board Members

No elections were held in Larwill. Town board members holding over from the 1951 election are Victor Phend, R., Dale Dilts, R., James Sweeney, D., William Helfrick, R., clerk.

Red Ambassador Walks Out On Israeli Officials

Because Sharett Was Few Minutes Late At Airport

JERUSALEM (UP)—Soviet Ambassador Alexander Abramov walked out today on Israeli officials because Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett was a few moments late arriving at the Tel Aviv airport for a flying trip to Washington.

Abramov had gone to the Lydda airport outside Tel Aviv with the American, British and Italian ambassadors to see the Israeli foreign minister leave for Washington and plead Israel's arms cause before American officials.

Abramov went to the airport at 7:30 a.m. and waited a quarter-hour before leaving. He brushed off an explanation by the Israeli chief of protocol that weather had dislocated the timetable and stalked away.

Sharett has not disclosed whether he would meet with State Department officials but it was a foregone conclusion in Tel Aviv he would plead for more arms to offset the Soviet deal by which Egypt is receiving Czech arms.

Little or no military movements was reported today along the front which blazed into action Tuesday along the southernmost corner of the Egypt-Israel border with a clash in which Egypt claimed four Israelis were killed.

In Cairo, Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakin Amer, commander-in-chief of the Egyptian minister of defense, was appointed supreme commander of the newly established joint Egyptian-Syrian defense system.

Two Warsaw Cars Receive Damages

Two cars belonging to residents of R 2, Warsaw, received damages in an accident at 9:40 this morning on Chicago street extended in front of the Alvin Binkley residence. Although the drivers both had the same address they were not acquainted.

Richard Aaron was driving a '53 Ford headed east and was following a '50 GMC one ton truck driven by Otto Sparks. The truck belonged to the Sherman White company, Fort Wayne.

Both cars were in the south lane of the highway. The truck started to pull to the center to make a left turn at the same time the car attempted to pass.

The truck received damage estimated at $300 to the left front fender and the car $200 damage to the right front fender.

The accident was investigated by city police. No one was injured. Charges of reckless driving were filed against Aaron.

West Germany Is Not Putting Out Its Welcome Mat

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The West German government is not putting out its "welcome" mat for Russia's new ambassador.

In fact, it has made it clear that it would prefer to see the undoubted talents of Valerian Alexandrovitch Zorin exerted elsewhere.

It was announced in Moscow one week ago today that Zorin had been named as the Kremlin's first envoy to the Bonn Republic.

On the surface, it appeared that the Soviet government was paying Chancellor Konrad Adenauer quite an honor.

For Zorin is a deputy foreign minister and one of Russia's first rank diplomats.

But the West German government registered both shock and resentment at the news.

First, the Russians did not bother to conform to the usual diplomatic niceties by withholding their announcement until the West German government had approved their nominee.

Secondly, Zotin is one of the most notorious hatchet men in the Soviet foreign service.

The agreement to exchange ambassadors was made during Adenauer's visit to Moscow in September.

Adenauer consented only reluctantly, because he failed to get the concessions he wanted as the price of establishing relations.

Moscow's premature announcement of Zorin's appointment may have been inadvertent—or may not.

But certainly the appointment of this particular man seems to be practically a notification that the Kremlin plans not to maintain normal friendly relations but to conduct a campaign of subversion.

Zorin, 53, is a master of subversion and intrigue. His chief claim to fame is the fact that he is credited—if it may be called that—with engineering the coup by which the Communists seized power in Czechoslovakia in 1948.

Zorin was the Russian ambassador in Prague at that time.

The late Klement Gottwald was the Czechoslovak Communist leader but Zorin was the master mind.

War Mothers Have Booth At Carnival Veterans' Hospital

The local chapter of American War Mothers manned the booth at the fall Carnival held Tuesday evening at the Fort Wayne Veterans Hospital.

The local mothers had a booth of Ring Toss and prizes were awarded to all participants.

Mrs. Thomas Foreman and Mrs. Albert Klein, both of Fort Wayne, who are co-chairmen were in charge of the booth and were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bainbridge, Mrs. Burton White, Mrs. Roy Hawn, Mrs. Merritt Hursey, Mrs. Howard Aker and Mrs. Monna Firestone of the local chapter.

Cooley Challenges Ike's Administration To Act On Farm Income

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Democratic farm leader challenged the Eisenhower administration today to come forward now with recommendations for halting the decline in farm income—instead of waiting for Congress to return in January.

The challenge was issued by Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-NC) of the House Agriculture Committee.

Cooley said he notified Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson nine days ago that he would summon his committee—which prepares all farm legislation for House floor debate—to meet immediately to consider any administration recommendations.

He said Benson has not replied. He added that he suspects Benson has been "bluffing" and doesn't have any new legislative proposals.

Shuman Charges Some Opportunitsts Try To Make Hay

WICHITA, Kan. (UP)—The president of the American Farm Bureau Federation charged today that 'political opportunists in both parties" are trying to make hay out of the nation's farm problem.

Charles B. Shuman urged that the question of farm price supports be taken out of politics.

The experience of the last 25 years shows "that farm prosperity doesn't come from political promises and panaceas," he said.

"It comes from sound programs which permit farmers to profit from efficient production of the things consumers want," he said. "And it is possible only in an economic climate which allows our free enterprise system to work."

Shuman, in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual meeting of the Kansas Farm Bureau, put in a plug for Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's system of flexible supports for farm commodities. He said this "is not perfect, but it is based on a sound principle."

Shuman also spoke favorably about proposals for a "soil bank," under which farmers would be paid for taking land out of production said "it is better to store fertility in the soil than to store surpluses in government bins."

Voters Urge Mayor To Seek Reelection; He Was Defeated

HAMMOND, Ind. (UP)—Last spring, 18,000 persons signed a petition urging Mayor Vernon Anderson to seek a third term. Anderson, a Republican, did so and won the nomination in the May primary.

But he was defeated Tuesday by Edward A. Dowling, the Democrat. Dowling won with 16,359 votes. Anderson got 15,937. Anderson would have won if all 18,000 who signed the petition had voted for him.

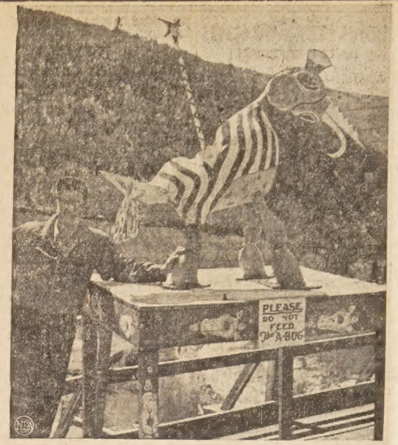
DETROIT (UP)—John Dingell Jr. 29-year-old Democrat seeking the congressional seat left vacant by the death of his father, scored an overwhelming victory over 11 opponents in Tuesday's primary. Dingell got 12,179 votes, about 4,000 more than his closest rival.



PLEASE DO NOT FEED THE A-BUG

"DON'T FEED THE A-BUG"—That's the slogan at the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada's plant in Kimberely, British Columbia. And this is the A-Bug, the "A" standing for accident. It has three red plaster-of-Paris eyes, the third underneath the chin to warn of ground hazards. Saw-toothed upper lip represents stabbing and cutting dangers. Hooked lower lip reminds workers to beware of clothes-catching dangers. And a "helicopter" propeller on a pole sticks from its back, emphasizing that the accident bug lands easily anywhere. Body is made of plywood, neck of rubber hose and the whole works is wrapped in painted gunny sacking. At left is Frank Barraclough, the creature's creator.

FBI Searches For Sabotage In Plane Crash

DENVER (UP)—The FBI today began a search for evidence of sabotage in the explosion of a United Air Lines DC6B in which 44 persons were killed last week.

The investigation presumably would entail an exhaustive check into the backgrounds of all passengers and crew members on the plane crew members wha had access to the plane at Denver and the origin of air freight shipments.

The FBI was called into the case Tuesday after the Civil Aeronautics Authority became convinced after a week's intensive study that a "bomb type" blast caused the tragedy.

The CAA found definite evidence of an in-flight explosion but no sign that a mechanical failure or malfunction was responsible.

Webb Burke, FBI agent in charge at Denver, said he was conducting a "preliminary investigation to uncover evidence of sabotage or any other violation of a federal statute."

If any such evidence is found, Burke said, "we will proceed with a criminal investigation."

The plane crashed near Longmont, Colo., 35 miles north of Denver, only 11 minutes after takeoff the night of Nov. 1. It was enroute to Seattle, Wash., with 39

Indiana Farm Bureau President Issues Warning

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — The president of the Indiana Farm Bureau, in a prepared statement, warned today that farm income must be improved or the nation will plunge into a depression "that will make the one of the early '30s look inconsequential."

The statement by Hassil E. Schenck was read before about 5,000 delegates at the opening session of the organization's 37th annual convention.

Schenck, who suffered a dizzy spell Tuesday, was taken to Methodist Hospital for a checkup, and probably will not be able to attend the three-day convention. Physicians said his illness probably was due to exhaustion. His address was read by George Doup, Columbus, vice president of the organization.

"The truly black spot on the nation's economic horizon is the diminished farm income and the increased cost of farm supplies," the Boone County farm leader declared. "Farmers are enduring a squeeze almost analagous with that of 1921.

"If the farmers' economic situation is not righted, and righted quickly, the way is being paved for a collapse that will make the one of the early '30s look inconsequential."

Schenck added that "criticism, alibis, buck-passing and bickering" on the political scene is not helping the farm situation.

"If politicians really want to help," he said, "they must listen to farmers. A positive and not a negative approach is what farmers want."

On the state level, Schenck blasted the increasing trend toward year-around "fast" time despite a state law establishing Central Standard Time as the only legal time in Indiana.

Other state issues listed by Schenck were water resources and water rights, need for a state veterinary college, toll roads and school construction.

Schenck called farm surpluses as still "the biggest problem of the American farmer." He said part of this was due to the "tragically poor job of marketing our goods here at home."

Senate Agriculture Committee Moves To Louisana Today

By BERNARD BRENNER
United Press Farm Editor

ALEXANDRIA, La. (UP)—The touring Senate Agriculture Committee, which heard new demands Tuesday that Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson be removed from the Cabinet, moved from Oklahoma to Louisiana today to hear from cotton and rice farmers.

The committee's recent itinerary has included a swing from Fort Worth, Tex., to Hutchinson, Alexandria.

The cross - country tour was scheduled in an effort to get advice from farmers before writing a new farm bill next year. So far the committee has gotten mostly criticism of the national farm program.

Cotton and rice farmers from several hundred miles around were expected for today's hearing in Alexandria. The Senate Agriculture Committee is headed by one of Louisiana's senators, Allen J. Ellender Sr. of Houma.

At Stillwater, Okla., Tuesday a crowd of 400 Oklahoma farmers attending a committee hearing applauded demands by a farmer and a trim housewife, the latter resident of a 440-acre cattle ranch in western Oklahoma's Roger Mills County, for removal of Benson.

Earlier in the day, Sen. A.S. Mike Monroney, Oklahoma Democrat, had filed a statement with the committee saying "I can see no hope for full recovery of the farm price structure, regardless of what legislation is passed by Congress" until a new secretary of agriculture is appointed and the policy changed.

The Oklahoma housewife, Mrs. Ruth M. Wood, had advice for the Senate Agriculture Committee on how to prevent overproduction in the henhouse.

"Kill the rooster," she told the committee briskly.

She also asked the legislators to help break "a wall of misunderstandinf" between far mand city afm rnatidc ysta ndi ng"bewtene residents by informing the latter that farmers "are not a selfish class."

Health Service Says Live Virus Found In Vaccine

WASHINGTON (UP) — The U.S. Public Health Service announced in a final report today that live polio virus was found in all six suspect lots of Cutter vaccine which caused more than 150 polio cases last spring.

It also revealed some type II and III virus was found in a seventh lot but that this "probably did not cause" any polio cases.

East Chicago Roosevelt And South Bend Adams Still Tops In High School Football

By KURT FREUDENTHAL
United Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) East Chicago Roosevelt and South Bend Adams, contenders for the Northern play-off crown, remained Indiana's two top high school football clubs today.

They ran 1-2 in the United Press Coaches Poll for the third straight week. Both get the "acid" test at South Bend Friday with the "mythical" state title at stake.

Unbeaten Roosevelt, which led the elite for the seventh week, missing first place only once when the Rough Riders had an open date midway through the season, again collected 98 points, including nine first-place ballots.

Adams, in the play-off round for the first time and defeated only by city rival Central in the final game of the regular season last Saturday, put together 87, including the other first-place nod.

Four other season-long powers retained last week's positions and there were no major changes in the next-to-last roll call.

Fort Wayne North remained third, followed, in order, by Sullivan, Evansville Central and city rival Reitz.

South Bend Washington, tied for seventh place last week, climbed to a tie for sixth with Reitz, while Seymour advanced from 10th to ninth.

Marion skidded from a tie for seventh to eighth, while Boonville was voted down from ninth to 10th.

The eighth weekly U.P. "Big 10," with first places and total points:

2.	SB Adams (1)	87
3.	FW North	72

Jones - Saxton 10-Rounder Tonight

OAKLAND, Calif. (UP) — Ralph "Tiger" Jones, who shook up Ray Robinson's comeback plans last January, seeks to do the same thing to Johnny Saxton tonight when he tangles with the former welterweight champ in a nationally televised 10-rounder at the local auditorium.

Jones, a familiar face on everybody's TV screen, scored a unanimous decision over Robinson and left many writers convinced that the former welter and middleweight kingpin had lost it during his two years as a night club performer.

But since then, Robinson has fought his way back into a title match Dec. 9 with champion Carl "Bobo" Olson.

Now Saxton is in the clutch against the same Jones, who comes in all the time and is very effective at close quarters. Johnny won the world welterweight title from Kid Gavilan in a highly disputed decision late in 1954. Then he was flattened in the 14th round by Tony DeMarco last April who in turn bowed to Carmen Basilio, the current welter king.

Saxton is in line for a title go with the winner of the Nov. 30 re-match between Basilio and DeMarco, but a loss to Jones could smash his plans.

The betting is even along New York's Eighth Avenue, but Jones has been posted as a slight favorite in the cigar stands here.

also known as Woodburn—near Fort Wayne. Fred Meyer and Edwin Keller each received 61 votes and planned to ask the county clerk whether they should decide it by flipping a coin.

Butler residents in nearby DeKalb County decided by referendum to become a city, then went ahead and picked a Democratic mayor.

At New Castle, Republican Mayor Paul McCormack lost to Democrat Sidney Baker, who served three terms as mayor. McCormack's associates said he lost in the labor stronghold because he called National Guardsmen in last month to enforce the peace after a shotgun riot at the Perfect Circle foundry.

The Anderson result probably will be contested. Former Democratic State Senator Ralph Ferguson beat Noland Wright by 54 votes in the unofficial count, 9,818 to 9,764.

Scott lost at South Bend to Edward Voode 29,124 to 27,023. The city council was split 5-4 there, but in most cities, Democrats took all the council seats along with the mayoralty post.

Evansville gave Democrat Vance Hartke about a 3000-vote margin over Republican Curtis Huber. This city is in the county which since the late 1800s has always supported the winning presidential nominee.

Vincennes picked a Democrat instead of the incumbent Independent mayor, Charlestown switched from Democrat to Independent, and Jasper elected its former Democratic mayor who turned Independent to beat the Democrat who whipped him in the May primary.

There were numerousclose races, with the victory margin only 14 at Noblesville and Bedford, 18 at Peru, 20 at Dunkirk and 47 at Huntington, and the only female candidate for mayor Mrs. Ruth Steer of West Lafayette, lost.

Bulldogs Notch Second Close Win, 58-52 At Huntertown

The South Whitley Bulldogs nailed down their second narrow victory of the season Tuesday night at Huntertown, pulling away from a 51-50 score with a minute left, to the final score of 58-52.

The Bulldogs led all the way, going into an early lead with accurate shooting on fast breaks. At the end of the first quarter, it was 16-10, at halftime 32-21, and 42-36 at the end of the third quarter.

During the final period, the host team came up to a dangerously close margin at 51-50 with a minute left to play in the game, but South Whitley controlled the ball during the final seconds and won by six points. In the final quarter, Huntertown scored but one field goal, while dunking 14 points at the charity stripe.

Huntertown won the preliminary game 33-21.

political implications. It dealt the CIO proposal, 457,654 for it.

The Ohio vote contained a few political implications. It dealt the CIO prestige a heavy blow, showed Ohioans generally opposed anything they thought would cost them money, and showed some Democratic gains in Columbus.

Approval of the proposal would have put the Ford contract into effect immediately as 67 per cent of the Ford workers live in Ohio and Michigan, which permits jobless payments to furloughed employes. It would have been a major step toward approval of the UAW General Motors contract.

Must Look Elsewhere

Defeat of the issue means the UAW must look to other states to put their contracts into effect before next June's deadline. The Ohio Legislature, which once defeated the CIO proposal, cannot consider the matter before its regular session in January, 1957, unless called into a special session for that purpose.

This is highly unlikely, however, as Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche had opposed the CIO proposal. Only the governor can call the Legislature into special session.

The defeat was a blow to the CIO, which never has been a potent factor in Ohio politics. Spokesmen for the union had said it planed an intensive campaign in next year's elections when Ohioans will vote for a president, U.S. senator, 23 congressmen, state officials, and a Legislature.

Democrats made major gains in Columbus, in the only major Democrat - Republican showdown in the state.

Incumbent Democratic Mayor M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner, a political unknown when he broke the GOP 20-year reign on city hall by 327 votes, defeated veteran Republican Councilman Joseph R. Jones by 7,318 votes.

When first elected two years ago, Sensenbrenner was the only Democrat winning office. This year he took a Democrat and an insurgent Republican with him to break the GOP solid lineup in city council.

Ike To Confer With President Of Guatemala

Ike's Administration In Hospital Suite On Mutual Problems

DENVER (UP) — President Eisenhower confers today on "mutual problems" with President Carlos Castillo Armas of Guatemala in his Fitzsimons Army Hospital suite.

The conference probably will be Mr. Eisenhower's last official function in the hospital room he has occupied since he suffered a heart attack on Sept. 24. The President will fly back to Washington on Friday.

Castillo Armas was scheduled to arrive at Lowry Air Force Base in President Eisenhower's personal plane, the Columbine III, at noon EST. The Guatemalan president will be accorded full military honors at the base, and then will be driven to Fitzsimons to see the convalescing American Chief Executive.

Castillo Armas, the wiry little colonel who led a successful revolt against Guatemala Communist-infiltrated government last year, was accompanied to Denver by his wife, Guatemalan Foreign Minister Domingo Goicolea - Villacorta, and Herbert Hoover Jr., U. S. undersecretary of state.

Hoover will formally introduce the two presidents, who have not met before.

Senora Castillo Armas will not see the President, but will visit instead with Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower while the heads of state confer.

White ouse Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Castillo Armas' visit would not be "purely social." Mr. Eisenhower and the Guatemalan president will discuss "mutual problems," Hagertys aid.

County Teachers Are On Program District Meeting

Eudolph Holycross, Mrs. Louella Hood Are Sponsors

Eudolph Holycross, Jefferson Center, and Mrs. Luella Hood, Larwill, will speak at the eighth annual Future Teachers of America Conference at Manchester College, Thursday. Their topic will be "Improving Our FTA."

Approximately 400 high school students are expected to attend the conference. "Teachers-the Builders of Tomorrow" has been selected as the theme of the meeting.

Miss Taimi Lahti, state FRA coordinator from the Indiana State Teachers Association, will be the guest speaker at the morning session. She will speak using the theme "Opportunities In the Teaching Profession."

All FTA groups from Northern Indiana have been invited.

Attending from Whitley county will be representatives from South Whitley, Jefferson Center and Larwill schools.

South Whitley

Edward Barton, principal, is attending the FTA from South Whitley. There is no organization at the school but the students considering teaching as a career will attend the meeting. They are: seniors, Karen Meadows, Carolyn Beard, Marian Harvey, LuAnn Miller, Delores Coolman, Ted Easterday and Nick Fegler, junior.

Mrs. Oral Meadows will accompany the group.

Jefferson Center

The members of the Albert Loutzenhiser Future Teachers Association, Jefferson Center, will attend the North Manchester meeting. They are Linda Raichart, president; Joretta Frazier, Nancy Hollenbaugh, Marilyn Taylor, Beverly Taylor, Sharon Butcher, Sandra Maley, Marcia Herbst, Don Phillips.

They will be accompanied by the sponsor, Eudolph Holycross and Mrs. Clarence Raichart.

Larwill

High School Observes Back-To-School Night

Parents, teachers and students assembled in the Marshall Memorial Hall for the Back-to-School program for Columbia City Joint high school.

The school choir, directed by Mrs. Munns, sang two numbers, "Halls of Ivy" and "America, Our Heritage." Judy King played the accompaniment.

Gregg Woodham, president of the Senior class, introduced those taking part in the program.

E. E. Glenn, superintendent, welcomed the parents and teachers and used as his theme, "Your Investment in Education." He brought out the point "the world that we are living in is becoming very mechanized and there is a need for our schools to train the students so they will fit into mechanized jobs." He also made the statement that we never know who will make the high marks in life. It may be a boy or girl from our own school.

He told of the young man who was dissatified with his job as just an ordinary member of a police force. He was encouraged to go on and keep his job and now he is head of the Secret Service Department of the United States and his job was to protect the President of the United States on his trip to the Geneva Conference.

Mr. Glenn also quoted the saying of Bruce Barton, "In times like these invest in boys and girls for we know that they will turn out men and women and some of them will probably be great men and women."

Susan and Sharon Nix, accompanied on the piano by Shirley Nix, played three accordion numbers.

A film entitled, "The Sixth Chair," was shown by Mr. Rice. It depicted the importance of having modern school rooms and facilities.

After the program, classes were called to order and the parents went with the students to meet their teachers and learn how the classes are conducted.

Church Rites Held For A. E. Erdmann

Funeral services for August E. Erdmann were held at Trinity Methodist church Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Helen Slagle Aker, church organist, played the musical portion of the service.

Close friends who served as pallbearers were Lawrence Linvill, Norman Martin, Shelley Stemen, Ralph Gates, Ira Webber, and Lee Taylor. The Rev. Verlin Vernon officiated at the church rites and at the committal service in the Greenhill cemetery.

Responsible For Success

The American War Mothers whose publicity book took first place at the State convention held in Indianapolis, place three chairmen of the local group responsible for its success.

They are Mrs. Monna Firestone, Mrs. Elvin Binkley and Mrs. E. O. White. The American War Mothers also wish to acknowledge the fine cooperation of the Columbia City newspapers and especially Miss Gertrude Meredith, society editor, for the good publicity cooperation and friendship always afforded them.

who made a spectacular comeback in Kentucky's Democratic primary scored a decisive victory over Republican Edwin B. Denney for the governorship.

Chandler's election had double significance. It underscored the victory he won for control of the state organization in the primary where he triumphed over the combined opposition of Sens. Alben Barkley, and Earle C. Clements and the present governor, Lawrence Wetherby. It also means that he will control the Kentucky delegation to the Democratic National Convention where, as a conservative Democrat, he is expected to be cool to the candidacy of Adlai E. Stevenson.

Indiana

Democrats captured the mayor's offices of a majority of the state's cities, including 17 of the 20 largest population centers. This was a major upset for the Republicans. The GOP before Tuesday held 70 mayor seats and the Democrats 33. Today the Democrats held at least 68 and the Republicans 26 with returns from the remainder inconclusive. Indianapolis, South Bend and Evansville switched from Republican to Democratic control.

Pennsylvania

Democrat Richardson Dilworth defeated Republican W. Tacher Longstreth, who had the blessing of President Eisenhower, in the race for mayor of Philadelphia, the nation's third largest city. Democratic retention of the Philadelphia City Hall was viewed as a help to Pennsylvania Democratic Gov. George M. Leader and something of a blow to Republican Sen. James H. Duff, who is up for re-election next year.

New Jersey

Despite a determined Democratic bid, Republicans retained control of both houses of the Legislature. Democrats had hoped for an upset here to boost their buildup for 1956 and to increase the state power of Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner.

Connecticut

Democrats scored sweeping victories in all but one of six cities having partisan elections. In the sixth, Bridgeport, veteran Socialist Mayor Jasper Mc Levy won his 12th consecutive term.

New York

Incomplete returns from 51 mayoralty contests in New York indicated Democrats had cut into the usually heavy Republican upstate strongholds. Democrats ended a 12-year GOP reign in Troy and upset the GOP incumbent mayor in Schenectady.

Ohio

In a major vote that involved no political offices, the CIO suffered a smashing defeat in Ohio. It lost in its effort to change the law to permit persons receiving benefits from Guaranteed Annual Wage contracts to also receive state unemployment benefits. The proposal also would have boosted jobless payments from $39 to $59 a week and extended payments from 26 to 39 weeks.

Big Three Demands Conference To Break Off Its Talks On Germany

BULLETIN

GENEVA (UP) — The Big Four foreign ministers agreed today that discussion of European security and German unity is finished at the present conference.

* * * *

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA (UP) — The Western Big Three demanded today that the current Geneva conference break off talks on Germany and declared bluntly that they had lost confidence in the Soviet Union.

U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told Soviet Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov that Russia's refusal to unify Germany has "largely shattered the confidence that was born at the summit conference" last July.

British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan told Molotov flatly that "I do not see how we can usefully consider further discussion" of German unity and European security unless Russia relents.

Both told Molotov that Russia's refusal gravely compromised the rest of the Big Four conference.

Will Jeopardize Peace

Dulles warned that "the Soviet position, if persisted in, will perpetuate the conditions which put in jeopardy the peace of Europe."

While Molotov scribbled notes furiously, Macmillan, Dulles and then French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay lambasted Russia's blunt "no" to German unity.

Dulles asserted grimly that the Soviet refusal broke the agreement of the Geneva summit confrence and is "bound to affect the overall relations of the Soviet Union with other nations, including the United States."

"This speech (of Molotov's Tuesday) strikes a crippling blow at the possibility of developing relations of confidence with the Soviet Union," Dulles charged.

He said the situation "thus dramatized" by the Soviet refusal "cannot be indefinitely perpetuated without grave risk."

"The U.S. government believes that the refusal of the Soviet government even to seriously discuss German unification involved a grave breach of the agreement between the heads of state," Dulles said.

Confidence Is Shattered

"The effect of this is bound to affect the overall relations of the Soviet Union with other nations, including the United States.

"I would be less than frank if I did not say that as far as the United States is concerned what happened here has largely shattered the confidence that was born at the summit conference."

Dulles said there can be "peace and a limited degree of working relations as between nations which have no confidence that agreements between them, even though made at the highest level, will be honored."

Dulles drove home his meaning by recalling that the conference still must consider disarmament and East-West contacts.

"I am bound to say that these discussions will profit us little if we cannot rely on agreements between us," he said.

Molotov's crushing "no" to Ger- of Geneva" with a diplomatic explosion that ended hopes of cold war peace at this Big Four conference and left the West confused and dismayed.

The bitterness was so apparent Tuesday night that Dulles refused to go on with a previously arranged photograph of the Big Four ministers together.

Western diplomats grimly concluded that Molotov flew back from a weekend in Moscow with the latest Kremlin estimate that Russia is negotiating from growing strength which will in time win the struggle for Europe. He belittled Western negotiations "from strength."

Connie Hawn Named To Freshman Committees

Connie Hawn, 409 East Market street, has been named to freshman committees of the student YWCA at Indiana University. They will lead group activities within the residence halls and will become eligible for standing committees of the Y next semester.

A wide variety of programs and activities are carried on on a social, study and civic basis to appeal to all members.

Edison Witmer Receives Citation As PorkProducer

Was Flying The Hump In Indo China While In Army Air Force

From flying-the-hump in Indo-China to producing pork on a Whitley county farm is the experience of Edison Witmer, receiver of the citation, "Neighborhood Pork Producer of the Year, 1955." This distinction was given Witmer by the County Swine Extension Committee when asked to name the outstanding Neighborhood pork producer among eight men, each from a different locality.

Edison is operating 420 acres of Etna township land in partnership with his father, Fletcher. He is a member of the North West Troy-Etna Neighborhood organization. The Witmers aim to keep their swine herd at 40 sows. The use the two litter system. An average of 9 pigs per sow was weaned last spring and 8.7 pigs per sow, this fall. Ninety-seven per cent of the pigs weaned went to market. The shoats averaged 200 lbs. or more at 180 days of age.

Big Enterprise

Hogs are the big livestock enterprise on the Witmer farm. Around 100 acres of corn produced on the place is marketed via the hogs. Edison returned from the army Air Force in 1946 after serving three and a half years as a pilot. His last assignment in the Air Corps was flying the hump over the Himalaya mountains between China and India. He bought a half interest in his father's business when he returned home and started to expand the hog enterprise.

"Corn is our most important crop and we aim to produce lots of it for feeding the hogs," Witmer said. "We grow legumes for hog pasture and to keep up our soil. We have used the Purdue Soil Testing Laboratory to learn the lime and fertilier needs of some of our fields. It pays to test, not guess."

The Witmer herd consists of mixed breeds at the present time. Some bacon-type boars are being used in the hope of getting better meat type hogs. A new farrowing barn was put into service with the coming of the fall pig crop. "We expect the new barn to reduce the chores a lot," explains Witmer.

J. M. Hindbaugh Chosen As Soils, Crops Manager

Outstanding Farmer For 1955 Lives In Jefferson Township

Ten years of approved soils and crop management has increased the productivity of the Merlin Hindbaugh farm in Jefferson township twenty-five per cent, the operator estimates. And this in spite of the fact that larger crop yields have been harvested from the land since the improvement program began. Hindbaugh was named "Outstanding Neighborhood Soils and Crops Manager of 1955" by the County Soils and Crops Extension committee.

Every field was tested at the start of the improvement program by the State Soil Laboratory. Each was limed and fertilized according to the laboratory recommendations. Hay yields jumped from 2 tons per acre to over 4 tons per acre and grass seeding failures become a thing of the past. "Starvation causes more failures of grass seedlings than all other causes combined," Hindbaugh declares. A 200 lb. application of ordinary fertilizer on small grains to grass under

Council Selects J. P. Studebaker Dairyman For '55

Studebaker Farm In Richland Township

Twelve thousand one hundred and twenty pounds of milk was the average production per cow the the 1954 year, made by the J. Paul Studebaker herd of Hostein cattle. Sixteen of his cows completed yearly records. The county Dairy Council named Studebaker the out standing Neighborhood Dairyman of 1955. Each of the eight organized neighborhoods suggested one of their dairymen for consideration by the Council. The Studebaker farm is located 3½ miles South of Larwill in Richland township. There are 249 acres in the operation.

Production records have been kept the past two years on every cow in the herd through the services of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association supervised by Roger Schuman. The butter fat average the past fiscal year was 442 pounds. Any cow that does not produce 9000 lbs. of milk and a good calf each year under normal conditions, is culled and sent to market. There is no money in low producing dairy cows, Studebaker has learned from his production

Neighborhood Development Program Aims For Sound Farming, Sound Family Living

The Neighborhood Development program in Whitley County was conceived and adopted by a group of representative farm and city leaders in May, 1954. It's objective is to develop sound farming and sound farm family living by means of neighborhood effort. Self help is the best help, the leaders pointed out. The activity is under the general supervision of the County Agricultural Extension Committee of which Guy Gross is now chairman. Promotion of the development is in charge of County Agent, B. V. Widney. Eight neighborhood organizations are now active.

The Service Clubs of the county, five at the time, pledged their cooperation and assistance in the new project. It was proposed that they have a joint-dinner at which one of the active neighborhoods would be recognized for the progress made. The recognition dinner Wednesday night was the fullfullment of the pledge.

Finance

The Neighborhood Foundation was organized to finance the venture. Members of the Foundation agreed to invest as much as $100.00 per year for three years provided it was needed to carry out the promotional plans. Citation plaques for worthy achievement, cash awards and publicity material have been made available by the Foundation. Edwin Heupel is chairman of this department.

Whitley county is realizing only about 65 per cent of the potential earning capacity of her agricultural resources, the committee back of the neighborhood project have concluded. This conclusion was reached after comparing the agricultural returns of this county with nearby counties and after a study of returns earned by the top-

Mrs. Kenneth Nix Is Outstanding 1955 Homemaker

She Has Many Desirable Attributes

"Outstanding Neighborhood Homemaker of 1955" was the title recently conferred by the Whitley County Home Economics Council upon Mrs. Kenneth Nix of the Washington Township Never Idle Neighborhood organization. The eight Neighborhood Extension organizations of the county each named one of their good homemakers to be considered by the council in selecting a lady who best demonstrated their idea of an outstanding homemaker. The final choice was determined by a vote of the twelve council members. Opinions differed somewhat but the majority favored Mrs. Nix

The Nix family lives in the vicinity of the Saint Catherine Church, ten miles south of Columbia City. The family is distinguished by two sets of twin girls; Judy and Janet, 12; and Susan and Sharon, 14. Shirley, the fifth and oldest daughter, is a Senior in the Columbia City Joint High School. The girls help their father by driving the tractor and tools to cultivate their 82 acre farm. The father is a long time employe of the International Harvester Company at Fort Wayne.

Willis Miller Chosen As Beef Producer Of 1955

Operates 734-Acre Hill And Bottom Farm

Willis E. Miller, named "Neighborhood Beef Producer of 1955" by the County Beef Cattle Extension Committee, operates a 734 acre hill and bottom farm in Richland township. His cattle feeding experiences covers more than twenty years of time and involves about 200 head of feeders per year. He was one of eight beef producers nominated for the citation by different neighborhood organizations.

"In selecting the "Neighborhood Beed Producer of 1955," we not only considered his years of experience in cattle feeding but also his record in working for the good of the community," explains Dale Reiff, chairman of the County Beef Extension committee. "Miller has served as chairman of the Richland Community Extension program for the past four years. He has been a member of the County Agricultural Council during that time and he has been a director of the County Cattle Feeders Association for three years. This cattleman was active in the development of the 4-H Center and in securing a Soil Conservation District."

Hill Land Has Purpose

"Experience has taught me that there is a lot of hill land in Whitley county, now all but worthless, that can be made to produce beef at a profit," observed Miller when asked how cattle can be used to increase buying power on Whitley county farms. "These hill meadows properly managed will produce as much grass as the level land. I've seen it done right here in this neighborhood. Good hill meadows can be harvested with feeder cattle with very little speculative risk," he declared.

"How can one keep down the speculative risk?" he was asked. "Remember the bigger the feeder's at the start, the bigger the risk," this experienced cattleman pointed out. The safest venture for me has been to buy 350 to 450 lb. calves of good to choice quality and winter them on good silage, hay and some oats. Turn them on grass in May with a light grain feed until August. They should make 100 lbs. of gain with less grain than their average body weight so don't over do the grain."

Sort Out Tail-Enders

"Some tail-enders will show-up. Sort them out, give them a quick warm-up and let them go in September. The choice may be held and full fed for as many as 120 days if the market can use that kind. Now, I have not always followed this program. There have been times when I wished that I had."

"What is the best way to buy feeders," Miller was asked. "That is a matter of opinion, of course, he cautiously replied. I've had the

Gerald Wolfe Is Dismissed From St. Joseph Hospital

Gerald Wolfe of 2012½ Clinton street, Fort Wayne, injured at the home of his father, Herbert Wolfe in this city, was dismissed from St. Joseph hospital Tuesday evening.

He is now at his home in Fort Wayne. Mr. Wolfe had been a hospital patient since Octover 24, when he was injured while making repairs on his father's car. He was working beneath the car when the jacked-up car rolled and pinned him underneath. His hip was dislocated. He will be on crutches for a number of weeks.

Walter Mowrey Is Outstanding 1955 Poultryman

Flock Consists Of 1,000 Laying Hens

"The poultry enterprise has the quickest turn-over of any department on the farm," Walter Mowrey, Outstanding Neighborhood Poultryman of 1955, recently pointed out." You feed a hen today, get an egg tomorrow and a pay check at the end of the week. No other livestock beats that." Mowrey was named "Poultryman of the Year" by the County Poultry Extension Committee which considered seven neighborhood organization flock owners for the title. His flock consists of a thousand laying hens.

Poultry production is big business in Whitley county. Poultry ranks second intotal annual income produced by agricultural pursuits, the records show. Whitley county has larger flocks and sells more eggs on a graded market than any other county in the area excepting Kosciusko. The buying power of Whitley county farms can be increased a million dollars by keeping larger flocks, authorities state. Greater volume lowers production costs, the more successful flock owners have found.

Daily Production

The daily egg production on the Mowrey farm is running 80 per cent and over at present. "We aim to keep it above 60 per cent at all times by close culling and with good care and keep," explains Mowrey. "We get our chicks in January so that a third of our total eggs can be marketed during the high price months of August, September and later. The eggs are sold on grade through the Napoleon Egg Auction."

The laying hens are kept on 3 floors in a converted barn loft - about 300 to a floor. When it was decided to enlarge the flock, Mowrey was confronted with the proposition of building a new laying house at a cost of $2,000 or $3,000.

Never Idle Neighborhood Chosen As Outstanding One Of The Year

"The Neighborhood of the Year," named by the Whitley County Service Clubs joint committee, is located in the Southeast quarter of Washington township near Laud. The group calls themselves the "Never Idle Neighborhood," Donald Mullett is their chairman and Mrs. Ivin Baugh, their secretary. The organization is one of three that received an "A" rating this year for activity and progress in neighborhood development.

Symbolic Group

The ten families of the neighborhood were honor guests at the Service Clubs Recognition Dinner Wednesday night. We consider this group symbolic of all the progressive neighborhoods in the county which we would like to entertain had we the facilities to do so," explains Max Holloway, chairman of the Service Club Committee. "So far as we know, there is no superior neighborhood. But we are the good ones."

Factors influencing the selection of the Never Idle Neighborhood for sound farming practices, their general program of sound farm family living, leadership in the community, the dispatch with which they performed their organization duties, their general interest and attitude. Other groups receiving "A" ratings were the Seeks Village Neighborhood and the Southwest Cleveland Neighborhood.

Keeps Farm Accounts

The group honored by the Service Clubs, all, use the latest approved varieties of crops thereby benefiting by the research work of the experiment stations. All have used or are in the process of using the State Soil Laboratory to guide them in the purchase and application of commercial fertilizers. They are using grass waterways to prevent formation of gulleys. They have a good representation in the Better Farming Better Living farm management classes. All keep farm accounts. They ranked high in home improvements and home management. Their leadership and community activity record was above average. Mail boxes were put in good repair and names displayed thereon. The highway from Columbia City to Huntington, on which this neighborhood is located, is said to surpass any in the state for the neat farmsteads along its route.

Members of the Neighborhood of the Year, in addition to the families of the officers previously named, are the families of Harold Mullett, Lester Robbins, Herbert Heine, Kenneth Nix, Ralph Heine, James Baker, Lawrence Hesting and Sylvester Nix.

Congratulations

Every organization, as does every individual, needs a guide and a goal.

The Neighborhood Extension Organization has for its insignia the letters NEO, three stars and heads of grain within a circle.

The letters stand for Neighborhood Extension Organization.

The three stars represent the three general objectivs: to conserve the natural resources of our county — land and people; to increase the purchasing power on Whitley county farms; to promote the dignity and contentment of rural living.

The heads of grain are emblematic of the mental and physical nourishment resulting from organization effort.

Eight neighborhood organizations, including nearly 100 families, are completing the first year's trial run.

Congratulations to them and best wishes for their continued success.

Two Suits Filed In Circuit Court

An affidavit was filed in the circuit court against Royal Wayne Hartman. The affidavit charged Hartman, while driving on old 30, with failure to yield the right-of-way to another vehicle traveling on highway 5 as he approached the intersection of old 30.

A suit was also filed in the circuit court by Whitley County Motor Sales against Owen and Ruby Timmons for an account in the sum of $93.99. The account was for services rendered the defendants by the plaintiff.

Saturday is National 4-H Achievement Day.

H. B. Taylor, state 4-H club leader at Purdue University, says that Indiana's 80,000 4-H members will be among the 2,100,000 boys and girls honored for a job well done. Thousands of local leaders, parents, and others who have contributed to the support of club work will share the recognition.

In the past year 4-H members in the United States have completed nearly 3,470,000 individual projects which include: producing and conserving food, feed, and fiber; sewing and cooking; improving and beautifying their homes; making their farms more efficient; stressing personal health and safety; protecting our natural resources and wildlife; conserving the soil; and cooperating in a wide variety of commuity services.

Although 4-H clubwork is national in scope and worldwide in influence, the center of interest will be the local community, town, and country where the home folks see for themselves what their boys and girls are accomplishing and highlighting the year's efforts toward "Improving Family and Community Living," the theme for 1955.

WCTU To Buy Records For Hospital; Convention Report

The Women's Christian Temperance Union has decided to hold a 10-cent gift exchange at its December meeting and each member is to bring 25 cents which will be used to buy records for one of the state veterans' hospitals, at Christmas time.

The meeting held at the home of Mrs. L. F. Johnston, North Main street, Wednesday afternoon, opened by Mrs. Harley Baker the president, reading and commenting on the 62nd Psalm. Mrs. S. K. Dustin read the Thanksgiving Proclamation by President Eisenhower.

Mrs. Baker narrated "Modern Parables." She was assisted in the narration by members of the Union. An interesting report on the State convention was given by Mrs. Ralph Helfrich, a delegate to the convention held at Peru last week.

Mrs. Helfrich reported that the local union had merited three awards as follows - for a "Hold Fast Union," for dues promptly paid and for a "Light Line Union." Mrs. Helfrich read and stressed the standards of excellency, and reported 11,286 WCTU members in Indiana with a net gain in all counties.

Mrs. Helfrich reported that 245 women have completed the reading course. Mrs. Biddle, national vice-president, appeared two different times on the program with interesting talks and she gave one devotion. In one of her talks, she had for her subject "Unmasking the Master" in which Mrs. Biddle said "The Spiritual Life Is More to a Nation Than Mortar to a Building."

Mrs. Helfrich also reported that three schools are stressing classes on narcotics, and credits are being given in schools at Peru, Marion and Anderson. She also stated that every courtesey had been extended by the city officials of Peru, and the schools and the churches of that city.

Miss Chloe Mowrey, who was in charge of devotions read from Matthew 25:31-40 verses, stressing the fact that we must not cease to grow and must be about our Father's business. She closed with the poem "Little Things That Count."

Story Of Jenny Lind, Swedish Singer, Forms Sigma Eta Program

The country home of Mrs. Elmer Hendrickson of Thorncreek township, was the scene Tuesday evening of the November meeting of Sigma Eta Sorority. The Hendrickson home was most attractive with its decorations in a Thanksgiving theme.

The lesson of the evening, presented by Mrs. Paul Zumbrun of the Life of Jenny Lind, Swedish Nightingale, was most interesting. The Christmas party of the sorority was announced for December 13, for which Mrs. Paul Grisier, social chairman, will be hostess.

Mrs. Earl Hoover was associated with Mrs. Hendrickson as hostess for the meeting.

An arrangement of colorful gourds, Indian corn, bittersweet and Autumn leaves, all gathered on the Hendrickson farm, centered the dining table prettily decorated with leaves painted by Mrs. Hendrickson, and turkeys and Purtian figures. A Thanksgiving theme marked the dessert course.

There are 22,000,000 milk cows in the United States according to the Agriculture Department.

West Braces For Red Filibuster On Disarmament

Agrees To Send Whole Issue Back To U. N.

BULLETIN

GENEVA (UP) — Russia called today for reduction of armed forces and a ban on nuclear weapons, and agreed to consider President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan for aerial inspection and exchange of military blueprints.

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA (UP) — The West braced itself for a new Soviet filibuster on disarmament today and agreed to send the whole issue back to the United Nations at the earliest opportunity.

The foreign ministers conference, bogged down and deadlocked on the linked issues of German unity and European security, plunged without hope into debate on disarmament at the 10th plenary session. It was a question on which East and West have failed for 10 years to agree.

The three Western foreign ministers and their top aides met before-hand in a last-minut effort to patch together something like a united front on disarmament — a question on which they themselves never have attained unity.

The Western Agrement

Informed Western officials said they agreed to:

1. Press the Soviets for a reply to existing Western disarmament plans.
2. Put forward no new Western proposals at the present conference.
3. Urge that the whole disarmament issue be turned back to the U.N. subcommittee which has been working on it for months.

Hopes for any major agreement at all at this Big Four foreign ministers conference, plummeted to zero. And in the background was Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' acid question: "I wonder whether agrements with the Soviet Union are worth much?"

The deadlocked conference abandoned in despair Wednesday its efforts to agree on a security pact and German unity and turned to the equally deadlocked question of disarmament. There were angry Western charges that Russia had broken the agreements of the Geneva "summit" leaders.

Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay called in Harold Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament expert, for today's session (10 a.m. EST) with the Soviet's Vyacheslav M. Molotov.

Plan Not Ready

The Big Thrre went into the disarmament talks without a common front, largely because American disarmament policy is under intensive review and the new plan will not be ready until later this month or next.

Dulles planned to push President Eisenhower's "free sky" inspection proposal to Russia as a beginning. It would give both countries the right to carry out aerial inspection of the other and would provide an exchange of military base blueprints.

records.

Thirty head are milked twice daily now in a modern labor saving milking parlor. Fifty head will be milked on this farm as soon as the facilities can be delvoped to take care of that number. A dairy man has to have volumne in this day to make the best use of labor and to get low cost production, his experience has shown. The milk is marketed under Grade A specifications by the Fort Wayne Co-operative Producers. The breeding service of the Whitley County Artificial Breeders Association has been used for the past 8 years. "This service has got us good cows with lots of size," Studebaker stated.

Three years of experience with a trench silo have been very satisfactory for this dairyman. He plans to cement the floor of it and self feed both silage and hay next year. "One secret to good grass silage is the packing. We packed ours with a tractor as we unloaded it. You can't over-pack it," he advised. Stack silage has also been used on this farm with fair results. Grass silage has a less offensive odor when cut more mature, according to this dairyman.

"Fall freshening is by far the best and that is our aim," says Studebaker. "The nearer the calves are of an age, the better. Good pasture mixtures of alfalfa-timothy, ladino and brome are very important fo profit in dairying .Heavy fertilization and rotation grazing will get the most out of the grass. Heavy grain feeding is costly, according to his DHIA records. He never feeds more than 8 lbs. of grain to any one cow in a day.

Bulk milk storage on the farm has not been accepted as yet by this producer. The milk goes to market in cans. "There is always going to be a demand for milk and I think I can produce it at as low a cost as the next fellow," Studebaker replied when asked about the dairy outlook. "The more who quit dairying, the better it is for the rest of us."

The earnings not realized result from farm operators being slow in profiting from the benefits of research of public and private institutions, state the committeemen. The Extension Service is the logical agency to bring improved methods to the attention of farm operators. The Neighborhood project is expected to stimulate and encourage farm producers to get done more of the things they know they ought to do. Neighbors working together can be very effective in establishing new and better practices in homes as well as on lands.

The Neighborhood idea is a grass roots idea originating right here in Whitley county. It is not to be confused with the Better Farming and Better Living project which was conceived in Washington, D.C. Whitley County leaders were exploring ways to improve farm management when the Washington program came along. They decided to take advantage of it in addition to and apart from the Neighborhood promotion. These same leaders of farm and city encouraged the formation of the Soil Conservation District now established.

"There exists in every neighborhood a force that can be used to make just the kind of a neighborhood that the people in it want," declares County Agent Widney. "That force can be put to work through organization. The first step is to examine what you have and where you stand. Next, agree on what you should have. Then, work together to get it."

The Whitley county plan provides that any ten or more families living in a given designated neighborhood area (quarter township) may apply for recognition as a regulary organized neighborhood. Groups already organized are located in Northwest Columbia, Southwest Cleveland, Northwest Etna-Troy, Northwest Jefferson, Southeast Richland, Northwest Smith, Northwest Union and Southeast Washington Townships. Only one organized group can be recognized in any one area at this time.

Hindbaugh

average conditions is scarcely half enough to insure the success of the clover and alfalfa seeding, his experience has shown.

Soil Improved

"My meadows frequently produce more hay and pasture than I can use," Hindbaugh states. "The surplus grass is allowed to remain on the ground and be plowed under for corn. The tilth of the soil has greatly improved as a result ot the practices." Forty-one acres of corn this year averaged 92 bushels per acre. Last year's average was slightly over 100 bushels per acre. The corn was fertilized with 5-20-20 in the row. Anhydrous ammonia was applied on the ground which produced corn for the second year. Nitrogen used where it belongs is a good investment according to this grower.

It takes about 800 lbs. per acre, or more, of standard commercial fertilizer per 4 year rotation to keep the soil on this farm highly productive, Hindbaugh has found after ten years of experience. At first a thousand pounds was required. At least half of the total amount is applied on the small grain in the rotation. Meadows are sometimes top dressed and the remainder is put on the corn. A high population of corn plants with vigorous root systems builds organic matter in the soil, results have proven.

Rotates Crops

The rotation used in small grain, one and two years of grass depending on the field and one or two years of corn. Oats on this farm averaged 75 bushels per acre last harvest. Alfalfa-brome or timothy mixtures are shown in the meadows. The newer improved crop varieties make the best use of high fertility levels according to Hindbaugh. Knox wheat, Clintland oats and Pettigrew's hybrid seed corn are the sorts which he finds best adapted to his land.

All fields can be covered with modern machinery without inconvenience. Grass waterways now replace machine racked gutters. Deep gutters washed in the field waste soil, take time, and damage machinery. They are easily controlled with properly designed sod waterways. The Hindbaugh operation at the present time includes about 200 acres of land.

The eight men whose names were submitted by neighborhoods for the crops citation were all doing a top job, reports George Kneller, chairman, of the Soils and Crops committee. Other members of the committee were Hobart Sponhauer, Gale Harris, Phillip Gebert, Ralph Johnson, Robert Johnson, Don Gerdes, Earl Pettigrew and Donald Mullet.

Sows Get Attention

"How do you keep the average number of pigs weaned at 8 and better?" the producer was asked. "Just luck, I guess," he replied. "We aim to have our pigs come together at the same time. The sows get very careful attention during farrowing season. Nothing is taken for granted. We hand feed the sows heavily at breeding time so they are thrifty and vigorous. By hand feeding one knows what is going on in the herd. We use 2 boars, alternating them every 12 hours. The sows have access to good alfalfa hay in racks at all times. They get lots of oats, too. Our gilts are selected from the larger and better-doing litters."

The fattening shoats have access to all the ear corn they will eat and to self-feeders containing 40 per cent commercial supplement. Getting the most out of a herd of fattening hogs requires constant attention and study whether the market is good or bad, Witmer has found.

The County Swine Extension committee selecting Witmer for the pork producer citation consisted of Byron Miller, chairman, Max Wright, Wilson Frank, Russell Taylor, Chester Wiley, Norman Egolf, Dee Cormany, Maurice Rouch and Andrew Brookover.

Mowrey

At the same time he had more barn room than he needed to store baled hay and straw. With a cash outlay of $417.00 the hay loft was converted into a thousand hen laying house which works very satisfactorily.

White egg hybrids are being used in the flock this year. Part are DeKalb 101 and part Farm Bureau L-400. The birds are kept as long as they produce which calls for the brooding of 600 chicks each year to maintain the flock at full capacity. Eggs are collected three times a day and stored in an insulated egg room wher ethe humidity and temperature is controlled. The hens every week make a substantial contribution to the total farm income.

Farms 290 Acres

In addition to the poultry flock, Mowrey farms 290 acres of land and feeds out 40 head of steers a year. His family consists of two daughters and a son, with his wife, Maxine. Sharon, the older daughter is a sophomore in Indiana University and Marilynn, the younger, is in the 4th grade at Jefferson Center School. David is in the 8th grade and takes care of the poultry along with his mother. No outside help is employed on the Mowrey farm. Much work is exchanged with neighbors.

Walter is president of his township Farm Bureau. For three years he was a director of the Napoleon Egg Marketing association. The County Poultry Extension committee giving him the year's citation on his poultry enterprise consisted of Harold McCoy, chairman, June Mishler, Walter Keiser, Roland Burns, Harold Ruckman, Tom Cornelius, James Johnson and Ivin Blaugh.

Members of the Honor Neighborhood, guests of the evening, were introduced by Max Holloway, chairman of the Arrangements Committee. This committee selected the group to be recognized. Families involved are given in the "Neighborhood of Year" story also appearing in this issue.

Edwin Heupel, president of the Neighborhood Foundation, presented recognition checks, ranging from $50.00 to $15.00, to the chairmen of the eight organized neighborhoods. The amount varied according to the rating earned by the neighborhood.

Recognition plaques, also provided by the Neighborhood Foundation, were presented to individuals receiving citations for achievement in farm and home enterprises. The recipients were selected from Neighborhood groups by the County Extension Committees in charge of the respective projects.

Mrs. Kenneth Nix received the outstanding Homemaker trophy from Mrs. Roy Metzger, president of the Whitley County Home Economics Association. The Soils and Crops trophy was presented to Merlin Hindbaugh by Harold Murphy, Columbia City Kiwanis Club. John Reiff, South Whitley Lions Club, gave the Dairy award to J. Paul Studebaker. The Beef Producer award was given Willis E. Miller by Paul Morsches, president of Columbia City Rotary.

"Salutes" to the Honor Neighborhood were made by Woodfin Jones, executive secretary of the Columbia City Chamber of Commerce. The salutes consisted of a "sampler" of products manufactured by the Oriental Show U Company, articles manufactured by the Blue Bell Corporation, corsages for the ladies from Franks Green House and a 6 weeks subscription to the Post and Mail. Every family in the honor group received each of the salute items.

Favors in the form of gold "mums" were made available,by Franks, for all the ladies from town and farm. Green and gold are the neighborhood colors. And an attractive bouquet was given by them to Mrs. Nix, the "Outstanding Neighborhood Homemaker of 1955." The 4-H Center was decorated with the banners of the Host Clubs, the American Flag and the emblem of the Neighborhood Extension Organizations - the NEO as it is beginning to be called. Attractive brochures were distributed to everyone present.

Foundation members financing the neighborhood promotional program consisted of the Columbia City Chamber of Commerce, Whitley County Farm Bureau, Churubusco State Bank, Citizens State Bank, Farmers Loan and Trust Co., Mayer State Bank, Albion Production Credit Association, 4-H Clubs, Incorporated, Whitley County Home Demonstration Association, Farm Bureau Co-operative Association, Raber Co-operative Co., South Whitley Farmers Elevator, Whitley County REMC, Napoleon Egg Auction and the Columbia City newspapers.

The evening was one of the nicest things that has happened in our county, it was generally agreed.

The committee in charge of arrangements was Max Holloway, Robert Thomas, Frank Flowers, Roger Stangland, Victor Phend, Eugene More, Walter Penrod and Lloyd Long.

Neighbors Pick Corn For Mrs. Nichols

A group of friends and neighbors of Mrs. Charles Nichols gathered at her farm home, located three miles north of Columbia City on state road 9, in Thorncreek township, Tuesday morning. Bringing along their corn-picking equipment they picked and put in the crib over 500 bushels of corn for Mrs. Nichols. Another 9 acres of corn that the group had planned to pick and haul to town, cound not be picked because the field was too soft. However the group assured Mrs. Nichols that they would be back to pick the remainder of the corn as soon as the condition of the field would permit.

Pickers, wagons and trucks were furnished by: Joshua Nierman, Bert Ambrose, Harrold Schmitt, Jesse Braddock, Ernest Brittian, Bill Barney and Lawrence Giessler, Preston Chapman, Frank Overhosler, Harrold Stanley and Kenneth Nichols.

Those who helped besides the ones mentioned above were: C. L. Waugh, George Leffel, John Jagger, Void Humbarger, Lester Barney, Clyde Anderson, Alton Dailey, Leo Boggs, Arthur Boggs, Henry Schmitt, Dale Nierman, Everett Anderson and Rev. R. A. Wood. Kenneth Nichols, the son of Mrs. Charles Nichols could not be there because of his duties as clerk, in connection with the city election.

Dinner was furnished for the group by the ladies of the Thorncreek Bethel Church of God, and served by the Mesdames Archie Coverstone, Clara Sharp, Jesse Braddock, Everett Anderson and Charles Nichols.

Johnny Saxton Puts On Masterful Display Of Punching, Aggressiveness To Beat Jones

By SCOTT BAILLIE
United Press Sports Writer

OAKLAND, Calif. (UP) — Are the wraps off Johnny Saxton at last or does the former world welterweight champion fight better when outweighed by 10 pounds?

Sharp - eyed Johnny, who has drawn many a Bronx cheer in previous ring efforts, put on a masterful display of combination Wednesday night here while unanimously outpointing favored Ralph (Tiger) Jones in a nationally televised 10-round bout at the Oakland Auditorium.

Everything seemed stacked against Saxton at fight time. He not only was outweighed 158½ to 148½ but was a 7-5 underdog to Jones, who nearly wrecked Ray Robinson's comeback. The word also was out that Saxton might not get another crack at the 147-pound crown if he lost, although he was in line to meet the winner of next month's Tony Demarco - Carmen Basilio title bout.

But the odds crumbled along with Jones' defenses after round one started as Saxton scored almost at will with one-twos to the face mixed up with eye-catching "right-left-rights" to the same place.

Jones' best round was the eighth when he tore into Saxton after taking a solid right uppercut to the jaw and smashed over a hard right to the same place followed by a left.

Referee Fred Apostoli voted the fight to Saxton 56½ to 53½, Judge Jack Downey 57-53, Judge Eddie James 56-54 and the United Press 58-52.

"Meet the new Saxton," Manager Frank (Blinky) Palermo rasped afterward in the dressing room. "He told me before the bout that he's going to be a real fighter from now on. Okay, see? Is he a fighter now?"

Saxton said that he changed his attitude after Gene Burton, a former welterweight himself, took over as trainer.

"Gene stays right in with me now when we spar and won't let me get out of the ring until I've corrected mistakes," fast-talking Saxtonsaid. "And I don't care whether I fight Demarco again or get Basilio. Everything is looking up now."

Demarco ended Saxton's brief reign as welterweight king last April by knocking him out in the 14th round.

Arrested On Charge Of Public Intoxication

An affidavit was filed in the circuit court charging William J. Stephenson of public intoxication and driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor on November 4.

The affidavit filed against Stephenson states that he was found driving an auto, while intoxicated, on West Van Buren street. He has been released on bond.

Ford won two other tournaments during the year, the All American and the Carling's-Sponsors classic. He played 121 competitive rounds during the year, more than any other player in history.

He will receive the award at the annual convention next month in Atlantic City. Earlier winners of the trophy were Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, Boros and Ed Furgol.

New York Rangers Tie Canadiens 1-1

By UNITED PRESS

Rookie Jean Guy Gendron, a Canadian from Montreal who escaped the clutches of the Montreal Canadiens, came back to haunt his one-time heroes Wednesday night in the only National Hockey League action.

The 21-year-old spare forward for the New York Rangers rapped in his first NHL goal with only four minutes remaining to give the fired-up Blues a 1-1 standoff with the Canadiens before 15,509 fans — the largest turnout for a New York weekday home game in seven years.

Bert Olmstead had put Montreal ahead with a sizzling, 25-foot goal at 13:46 of the second period and goalie Jacques Plante appeared headed towards his fourth shutout of the campaign. But at 16:00 of the final session, Gendron pounced on a rebound by Ron Murphy and hammered home the equalizer.

Gendron came to the Rangers this season from Providence in the American League. The Canadiens had shown interest in him last season but cancelled a deal with Providence when the Montreal youth suffered a broken wrist.

The second - place Rangers, still three points back of Montreal, can pick up ground on the idle Canadiens tonight when they meet the Bruins at Boston. Chicago is at Detroit in another game.

Divorces Granted In Circuit Court

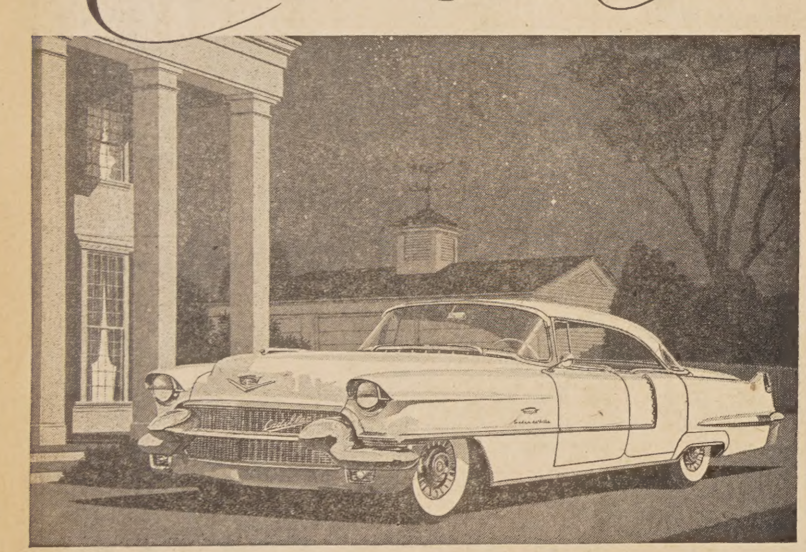
A divorce was granted to Lenna Collins from Keith Collins by the circuit court. The court ordered the defendant to pay the costs of the court and also $75.00 a week for the support of the parties children.

The defendant also has the right to visit the children at the plaintiff's home.

The circuit court granted a divorce to Sandra Lee Helgesen from Arthur G. Helgesen. The custody of their child was given to the grandfather, John Emler, with the privilege of the father and mother to visit the child.

The court ordered the defendant to pay the costs of the court and attorney fees of the plaintiff and also pay the grandfather for the care of the child.

Cadillac



Beyond the Realm of Argument!

This is the season when conversations turn easily and often to motor cars.

And, in almost any gathering, you're likely to find a wide difference of opinion about the relative merits of the year's automotive offerings.

Until the talk turns to Cadillac!

Here is one car concerning which most motorists have a meeting of minds. And never before has Cadillac left so little room for argument as in 1956!

Certainly no one could behold the new Cadillac without recognizing it as the "car of cars". Its beautiful, graceful, flowing lines . . . its regal bearing on the highway . . . and its long, low silhouette are simply too significant to misunderstand.

Surely no one could ride in a new Cadillac and not agree that it is the Standard of the World. Its new fabrics and leathers are rich and luxurious almost beyond belief . . . and its interior appointments have been crafted with a jeweler's skill.

And we doubt if anyone could drive a new Cadillac and not understand that it is the finest-performing motor car of all time. Its great new engine is a revelation in power and performance . . . and its new Hydra-Matic Drive is incredibly smooth and responsive.

Truly, the evidence on the side of Cadillac has never been more apparent than it is today.

Why not come in soon—and see for yourself?

We'll be delighted to introduce you to Cadillac's great new styling . . . and to arrange a demonstration at the wheel . . . and to acquaint you with the new Sedan de Ville and Eldorado Seville.

You'll agree, we're certain, that Cadillac for 1956 is beyond the realm of argument!

has attitudes of appreciation, understanding, flexibility and cheerfulness. The Neighborhood Home Maker of 1955 scores high in these attributes, Council members agreed. A good homemaker seeks to gain knowledge that will improve her home and family living. Mrs. Nix has been active in the Home Economics work of her locality, serving for 3 years as an active 4-H club sponsor. A good homemaker develops skills that will make an interesting and more pleasant home, according to the Council's definition.

The Nix family was among the highest scoring neighbors in the Sound Farm Family Living Rating, made by a local committee. Out of 300 potential points, they earned 285. Keeping the family healthy is stressed in neighborhood work. First, is to serve some food from each group of the basic seven every day, and to plan meals ahead to keep the family healthy. Second, is to have periodic health and dental examinations for all the family. The Homemaker is largely responsible for getting these things done on the Nix farm.

Pleasant Surroundings

The home surroundings at the Nix place rated well. The yards are landscaped, buildings painted and machinery stored neatly and out of sight. The family is active in the nearby church. The three older girls won the Farm Bureau talent contest this year with an accordion and piano presentation. All of which points to sound farm family living in which the homemaker has played a prominent part. Kenneth Nix, the husband, is president of the local Parent Teachers Association. Mrs. Nix is PTA Historian. She is secretary of the County 4-H council.

Other factors considered in naming the year's homemaker were her reputation as a good cook, her well groomed family, fully equipped home, and her work with the garden and the flock of laying hens —duties familiar to farm homemakers. Her interest in community affairs and willingness to work with others were attributes considered in making the decision.

Members of the Home Economics Council which named Mrs. Nix the "Homemaker of the Year" were Mrs. Roy Metzger, chairman; Mrs. Joe Wilkinson, Mrs. Wm. Snodgrass, Mrs. Harry Jagger, Mrs. Allen Shively, Mrs. Noel Smith, Mrs. Clarence Keiser, Mrs. Cecil Egolf, Mrs. Wm. Ginn, Mrs. Herbert Miller, Mrs. Charles Zumbrun and Mrs. Harold Myers.

Warriors Defeat Minneapolis Lakers

By UNITED PRESS

Lantern - jawed Neil Johnston, the scoring champion of the National Basketball Association for the last three seasons, is on the target again and the Philadelphia Warriors have begun their hopeful quest for a title.

Johnston, six-foot, eight-inch former baseball pitcher, notched only 13 points in the Warriors' opening game loss, but Wednesday night he found the range for 29 points and that helped Philadelphia to a 117-106 triumph over the Minneapolis Lakers.

Paul Arizin, a former scoring champion, added 21 points to boost the Warrior attack while Clyde Lovellette led the Lakers with 21. The Warriors led by only 57-55 at halftime but built the margin to 88-82 at the start of the fourth period and Minneapolis never drew close again. Actually the Lakers had one more basket, but Philadelphia collected 41 free throws to only 28 for the Lakers.

That was the only league action Wednesday night. Tonight, in a double-header at New York's Madison Square Garden, Rochester plays Philadelphia and Minneapolis meets New York.

Sharett Arrives In New York Today

NEW YORK (UP)—Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett arrives in New York today on his way to Washington where it was believed he would ask for American arms to maintain the shaky balance of power in the Middle East.

Sharett departed from Rome Wednesday, refusing to answer any questions regarding the Israeli-Egyptian clash during his brief stopover.

Israeli Minister to Italy Eliahu Sasson and Bartolomeo Migone, chief of cabinet of the Italian foreign ministry, conferred briefly with him at Rome airport before his departure.

Informed sources believed Sharett would tell the State Department that the balance of power in the Middle East can only be maintained by preventing Soviet arms shipments to Egypt or sending equal quantities to both sides.

best of luck buying on a competive market through a reliable commission firm. The Chicago Producers have supplied my feeders for some years past. I prefer to sell on an established competive market, too. Inexperienced farmers can be badly euchered when dealing with off-the-market buyers and salesman," he warned.

"Feeding cattle is a business that calls for constant sutdy," advises Miller. "Feed lot tours have been a big help to me. There, the farmers tell what they are doing and you know it's the truth. The gross returns from Whitley County's agriculture can be raised considerably by growing more and better pastures to be harvested with well managed beef cattle," concluded Miller.

The cattle men's committee on citation for 1955 consisted of Dale Reiff, Basil Miller, Herbert Gross, Chris Doenges, Albert VanVoorst and Tom Rosentrader.

Faure Gambles Government On Confidence Vote

For Fifth Time In Five Weeks

PARIS (UP)—Premier Edgar Faure today gambled his government on a vote of confidence for the fifth time in five weeks in a bid for national elections next month in a crucial hour of French history.

Faure, weary after hours of wrangling with the balky National Assembly, set a vote on his elections bill for next Saturday (9 a.m. EST).

To get a vote on a new National Assembly next month, Faure gambled on falling from power and plunging the nation into its 21st postwar cabinet crisis, which would leave France with a lame-duck foreign minister at the Geneva conference.

Also jeopardized would be Faure's plan to send Moroccan Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Yousef back to the imperial palace at Rabat to start lining up the stormy protectorate's first representative government.

Nine-Hour Session

Faure wrangled with the National Assembly for nine hours and heard the deputies shout down five separate plans for election reform.

Finally, at 5 a.m., his brow glistening with sweat, the premier lost patience and demanded that the assembly either accept his election plan or vote his government out of office.

A wave of shock sent through the assembly. The deputies had obviously not expected Faure to act decisively to end their bickering for the fifth time in five weeks.

Observers were doubtful of the outcome. But they were mostly agreed that the assembly would be reluctant to topple Faure and take on itself the responsibility for a crisis at this time.

Won Confidence Vote

Faure won a confidence vote on the principle of December national elections, which he said were needed to give France a stable government in a time of stress, last week.

But he ran into new trouble when the Senate tacked on an amendment calling for reform in election procedure.

This sent the bill back to the lower chamber and Wednesday night Faure came up with a plan to conduct elections under the 1951 voting system but without the provision that small parties could combine against the larger ones and swap votes after the balloting is over.

This was a main point of objection among many deputies including former Premier Pierre Mendes - France, a strong opponent of early elections, who called it "unjust and immoral."

Ike Disturbed By Secret Report From Geneva

Peace Program Appears Breaking Under Pressure

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

DENVER (UP)—President Eisenhower was disturbed today by highly-secret reports from Geneva and the Middle East where his program for world peace appeared to be breaking down under Soviet pressure.

The Chief Executive was in close touch with major developments in a suddenly troubled world situation as he prepared to fly back to Washington Friday.

Mr. Eisenhower received a detailed report on the international situation Wednesday from Herbert Hoover, Jr., the acting secretary of state. In addition to Hoover's report there was a steady stream of intelligence reports to Fitzsimons Army Hospital where Mr. Eisenhower has been a coronary thrombosis patient since Sept. 24.

While international developments piled up on the ailing Chief Executive, his staff kept an anxious eye on weather reports which indicated a heavy snow for Friday morning, the scheduled time for the President's departure.

Snow Expected Tonight

Forecasters said it will begin snowing tonight and that by noon Friday, the snow should extend as far east as the Kansas border. There was no indication whether the President's departure will be delayed.

Mr. Eisenhower, appeared more concerned about major developments in the world situation than the prospect of bad weather.

These developments include the blow-up of the Big Four foreign ministers conference at Geneva, where Russia has refused to agree to any plan for re-unifying Germany.

Hoover brought the President first-hand reports on the Big Four conference and upon the crisis between Egypt and the Arab nations.

Afterwards, Hoover read a statement by Mr. Eisenhower appealing to Russia — though Russia was not mentioned by name — not to start a Middle East arms race by selling guns to Egypt.

U. S. Favors Treaty

He pledged this nation's continuing support of means to find peace in the Near East and said the United States still favors a treaty to prevent the boundaries of Egypt or her Arab neighbors from being altered "by force."

Friday, he will put on street clothes for the first time in seven weeks, walk to his car and ride the four miles to Lowry Air Force Base, where he will board his plane, the Columbine, for the trip east.

Before he boards the plane, he will make a brief statement, probably of thanks and goodbye. It will be his first remarks in public since an August 24 speech in Philadelphia.

Col. Thomas Mattingly of Walter Reed Army Hospital and Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston, two of the nation's top heart specialists, will be at the President's side throughout the flight.

Whitley County Girl Scout Association Meets

The Whitley County Girl Scout Association met in the city hall, Tuesday, with 30 members present. The meeting was opened with song, then broke into Brownie and intermediate patrols with Mrs. Allen Rush taking the part of the Brownie leader and Mrs. Ed Meyers, Jr., the intermediate.

During the meeting, service hours were defined, ranks, badges and crafts were studied. The nominating committee presented their recommendations as follows, president, Mrs. Milton Schubert; vice president, Mrs. James Manago; secretary, Mrs. Charles Argerbright and treasurer, Mrs. Walter Eberhard.

The association was informed of a movie session, which is the beginning of training for the senior round-up this summer, to be held at the Legion Hall, November 19, at 2:00 p.m. This meeting will be for all leaders, intermediate and senior scouts and they will have as their guest leaders and scouts from Warsaw and Ligonier. The meeting was closed with daylight taps.

Island Hopping

Island-hopping by plane is as commonplace in Hawaii as bus-riding on the mainland U.S. All five of the Hawaiian resort islands are linked by regularly scheduled flights.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UP)—The Army seized control of Brazil today and acting President Carlos Luz boarded a warship and sailed from Rio de Janeiro.

The first report of military action came when the Copacabana fort at the mouth of Rio's harbor opened fire on the Brazilian cruiser Almirante Barroso and other units of the fleet outside the habor without receiving return fire.

Luz, who took over earlier this week when President Joao Cafe Jr. took a leave of absence following a heart attack, boarded the heavy cruiser Tamandare. The vessel put to sea immediately.

Departure Is Surprise

Luz messages Flores da Cunha, president of the Chamber of Deputies of the Brazilian parliament, that he intended to retain his post as president.

"I communicate to your excellency and the chamber," Luz said in his message to Da Cunha, "that respecting the authority of the position which is invested in me as president of the republic, and, considering the grave happenings of this morning which injure our constitution, I am remaining in exercise of my position aboard a unit of our navy in territorial waters."

The surprise departure of Luz came shortly after the army seized control of the country, and despite a pledge by the air force and navy that the ywould resist efforts to oust him from the presidency.

The crisis in Brazilian affairs has been brewing since last month when Juscelino Kubitschek was elected president and Joao Goulart elected vice president.

Dissident Army Group

Some army elements consider them to be the political heirs of the late President Getulio Vargas, who committed suicide in 1954 after a dispute with the military.

The dissident group of army colonels forced Vargas to dismiss Goulart as labor minister in 1954. This same group had indicated it might move to keep Kubitschek and Goulart from taking office.

Army troops swarmed out of their barracks in a pouring rain at 4 a.m. and took up positions throughout the city, surrounding the Presidential Palace and other government buildings.

Gen. Henrique Texeira Lott, who resigned as army minister in a dispute with Luz Thursday night, announced he had taken control.

But Navy Minister Amorim do Vale issued a statement to Radio Jornal Brazil condemning the Bargaining Agent CIO-UAW Ousted At Three Plants

New Castle Foundry Was Not Involved

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—The CIO United Auto Workers union has been ousted as bargaining agent at three Perfect Circle Corp. plants in Indiana, vote tabulations showed today.

The firm's New Castle foundry, where a demonstration erupted into a shotgun riot Oct. 5, was not involved in Thursday's balloting, since the UAW majority was not contested in that plant.

The vote in the National Labor Relations Board election at Hagerstown was 475-233 in favor of decertifying the UAW. It was 138-96 at the Richmond machining plant. Four additional votes were challenged in each of those plants.

At the Richmond sleeve casting plant, the vote against the union was 45-35, with 13 additional votes challenged by the UAW. None of the challenged votes apparently could alter the outcome.

Negotiations in Chicago on a new contract for the New Castle plant were halted temporarily to await the election results. Both sides had agreed that any settlement would apply to any other plant where the UAW maintained a majority.

President Eisenhower Returns To Capital In Time Of Personal, International Crisis

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower returns to Washington in a time of personal and international crisis. Challenging decisions await him here.

Serious problems at home and dangerous problems abroad piled up on the adminrstration during the 89 days Mr. Eisenhower has been absent from Washington.

The crisis in the President's personel life lies in the question whether to resume an all-out political life or to retire in 1957. Announcement of that decision seems to have been postponed until after Jan. 1. But the nice balancing of duty and choice which must precede it will soon demand Mr. Eisenhower's attention, if it has not already done so.

A national crisis involving the safety and security of the United States and its allies has developed suddenly. It was born in the apparent failure of Mr. Eisenhower's mid - summer foreign policy gamble at the Geneva summit. The Soviet Russian leaders who were so amiable there no longer smile.

Summit Spirit Going

In the whole of Europe and in the Middle East, Soviet Russia now is accused of endangering even the doubtful peace which the post-war world had achieved. The sweet scented atmosphere of the summit conferenc is vanishing.

Urgent questions of foreign policy and defense have been created by the new Kremlin strategy. The West needs to discover how to hold its dominant position among the Middle Eastern Arab states with-

U. S. Now Offers To Negotiate Global Extension

Of Ike's Open Sky Disarmament Plan

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA (UP) — The United States tried to salvage the Big Four conference in its closing days today by dramatically offering to negotiate a global extension of President Eisenhower's "open sky" disarmament plan. One condition was that Russia accept it right now.

In a tense session of the deadlocked foreign ministers conference, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles also offered to accept a limitation on nuclear weapons tests if agreement "can be reached to eliminate atomic bombs under proper inspection."

Dulles broached extension of the Eisenhower plan for aerial inspection and exchange of military blueprints after Soviet Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov rejected the proposal Thursday as not going far enough. He had agreed, however, to "consider" it as part of a Russian plan for immediate troop reductions and a ban on nuclear weapons.

Meeting Ends Wednesday

The ministers decided today to end the bogged-down Geneva conference next Wednesday.

The decision to wind up the 2-week-old parley was reached at a secret session of the ministers.

Shortly after the secret meeting, the foreig nministers entered the 12th plenary session of the formal conference.

Agreement to end the talks three weeks after they started was reached on the initiative of the West, which wanted to avoid an open breach with Russia on the current deadlock over German unification, disarmament and East-West contacts, the three issues the ministers came here to discuss.

Army Says Off Limits Accidents Boost Death Toll

During Preparation Period Of War Games

FORT POLK, La. (UP)—Army officials today blamed an overabundance of non-combat accidents for boosting the death toll to 19 during preliminary maneuvers for "Operation Sagebrush."

More than half the victims died off limits or while on leave, the Army said.

The mock combat phase of the largest peacetime maneuvers since World War II was not slated to begin until next Tuesday. All of the soldiers killed so far have died during the preparation period for the war games.

An Army spokesman said 12 of the soldiers killed died in automobile accidents and seven of these happened among soldiers on leave.

Two men were killed in a helicopter crash, two drowned off limits, one was struck by lightning, one was crushed to death by a fork lift and one died in an automobile accident while traveling to report for duty.

The latest victim was Pfc. Peter F. Magnier, 23, who was killed when a tank rammed into a jeep in which he was riding.

Military officials said the number of private vehicle accidents admittedly was high.

The two drowning victims were members of an engineering unit constructing and repairing bridges. They were drowned when they went swimming in an off limits section on the Red River.

Some 140,000 troops and airmen will participate in the war games when they begin in earnest. The exercise involves the use of the latest atomic and electronic weapons in which "aggressor" forces have invaded and secured a foothold in the U.S. gulf coast area.

The mock combat will take place over more than six million acres of western Louisiana.

Wintry Storm Today Races Up Eastern Coast

Hits New England With Rain And Snow

By UNITED PRESS

A wintry storm raced up the eastern seaboard today and hit New England with lashing rains and four to eight inches of wet snow.

Another icy blast covered Wyoming and much of Colorado with fast-falling snow. Cold wave warnings were posted as far south as New Mexico and as far east as Illinois.

Another threat arose on the Gulf Coast, where the Weather Bureau issued small craft warnings from Brownsville, Tex., to Lake Charles, La.

The weather's double-barreled attack was already blamed for at least 10 deaths, plus snarled traffic and a rash of highway accidents.

Wintry weather of a different kind hit the Great Plains and northern Midwest. The blast of cold Canadian air was already spreading wind-whipped snow over the northern Rockies.

Five inches of new snow were measured in the Montana, Wyoming, and Colorado highlands and temperatures were expected to plunge to zero levels in northern areas within the next 24 hours.

A freak Indian summer heat wave finally ended in California.

The mercury went to 82 in San Francisco Thursday, breaking a record for the fourth straight day, but the Weather Bureau forecast cooler temperatures today. Even better, fresh sea breezes blew away a pall of eye-smarting, evil-smelling smog which had hung over the city.

A film, "Children's Emotions" was shown. Following the program the parents visited the various rooms.

There was no special program at the McLallen school but the parents visited their children's rooms and became acquainted with the teachers. Edward Glenn and Dale Pence were also there to meet the parents. The childrens work was on display.

American Education Week programs were held at the Columbia City Joint high school Tuesday, and at West Ward Monday.

Vincennes Man, Free On Bond, Kills His Wife

Made Attempt On Her Life In August

VINCENNES, Ind. (UP)—A 34-year-old Vincennes man, free on $500 bond for an Aug. 23 attempt on his wife's life, shot and killed her today as she pleaded for her life in a cafe near Vincennes, police said.

Police identified the dead woman as Mrs. Merle Pankake Herth, 48, estranged wife of Harold Eugene Herth.

According to police, Herth went to the cafe where his wife worked early this morning and asked to talk with her.

As the pair talked in the lobby of the cafe, Mrs. Herth suddenly grabbed her husband's arms and screamed "No, no." Witnesses said she then broke loose and started to run, but Herth shot her in the back after she had taken only a few steps.

Another shot missed, and Mrs. Herth collapsed behind the counter of the cafe.

Two Jump Herth

Truck driver Carl James Sartor, Vincennes, made a grab for Herth and knocked the gun from his hand.

The owner of the cafe, Wayne Reel, heard the scream and shots and came to investigate. He spotted Sartor and Herth struggling and joined the fray.

Reel struck Herth in the eye, a blow that later required six stitches, and held him until police arrived.

Coroner Dr. M.L. Curtner said Mrs. Herth died almost instantly from a bullet in the back.

Knox County Sheriff Francis Thomas, Prosecutor Harvey Ramsey and the coroner questioned Herth and said he claimed remembering nothing before the time he was struck by Reel.

Shot In August

Last Aug. 23, Herth shot his wife in the back of the head as she lay sleeping in their home, police said.

He was charged with assault and battery with intent to kill and released on $500 bond. Three doctors examined Herth at that time and testified he was sane.

The couple had been estranged since the first shooting, but were reported headed for a reconciliation.

Police said a charge of first degree murder would be filed against Herth later today.

Rescuers Attempt To Reach Last Of 3 Trapped Men

In Cave-In At Coal Mine In Wyoming

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. (UP) — Rescuers dug frantically today in their attempt to reach the last of three men trapped by a cave-in at a Union Pacific coal mine near Rock Springs Thursday.

One of the other two miners, Louis Julius, 38, a loading machine operator, was rescued "apparently in good shape," but his companion, John Nesoit, 43, a mine foreman, was crushed to death a few yards away.

The object of the continuing search was George Chenchar, 54, Julius' helper on the coal loader. Hope was waning that Chenchar would be found alive as the rescuers continued digging into the 15 to 20 foot thick wall of dirt and coal that caved in on the men. Chenchar was believed to be near Nesbit.

Julius owed his escape to his machine, under which the rescuers found him huddled after seven hours of frantic digging. Mine officials said there was a good supply of air in the loading area around the machine when the cave-in occurred at 3 p.m. EST Thursday.

At a Rock Springs hospital, where he was reported in good condition, Julius said Nesbit was running right behind him as the roof caved in with "no warning at all."

Julius said he squirmed under the loading boom of his "joy loader" and "could hear the men talking" as they dug toward him. His first words when they reached him were:

"Thanks a lot, fellows."

Miners Gustavos Lopez and Claude Nichols narrowly escaped being trapped in the cave-in.

Nichols agreed with Julius that the cave-in occurred without warning.

"There was no noise and nothing going on," he said. "Just then — just like a cyclone — rocks started to fall. I was covered to the waist."

There were about 200 miners in the various tunnels when the cave-in happened.

The mine, Union Pacific's Stansbury No. 7, has won a number of safety citations. The reasons for the cave-in were not immediately determined.

Ike Is Grateful For Messages, People's Prayers

During 48-Day Stay In Hospital

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

DENVER (UP)—President Eisenhower left Denver today "eternally grateful" for the message and prayers of people all over the world during his 48-day bout in the hospital here with a heart attack.

Mr. Eisenhower, standing on a cold, wind-swept airstrip at Lowry Air Force Base just before his plane took off for Washington, said he departed with "a full heart" of gratitude for the good wishes and prayers during his illness.

The president's plane took off at 10.02 a.m. CST.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower were scheduled to reach Washington shortly after 3 p.m. CST, spend the weekend at the White House and then go to their farm at Gettysburg, Pa., for an extended period of convalescence.

Expresses His Gratitude

As the President left his limousine to walk to the plane, he ducked back inside the car to kiss his mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud, goodby.

Mr. Eisenhower looked fit, his voice was firm, but he quite obviously had lost considerable weight during his hospitalization.

The field was heavily guarded for the President's departure and only close friends of the President and Mrs. Eisenhower and the White House staff were permitted near the White House plane, the Columbine III.

Mr. Eisenhower, standing on the sixth step of the plane ramp, said it was time again to say goodby to Denver, but that this time he departed "under somewhat unusual circumstances."

He said quite soberly, however, that his "misfortune" had served one valuable purpose — he had heard from friends all over the world and it made him realize "how nice people can be."

He expressed his "eternal gratitude" to the medical staff at Fitzsimons and the Air Force staff at Lowry where the Denver White House was based during Mr. Eis-

Former President Hoover Leads The Nation In Honoring Fighting Men On Veterans Day

WASHINGTON (UP) — Former President Hoover led the nation today in honoring the dead and living of past wars in the second annual observance of Veterans Day.

Mr. Hoover was chosen to represent President Eisenhower at the solemn, military ceremonies in Arlington National Cemetery overlooking the nation's capital.

On behalf of Mr. Eisenhower, Mr. Hoover was asked to lay a wreath at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at 11 a.m. EST — the hour that marked the end of World War I 37 years ago. Following the wreath - laying, Mr. Hoover was to deliver the major speech at memorial services in the marble-columned amphitheater behind the tomb.

As the 81-year-old former president represented Mr. Eisenhower at the Arlington ceremonies, the President was expected to be flying back to the nation's capital after a seven weeks hospitalization in Denver.

The ceremonies by the tomb of the Unknown Soldier symbolized the nation's gratitude and tribute to the soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines of past wars. In schools across the nation, school children stood in a minute of silent tribute to the war dead. In towns and cities and century-old battlefields, veterans organizations conducted ceremonies honoring their fallen comrades.

The American Legion marked the day with ceremonies at the historic Civil War battlefield at Gettysburg, Pa. The program included dedication of a legion plaque by Interior Secretary Douglas McKay and Legion National Commander J. Addington Wagner and a reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address by film star George Murphy.

The day was once known as Armistice Day in memory of the end of World War I. In June of 1954, it was redesignated Veterans Day as a more fitting tribute to the 571,598 Americans who died in two world wars and Korea and to the 21-million living veterans of all wars.

Water Fluoridation Prevents Tooth Decay

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Fluoridation of public water supplies is the best way to prevent tooth decay, the Indiana State Health Board said today.

Dr. Andrew Offutt, state health commissioner, said the board wanted to "reaffirm" its recommendation to that effect. Studies show fluoridation is most effective when the water is used from birth through at least the first eight years, Offutt said.

Veterans Day

Today we again honor our heroes, our youth who have fought and died in many parts of the world in order to preserve our freedoms and our way of life.

The greateness of our country has been founded on courage and faith. In everything which is vital in our nation there is a history of courage by citizens who acted on their convictions.

It is our duty, the business of every American, to appreciate, protect and enrich the heritage that is ours.

"I still proudly possess what to me is the greatest of all honors and distinctions: I am an American." So said General MacArthur.

Stephen A. Haboush

It is a far cry from the ancient hills of Galilee, and the pastoral life of the people there, to the dynamic days of the modern present in civilized America, but those two extremes are covered in the span of life of Stephen A. Haboush, a shepherd from Galilee, who has brought to America the story of Galilee and Palestine.

Mr. Haboush is a native Galilean. He was born on the hills about the Sea of Galilee, and in his youth tended his father's flock of sheep, just as every Galilean boy has done since the days when the Master walked among men. He came to the United States several years ago and worked his way through an American university. Recently he returned to the land of his birth and there personally took in color motion pictures of the scenes and people of Galilee and Palestine.

His messages and travelogues bring to the material present the story of life in Galilee and Palestine as it was and as it is, the story of the Scriptures interpreted by one to whom the scenes of the Story of the four Gospels are his native land.

Mr. Haboush's Travelogue is a distinct contribution to North American letters and to modern thought. Part of it is delivered in native costume, the same costume worn by native Galileans in the days of the Bible story. He is to appear in person with Madame Haboush and two young men to present their Bible Land Musical Travelogue "On Sacred Soil" at Marshall Memorial Hall Thursday at 7:30 p.m. under the auspices of the Grace Lutheran church. The Rev. G. L. Kleespie, is the pastor.

Sault Ste Marie, the home of the world's busiest canal, takes its name from a French title which means literally "The Leap of St. Mary." The name was given by French explorers to a 20-foot fall in the St. Mary's river at the site where the city was founded.

Rev. J. Luther Seng Speaks Before B&PW Women

A Fort Wayne Lutheran minister, the Rev. J. Luther Seng of St. Luke's church, spoke Thursday evening before the Business and Professional Womens club, at the Legion Home. The speaker stated that Thnaksgiving was associated with the Harvest Festival and he told of its origin.

The speaker told of the fortitude of the Pilgrim Fathers, of their problems, and of their faith and how they took time to give thanks for the blessings that were theirs. Although their home, a common house built when they landed on American shores had been destroyed by fire, yet they paused long enough to give thanks.

The speaker stated that during the first year in America the pilgrims made holes to plant corn and caught the fish they used in holes for fertilizer. Yet they set aside a day to feast and give thanks. The talk of Rev. Seng was very constructive and was very well received.

Members responded to roll call by telling for what they were most thankful. Mrs. Kenneth Helmer, former president of the Ligonier club and now a resident of this city, and Mrs. Howard Nelson of the Thomas Ford Sales, were welcomed as new members. The club voted a contribution of $25 to the Community Chest.

Tables were attractively laid for the dinner in a Thanksgiving motif. Pretty arrangements of fruit and colorful gourds stood at intervals on the long tables decorated with autumn leaves. Oronge candles burned in double candelabra on the speaker's table where turkeys, made from unusual shaped gourds, had their place.

The speaker of the evening was presented by Mrs. Clay Hall, chairman of the Membership committee. Miss Wilma Wise was co-chairman. Other members of the committee were Mrs. Grover Snyder, Mrs. Violet Boggs, Mrs. Glen Mattix, and Mrs. Fern Stickler.

On December 8, the club will hold its Christmas meeting and party when a one dollar gift exchange will be enjoyed.

Miss Carolyn Boggs, whose mother was a member of the committee, was a guest.

Eisenhower

out offending the Israeli whose brethren are politically powerful in the West, notably in the United States.

The West must determine what new force and defensive positions must be assumed in a Europe where the Soviets evidently are determined Germany shall be either divided or a Communist whole. And in Asia, which has had little recent public attention, there remain to be found means of holding the line, at least, against the pressures of expanding Communism.

Farm Price Squeeze

Those are the kinds of foreign policy problems to which Mr. Eisenhower is coming home. The domestic front is troubled by a farm price squeeze. The Republican political front is shadowed by an unfavorable trend discernible in 1953-54-55 local election returns. Individual Republican candidates, and some who would be candidates if Mr. Eisenhower would run again are fearful that he will not.

The President is a man peculiarly on the spot. It is a hotter spot even than he experienced in early 1952 when Eastern party leaders began to put real pressure on him to quit the Army and bail the Republican Party out of trouble. Barring only the farm issue, all of these decisions must ultimately be made by Mr. Eisenhower mostly on his own judgment. He'll take a lot of advice — including a bundle from brother Milton — on domestic and foreign policy. But the final word must be his.

The immediate urgent business awaiting the president would give any vigorous man a workout.

Their batting average was zero on all three items on the agenda—European security and German unity, the promotion of East-West contacts and disarmament.

Underneath the surface was the uneasy realization that Russia which began a series of nuclear explosions at time of last July's "summit" conference, has just set off another one.

There was speculation that the new atomic or hydrogen bomb blast was carefully timed to underscore the Soviet position at Geneva: It and not the West has been "negotiating from strength."

The 30-minute secret conference today was called for 3 p.m. (9 a.m. EST), half an hour before the regular 3:30 p.m. session on which newsmen have been fully briefed in the past.

Coup De Grace

Western sources said Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov delivered the coup de grace to disarmament hopes Thursday when he rejected President Eisenhower's "open sky" inspection proposal.

Almost within minutes, the British Ministry of Defense announced that the Soviet Union had exploded a nuclear device recently.

Informed sources said Molotov and the Western foreign ministers — John Foster Dulles, Harold Macmillan of Britain and Antoine Pinay of France — called today's meeting to see what they could save.

It appeared the only possible course now was to call for a meeting later, either another one at the summit, another one among the foreign ministers, or turn over nagging problems to their deputies.

Such problems as disarmament could be turned back to the United Nations Disarmament Committee.

It appeared only the heads of state could solve the problem of German unity — but only if one side or the other did an abrupt about face.

New Unity Proposal

Western diplomats thought Molotov still might have some new proposal to offer on Germany. Russia's blunt refusal to consider German reunification cost Russia heavily in the constant East-West propaganda battle.

The East and West had been expected to reach some measure of agreement on the problem of better contacts between their two worlds.

Western sources said Russia finally showed interest only in sending delegations to study Western technological improvements and to end the trade restrictions against Communist countries.

The Western experts got nowhere in their efforts to end Communist jamming of Western broadcasts, to increase the flow of tourists, to write reciprocal air agreements and to raise the Iron Curtain on other similar matters.

Bruins Defeat New York Rangers

By UNITED PRESS

If the New York Rangers hope to get into the Stanley Cup playoffs this season, they had better learn how to beat the Boston Bruins.

For the third straight time this season the Bruins defeated the Broadway Blues, 5-1, Thursday nights to move to within two points of he second-place Rangers. Four different Bruins rapped home the goals including a pair by Vic Stasiuk to hand New York its first loss in the last five games.

The Chicago Black Hawks, who have played almost as well as the Rangers thus far this season, tied the Detroit Red Wings, 2-2, on Johnny Wilson's third period goal in the only other game played Thursday night.

The tie kept the Black Hawks from slipping into the cellar and the Red Wings from emerging out of last place for the first time since Oct. 26. Chicago is in fourth place a point back of Boston and six back of pace-setting Montreal.

Majors To Match Open-Field Wits Against Florida

By BILL FERGUSON
United Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (UP)—Johnny Majors Tennessee's "do-it-all" tailback, will have to match his open-field wits Saturday against one of the fastest backfields in Dixie when the Volunteers face Florida.

Majors, who has led Tennessee to surprising success this season, will have to stack up his running talents against such Florida break away artists as Jackie Simpson, Jim Rountree and Dick Allen.

Not only will Majors have to run past the Gator speedsters, but as safetyman it may be up to him to stop them on numerous occasions.

Halfbacks Simpson and Rountree are touchdown threats from anywhere on the field. Often it's solely up to the safetyman to provide the difference between a long run and a touchdown.

However, — the nearest thing in the south to a one-man team—has already proved his mettle. Last week as Tennessee tied favored Georgia Tech, Majors was the man who made it possible, sparking Tennessee to a touchdown after the opening kickoff with his fine running.

Majors is the Southeastern Conference's leading back in total offense and ranks among the leaders in both running and passing. His puting is also good enough to rate him with the top five in the conference.

If Tennessee gets by Florida this weekend, odds are that it will be a bit of Majors' passing, running, kicking and "quarterbacking" that does the trick.

In another top Southeastern battle, Dixie's two upset kings, Vanderbilt and Tulane, are pitted against each other. Vanderbilt won the giant-killing honors last week with a 34-0 win over favored Kentucky, and the week before Tulane pulled the upset of the S. E. A. season by beating Auburn, 27-13.

Auburn plays a conference game against the unpredictable Georgia Bulldogs, and Georgia Tech meets winless Alabama. Mississippi State meets Louisiana State and non-conference Miami meets Bucknell tonight.

Yost Gets Deduction From $21,500 Salary

WASHINGTON (UP) — Eddie Yost, usually one of the toughest players in the American League to sign, became the Washington Senators' first regular to agree to terms today when he accepted a "little deduction" from his $21,500 salary of 1955.

Yost, who hit .248 in 122 games last season, is believed to have accepted a $19,000 figure for 1956. It was the earliest he had come to terms since he joined the club in 1944 at the age of 17.

Club President Calvin Griffifth explained that Yost was "in town to prepare for a tonsilectomy and we thought it would be a good opportunity to get Eddie into line." The negotiations were carried on Wednesday during a round of golf.

Knickerbockers Win 112-105 Over Lakers

A National Basketball Association record crowd of 18,245 was convinced today that it's true what Ned Irish and Coach Joe Lapchick have been saying about the New York Knickerbockers.

Hailed by the Madison Square Garden basketball promoter and Lapchick as the team which finally will bring New York an NBA championship, the Knickerbockers turned in a brilliant 112-105 triumph over the Minneapolis Lakers Thursday in their home debut. The Philadelphia Warriors beat the Rochester Royals, 89-84, in the first game of the doubleheader.

The crowd, which exceeded the previous league high of 18,135 set at the Garden on Nov. 1, 1949, saw the Knickerbockers win easily without the aid of their ailing seven-foot center, Walter Dukes. They piled up a 62-48 halftime lead and were out in front, 87-70, after three periods.

With New York substitutes on the floor, the Lakers closed the score to 106-99 late in the fourth period but the Knickerbocker regulars re-entered and quickly regained control of the game.

Harry Gallatin tossed in seven field goals and seven free throws to score 21 points and spark a New York attack that featured six other players in double figures. Rookie Ken Sears, highly-publicized New York newcomer, tallied 13 points in his local debut.

Clyde Lovellette scored 21 points for the Lakers but was limited to one free throw in the first period when the Knickerbockers took command of the contest.

Paul Arizin scored 33 points to lead the Warriors to their victory over the Royals despite another fine performance by Rochester Rookie Maurice Stokes. The former St. Francis (Pa.) star tallied 26 points in the losing cause giving him a total of 75 for three games.

The victory gave the Knickerbockers two straight victories for the campaign while Minneapolis has lost three of four starts. The Lakers play the Celtics at Boston in tonight's only NBA action.

6 Men Suspended By Racing Commission

TRENTON, N.J. (UP) — The owner, trainer and four other handlers of Blue Vet were suspended by the New Jersey State Racing Commission today after tests showed the horse had been drugged in the fourth race at Garden State Park last Saturday.

Thomas Brogan, chairman of the commission, also annunced the winner's purse of $4,500 was being held pending the result of an investigation. Blue Vet, winner of only one other race in 16 starts, paid $7.20 to win.

Those suspended were owner Sam Serpcio, trainer Joseph Kulina, grooms Edward J. Summey and Thomas Bates, foreman Samuel Solow and hot walker Al Belton.

Costa And Lopez In Match Tonight

NEW YORK (UP) — Chunky, baby-faced Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn may clinch a featherweight title shot tonight if he wins impressively over lightweight contender Joey Lopes of Sacramento, Calif., in their return TV-radio 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Costa, fourth ranking feather-contender, won a unanimous decision over Lopes, eight-rated lightweight aspirant, at the Garden on March 18. But each scaled only 130 pounds, which was the contracted maximum for that bout.

However, the contracted maximum for tonight's scrap is 136 pounds. Lopes, a full-fledged lightweight, claims he was weakened by paring down to 130 in March and that he will have more stamina and more kick in his punches tonight.

Not until this new weight provision was made did Lopes agree to come in as a substitute tonight against Costa, ho originally was slated to fight Flash Elrde f the Philippines. Elrde was unable to get into "sharp" condition in time for tonight's bout. Though Elorde is ranked only ninth among feather contenders, he outpointed champion Saddler in a non-title bout last summer.

Lopes, 25, gave 21-year-old Costa a hard fight in March but Carmelo's speed and stronger finish gave him a decisive victory. Carmelo is favored at 8-5 to win again tonight.

Costa, who never fought outside the New York area in his 33 professional bouts, is fast, smart and rugged. But he is a comparatively light puncher, who boast only three knockouts. He lost only twice and had three draws. No one ever stopped him.

This year Carmelo won four of his five bouts and had one draw. Lopes won seven of his nine fights this year. Joey's 32-8-2 record includes 11 knockouts.

Campbell Hopes To Break Own World Speed Boat Record

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Donald Campbell today tentatively scheduled another attempt to break his own world speedboat record in the jet-propelled Bluebird II following a run that possibly hit 220 miles an hour on Lake Mead Thursday.

The English speedboat champion's attempt to crack his 202.32 miles per hour record was marred by three flameouts Thursday. He averaged 192.76 miles an hour on a single run and said he probably hit as high as 220 miles an hour toward the end of the course. The speed must be sustained over the mile run for a new mark.

If he fails to break the record today, or is unable to try because of weather conditions, he said he would try again starting next Tuesday. The lake is too crowded with pleasure boats for trials on weekends.

Despite his latest failure, Campbell declared he was "confident I will set a new world's record."

"We now have all the bugs ironed out and the way the Bluebird performed today, there's no telling how fast we may go" he said.

He scheduled attempts today between 9 and 10 a.m. and noon and 2 p.m. (EST), weather permitting.

The flameouts Thursday were blamed on the nose of the two and a half ton craft shipping water on the starboard side as it turned around. Campbell said this apparently was corrected by fastening weights on the side to balance the craft better.

Estimate State Yield Of Corn

WASHINGTON (UP) — Indiana will produce 270,760,000 bushels of corn in 1955 the Agriculture Department predicted today.

The estimate, part of a predicted nation-wide yield of 3,182,870,000 bushels, was the same as a month ago. Last year Indiana produced 256,104,000 bushels.

Livestock Need Ice-Free Water Supply In Winter

LAFAYETTE: — With all the emphasis during the past few years on the advantages of self-feeding livestock, many farmers have overlooked an equal number of advantages for supplying water the same way.

Bruce McKenzie, extension agricultural engineer at Purdue University says that too often the livestock water supply is just taken for granted. On many farms water supply facilities are the weakest link in the entire livestock production program. All this exists even though experiments have repeatedly shown that an ice-free, always-available water supply is essential for maximum livstock production. The very best in feed and forage can't offset a restricted water supply.

In addition to increased livestock profits, automatic watering also means a saving in labor. "In times like these when farmers are striving for the utmost in efficiency, automatic watering should be standard equipment on every farm, "McKenzie declares.

The best way to supply clean, fresh, ice-free water to livestock is through automatic, heated waterers. Thanks to pressure water systems, water can easily be piped to every feed lot and building on the farm.

McKenzie suggests that farmers throw away the water bucket and the ice ax, and contact their electrical supplier or local dealer for further information, who can help design a system to meet individual needs.

Westinghouse Makes Transfer In Effort To Settle Strike

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Westinghouse Electric Corp. and the CIO electrical workers shifted stalemated contract negotiations to New York today in a effort to settle a strike of 44,000 employes which has crippled production in 30 company plants.

The transfer of talks was announced following a session Thursday night between James B. Carey president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, company Vice President R. D. Blasier and John R. Murray, of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

The New York negotiations will begin Saturday.

Both sides also agreed to end their "propaganda war" by cancelling newspaper, radio and television advertisements concerning the walkout.

In newspaper advertisements today, before the ban was to take effect, the AFL gave "complete support and encouragement" to the IUE's strike. It was the first time in AFL history it has formally backed a strike of a CIO union, the AFL said.

The AFL said it had planned to advertise in about 30 newspapers, but the IUE - Westinghouse agreement against advertisement necessitated cancellation in all "but about three" papers. The ads will not appear beyond today.

Carey said sponsorship of the advertisements is "an historic event in relations between the two great labor federations."

Murray said he will make all press statements regarding the progress of future talks.

"Experience supports the contention that peaceful grounds cannot be found in the daytime while respective parties conduct a shooting war at night time," Murray said.

In a war of words Thursday, both sides blasted each other for a "slowdown" in bargaining sessions.

The union, which has been on strike since Oct. 17, has turned down a five-year pact providing graduated increases totaling a minimum of 23½ cents an hour.

The United Electrical Workers (Ind.) also has been on strike against Westinghouse.

College Freshman Shoots Sweetheart

VIROQUA, Wis. (UP) — Police today arrested a love-crazed college freshman and said he shot his sweetheart and her best friend in grief over a broken romance.

Vernon County Sheriff Morris Moon said Dennis Twing, 17, was picked up by Richland Center, Wis., police about 6:45 a.m. CST while hitchhiking toward Madison, Wis.

Kay Broderick, 15-year-old sweetheart of the youth, was in critical condition at Brenon Hospital with four bullet wounds. Her friend, Lynn Lawton, also 15, was shot the same number of times but was reported in "good" condition.

Moon said Twing opened fire on the two girls in Miss Broderick's home late Thursday when she returned his ring and told him she didn't want to see him any more.

Twing, a University of Wisconsin freshman dashed from the Broderick home and ran through Viroqua, trying to flag down every car that passed.

The skinny, distraught youth apparently thumbed a ride out of Viroqua, Moon said, and a truck driver reported Thursday night that he had seen the fugitive at Arena, Wis., 60 miles away.

Twing was believed to be heading for Madison, Wis., 100 miles from Viroqua. His father and mother, who are divorced live in the Madison area and the university is located there.

army's action and announcing that "the navy and air force will remain loyal to the acting president."

Luz was in the Navy Ministry Building, which was surrounded by troops.

Report Admiral Held

Adm. Pena Boto, commander of the high seas fleet who is reported dissatisfied with last October's presidential election results, was reported under detention.

Radio Continental annouced without confirmation that Nereu Ramos, president of the Senate, would take over the presidency.

Troops were stationed around the Presidential Palace and no traffic was permitted to pass by.

The government's Radio Nacional and the private station Radio Glovo also were surrounded.

Anti-aircraft guns were set up in the Campo de Santana in front of the War Ministry.

Luz had been locked in a dispute with Gen Henrique Texeira Lott over the cast of an army colonel who publicly called for an army coup to prevent a new administration from taking office next January.

Texeira Lott issued a statement shortly after 4 a.m. that the army chiefs had given him authority "to set the situation in order."

Luz Wouldn't Bow

Luz had declined to accept Texeira Lott's request that the officer, Col. Jurandir Mamede, be removed from his post in the Superior War College and returned to regular army duty.

Texeira Lott wanted Mamedes' ouster for his meddling in politics and having called Brazil's presidential system a "democratic lie." The war minister submitted his resignation Thursday night when the acting president refused to comply.

Flores da Cunha, president of the Chamber of Deputies, and Nereu Ramos, president of the Senate, called on Texeira Lott around midnight.

Also at the meeting was Urugurai Maglhaes, commander of military police. Nereu and Da Cunha called for an emergency session of Congress at 8 a.m. but the session later was potponed to 10 a.m.

Texeira Lott's statement said: "in consideration of President Carlos Luz' solution to the case of Colonel Mamede, which is considered a definite insult to the pride of the army, the army chiefs have decided to give me authority to set the situation in order."

He called on the army, navy and air force to support him.

4-Year-Old Boy Dies Of Exposure

NEW BOSTON, N. H. (UP)—Billy Hoyt was only 4 years old, but he was well trained. He knew that when you get ready for bed, you should take off your clothes and fold them neatly.

That's what he did Wednesday night, just before he huddled in freezing weather beside an old stone wall and went to sleep for the last time.

Searchers found his body Thursday, in woods less than a mile from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoyt. He had been missing since Tuesday morning. Doctors said he apparently had survived the first night despite sub-freezing temperatures. But the continued exposure was too much for him.

Sgt. Clayton Howard of the New Hampshire National Guard, who found the little body after more than 600 volunteers had hunted for Billy two days, said the boy still wore his underwear. The rest of his clothing lay neatly beside him, "as if he were going to bed at home."

enhower's stay here of nearly 14 weeks.

Repeatedly, Mr. Eisenhower said he and his wife were deeply touched by the thousands of messages, flowers, and gifts that have come to Denver since his illness.

Many See Him Off

The President said before departing he wanted to say another word of gratitude to friends over the country and the world who "have sent up their prayers for a sick person."

"I leave with a full heart of gratitude," he said, turning in the cold wind and walking slowly up the rest of the ramp into the plane.

Several homemade signs expressing good luck and get well wishes to the President were speckled through the crowd that lined the route the motorcade followed from the hospital to the airbase. A police car with siren cleared the crowds ahead of the President's party as it moved to the airstrip.

Women and children seemed to outnumber men by far in the crowds along the curbs but hundreds of others watched from the warm comfort of their homes as the procession rolled by.

Before leaving the eighth floor of the hospital the President said goodby to each of the 33 members of the medical, nursing and hospital corps staff.

If weather permits, the President again will make a brief radio and television appearance when he lands in Washington.

Backstairs At The Denver White House

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

DENVER (UP) — Backstairs at the Denver White House:

Whether President Eisenhower runs again or not, he'll probably come back to Colorado next summer. He'll probably fly west earlier than usual, possibly arriving in Colorado in late June or early July, depending on when Congress quits for a campaign year.

The President doesn't look as robust as he did two weeks ago. He's lost some additional weight. Most of the weight loss is apparent under his chin.

Only cabinet member who has not rushed to the President's bedside is Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks. Some of the other cabinet members who have visited the President at Fitzsimons Army Hospital devoted much of their time with reporters to discussing long-know programs and facts.

The purpose of some of their visits obviously was to dramatize the President's return to active control of the government.

If the United Press and its many clients will pardon the use of the personal pronoun, I have never covered a more grinding assignment than Mr. Eisenhower's illness in Denver — and I have been covering Presidents for the United Press for going on 15 years.

After the first two or three weeks subsequent to Mr. Eisenhower's heart attack, the problem of press, radio and television coverage became a matter of mental pressure. No reporter could go to the bathroom without the dreadful fear of an announcement which might change the course of history.

Maj. Gen. John T. Sprague, the commanding officer at Lowry Air Force Base where the Denver White House offices are located, said this morning, "I suppose you people are happy to be going home."

A reporter who has been in Colorado with the President since August replied sadly, "my home is not in Gettysburg."

The bulk of the travel crew surrounding the President will have this weekend off in Washington, then move out with him again to the farm in Pennsylvania on Monday morning.

According to Polly Witte of the Denver United Press staff, the medical bulletin this morning on the President's condition—"satisfactory" — was the 150th clinical announcement by James C. Hagerty, the President's press secretary who has done a phenomenal job of keeping the public informed about Mr. Eisenhower's condition.

The President has received more than 100,000 "get well" messages since he entered the hospital here. And when he gets back to Washington this afternoon, he'll find a room of mail bags still waiting for him.

Ike Rests From Easy Trip For Job Ahead That Promises To Be Tough

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower rested today from a trip that turned out to be easy and for a job ahead that promised to be tough.

His doctors said the President, well on the way to recovery from a heart attack, came through Friday's five-hour flight from Denver, plus parting and homecoming ceremonies there and here, without tiring.

But they made it plain he was not yet ready to tangle headlong with all the host of developing problems on which he sooner or later must act.

As the President himself said on climbing, smiling, from his Air Force Transport plane here late Friday, the doctors had given him a "parole" — not yet a full "pardon."

Allowed Few Duties

"I expect to be back at my accustomed duties," he told 5,000 cheering, happy people at Washington National Airport, "but they say I must ease my way into them and not bulldoze my way into them."

On his first full day back in the White House after an absence of almost three months, the convalescing President was expectd to spend a little time with his aides, a lot more with his family, and a good bit doing not much of anything.

He had an early appointment with Sherman Adams, his top assistant, and James C. Hagerty, his press secretary. The chief business was working out plans for the President's move to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm, probably Monday, to complete his convalescence.

The President's son John, his wife, Barbara, and their three children, were overnight house guests. Mr. Eisenhower had held a joyful reunion with them, and with his

Head-On Crash Near Valparaiso Kills 5 Persons

Sends Indiana 1955 Traffic Toll To 956

By UNITED PRESS

A head - on collision near Valparaiso in which five persons were killed sent Indiana's 1955 traffic death toll soaring to at least 956 today.

The toll was only 35 short of 1,000, the dread figure safety experts had hoped could be avoided this year or at least postponed until the waning days of 1955.

Last year, the 1,000th death occurred Dec. 15 on National Safe Driving Day. This year, it appears, No. 1,000 will come by Thanksgiving, which falls on Nov. 24.

The Valparaiso accident late Friday night wiped out all occupants of two automobiles, two of them young boys.

It was not the only accident occurring after the weekend counting period started at 6 p.m. Friday.

Donald R. Long, 23, Carmel, was killed early today when a speeding auto, said by State Police to have been traveling 95 miles an hour, smashed into a tree.

Lena J. Tanner, 37, Evansville, died at Tell City Friday of injuries sustained last Saturday in an accident on Ind. 66 near Grandview.

Guy McNeely, 32, Cape Girardeau, Mo., was killed Friday in Ind. 25 near Lafayette when his small truck went out of control and overturned.

Robert C. Johnson, 46, Pikeville, Ky., was killed Friday afternoon when two automobiles collided head-on in U.S. 52 bypass near Lebanon.

One cat with a mutilated tail was found today, hiding, hungry and in pain. Mrs. Kathleen Knight, a Banksia resident, said she understood children in the neighborhood had been cutting off cat tails to make their own hats.

Four Ministers Abandon In A Total Deadlock

On Attempt To Reach Agreement On World Disarmament

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA (UP) — The four foreign ministers abandoned today in total deadlock all further attempts now to reach an agreement on world disarmament.

The ministers met for 15 minutes in the morning and found themselves so bogged down on the disarmament question they ran out of anything to say.

Much of the time they just sat in stony silence.

They met again at noon and after an hour and three minutes of fruitless liscussion abandoned further attempts to agree on disarmament. They could not even agree on a statement to the world on why they had failed.

The ministers announced then they would meet again Monday afternoon to discuss East-West contacts — a subject that tied up lesser delegates in so many knots they too, were unable to make a formal statement.

Of all the unsuccessful sessions this one came nearest to being a fiasco though they had deadlocked previously on every subject discussed.

The Japanese Political Situation Is Likely To Cause United States A Lot Of Worry Soon

The Japanese political situation is likely to cause the United States a lot of worry within the next few months.

Four weeks ago the right and left wings of the Japanese Socialist Party, long divided, reunited.

They have now embarked on a determined, long-range anti-American campaign which they hope will get them into power.

The right wing Japan Democratic and Liberal parties enjoy a solid majority at present in the House of Representatives, which like the British House of Commons runs the country.

These two parties also are trying to unite, to present a solid front against the leftists.

But the Democrats and Liberals are bickering over the leadership. Their merger, which is likely to come soon, may not be a firm one.

The present parliament was elected last February, for a four-year term. But there probably will be another election next spring.

In that one, the Socialists hope to increase their House membership substantially. Then, later on, they hope to force another one in which they will win a majority.

The platform of the united Socialists is frankly anti-American. It calls for "independence" from the United States, for the cancellation of the Japanese - American security treaty and for a halt in the Japanese rearmament program.

"Japan is gravely restrained and controlled by a foreign power, and virtually in a state where she has lost her real independence," the party platform says.

Mosaburo Suzuki, 62, is the leader of the united party. He was the leader of the left wing faction before the merger.

Suzuki became a Socialist in his youth. In those days, he used to pull a rickshaw.

Last week the Socialists embarked on a nationwide speech-making campaign, which is to continue until the next election.

Suzuki, in his fiery speeches, has called for the establishment of diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia and Communist China.

Premier Faure Again Risks Life Of Government

Issue Is His Assembly Bill

PARIS (UP)—Premier Edgar Faure risked the life of his government today on a vote of confidence in the National Assembly with the knowledge his cabinet would crack up anyway even if he won the vote.

The issue was his Assembly bill calling for early national elections based on a slighty modified sys tem of proportional representation oification that would pCnmiumou —but a modification that would up Communist membership from 94 to as man as 150 to 160.

Debate was set for today with the crucial vote — Faure's fifth in a month—coming at any time after that.

Again the crisis threatened to deprive France of a vote at Geneva.

Parliamentary sources said the death this morning of Mme. Rene Coty, wife of President Rene Coty, would not cause postponement of the vote but might help Faure's cause. The Assembly might think twice before giving Coty the burden of forming a new government at this time, the sources said.

Five members of Faure's cabinet were dead set against the very voting system Faure was backing. It was their threatened revolt last Thursday that forced him to call for the vote of confidence today.

There was a possibility the dissident cabinet ministers might resign of their own choice if the Faure bill was upheld.

Today's vote also threatened a squabble between the Assembly and the Senate. Passage today meant the Senate would have to examine the bill again, and they already voted in favor of another.

The Senate overwhelmingly approved an electoral system pegged on voting by districts — the one favored by former Premier Pierre Mendes-France, Faure's No. 1, political enemy.

MendesFrance's political mouthpiece, the Daily L'Express hinted today the Senate might stick with its earlier decision. It said "a majority of the senators will resolutely resist any pressure; they know the country is behind them."

Luz Says He Now Accepts Ouster By Military Coup

Will Return To Rio From Shortlived Exile

By JOHN ALIUS
United Press Staff Correspondent

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP)—Ousted President Carlos Luz announced today he was surrendering to the army coup that overthrew his government and said he would return to Rio from his shortlived exile aboard a warship

The Navy Ministry announced that Luz sent a message to acting President Nereu Ramos saying that "in view of the situation" he accepted his ouster by a military coup and vote of Congress.

Luz fled Rio aboard the Brazilian Navy Cruiser Tamandere which anchored off Santos, port city of Sao Paulo, 220 miles southwest of here.

"My attitude until this moment was only prompted by the decision to safeguard the authority of the president of the republic and uphold the constituion," his radio message from the warship said.

Pleas For Order

But he said he still had many friends in Brazil and appealed to the new government to maintain order "to avoid the spilling of the generous Brazilian blood."

Luz added that he hopes his voluntary return to Rio will be "taken into consideration" since his decision was "inspired not only by a feeling of mutual honor, but in the trust that we have in the courage and civility of the Brazilian Navy."

Earlier, Luz had insisted in a message to Congress that he was still in power.

The government rushed loyal troop reinforcements into Sao Paulo state, center of resistance building up against the bloodless "revolution to prevent a revolution."

Lott Leads Coup

So far there has been no fighting in the coup lead by War Minister Gen. Henrique Teixeira Lott which overthrew acting President Luz and installed Ramos in his place.

But a clash was threatened around Sao Paulo city, Brazil's big industrial center 220 miles southwest of here, when ousted Air Minister Brig. Eduardo Gomez arrived to rally forces against the new government.

The anti-coup resulted when an army faction led by Lott seized control in an effort to head off a full-scale revolution by a second army faction. The second group refused to accept the election of President Juscelino Kubitschek last October.

The Lott forces acted to permit Kubitschek to take office as scheduled and worked with the Brazilian congress to enforce its demands.

U.S. Navy Attack Bomber Crashes Into Destroyer

Death Toll Stands At Five

SAN DIEGO Calif. (UP) — The death toll stood at five today from the spectacular crash of a Navy attack bomber into the Destroyer USS Hopewell during maneuvers 80 miles west of here.

A Douglas Skyraider dived into the 2,050-ton ship Friday in a low-level attack during joint United States Canadian maneuvers. The tragedy resembled "Kamikaze" attacks of World War II in which Japanese pilots deliberately plunged their planes into Navy ships.

The dead included the three men aboard the plane and two sailors on the destroyer. Five other sailors on the ship suffered burns. They were flown to San Diego naval hospital by helicopter.

Dead Are Identified

The Pacific fleet air command identified the three aboard the plane as Lt. Cmdr. M. S. Essary, 40, the pilot, of San Diego; and Radarman R. E. Stewart, Punxsutawney, Pa., and B. M. Phillips Jamaica N.Y.

Names of the two dead sailors were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The injured were identified as Seaman John P. Hoskins, 24, of Newhall, Calif.; Cm 3-C Rudy La Porta, 21, of San Francisco; Electricians Mate Alamando J. Cecchi 21, of Green Bay, Wis.; SH3 Tilford L. Johnson, 30, of Hamilton, Ohio and Chief Machinists Mate Jefferson G. Maner 37, of San Diego.

One Hurt Seriously

Of the five injured men, only Maner was reported in serious condition. The others were reported in good condition.

Navy Commander Mark M. Grandor, North Chicago, Ill., skipper of the Hopewell, said it appeared the plane was making a simulated attack upon the ship when the crash happened.

The propeller - driven bomber smashed into the destroyer's steel side and burst into flames. So great was the impact, that the plane's engine came out on the other side of the ship. A gaping hole was torn in the destroyer's plates. Flaming fuel from the plane sprayed over the ship.

The Hopewell began taking in water, but the destroyers Ingersoll and Yarnal pulled alongside and helped put out the flames. After temporary repairs, the Hopewell returned to port here under her own power.

Shooting Claims Its Third Victim

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UP) — A shooting in a rooming house last week claimed its third life Friday when Floyd E. Dillard, 46, a Princeton coal miner, died in Deaconess Hospital here.

Dillard was wounded at Princeton when a man shot three persons, killing Mrs. Ethel Bryant, 47, Princeton, and her aunt, Mrs Ella Cox, 64, East St. Louis, Ill.

Lawrence Bryant, 57, Palestine Ill., railroader, was held in Gibson County jail at Princeton on murder charges.

Bryant was accused of shooting the three when he went to the rooming house after his estranged wife refused a reconciliation.

Father Of Two Slain Chicago Boys Dies Friday

26 Days After Boys' Bodies Are Found

CHICAGO (UP)—Anton Schuessler, who could find no peace after the murder of his two sons and their neighborhood pal, has joined them as the killers' fourth victim.

The 42-year-old tailor's heart cracked Friday, 26 days after the nude, mutilated bodies of his two boys and their friend were found dumped in a forest preserve ditch.

His wife, now utterly alone in the world, said Schuessler died of a broken heart.

"It's all the killers' fault," the 37-year old widow sobbed. "They've killed the boys and now they've killed Tony. I had everything to live for and now I've got nothing."

The official report said that Schuessler died of an apparent heart attack while undergoing treatment a few hours after he had entered a suburban rest home for a complete rest.

Tony Schuessler was a happy, home loving man until the horror slaying of his boys, John 13, and Anton Jr., 11. He had never suffered from heart trouble.

Day and night, he tramped Chicago's northwest side looking for suspicious persons, for clues, for anything that might lead to the killers.

He was joined by another bereaved father, Malcolm Peterson. Peterson's 13-year-old son, Robert, had died with the Schuessler boys.

As a routine measure, electrical shock treatment was administered to Schuessler because "he was in a very depressed state," rest home officials said. The broken man's first reactions were normal. But then his pulse began to weaken.

Four doctors worked nearly three hours trying to keep Schuessler alive. They failed.

Undeclared War Has Smoldered Too Long, He Says

Thinks Both Would Respect United Nations

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UP) —Adlai E. Stevenson, in an address heralding an expected bid for the presidency, proposed Friday night that the United Nations patrol the tense Israel-Arab borders.

"The contagious flames of undeclared war between Israel and her neighbors have smoldered too long," Stevenson said. "Certainly both sides would respect U.N. patrols where they do not trust each other."

Stevenson accused the Republican administration of President Eisenhower, his victorious opponent in the 1952 presidential campaign, of showing too little initiative in face of a "danger of all out war" in the Middle East.

Stevenson's address highlighting the Woodrow Wilson Centennial observance at the University of Virginia was his last major public appearance before his expected announcement next Tuesday as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Stevenson addressed an estimated audience of 3,000 persons from the platform on which the late President Roosevelt gave his famous "stab in the back" speech on the eve of World War II.

Stevenson said the United States should "counteract" any Soviet attempt to upset the balance of armed strength of Israel and Egypt but should not use force, choose sides, or permit an arms race.

"The contagious flames of undeclared war between Israel and her neighbors have smoldered too long," he said, and "there is danger of all-out war developing while we debate which side was the aggressor."

Death Claims 3 Of Closely Knit Family

DETROIT (UP)—Three members of a "closely knit" family died Friday of natural causes, two of them after they received word in Wisconsin of the death of the third.

The victims were Raymond A. Chartier, 56, Detroit, his sister-in-law, Theresa Glugla, 67 Antigo Wis. and her sister Julia 54.

Chartier secretary - treasurer of the National Transit Corp., died in a hospital here. The sisters, who lived together, died of heart attacks within three hours of each other after they were notified of Chartier's death.

A niece of the three said the family was closely knit and the Detroit relatives visited Wisconsin every summer.

Permanent Peace, Unification For Korea Still Long Way Off United Nations Observers Say

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — Permanent peace and unification for Korea still are a long way off, United Nations observers said today in interpreting U.S. and British reports to the U.N. main political committee on the divided nation.

U.S. Delegate Jacob Blaustein and Britain's Sir Pierson Dixon, as the first speakers in the committee's general debate on Korea Friday, painted a dismal picture of post-war events in the war-torn nation.

But, the United States, in a resolution offered to the committee, expressed the hope that peaceful means would be found for the unification of Korea. The resolution called on the General Assembly to push its efforts for "an early solution of the Korean question."

U. S. Offers Resolution

The American resolution breathed life into the question for at least another year since it requested that the Korean question be listed on the agenda of next year's General Assembly.

The American resolution offered no methods or means for bringing about lasting peace and unity for Korea. Two days of discussion in the main committee on Korea showed the Western nations and Communists as far apart as ever on vital issues.

Blaustein and Dixon both pointed out that it was the Communists who were blocking the United Nations aims in Korea. The American said that the Koreans hope for a country "united under a free and independent government" was "thwarted" by the North Korean Communists.

Dixon pointed out and emphasized that his American colleague had reported on "the extent to which the Communist side have been able to frustrate the operation of the neutral nations supervisory commission in North Korea."

Delegates Accuse Reds

Both delegates accused the Communists of violating the 1953 armistice agreement by building up Red armed forces in North Korea.

The formal debate was preceded by a bitter and lengthy discussion on whether the representatives of the Republic of Korea and of Communist North Korea should be invited to sit as observers in the debate.

The committee by an overwhelming majority finally voted to invite South Korea to sit in the debate without voting rights but again barred the North Korean Reds.

Col. Ben C. Limb, South Korean observer at the U.N. led a seven man delegation into the conference room. He is expected to speak late in the debate, probably Thursday.

Moscow Radio Broadcast an interview Khrushchev gave to a Turkish newsman Thursday. Last June Khrushchev charged on his trip to Belgrade that Beria, onetime security chief shot for "treason" in 1953, was responsible for the Soviet break with Yugoslavia.

LONDON (UP) — The government Thursday night rejected a royal commission's proposal that Britain ease its stern rules for the death penalty in murder cases.

Home Secretary Gwilym Lloyd George formally notified parliament that the cabinet would not agree to:

Raise the age limit for execution from 18 to 21, allow juries to recommend clemency or lighten the present sanity rules.

MIAMI (UP) — The Florida Congress of Parents and Teachers called on the state and communities today to work toward "integration of our schools."

The resolution, calling desegregation "the law of our land," was passed Thursday by a heavy majority of delegates to the group's 32nd annual convention here. The resolution also called for continued "planning at state and local levels to solve desegregation problems."

United States Increases Pressure On Arab States, Israel To Cooperate On Peace Plan

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States today increased pressure on Israel and the Arab states to cease fighting and cooperate on both short-range and long-range Middle East peace plans.

President Eisenhower kicked off the new U.S. peace push in a special statement designed to emphasize American interest in "friendship for all of the peoples of the area"—both Jews and Arabs.

For the short-range. th ePresident firmly supported United Nations plans to gain a cease fire between Israel and Egypt.

For the more distant future, the President again threw his support behind Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' plan to arrange boundary guarantees which would be supported by the United States and other U.N. members.

No Formal Reply

Israel has given a conditional acceptance of the American plan. But the Arab states have not given a formal reply although they have complained that it was one-sided in favor of the Israelis.

Mr. Eisenhower voiced his new hopes for a Middle East settlement in a statement read to reporters at Denver by Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr.

The President said the United States would not contribute to an arms race but is "willing to consider requests for arms needed for legitimate self-defense. . ."

This further cleared the way for delivery of some defensive weapons to Israel if the United States decides such action is necessary to offset Communist bloc arms to Egypt.

Lehman Urges Pact

Other developments:

1. The State Department told Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-NY) that his plan for easing Middle East tensions "most certainly deserves detailed study." Lehman had proposed that the United States negotiate "a security pact with Israel, guaranteeing that country against aggression, with parallel guarantees extended to Egypt and other neighbors of Israel."

2. It was learned that U.S. officials have concluded that the 200 modern Russian jet planes to be supplied to Egypt could give Egypt military superiority over Israel in six months to a year. Informed quarters here assumed this assessment would increase Israel's chances of getting American jet fighters.

3. Egyptian Ambassador Ahmed Hussein warned that the United States would lose the friendship of 45 million Arabs if it decides to provide arms to Israel.

4. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, urged Dulles to "call the Russian hand" on Middle East policies at the Big Four discussions in Geneva. Humphrey said the Russians may be "trying to promote a stalemate in Europe while they pursue their aggressive policies elsewhere."

Lots Of Persons To Give Advice On Your Thanksgiving Dinner

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—More people are ready with more advice on Thanksgiving dinner than any other single meal served during the year.

It may be a simple male opinion—"just have plenty of dressing and mashed potatoes. Never mind all the fancy stuff."

Or it may be a tip from the neighborhood gourmet—"try basting the turkey with white wine . . . makes all the difference."

In the interests of keeping these mouth-watering conversations going, we asked a turkey public relations man for some of the most popular turkey-cooking customs.

Use Natural Juices

Most people just baste turkeys with the natural juices, the authority said, "But there also are cooks who use cranberry juice, wine, cider, orange juice, ginger ale, butter, spicy barbecue sauce or peach nectar." (An official turkey-cooking pamphlet put out by the poultry and egg national board says turkeys don't need basting at all providing the bird is thoroughly greased and covered during the cooking wit ha fat-moistened cloth or aluminum foil.)

The stuffing, or dressing or filling (depending on which section of the nation you come from) can include everything from filberts to cornbread. The all-around favorite is a simple bread crumb stuffing.

Cornbread dressing is used frequently in the South. Pecans and oysters are regarded as ideal stuffing ingredients by other Southerners. In New England cranberries often are added to bread stuffing. And in Minnesota, dressing recipe include raisins.

Ready To Cook

For lazy cooks this year there also is a new solution—frozen turkeys that can be bought already stuffed, ready to cook.

Mashed turnips, one old style group of eaters insists, must go with every Thanksgiving dinner.

"In Baltimore they serve sauerkraut with turkey," a turkey public relations man said.

"Mince pie with ice cream," one fellow reading this story over the writer's shoulder insisted. "Not pumpkin pie or plum pudding — mince pie with ice cream."

That's the way it is with Thanksgiving dinner. People are positive about it.

Stephen A. Haboush

Not at all unlike the notches on a gangster's gun are the 28 big spikes imbedded in the shepherd's rod of Stephen A. Haboush. The difference is that each spike represents a dead jackal, hyena or wolf - not a human life.

Nowadays he spends his time lecturing before church and school groups, telling them of his boyhood as a Palestinian shepherd and showing his pictures of the Holy Land. The much-scarred rod more than once has meant the difference between life and death for him and his flocks on the lonely western shores of the Sea of Galilee.

"For several years I was a nursemaid to a flock of 85 sheep and a dozen goats," he said recently. "It wasn't an easy job. The goats made my life miserable and the stray sheep unhappy. Nevertheless, thanks to my trusty black oak rod, I never lost more than seven or eight animals a year. That's even a pretty good record among the Palestinian tribes of today."

His father mas maktar, or head, of the Haboush tribe in old Galilee -north of the city of Nazareth. When the father died several years ago ,Stephen Haboush became patriarchal head of the tribe despite the fact he lived in the United States and had become a citizen.

"As a result, I have to return to my homeland every four years," he said. "In the meantime our tribal affairs are handled by a council of sheiks."

Mr. and Mrs. Haboush will present their Bible Land Musical Travelogue of the Holy Land at Marshall Memorial Hall Thursday evening under the auspices of The Grace Lutheran Church, Rev. G. L. Kleespie, is the pastor.

Set Poison Bait To Stop Rat, Mice Winter Invasion

LAFAYETTE: — G. C. Oderkirk, rodent specialist at Purdue Universtiy has reported that poisoned baits should be set now to destroy the invasion of rats and mice this winter.

Cold weather will force the rodents to seek shelter in buildings, Oderkirk said.

Baits should be set out under boxes or other cover in "out-of-way" places and should be available to rodents for a period of from three to four weeks.

Three poisons, warfarin, pival, and fumarin are now available to kill rats and mice. Fumarin has just been approved for marketing by the federal government. All three poisons require 6 to 10 days for results.

Persons interested in preparing a bait can receive this information from any county agricultural extension office. Use of freshly ground corn meal as a bait ingredient will usually improve acceptance of baits by rats. About five per cent powdered sugar added to cereal baits makes a tasty bait for mice.

Equal parts corn meal and rolled oats, five per cent sugar, and five per cent antigoagulant poison makes a good bait for both rats and mice.

Four huge H's are formed by the 1,200 delegates to the National 4-H Club Congress during the 4-H Parade.

A dramatic highlight of the National 4-H Club Congress unfolds as delegates parade before a huge audience at the International Live Stock Show in Chicago.

The 4-H spotlight will again be on Chicago when the top 1,200 boys and girls from all 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico join with guests from foreign countries for the 34th National 4-H Club Congress, Nov. 27 - Dec. 1.

The Congress program consists of discussions by the delegates, tours of the City, banquets and top-flight entertainment features, and is highlighted with talks by outstanding speakers. This year, 110,000 4-H members will be honored through National 4-H Award Programs. The awards consist of trips, medals, watches, U. S. Savings Bonds and other merit awards. In addition, funds are provided for leader training with the grants made through the National Committee. The Committee is a citizens' group which has been helping the Cooperative Extension Service further the influence and membership of 4-H for 34 years.

Among the corporations and foundations providing 4-H support are the Nitrogen Div. of Allied Chemical & Dye Corp., Allis-Chalmers, American Forest Products Industries, Carnation Co., Chicago Board of Trade, Coats & Clark Inc., Conrad Hilton Hotel, Cudahy Packing Co., Elgin Watch Co., Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Ford Motor Co., Larro Sure Feed Div. of General Mills, General Motors, Hercules Powder, International Harvester, Kellogg Co., Kelvinator, Kerr Glass, Massey-Harris-Ferguson, Inc., Montgomery Ward, Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Sears-Roebuck Foundation, Simplicity Pattern, Singer Sewing Machine Co., Standard Brands Incorporated, Sunbeam Corp., United States Rubber, Westinghouse Educational Foundation, and the Wm. Maintenance Has Been A Primary Road Problem Since Bent Twig Indicated Trail

Since the days when a bent twig indicated an Indian trail, and paths, known as "portages," were hewn from one waterway to another, maintenance has been a primary road problem. Yes, even our red-skinned predecessors found it difficult to maintain their trails, for native growth and underbrush soon reclaimed the painstakingly cleared paths.

The heavy wheels of the first Indiana settlers mired deep in the soft earth and travel was at a snail's pace. The first improvement in roads by the early settlers were the corduroy roads - logs laid across the wagon trails. Even in those days, when little was expected of a road except passability, there was a maintenance problem, for the logs would sink and replacement would become necessary.

The plank rods, which replaced the old corduroys, while saving travelers from some of the dust, mud and jolts, posed a maintenance problem, too, because the planks would split and horses would catch their hoofs in the broken planks.

Gravel roads were tried next, and they were more successful, for gravel packed down into a hard smooth surfac that required less maintenance than either the corduroy or plank roads.

But it was not until the State of Indiana was over a dozen years old that the National Government, through the efforts of Thomas Jefferson and others, started construction through Indiana of what was then called the National Road, now U.S. 40. Ten years were spent in the construction of the road and the covered bridges that spanned the rivers it crossed.

About that same time, still following the practice of constructing roads to connect water routes, Indiana decided it needed a road to connect the Ohio River with Lake Michigan. This they called the Michigan Road.

The construction of these two highways in Indiana heralded in the problem of constant maintenance. Many Hoosiers today remember when their grandparents, by a state law passed in 1818, were required to work on the roads a certain number of days each year.

As more highways were constructed, our maintenance problems became greater, until today, the Indiana State Highway Department's 11,000 miles of roadway and 80,000 acres of right-of-way pose a maintenance and upkeep problem that is not paralleled in any other department of government.

A crew of more than 1,000 men patrol the roads, watching for evidences of pavement breaking, leaks, blow-ups and other faults that can develop.

Each highway is divided into sections and patrolmen are responsible for minor maintenance, cleaning of the roadsides and highways, and snow and ice removal.

The Significance of Jesus

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

RECENTLY a workman, highly skilled, and a man thoughtful and well read beyond his particular field, came to my home to give a special service. When he found that I was a minister (he had not known it before) he evidently wanted to talk about religion and we talked a long time after he had done the work he came to do.

Thoughtless people would have called him a skeptic, or an athiest. Actually he was a man of good character, very sincere, brought up in a religious environment. He formerly attended a church where a long-time intimate friend of mine was pastor, for whom he had high and well-deserved praise.

But his present attitude was typified in the question: "How can we know?"

If I now recall the incident and the conversation it is because I believe that many people, who are not so frank in stating their doubts, who even perhaps try to conceal them from themselves, are actually in much the same state.

It has been my observation that the arguments and helps commonly offered such people are of little avail. They have been written for the most part by those to whom faith comes easily and they sidestep the real problems and difficulties. Argument is of little use. It is also not of much use to assert one's own convictions, especially if they are asserted dogmatically, or with any suggestion of superiority.

My friend did not so much question the being of God, as he did the nature of God, if God existed. He asked me whether I believed that God is a person, to which I replied that it is no more unreasonable to believe in the personality of God than to believe in one's own personality. After all, how much do we know about the mystery of personality either in man or in God?

All of this brings me back to the significance of Jesus. It is useless to make little of the difficuities of belief in this vast and complex world. Its immensity is almost overpowering when one contemplates the stars beyond stars and worlds beyond worlds. But against that immensity one must contemplate, also, the infinitesimally small things, unseen ever by the most powerful microscope, upon which life and all else depends.

So, for me, the one argument for God, the sanctions for moral living, the meaning of life and destiny, are bound up in Jesus, in His life and teaching, and all that the Gospels reveal. I would myself have grave doubts, and a what-can-we-know attitude were it not for the historic reality in the Gospels.

To ask, "did Jesus live?" is futile, when one considers the actuality of the Gospels—there in the living pages are the records of a life and ministry that nothing can take away.

And there is direct and positive teaching concerning man's highest life and relationships.

That is my evidence for God, and for all that God means for man.

If one cannot find God in the Gospels, and some positive answer to "what can we know?" I do not know where the answer can be found.

Correction

In the divorce proceeding of Lenna Collins against Keith Collins an erroneous statement was made in the paper that a divorce was granted. It should have stated that the temporary restraining order, which had heretofore been made, be made permanent with the right of the defendant to visit the children of the parties and that the defendant pay for the support of the children $75.00 per week during the pendency of the case.

Brink Guard Shoots Man

GARY, Ind. (UP) — Charles Kristute, 55, Gary was recovering today from a wound inflicted by a Brink's guard who shot hi mon the main floor of a downtown bank in the belief he was trying to steal money.

Roy Heglin, 32, the armored car service guard, said he fired when he saw Kristute "lurch" toward another guard carrying sacksful of money into the bank late Friday.

Robert Gasser, vice-president of ths Gary National Bank, said Kristute was a depositor and "apparently harmless." The bank was filled with noontime customers at the time.

No charges were filed, but police investigated.

Narcotic Seizure May Have Broken Crime Syndicate

MONTREAL (UP)—Canadian and United States investigators today checked the possibility that a 10 million dollar narcotics seizure here may have broke nan interhere may have broken an international crime syndicate with headquarters in Communist China.

A spokesman for detectives in three Canadian and U.S. agencies said such a prospect was "under serious consideration" following the discovery of 31 pounds of pure heroin aboard the french freighter St. Malo here Thursday.

So far, only one man, ship's fireman Robert Bianchi Maliverno, 30, of Pliang, Vosges France has been arrested. He was expected to be arraigned today on an attempted smuggling charge.

Royal Canadian mounted police said other arrests probably would be made here, and possibly in New York, when they get enough evidence to make cases against Canadians and Americans for whom the narcotics were bound. They said that might take anywhere from a few days to several months.

It was believed that the heroin was destined for the United States market and originated in Communist China. Police said they had spent several years investigating the illegal drug trade directed from China, which has been exploiting the traffic to build up new markets in North America and obtain hard-to get dollars.

Richard Carpenter Faces Death In The Electric Chair

CHICAGO (UP) — Richard Carpenter, who gunned down a policeman and was captured in one of Chicago's greatest manhunts, faced death in the electric chair today.

A jury of eight men and four women took only 1 hour and 10 minutes late Friday to find Carpenter guilty of the murder of Detective William Murphy last Aug. 15.

The jury recommended death in the electric chair. Judge Gibson E. Gorman said he would hear motions for a new trial later and then officially impose the mandatory verdict.

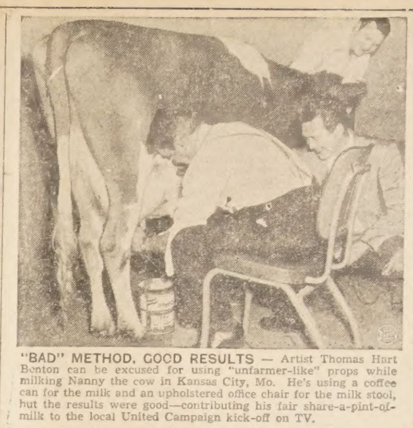
The 26-year-old gunman sat stock still in his leg irons and handcuffs as the jury delivered its verdict. His attorneys had pleaded insanity and Carpenter, heavily bearded during most of the trial, had looked the part.

Guards had to drag him into the courtroom and he once threw himself on the floor and howled. He struggled again when he was led back to his cell Friday and mouthed meaningless sounds in answer to newsmen's questions.

Carpenter, who was wanted for more than 100 stickups, shot Murphy in the Roosevelt Road subway station when the detective tried to arrest him.

Two days later he wounded another policeman when they shot it out in a darkened movie theater. Carpenter then forced his way into a nearby apartment and held a family of four hostage for 23 hours.

The father of the family, truck-driver Leonard Powell, finally slipped out through a ruse and called police. Police squads poured into the area and ripped the apartment building with machine gun blasts and tear gas bombs until Carpenter surrendered.



"BAD" METHOD, GOOD RESULTS — Artist Thomas Hart Benton can be excused for using "unfarmer-like" props while milking Nanny the cow in Kansas City, Mo. He's using a coffee can for the milk and an upholstered office chair for the milk stool, but the results were good—contributing his fair share-a-pint-of-milk to the local United Campaign kick-off on TV.

James Finnegan May Be Manager Of Adlai's Campaign

By TOM NELSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP) — James A. Finnegan of Pennsylvania may be named to manage Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination reliable sources said today.

Associates of Stevenson said Finnegan has the "inside track" for the post, which may be filled within the next week. Finnegan, a prominent Philadelphia Democrat, is Pennsylvania secretary of state.

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic nominee for president, will announce his 1956 political plans here Tuesday. There is no question in political circles here that he'll seek the presidential nomination.

Appointment of a manager to direct Stevenson's campaign leading to the 1956 Democratic National Convention may be announced at a news conference Stevenson has called here Wednesday, it was learned.

Finnegan, 47, described by a leader in the Stevenson camp as "an efficient, clean, professional politician," was said to be a leading candidate for the job as manager for two main reasons.

For one thing, he has been a staunch Stevenson supporter and advisor since 1952, when the former Illinois governor was "drafted" for the presidential nomination.

A second factor is the role Finnegan has played in Democratic successes in Pennsylvania in recent years. The party has captured the state capital and only this week its candidate again was elected mayor of Philadelphia.

Beside naming his pre-convention manager, Stevenson also may reveal his thinking about which presidential preference primaries he will enter next year at the Wednesday news conference.

He will make a major speech here the following Saturday night, at the concluson of three days of meetings of national Democratic leaders. This talk, associates said, probably will set the "tone" for his campaign.

Eisenhower

brother Milton, Friday night.

The President's stay here was planned as a brief one, actually a sort of rest-stop on the way from Denver to Gettysburg, where his doctors think he can continue his long climb back to health with the inevitable strains of the presidency held to a minimum.

Barring severe winter weather, which could drive him south, he probably will remain at Gettysburg until the New Year.

As he gains strength the President will face decisions calculated to tax the energies of a well man. Among them are what to do about the faltering "Geneva Spirit," how to keep peace in the Middle East, and how to bolster the sagging farm economy He also must decide — if he hasn't already — whether to run for re-election, and, if not, how best to foster Republican chances of winning without him.

It seemed obvious Mr. Eisenhower could not tackle immediately all these personal, political, domestic and international probems to which he flew home Friday after a 48-day stay in the hospital.

At his homecoming nobody was thinking much about problems. Everbody was glad to see Mr. Eisenhower back, and was anxious to let him know it. As he drove, smiling and waving, into the White House grounds, after a 20-minute ride from the airport, there was no doubt he had got the message.

Thousands Greet Return

Because it was a holiday, and tens of thousands of government workers all had the day off, a crowd estimated by police at 35,000 had turned out in brilliant fall sunshine to cheer the President's return.

They lined the flag - bedecked streets, climbing on statues, steps, and other vantage points, waving, shouting "Welcome home Ike" and crying "I saw him I saw him!' as his plastic - topped limousine passed.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and almost every other official big wig were at the airport to join in the homecoming fun. But official greetings and handshakes were held to a minimum.

Nixon told the President the whole world rejoiced at his recovery and return. He wished Mr. Eisenhower godspeed in the days ahead. Mr. Eisenhower, flashing briefly the grin known to millions, replied he was honored that so many had come. He said he and Mrs. Eisenhower would like to speak personally to everybody present.

"That is impossible," he added, "and so, possibly in just saying thank you, we are grateful, you will understand what we would like to do and you will let the wish take the place of the deed. Thank you very much."

Big Four

minute session came from Roland de Margerie, political affairs director for the French Foreign Office who pointedly expressed regret there was not enough confidence to take even the first step toward disarmament.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov sat silently in his seat. No one said anything. Then Dulles, who was conference chairman, proposed a recess until noon to think about what common statement—if any—they could make.

Communist sources said earlier that Russian fears of a change in U.S. foreign policy following the illness of President Eisenhower were responsible for Molotov's hardened policy that deadlocked the Geneva conference almost from the beginning.

But the ministers sat down at 10:30 a.m. to try to keep the Big Four conference from dying along with the spirit of Geneva. The ministers agreed to express their sympathy at the death of Mme. Rene Coty, wife of the French president, who died today, but that was the only area of agreement.

Western Ministers Meet

The Western ministers announced they would meet themselves at 3:30 p.m. Purpose of the meeting was not revealed, but it was understood to deal with the still tense and dangerous Middle East situation.

France was represented by an observer at today's meeting.

French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay was forced to fly back to Paris for a National Assembly vote of confidence on the government of Premier Edgar Faure.

Communists close to the conference said Soviet fear of an eclipse of Mr. Eisenhower from the active leadership of the United States caused the Kremlin to revise its strategy before coming to the Geneva meeting.

Communist sources said the Kremlin leaders were greatly impressed with Mr. Eisenhower at the summit meeting in July and the news of his heart attack caused a tremendous shock in Moscow.

Both Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party leader Nikita S. Khrushchev had returned from the meeting impressed by the good will and sincerity displayed by the American president. But when he became ill the recalled the sharp U.S. policy changes following the death of President Roosevelt.

He Won

MANCHESTER, England (UP)—Robin Langley, 12 year-old farmboy, who played hookey from school to ride Arts Degree, a 100-to-1 shot, to victory in the Sedgely Handicap Friday, had a real incentive.

His teacher promised not to punish him for playing truant if he won the race.

Color Added

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—The veteran's Day parade in downtown Dallas Friday had some colorful sounds added to it unexpectedly.

Fire engines with screaming sirens broke through the procession on their way to a small fire.

Prefers Petite Women

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Eugene Smith, a visitor from Baton Rouge La., told police today he prefers petite women.

Smith said two women from the french quarter gave him a lift in their auto, then the "large one," — a 190-pounder called Mary — slugged him, the other looted his pockets of $240, and then they tossed him out of the car.

by selling more goods to more people
MAKES YOUR JOB MORE SECURE

NO matter what your job today, it depends on "good business." And someone has said that in the American business system, nothing can be accomplished until "something is sold."

You know the truth of this. Falling sales mean pay cuts, layoffs, fear. Increased sales mean better pay, promotions, more security in every job for every man.

Advertising is the low-cost, efficient way to sell goods. Advertising is the spark plug of business. So advertising, by selling goods, makes your job, your home, your income more secure!

Other Ways
Advertising Helps You:

1. Brings you better goods for less money.
2. Makes shopping more pleasant and easier.
3. Has given us the world's highest standard of living.

Coach Johnson Working A 12-Man Varsity Into Shape For Game At Pierceton Tuesday

With two basketball games scheduled next week for the Columbia City Eagles Coach Ralph Johnson is hurriedly working his present 12-man varsity squad into shape. Since October 27 the Eagle hardwood in Marshall Memorial Hall has been pounding with activity.

As usual Coach Johnson is supressing any optimism he might have and says little about his team. However if you look carefully over the boys he has on the varsity squad it is hard to think in terms of anthing but a successful season on tap for the Eagles.

The 1955-56 edition o the C.C. cage aggregation has both height and experience. Helmuth Schwartz who ended the last year's season with an outstanding performance in the Warsaw sectional is back this year. Counterbalancing his unusual height asset is the fact that he did not play or hardly saw basketball played before entering high school here. The reports on Schwartz are favorable however. He supposedly stretched up ti nearly 6-7 over the summer vacation and during that time he also spent plenty of hours on ball handling.

Woodham Back

Greg Woodham who stands at around 6-3 is also back. Little needs to be said about Woodham as he was the mainstay on last year's team and has that full year of experience to his credit. Coach Johnson will undoubtedly expect much from him. Also on the squad is Gordon Carpenter another 6-3 or 6-4 boy who has played on the basketball teams since a freshman.

Roger Bridge who earned his letter last year by playing in the sectional tourney after being a regular starter on the reserve team all season is a member of this year's varsity. H eshould make a good feeder and ball handler for the Eagles.

Gary Deutsch is another previous letter winner on the squad this year. Deutsch will provide his share of speed and scrap to the Eagle cause. Jack Ewing who was on the 1954-55 varsity practically the whole season, is on this year's varsity.

Boys who moved up from the reserves of last year are Terry Smith, Ron Yant, Dan Martin, and Jerry Parrett. Kenny Kerch and Gerald Putman are students coming here from Washington Center who complete the varsity squads roster.

On Tuesday of next week, the Eagles will open the season by traveling to Pierceton. Their second game is also away, at Huntington on Friday night.

Black Hawks Beat Toronto Maple Leafs

By UNITED PRESS

The Chicago Black Hawks, perennial doormats in the National Hockey League, look like anything but last-place candidates this season.

The Hawks, led by goalie Al Rollins, who turned in his second shutout of the campaign, defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs, 2-0, Friday night to take over undisputed possession of third place. It was the only game scheduled.

Rollins brushed aside 28 shots as Johnny Wilson supplied the Hawks all the margin they needed when Ciesla and Heo Lalande at 4:12 of the first period.

Al Dewsbury, back from the minors, scored Chicago's final goal in the second period when he beat Harry Lumley after taking passes from Wilson and Lalande.

Deutsch, Bridge Get All-Conference Football Recognition

Principal Max Gandy announces the names of two Columbia City football players who were given All-Conference recognition for play in the 1955 grid season.

Halfback Gary Deutsch and Center Roger Bridge were named to the second and third teams, respectively, in the Northeastern Indiana Conference selections.

Deutsch, a senior, led the Eagle scoring this year. He has played football for four years. On defense, he played in the safety position.

Bridge is a junior and will undoubtedly be seen by Eagle foes again next year. He played center on offense and backed up the line on defense.

The players were selected by coaches in the Northeastern Indiana Conference schools.

Deutsch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Deutsch, Columbia township, and Bridge is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Bridge, also Columbia township.

Bulldogs Defeat Larwill After Low Scoring First Half

A high scoring third quarter gave the South Whitley Bulldogs too much of a lead for the host Larwill Trojans to over come Friday night at Larwill, and the visitors won 67-35. It was the third win of the season for South Whitley and the third loss for Larwill.

South Whitley led the home team during the entire game, and after a low scoring first half, both teams opened up in the last half. A pressing defense by South Whitley worried the Trojans and limited their scoring.

After the first quarter of play, South Whitley led 12-5, and halftime the scoreboard read only 16-8. However, in the third period, South Whitley displayed a well balanced scoring effort which netted 33 points and a 49-22 third-quarter count. Feagler helped spark the Bulldogs in the big third quarter with six points, while Easterday scored four of his 22 total in that period. Larwill also scored more points in the third quarter than in the first half. The Trojan points were also well distributed for the quarter, but Len Brunner, forward, led with three.

South Whitley also won the preliminary game by the close score of 30-27. Plummer paced the Larwill reserves with eight points, while Brubaker was high for South Whitley with nine.

Providence Reds Open Up 2-Point Lead Over The Bisons

By UNITED PRESS

The Providence Reds, who have lost only one game in their last eight starts, opened up a two point lead over the Buffalo Bisons today in the American Hockey League race.

The Reds broke a 1-1 tie with the Springfield Indians with only two minutes and 12 seconds left to play Friday night, but Buddy Boone batted in a pass from Graham Hastings at the 19:07 mark to gain a 2-2 standoff for the Indians.

The Cleveland Barons snapped a twogame losing streak by easily defeating the Pittsburgh Hornets, 7-1, in the only other game played. Cal Stearns, Joe Lund and Gordon Vejprava led the Barons' attack. The win moved Cleveland into a fourthplace tie with the Indians, three points back of third-place Pittsburgh.

In Saturday night action, the Bisons are at Cleveland, Pittsburgh plays host to Providence and Hershey is at Springfield.

Sports Briefs

CLEMSON, S.C. (UP) — Maryland Coach Jim Tatum, accused of wanting to be the TV star in place of his team, was defended today by a spokesman who placed the blame on a contract commitment.

TV Station WTOP of Washington in an "editorial" telecast Friday night criticized Tatum for refusing it permission to film the Maryland-Clemson game here Saturday for presentation on Sunday.

The permission was refused because Tatum has a TV program of his own on Monday night in which he is scheduled to present highlights of the game, Tatum told WTOP by telephone.

DETROIT (UP) — Rookie defenseman Larry Hillman was loaned to Buffalo of the American Hockey League today by the Detroit Red Wings on 24-hour recall.

PAWS FOR REFRESHMENT—It's hard to see how "Fluffy," the cat, can be too refreshed after grappling with her milk bottle. But the feline, owned by the Frank De Pasquales of Cleveland, Ohio, will soon stop her grappling and settle down comfortably to finish her refreshment. The Pasquales' eight-year-old daughter taught Fluffy to use a bottle.

Costa Has Repeat Victory Over Lopes

NEW YORK (UP) — Carmelo Costa's impressive repeat victory over Joey Lopes Friday night and his willingness to arrange a $25,000 guarantee seemed today to have wrapped up a Miami shot at the featherweight crown on Dec. 28.

"Yes, we'll arrange for the $25,000 guarantee," said chunky Costa of Brooklyn, the fourth - ranking feather contender, who again won a unanimous 10-round decision over lightweight contender Lopes of Sacramento, Calif., in their return TV-radio fight at Madison Square Garden.

Co-managers Steve Paris and Jerry Salica backed Costa's statement about the guarantee, which featherweight champion Sandy Saddler has been demanding for his next defense of the 126-pound title.

Charley Johnston, Saddler's pilot declared, "certainly Sandy will defend against Costa — or anyone else — if the twenty-five grand is put up "the Miami date is okay with us."

Twenty-one-year old Carmelo's victory Friday night was doubly impressive because Lopes had won a non-title decision over Saddler earlier this year.

Moreover Lopes was permitted to come in as a full-fledged lightweight Friday night, whereas he had been forced to scale no more than 130 pounds last March 18, when Carmelo's unanimous verdict was 7-2-1, 7-3, 6-3-1. Joey claimed the weight-making weakened him.

Lopes scaled 133 1-4 pounds to Carmelo's 129¾. Costa beat the eighth - ranking lightweight contender by a unison 6-3-1 vote of Referee Al Berl, judge Leo Birnbaum and Judge Frank Fobres. The United Press agreed, 6-2-2. Carmelo was favored at 7-5.

Although Costa is a comparatively light puncher, he out-fought as well as out-boxed the advancing Californian. He was so effective with his body attack that Lopes was a slow-motion performer during the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth rounds. In those sessions not one of the ring officials gave Joey a single round.

Throughout the bout Costa's speed and his shifty bobbing and weaving made Joey miss far more punches than he landed. There were no official knockdowns although a right to the chin spun Costa in the fourth round and caused him to touch the canvas with his gloves. There was no count.

You Can Get Caught In Picker On Last Row Of Corn

LAFAYETTE: — A note of warning was issued today by Dick Wilsey, Purdue University farm safety specialist, for farmers who still have that last field of corn to harvest.

"You can get caught in a picker on the last row as easily as you could have on the first, "Wilsey declared.

With an estimated 60 per cent of the crop picked, scores of farmers have been caught in pickers so far this fall. And none of the victims expected to be injured. "Each thought he was being safe enough when unclogging the picker," Wilsey declared.

Hazards around pickers will become greater as picking conditions become worse. "Don't become disgusted and take unnecessary chances to speed up your operation. It's hard to find a man who thinks he made a bargain by trading a hand for a few bushels of corn in the crib. Time may be lost but a hand may be saved by disengaging the machine," the farm safety specialist warned.

Many operators may have used novel ways to unclog their running pickers so far this season. But that same method may prove fatal during the final hours of the harvest.

Willsey urged farmers not to follow the old adage: "Picker accidents can happen to others but not to me."

"Anyone can be a picker victim unless proper precautions are followed," the Purdue specialist concluded.

The rubber rings used to seal fruit jars are ideal for the bottoms of ash trays, vases or other ware that might damage the finish of furniture.

WE REALLY PRODUCE NOWADAYS—When a farmer and non-farm worker work for an hour today, they produce about three times as much as their counterparts did 45 years ago. The graph above, from National Industrial Conference Board data, shows steady growth of our gross national product in terms of dollar output per man-hour. For example, in 1909, an hour's work by a non-farm worker resulted in a product worth about 98 cents. In 1954, the same hour's work produced about $2.38 worth of goods or services. From 1909 to 1954, factory and other non-farm workers increased their hourly output almost 150 per cent. During the same period farm output rose more than 140 per cent. Inset chart shows that in recent years, farm productivity has outpaced non-farm output per hour. Since 1939 the former has advanced at an annual rate of 3.6 per cent, while non-farm output per man-hour has risen only 2.5 per cent a year. In contrast, farm output rose at the rate of only 1.2 per cent from 1909 to 1939, while factory output per man advanced at the rate of 1.9 per cent a year

Rites To Be Held Monday Afternoon Near Parker

Mrs. Edna May Fletcher, 60, a resident in Thorncreek township five miles north of Columbia City on state road 109, died at 7:10 p.m Friday at Memorial Hospital. She had been in failing health for many years and a patient at the hospital for the past twenty-six days.

She was a native of Henry county, and was born October 29, 1895 a daughter of George and Minnie Bennett Conwell. Following her marriage in the year 1915 to Hewitt H. Fletcher, they started housekeeping on a farm in Deleware county southeast of Muncie. They continued to operate the farm there until moving to the former Ed Hoffer farm west of Cresco in the year 1945. Recently Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher completed a new home on state road 109 where they were residing at the present time. Mrs. Fletcher was a member of the Philadelphia Christian church, in Deleware county.

Good And Bad News For The Past Week On Balance Sheet

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

The Good

1. Pro - American, graft - hating President Ramon M. Magsaysay of the Philippines steam-rollered toward overwhelming victory in a national mid-term election. A direct test of Magsaysay's popularity was provided by a race for nine senate seats. Nationalist Party candidates picked personally by Magsaysay were leading, in partial returns, for eight of the nine seats.

2. Relations between the United States and Yugoslavia were improved further by a cordial one-day conference between Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles and President Titot. The meeting made it increasingly clear that Tito, though he remains a Communist, means to maintain friendly relations with the Western Allies.

3. France completed arrangements to restore Moroccan Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef to his throne under an agreement which will give the protectorate semi - independent status. There was good reason to believe that the agreement might end the long, bitter Morocco crisis.

The Bad

1. Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov shattered all hope that any agreement on the reunification of Germany could be reached in the current Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Geneva, Switzerland. Angered by Molotov's stand, Dulles asked him: "I wonder whether agreements with the Soviet Union are worth much?" He said that Russia was guilty of a "grave breach" of the agreement made at the meeting of the Big Four heads of government in Geneva last July to negotiate an agreement on German unity.

2. President Eisenhower warned, in a statement issued from Fitzsimons Army Hospital in Denver, that the increased tension in Palestine made it all the more imperative that a setlement be found between Israel and the Arab countries. The President appealed to the Russian government, without mentioning it specifically, not to start a Middle Eastern arms race by selling offensive weapons to the Arabs.

3. The South African delegation walked angrily out of the United Nations assembly meeting in New York when that body voted 37-7, with the United States and 12 other countries abstaining, to continue inquiring into the South African government's "apartheid" or race segregation policy. It was a new manifestation of the "colonialism" issue which countries all over the world are raising. France had walked out Sept. 30 when the assembly insisted on debating the "colonial" issue in Algeria. France and South Africa hold that these questions are internal and none of the U.N.'s business.

Mme. Rene Coty Dies Of Heart Attack

PARIS (UP) — Mme. Rene Coty wife of French President Rene Coty, died of a heart attack early today at her country home where she had gone to recover from a strenuous round of Armistice Day celebrations and ceremonies.

She was 68.

Madame Coty, married to the 72 year old president for 48 years, became First Lady of France in December, 1953, when the little known Coty succeeded President Vincent Auriol. Her motherly attitude quickly endeared her to all France.

She was baking her own Christmas cake in the kitchen of her Paris apartment when Coty telephoned her and told her he might be elected president.She put her kitchen in order, wiped her flour-covered hands and dressed in her best dress for the trip to Versailles where the voting was taking place.

She quickly became perhaps the most publicized woman in France and the strenuous round of daily official activities never seemed to tire her or exhaust that patience until late Friday night. She appeared tired while talking with a group of visiting Alsatians but the seriousness of her illness was not realized.

President Was Not Fatigued By Flight

WASHINGTON (UP)—The three physicians attending President Eisenhower said that he was not fatigued by his flight from Denver or the tumultuous reception given him here.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the physicians — Drs. Paul Dudley White, Howard Mc Snyder and Thomas Mattingly — examined Mr. Eisenhower several times during the five-hour flight. They also gave him a "cursory" examination immediately after he set foot in the White House.

The doctors decided that the President showed "absolutely no fatigue," Hagerty said.

Ike Didn't Let The Crowd Down

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Ike didn't let the crowd down.

For a split second there it was, the Eisenhower grin.

It was the grin the world knows, all-out, full-face, gay, and infinitely warming.

"Just like 1945," a man in the crowd said.

But it wasn't, quite.

This was the same man who came back from Europe 10 years ago to receive a hero's welcome and repay his adulators with a happy grin.

It was the same man who came back from the 1952 campaign and stood for five fatiguing hours in the reviewing stand on Inauguration Day, 1953, illuminating the dusk with that king size smile.

But this was a homecoming of a different kind, and none among the 5,000 at the airport was unaware of the difference or unmoved by it.

Away 13 Weeks

This time he had been away only 13 weeks. But seven of those 13 weeks he had spent in a hospital bed and in making a stout recovery from the most thoroughly publicized heart attack in history.

At 4:01 p.m. EST the door of the Columbine III opened, and framed in it a moment later was the charming woman whom Ike calls Mamie. In almost the same moment, there at her side was Ike, his hat in his hand and a quizical furrow across his brow.

That is when the yelling crowd went mad, and that is when the man just come back from Denver gave them what they had come to see.

Grins At Crowd

The line disappeared from his forehead. For an instant almost too brief to notice he squinted over the throng at the sun settling in the west. Then it happened, that grin that made the man say, "just like 1945."

But it wasn't 1945. At Denver, a solicitous Mamie had tucked a hand under the presidential elbow at the top of the ramp and had helped him into the plane.

Here, with more of the world looking on, the President assisted the first lady. The grin faded as he escorted her down half of the 13 steps toward the ceremonial platform.

But there was still a smile, a warm one, when Barbara Eisenhower, the President's daughter-in-law, leaped onto the ramp to plant a kiss on his cheek.

Then there was former President Hoover and Vice President Richard M. Nixon to greet and, while Mamie watched with wifely concern, a few words to say to the crowd.

He was greeted formally with words like "Welcome back, Godspeed in the days ahead." He replied with the simplicity that is as famous as his grin.

"...the doctors have given me at least a parole, if not a pardon...

"I expect to be back at my accustomed duties although they (the doctors) say I'm to ease my way into 'em — not bulldoze my way into 'em...."

Invite A Friend For Thanksgiving

Where will you spent Thanksgiving? Huddled with your family in a dark, cold cave, somewhere in Italy?....helping your children gather scraps of food from garbage dumps in a Berlin refugee camp? Might you be one of millions of people, covered with sores, starving to death painfully and slowly in famine-plagued, India?

Throughout America, families will gather around tables heaped to overflowing with turkey and trimmings on Thanksgiving day. This year, if you're really thankful for all your blessings, why not invite a desperately needy family to share your bounty? You can, you know—for just $1 through CARE's FOOD CRUSADE!

The United States Government has released the dairy products (dry milk, butter and cheese) from its $7 billion worth of surplus food, to CARE for delivery to the world's hungry people. Just $1 will pay the packing and overseas distribution costs of a 20-pound package delivered to needy families in Italy, Greece, Yugoslavia, West Germany and Berlin, India, Pakistan, Hong Kong or Haiti. Each package will bear the name and address of the American donor and will be delivered to the most deserving families chosen by CARE on the basis of greatest need.

When you stop to think about it....the FOOD CRUSADE is a tremendous bargain! For just $1 you'll be feeding a family of four for at least a month .making friends for America and helping to move our surplus, thereby sharing America's abundance. If all American's get behind CARE's FOOD CRUSADE, it could become the greatest humanitarian effort in our history—it could also be a very potent answer to anti-American propaganda and it certainly will be an effective step forward toward world peace and understanding.

If you'd like to set an extra plate at your Thnaksgiving dinner by joining the FOOD CRUSADE, send your dollar or more to: CARE, Chicago.

Wish Inventor James Greco Well With Pat. No. 2,722,153

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—A man in Chicago has a new gimmick whereby the small fry can learn table manners and play a tune on a spoon at the same time.

I wish inventor James Greco well with Pat. No. 2,722,153.

He calls his brainchild a "mechanical eating utensil." It will be produced in sets—knife, fork, and spoon, or can be bought singly.

On the handle of each is a hollow tube, equipped with holes on top, which when blown, can make a noise like a tin whistle or a flute. Tunes like "Yankee Doodle," "The Old Gray Mare" or "Brahm's Lullaby' can be made to come out if one is bright enough to blow hard and old enough to finger correctly.

In Happy Mood

Idea is that music can be made by mama or the kid himself and is supposed to put junior in such a happy mood he will then turn the instrument around the other way and dig like crazy into his mush, grits, or applesauce.

Greco is a little coy in his introduction to the description of his musical eating tools. He says he is aware of the fact that often exasperated mothers have a devil of a time getting Frankie or Patty to swallow their spinach.

Greco let it be known that he spent considerable time coming to the aid of all with his brand new invention.

Inventin' Greco puts it like this in his prose filed with the patent office: The blowing of a tune into the tin-horn end of the spoon, musical eating device will "provoke considerable amusement, sufficient in many instances to distract the child so that he may go on eating his meal while somewhat simuleaneously amusing himself with his noise - provoking spoon, fork or knife, as the case may be."

Pranks With Tunes

He doesn't anticipate any trouble with the highchair set, but trouble may come from mama if the younguns decide to play some pranks along with some tunes.

Say there is alphabetical soup on the tray at lunchtime one day. Junior gives with a little tune. Then he decides to use the spoon end to dip into the soup.

Then, with his mouth full of letters from "A" to "J" he takes himself a deep breath and blows real hard.

Not only does he clog up the musical end of his eating tool, but out comes part of the alphabet and all of the soup on mother's clean dress.

Have you thought of that Mr. Greco? It could happen.

1955 Harvest Ties Farm Production Record Set In 1948

WASHINGTON (UP)— The 1955 harvest of food, fiber, and feed has tied the farm production record set in 1948.

The Agriculture Department's preliminary estimates issued Thursday showed total production of all crops equal to the output in the big harvest seven years ago.

The Crop Reporting Board said the big outpouring of commodities was achieved by record-breaking high yields per acre. The yields more than offset total acreage reduction "with surprising outturns for a number of crops."

The reports, as of Nov. 1, showed production of "considerably more cotton and rice" and "slightly more" corn, sugar beets, dry beans, and sweet potatoes than were estimated a month ago. The estimates were slightly lower for soybeans, sorghum grain, potatoes, tobacco, and peanuts.

The corn crop, the big livestock feed grain weighed in at 3,183,000,000 bushels 2 per cent more than on Oct. 1 and 7 per cent more than 1954 production. The board said the 1955 crop "might easily have been the largest ever" if only one or two general soaking rains had covered the western Corn Belt during late July or early August. Despite unfavorable weather early in the season in the western Corn Belt the corn crop will be the fifth largest on record. The record —3,605,000,000 Bushels—was set 1948.

Other production reports showed soybeans up 8 per cent over last year, sorghum grains up 11 per cent, and potatoes 8 per cent more than a year ago.

By UNITED PRESS

Indiana's 1955 traffic death toll was less than 25 short of the 1,000 mark today as Hoosiers counted at least 18 victims in one of the deadliest weekends of the year.

One wreck killed five, another three, and there were two double fatalities. One smashup was blamed on smoke from burning leaves, another on a cornfield which obstructed the view, and at least one on a rain-slickened pavement.

The year's toll reached 977.

Five Valparaiso persons were killed Friday night when two cars crashed head-on at a curve in Ind. 130 west of Valparaiso. They were Frank D. Bloeman, 43, Mrs. Evelyn Bruhn, 36, Mendel W. Bryarly, 40, and his sons James, 12 and Terry, 10.

Community Chest Could Reach Goal By End Of The Week

The 1955-56 Community Chest of Whitley County campaign could hit its goal of $19,855 by the end of this week, according to a public progress report made today by Clarence Gall, president.

The campaign is within 4.1 per cent of the goal, Gall said. To date, $19,046.71 has been deposited to the Community Chest of Whitley county account.

"There are a very few returns not in, but we hope to have all in by the end of this week and successfully announce the campaign results," Gall added. He urged all volunteer workers who had not forwarded to the Community Chest their results, to do so as soon as possible.

The 1955-56 goal, highest in the four-year history of the Chest in Whitley County, will benefit nine Chest agencies. The nine agencies are the Oportunity School, Anthony Wayne Council and Whitley County Boy Scouts, Whitley County Girl Scouts, Whitley County Cancer Society, Salvation Army, Whitley County Red Cross, Brotherhood of the Blind, Northeastern Indiana Heart Fund and the United Service Organizations.

The Chest president also announced results of the campaign in the various areas of the county as of Saturday. They are Columbia City, $10,315.35; South Whitley and Cleveland township, $3041.97; Churubusco, Blue Lake and Smith township, $2189.45; townships, $2791.76, and schools, $685.18.

Gifts to the Chest still can be made through the Community Chest of Whitley County office in the Columbia City City Hall, Gall pointed out. He suggested that those persons who had not made a gift, do so by the end of this week.

A complete report, giving the results in the various divisions and areas, will be compiled after the goal is reached, Gall said.

Hail, Rain Are Traffic Hazards

Rains and hail in varying amounts fell on Whitley county Sunday evening as a series of thunderstorms passed over this territory.

Hail, with hailstones reported about the size of small hickorynuts, fell south of state road 14 about 7 p.m. Traffic on state road 9 was slowed to a crawling pace and many drivers took to the highway berms that their tires might gain traction. Palace Coup Was Treason General Uranga Says

Announces He Will Resign From The Army

BUENOS AIRES (UP) — Gen. Juan Jose Uranga denounced today as "treason" the palace coup that overthrew President Eduardo Lonardi and said he was resigning from the army to have full freedom of action to fight the move.

The strongly worded statement by Lonardi's transport minister brought into the open the first major rift among the military forces supporting the revolutionary régime that ousted President Juan D. Peron. Some 60 per cent of these remained loyal to Peron during the revolution.

Lonardi was replaced Sunday by a new soldier-president, Maj. Gen. Pedro E. Aramburu, 52 and a four-man council consisting of Lonardi's army navy and air force ministers and vice president Rear Adm. Isaac Rojas, a hero of the revolt against Peron.

Coup Without Bloodshed

The outsing of Lonardi was accomplished without bloodshed but the defiant statement of Uranga and a statement by Lonardi himself that he had not resigned raised the possibility of trouble ahead for the new regime.

Troops cordoned off the Plaza de Mayo but no incidents were reported. The state of siege restriction already in effect were somewhat tightened, but the city was quiet.

Political observers said Lonardi was overthrown because his government was becoming to extreme right-wing. In recent weeks his cabinet had become "packed" with ultra right-wing Catholic Nationalists and there were fears this group would seize power.

Rightist Groups Criticized

Aramburu, in a presidential communique issued early today said Lonardi was overthrown because of the presence of these groups trying to guide Lonardi's policy toward "totalitarian extremism."

One of the first acts of the new president was to restore Dr. Eduardo Busso as minister of interior and acting minister of justice.

It was Busso's resignation and replacement by two members of the extreme right-wing nationalist group that touched off public shouts of "Democracy yes, Nazis no" and led to the downfall of Lonardi.

The government also announced the appointment of Dr. Luis A. Podesta Costa as foreign minister. Podesta Costa, 79, is a well-known authority on international law, friendly to the United States.

Car Hits Pennsy Signals At The Page Crossing

Bonnell Tripcony Unhurt But Car Is Near A Total Loss

Bonnell Tripcony, R 6, resident of Westgate, escaped without injury Sunday morning when he apparently dozed while en route home from his work at the Dana Corporation's Fort Wayne Division and his car left U.S. Highway 30 at the Page crossing and struck the Pennsylvania railroad crossing signals, putting them out of operation until late Sunday.

His car was nearly a total loss. Tripcony, driving his 1952 Pontiac automobile, was westbound on U. S. 30 after working the third trick at the Fort Wayne factory. About 8:43 a.m. as he approached the curve in the highway at the Page crossing, his car continued to follow a straight line, entering the county road which crosses the railroad at this point. When the machine entered the rail crossing it struck the blinker signals which protect the crossing. The signals were knocked down and the car skidded around, stopping with the rear portion of the vehicle on the westbound railroad track.

A Greyhound bus driver on the highway saw the accident and halted his bus. When a westbound freight train approached, he flagged it down.

Railroad signal employes were summoned and restored the signals several hours later.

Damage to the railroad property, according to State Policeman Norman Pierce who investigated the accident, was estimated at $750.

Injured seriously when pinned underneath his auto after it upset on state road 114 near Disco was Richard J. Wagner, 19, Purdue sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs R. J. Wagner, South Whitley.

He submitted to emergency surgery early Sunday morning at Parkview Memorial hospital, Fort Wayne, after the extent of his injuries were first determined at Woodlawn hospital in Rochester. He received a broken back. His condition today was reported as favorable.

Wagner's companion, Miss Barbara Farley, 1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Farley, residents east of North Manchester on state road 114, suffered back and hip injuries. She is a patient in the Rochester hospital.

The accident happened at 12:20 a.m. Sunday about four miles east of Akron near Disco in Wabash county. Wagner was driving a 1954 Packard car eastbound on the blacktop highway which was slippery from rains. He and Miss Farley were en route home after attending the Northwestern-Purdue football game at West Lafayette. Wagner's car, according to State Policeman Wayne, Jordan of the State Police post at Peru, went out of control and swung across the highway onto the north berm. It rolled over three times. Wagner was pinned under the vehicle but was extricated by neighbors in that vicinity.

He and Miss Farley were rushed to the Rochester hospital. When the extent of Wagner's spinal injuries was determined, he was taken to the Fort Wayne hospital for surgery. Damage to the car, according to State Policeman Jordan, will approximate $1,000.

Taxes Paid To Treasurer For Fall Installment

Foster W. Riddick, county treasurer, reports that the total paid in for taxes at the last six month period is $621,840 as compared to $600,892 for the same period in 1954. This amount is for personal, real estate and poll taxes. It does not include the taxes paid to the treasurer for ditches, intangible stamps or taxes paid by the banks on their deposits.

The taxes paid in to the office for the first six month period of this year totalled $804,450. This amount is considerably more than the last six months due to the fact that some of the taxpayers pay their taxes for the full year in May.

Boy Admits His Story Of Assault, Abduction False

Wanted To Give Hope To Heartbroken Mother

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP)—A 14-year-old friend of Chicago's three murdered boys tearfully confessed today that he cooked up a wild story of assault and abduction "to give some hope" to a heartbroken mother.

Tom Fijak, a Boy Scout comrade and honorary pallbearer of two of the slain boys, walked into sheriff's police headquarters late Sunday and announced he had just been kidnaped.

A 6-foot man had forced his way into his home, hit him over the head, and taken him on a three-hour car ride bordering the forest preserve where his murdered friends' bodies were found, Fijak said.

As evidence, he pointed to a lump on his head and torn-out telephone wires and an overturned vase at his home.

But, after hours of intensive questioning, the young Boy Scout broke down and admitted it was all a lie—a white one, he insisted.

He had dreamed up the story out of pity for Mrs. Anton Schuessler, whose two boys were murdered and whose husband died of a grief-induced heart attack last Friday.

He got his inspiration from a "Dead End Kids" movie on television, he said, and overturned the vase and tore out the telephone wires to make it look real.

He also whacked himself over

Suspect Insured His Mother For A Large Amount

Crash Killed 44 Persons

By POLLY WITTE
United Press Staff Correspondent

DENVER (UP) — A handsome ne'er-do-well son who had insured his mother for 37,500 was charged today with planting a dynamite bomb aboard a United Air Lines DCyB that crashed Nov. 1 killing her and 43 other persons.

Bond was set at $100,000.

The suspect, John Gilbert Graham, 23, married and father of two small children, had worked with his mother, Mrs. Daisy King, in operating a drive-in restaurant here.

The sullen, baby-faced Graham, a husky 6-footer, was brought manacled to two FBI agents across the streets from FBI headquarters for a preliminary hearing in the offices of U.S. Commissioner Harold S. Oakes in the federal courthouse.

Suspect Says Nothing

As Graham arrived, federal authorities disclosed for the first time since his arrest earlier today that the government would charge him with placing a dynamite bomb attached to batteries and a timing device in the airliner.

Graham was being held on a technical charge of violating federal statutes that make it an offense to sabotage a national defense materiel establishment or utility. A commercial aircraft includes the latter, FBI agents said.

Graham, his eyes downcast, said nothing as he stood in the commissioner's office awaiting the latter's arrival. The prisoner and the FBI agents were accompanied in

President And Mamie Go To TheirGettysburg Farm Where Eisenhower Will Recuperate

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower, "feeling fine" after a quiet weekend at the White House, worked for a while in his office today and then left by car with Mrs. Eisenhower for their Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

The presidential party left the White House grounds at 9:44 a.m. CST. The trip was expected to take about 2½ hours.

The President, with Mrs. Eisenhower on his arm, walked out of the White House back door smiling and happy. Good naturedly, both posed for photographers for several minutes before stepping into the President's limousine.

The President spent more than an hour in his White House office, working mostly on routine matters. He received, among other things, a report from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on the Geneva talks.

It's Mamie's Birthday

The President's face showed some of the color which he apparently picked up Saturday and Sunday during some mild practice work on the White House putting green.

Mamie responded gaily with a "Thank you" when assembled reporters and photographers wished her happy birthday. She is 59 today.

Mr. Eisenhower's work in his White House office this morning was the first since Aug. 14.

The Chief Executive — after a weekend of rest and mild exercise at the White House—was ready to step up his schedule a little today. He planned a brief speech in Gettysburg's flag - bedecked Lincoln Square to thank his townsmen for

CANNES, France (UP) — The Aga Khan said today his son, Prince Aly Khan, is a big boy now and can handle his own romantic problems,

The Aga denied a published report that he welcomed Ali's proposed marriage to beauteous Paris cover girl Bettina because it would be "less of a rio" than the Rita Hayworth-Aly Khan match.

"I don't know what my son is up to," the aging Moslem sect leader said. "He's perfectly free to do exactly what he wants."

For himself, Aly said he was getting a little put out at press reports of his romantic life. "One day I'm remarried to Rita Haywroth and the next day it is Bettina," he said.

BRIGHTON, England UP)—The first American ever to attempt the famous ancient car rally from London puffed into this southern resort town Sunday night after spending half of his seven-hour running time on repairs.

George MacKay Schieffelin of New York piloted his 1903 Prescott steamer along the course with 180 other cars 50 years or older. Only seven of the original starters dropped out.

The oldest car in the race, a one and one-half horsepower Arnold Dogcart built in 1896, made the run in four and one-half hours without a breakdown.

LONDON (UP) —The education committee of Croydon announced today it had rejected a proposal that boys and girls from five schools be combined into a single co-educational school.

Contractor Shoots Wife And Children, Then Shoots Self

By FRED PARKER
United Press Staff Correspondent

MILWAUKEE (UP)—A 41-year-old successful plumbing contractor, described as an ideal family man, shot his wife and three children today, then set fire to their bodies before turning the gun on himself, police reported.

The death victims were Elmore Buckethal, his wife, Mildred, 40, Bonnie Lynn, 12, Cynthia, 10, and Thomas, 8.

Police said Buckethal a regular churchgoer and non-drinker, apparently set fire to his downtown plumbing supply store before going to his home in fashionable Shorewood in the early morning hours and killing his family.

Shorewood Police Chief Emil Bartels said Buckethal apparently opened a quart can of No. 10 motor oil and loaded a .22 caliber automatic pistol in the kitchen. Then he went upstairs, the chief said, and shot his wife in bed and the children in their bedrooms. Next he set individual fires to the bodies and shot himself in the head.

The wife's body was found near the doorway of their bedroom, the little girls were in bed and the boy lay crumpled near his doorway. All of them were badly burned but the fire was confined to the floor around the bodies.

Erwin Balfanz, Mrs. Buckethal's brother, said he knew of no conceivable reason for Buckethal's action.

"They got along beautifully," Balfanz said. "They were a very happy family."

He said Buckethal had been in good health and had suffered no mental disorder.

The murders were discovered when Milwaukee detectives Jesse Sandow and Joe Miszewski went to the Buckethal home about 5 a.m. to notify him of the fire in his plumbing shop. They saw smoke coming from the two-story Spanish type yellow brick house and called the Shorewood fire department.

Detectives said they believed an explosion preceded the plumbing shop fire, which they said was apparently a case of arson.

Executive Kills Wife And Two Sons, Commits Suicide

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UP) — Evidence uncovered today indicated a wealthy executive murdered his wife and two sons and committed suicide because of a scandal involving his selling $60,000 worth of stolen bank note paper.

J. Loring Brooks, the president of the Brooks Co. Inc., told police Allison R. Sanger admitted to him Tuesday the theft of the unprinted paper, which he said he had sold to "outside sources over the past five years."

Brooks said the company manufactures paper for bonds, banknotes and foreign currency, but stolen paper.

Police said there was no indication whether the "outside sources" might have included counterfeiters.

The triple murder and suicide was discovered Sunday when a newsboy looked in the window of the Sanger home and sa wthe body of Sanger s 45-year-old wife, Winnifred, a bullet wound in her throat, lying on a couch. A .32 caliber revolver was nearby.

Police found the body of one son, Allison R. Jr., 14, in an upstairs bedroom. His throat had been slashed with a kitchen knife. The body of the youger boy, Russell, 8 was found in a hallway, knife wounds in his stomach.

Sanger, 47, vice president and general manager of the company was found in the bathroom dead of revolver wounds.

Police set the time of the tragedy at about 9 p.m. Saturday.

Brooks said Sanger indicated that he would resign from the firm. Brooks said he told him that the company would not prosecute.

As of Saturday, Sanger had not been dismissed nor had any resignation been received, Brooks said.

Brooks said that Sanger did not tell him to whom he had been selling the paper.

Springfield neighbors described the Sangers as a "quiet, church-going family," and "real good neighbors who never bothered anybody."

Mamie Has Nice Birthday Present

WASHINGTON (UP)—One of the nicest presents Mamie Doud Eisenhower could have on her 59th birthday today was her return home to Gettysburg.

The First Lady has made no bones about the fact that her heart has been at Gettysburg since the Eisenhower's farm residence there became their first real home in 39 years of married life.

But, more important, the trip home marked another step forward in the President's road to recovery.

Because of her love for the handsome, redecorated home and its 189 rolling acres, it was inevitable that some of the presents she got today would be "something for the house."

Her husband, family and friends on other recent gift-giving occasions have chosen such items as fireplace tools and mantles for the farmhouse which were received with delight.

Sen. George Bender (R-Ohio) entered into the spirit of the day by sending as his birthday token a box full of assorted gay gloves designed for amateur gardeners' wear.

Besides being back home with a much-improved husband, Mrs. Eisenhower could be happy for another reason—she doesn't look her 59 years.

With three strenuous years as White House hostess behind her, and despite her trying vigil at Denver—where she was reported to have lost 14 pounds—Mrs. Eisenhower today looks just like the smiling, cheerful woman who waved at crowds from the rear of campaign trains in 1952.

Martin P. Durkin, Former Secretary Of Labor, Dies Sunday

WASHINGTON (UP)—Martin P. Durkin, the first labor secretary in President Eisenhower's Cabinet, died Sunday after a lingering battle with a brain tumor. He was 61.

Durkin had been on the critical list at Georgetown Hospital since August when he suffered a relapse from his second brain operation within a year.

Before suffering the relapse, Durkin had recovered sufficiently from the second operation to return to work.

He had been in a coma for several weeks before his death and did not know that his wife and three sons were at the hospital when the end came.

Funeral services will be held in Chicago. Arrangements have not been completed.

Durkin, a Democrat, had a short but explosive career as labor secretary. He resigned in eptember, 1953, claiming the administration had reneged on a pledge to support his proposals for amending the Taft-Hartley law.

Durkin was surprised when Mr. Eisenhower chose him to be in his Cabinet. The late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) called the nomination of the president of the AFL Plumbers and Pipefitter "incredible."

Taft pointed out that Durkin had supported Adlai E. Stevenson for president against Mr. Eisenhower, had campaigned for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act and was a lifelong Democrat.

Russell Tongay Makes Escape From Florida Prison Guard

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Russell Tongay, serving 10 years for the death of his famous "Aquatot" daughter, Sunday night escpaed from a Florida prison guard who brought him here for a lung examination.

The once-burly, ex-Coast Guardsman had obtained approval of the trip from Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida on a plea that he is dying of lung cancer or tuberculosis. He was to have been examined today.

Guard Jimmie C. Simmons of the Florida State Prison said Tongay "played possum" when they had a minor auto accident on arriving Sunday afternoon and later sprinted from custody at a downtown restaurant.

"He may be sick but he sure can run," Simmons said wryly.

Tongay has served one day less than six months of his sentence in an unprecedented manslaughter conviction for forcing his daughter Kathy, 5, to make a fatal, 33-foot dive at Miami Beach on May 3, 1953.

Tongay's rigid training of Kathy and Bubba, then 9, aroused bitter criticism. In 1952 the governments of France and Great Britain indignantly refused to let the Aquatots try to swim the English Channel.

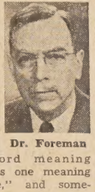
Powers of God

Lesson for November 20, 1955

JESUS no doubt did many ordinary things, such as paying his bills and eating his breakfast. It may well be that he "never did an ordinary thing in an ordinary way." (How would he pay you what he owed for lumber for his carpenter shop? How would he be as a breakfast companion?) But it is also true by all the records that he did some extraordinary things, so extraordinary in fact that no one word could quite describe them. The Gospel writers, all, of whom of course used Greek, used sometimes a word meaning "Sign," sometimes one meaning "wonder, miracle," and sometimes one that means "power." The same Greek words is translated in different ways. For example: the Greek word "dynamis" (power) is translated in the old King James version "power" in Luke 5:17, "virtue" in 6:19, "mighty works" in 10:13, "miracles" in Acts 2:22.



Dr. Foreman

No Show-off

You can get into all kinds of stupid and endless arguments over the "miracles" of the New Testament. They are not always labeled as such, or labeled with any word. The Gospels will just tell what Jesus did, and let the reader draw his own conclusions. What they all agree on is that Jesus performed acts of power which no one else could match. He did these things as naturally as you would pick a blackberry —as naturally but perhaps not so easily. As he himself expressed it, he could perceive "power" going out of him. (Luke 8:46, R.S.V.) However hard it may be to understand Jesus' miracles, we can confidently say three things about them. One is that he did not do them "just to be doing them." They were never aimless, or at random. Further, they never had the aim of showing off. To the end of his days Jesus was beset by demands from the Pharisees and others, to show a "sign from heaven." One of his early temptations was to cast himself down from a pinnacle of the Temple and expect God or his angels to see that he did not get hurt in the fall. But he did not yield to that temptation.

Never Too Much

Another striking fact about his miracles is that he never wasted power. He never did what others could do. When he fed the five thousand, he got the people to sit down in orderly fashion and got his disciples to help distribute the food. One would suppose it would have been just as easy for him to arrange for every person present to find a loaf and a fish suddenly in his hand; but Jesus did not work that way. Or again, after the tremendous miracle of restoring to life the little daughter of Jairus, Jesus—instead of producing lunch for her himself by a miracle—gives orders to the family to get the little girl something to eat. When he healed the paralytic, he told him to pick up his pallet and go home.

He Went About Doing Good

Simon Peter, who was far more impressed by Jesus' miracles than by what he said, summed up a great deal when he said that Jesus, endowed with divine power, "went about doing good." (Acts 10:38.) Our Lord's acts of power were always done for the help of other persons. This is the great distinction between Christ's miracles and those done, or allegedly done, by magic. Your typical magic-worker makes a doll and sticks pins in it, hoping by this means to inflict pain or death on some one. Whether or not magic is anything real, magic is malicious by intention. Jesus' miracles on the contrary were never malicious, but the exact opposite—they were acts of goodness and generous help. Jesus never called up genies out of bottles, he never created fire-breathing dragons, he never produced potions of love or death. All his miracles simply restored health, life, strength, gave food to the hungry, eyes to the blind . . . yes, and good news to the poor. For in listing for John the Baptist's benefit the acts of power he was doing, he names as climax not the raising of the dead, but the coming of good news to the poor. That is a miracle we still too seldom see!

Television Now Is Out To Endanger Our Housekeeping

HOLLYWOOD (UP) —Television already has the populace trapped, dinner in hand, by their sets at night. Now TV is out to endanger the nation's housekeeping by introducing "nighttime TV" in the daytime.

This program, "Matinee Theater," is TV's first daily hour live dramatic show. Pat Weaver, NBC's whirlwind-in-glasses, was inspired to start daytime dramas that would not be soap opera to uplift the housewife's fare.

The nighttime - type program drew rave reviews. The schedule consists mainly of "women's stories," some tinged with soap. But such stories as "Wuthering Heights", "Arrowsmith', and "the White Oaks of Jalna' also will be used.

Producer Albert McCleery, however, denies that such fare will shape the nation's society by keeping ladies away from their menus and moppets.

"Some women are able to get their housework organized and have an hour of leisure to watch television," he said. "With electric sweepers and washing machines, no woman can complain she's as busy as her grandmother was.

"After all," he added, "women buy 70 per cent of merchandise and they are our most valuable market. Why not have a good show for them?

"We also have shut-ins and hospital patients in mind. The history of matinees show they are profitable. Stage stock companies al ways had matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays to keep them going."

"Matinee Theater" will include mystery tales and even war yarns. Womens magazines, say the producer, print Ernest Hemingway stories "and we are patterning our show after those magazines." The program also will repeat this year 25 dramas already aired on nighttime shows such as "Kraft Theater."

Guardsmen To End Patrol Of Eastern Indiana Strike Area

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — Adj. Gen. Harold A. Doherty today ordered National Guardsmen to end their patrol of eastern Indiana's strike area Wednesday.

That will be six weeks to the day after workers inside the Perfect Circle Corp. foundry at New Castle echanged shots with CIO United Auto Workers pickets and sympathizers. Nine persons were wounded.

As many as 1,000 troops guarded the plants at New Castle, Hagerstown and Richmond at one time. Recently, 27 Guardsmen have been in the area, and last week they stood watch while workers voted UAW out of the Hagerstown and Richmond plants.

Doherty was advised by Maj. Elmer J. Jackson, the troop commander, that "everything is perfectly quiet and there is no reason to keep troops on duty any longer."

Mayor Paul McCormack of New Castle was "very reluctant" to have the troops leave, Doherty said, "but the state can't afford to keep them there on the supposition something might happen."

He said a Guard unit, possibly from Anderson, will be placed on a two-hour alert, ready to move into the area if trouble develops.

It cost Indiana about $200 daily to keep Jackson's 27-man unit from South Bend, Warsaw and Marion in the area, and the total cost of the Guard operation will be about $140,000, Doherty estimated.

Egypt And Israel Charge New Truce Violations Erupt

JERUSALEM (UP)—Both Egypt and Israel charged today that new truce violations had erupted along the explosive Gaza strip border area and Israel accused Jordanian infiltrators of trying to blow up a house.

Maj. Dan Gov, Israeli military spokesman, announced that an Israeli patrol passing along the armistice line was fired on by Egyptian military positions Sunday.

Gov said the patrol did not return the fire and suffered no casualties.

At Gaza, an Egyptian military spokesman said Egyptian coastal batteries opened fire on an Israeli military launch which penetrated Egyptian territorial waters off Gaza. He said the launch immediately fled to Israeli waters.

It was announced later that Israel had invited Egypt and Syria to exchange war prisoners in their hands for prisoners held by the Israeli government.

their walk across the street from FBI headquarters by United Air Lines President W.A. Patterson and two other UAL officials.

It appeared that if Graham's connection with the bomb plot crash of the big airliner, which crashed in a flaming explosion in a sugar beet field near Longmont, Colo., were proved he could be charged in state courts with the murder of any or all of the 44 victims.

Convicted of Forgery

Two Colorado district attorneys said they were considering such a possibility.

The penalty for sabotage of a national defense utility is a $10,000 fine or 10 years in prison or both, but if Graham were convicted of murder in a state court, he would face the maximum penalty of death in the gas chamber.

At the time of his arrest, Graham had been making monthly payments as restitution after being convicted in November, 1951, of forging $4,200 in bad checks. His five-year sentence was suspended on condition that the money be repaid. Mrs. King repaid $2,500 of the amount and $105 remained to be paid when Graham was arrested today.

Graham also served a 60-day jail sentence late in 1951 after being convicted of an illicit liquor charge in Lubbock, Tex., the FBI said.

No Details of Arrest

The FBI said details of Graham's arrest would be made public at tne arraignment.

Authorities confirmed that he was arrested in Denver, although he was not at home at the time.

The ill-fated plane was en route to San Francisco and the Northwest.

The plane, en route from Denver to Seattle, exploded in flight and crashed into a sugar beet field nar the northern Colorado community 18 minutes after it took off from Denver.

The FBI wasc alled in to assist officials of the Civil Aeronautics Authority and the Civil Aeronautics Board in investigating the crash after it appeared explosives may have been placed aboard the plane.

ADVERTISING
by selling more goods to more people
MAKES YOUR JOB MORE SECURE

NO matter what your job today, it depends on "good business." And someone has said that in the American business system, nothing can be accomplished until "something is sold."

You know the truth of this. Falling sales mean pay cuts, layoffs, fear. Increased sales mean better pay, promotions, more security in every job for every man.

Advertising is the low-cost, efficient way to sell goods. Advertising is the spark plug of business. So advertising, by selling goods, makes your job, your home, your income more secure!

Other Ways Advertising Helps You:

1. Brings you better goods for less money.
2. Makes shopping more pleasant and easier.
3. Has given us the world's highest standard of living.

PEN NOTES

By PI EPSILON NU

Editor's note: These original poems were written by members of Pi Epsilon Nu Sorority.

FALL FEVER

Today's the day that I could write the Masterpiece I dream of.
The grass is waving ocean, and
The sky's eye-blue above.
The autumn days continue in a
Mild and lovely pattern,
And as a housewife I could be Described as slightly slattern.

But the storm windows must be put up,
The window stripping on,
And I find upon inspection,
Most of the putty's gone.
A hole in the foundation, lets
The little field mice in,
And everyday I find more clues,
To point to where they've been.

My club meets in November,
So my curtains must be done,
And I must do transplanting,
While there's still October sun.
Each day I watch the setting sun,
As it glorifies the west, —
Tonight I'll seek seclusion and
Make with the anapaest.

But I'm coming on to fifty,
And my glasses must be changed,
And round about eight thirty
My thoughts get so deranged.
They are somewhat like the edges
Of a piece of paper, torn, —
Sort of ragged, and my masterpiece
Remains as yet unborn.

The words all run together,
I find I'm getting sleepy,
So I put away my notebook,
And crawl into my teepee.

DEAI END

I read another's composition once,
And half way through the reading
An inspiration came to me;
A thought, came mutely pleading
To be developed to a worthwhile thing.
My stubborn eyes kept following the lines,
And after tugging at my mind awhile
It left, - the way a child resigns
Itself to being over looked
Sometimes, when grownups don't respond.

I raised my eyes and tried to call it back,
But it had gone beyond
Recall. If I had stopped,
And put upon the page, the thought
That came to spend an hour with me,
Who knows, it might have grown and grown,
Like waves expanding from a pebble dropped
Into a pool.

But I read on, and on, —
My mind became the mirrored pool
Reflecting thoughts some other mind had penned,
And I remained a simple tool
For great thoughts to dead-end.

TRIBUTE TO A FRIEND

My yesterdays are entertainment houses I visit now and then.
I go alone,
But oftentimes, I find you there, old friend;
And though you cannot know it, I am prone
To catch myself conversing with you, underneath my breath.

Then I recall
The things we talked about before your death,
Thoughts we shared, the walk we took last fall.
Remembering, I do not weep, for you have found a lasting peace.
I think I know
Somehow, somewhere you found the Golden Fleece,
Before your restless spirit ceased to glow.

THIS HOUR IS YOUR HOUR

Summer, winter, seedtime and harvest
As long as the earth shall stand....
Grain by grain through the hour glass
The sand is measured by God's hand.

The dust of the ages under our feet
Is the dust of certain dreams
Drifting through the sandbars of life
Discarding all of our schemes.

By day and night the harvest is reaped
As we sow and try again;
heeding trouble nor thestrife,
Neither heeding trouble nor the strife,
For courage is born in pain.

When faith leads on to distant fields
With a heart of new-born hope,
The souls of men break out in song
In the journey up the slope.

MY HOOSIER HOME

I think my lovely Hoosier home,
Is such a happy place;
In summer every bush and tree
Wear dresses of green lace.

The sun spreads butter on the fields,
The daisies curtsy low;
The clovers wave their purple caps
To yellow Golden-Glow.

The slender shadows lie and rest,
Beside an apple tree,
And Golden wheat bows low its head;
To dance all billowy.

I want these scenes to follow me,
Wherever I abide,
Because such beauty makes me feel
All safe and satisfied.

THROUGH ETERNITY WITH YOU

My heart records the sunny hours with you -
It never once has made room for a cloud.
Remembers only the kind things you do -
No torrid winds or thundercrashing loud.

You have a special place within my heart
As long as I shall live I want you there -
Although no mortal sense someday we'll part -
Our soul entwined forever, - is my prayer.

In mind to live - forever knowing Truth.
For this ond mortal shell - is but a sieve,
A temporary shelter through out youth -
Unitl - in mind alone - we both shall live.

We'll live and more - acquainted with the Cause
That governs only by Creative Laws.

THE BRIDGE

Over a bridge called the Golden Gate,
To the Redwood Empire, stately and great,
I paid the toll, whatever the rate.

On past the dangers dark and wide,
Over the bridge, man's safety and guide,
I landed there at eventide.

Over a bridge, the world, I may
Reach the Gold Empire on God's highway,
I pay no toll—there is no toll to pay.

On past the pitfalls vast and wide,
Over the bridge that God supplied,
I long to land at my eventide.

May joy cry out, "Dear God, how bright,—
With these dear words shining on my right:
'At eventide it shall be light!"

Bears Tie Rams For Western Division Lead, Cleveland Browns Have Edge, Eastern Race

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Bears, picked by their coach to lose two more games, tied the Los Angeles Rams for the National Football League's Western Division lead today while the Cleveland Browns, victims of a brilliant Philadelphia Eagle rally, nursed a one-game edge in the Eastern race.

"I think we'll lose two more and we could lose three or four," Coach George Halas said after his Bears walloped the Rams Sunday, 24-3. The Bears reeled of their fifth straight victory to deadlock the Rams with five triumphs and three defeats. Each of the 12 clubs has four more games.

While the Bears tightened the Western race before 50,187 Chicago fans, the Eagles unleased one of the league's finest rallies to upset the champion Browns, 33-17. Cleveland, trying for its seventh straight victory, took a 17-0 lead in the first 12 minutes. But quarterback Adrian Burke led a comeback that dumped the champions before a standing room crowd of 39,303 Shibe Park fans.

Cut Browns' Lead

The Washington Redskins took advantage of Philadelphia's triumph and cut Cleveland's lead to a game by shutting out the San Francisco Forty-Niners, 7-0. But the New York Giants ruined Baltimore's chance to deadlock the Rams and Bears for the Western lead by defeating the Colts, 17-7.

In the other games, the Detroit Lions stopped a last-second scoring bid by the Pittsburgh Steelers to win, 31-28, and the Green Bay Packers defeated the Chicago Cardinals, 31-14.

Cleveland now has a 6-2 record Washington is 5-3 and Pittsburgh is third in the Eastern Division with a 4-4 mark. The Rams and Bears (both 5-3) are only a game ahead of the Colts and Packers (both 4-4) in the close Western scramble.

The Bears got all their points in the first 19 minutes. Quarterback Ed Brown got off an 84-yard scoring pass to Harlon Hill and a 35-yard TD toss to Gene Schroeder. Chick Jagade plunged a yard for the other Bear TD and George Blanda kicked a 24-yard field goal. Lou McFadin's 41-yard field goal in the final minute saved the Rams from a shutout.

Burke threw two scoring passes to Bill Stribling to pull the Eagles within range of the Browns and then scored the winning touchdown on a one-yard plunge early in the final quarter. Bob Hudson set it up by blocking a Horace Gillom punt on the Cleveland five.

Three-Point Victory

Detroit took a 24-7 lead into the last quarter and escaped with a three-point victory when the Steelers thrilled 34,441 Pittsburgh fans with three touchdowns in the last 15 minutes. Jim Finks hit Sid Watson with a final pass and Detroit's Jack Christiansen and Jim David stopped him inches from the Lion goal line as the final gun sounded.

Bert Zagers scored Washington's touchdown on a 13-yard run after end Gene Brito set it up by forcing Y. A. Tittle to fumble and recovering the ball.

Ben Agajanian's 32-yard pass to Ken MacAfee provided New York's points. The Colts scored in the final minutes on George Shaw's pass to Jim Mutscheller.

Quarterback Tobin Rote made one touchdown and threw scoring passes to Gary Knafelc, Bill Howton and Al Carmichael to lead Green Gay's attack. Rookie passer Ogden Compton and Dick Lane collaborated on a 98-yard pass - run touchdown for the Cardinals.

Etna-Troy Winner Of Junior High Game

The Etna-Troy and Thorncreek Junior high basketball game which was played Thursday at the Thorncreek school gave the high scoring Etna-Troy team a win of 25 to 7 over the host team.

The first quarter of the game Etna-Troy led by 10 points and at half-time they led 12-1. At the third quarter count the score was 21-7. The Thorncreek team's score remained the same at the close of the game while Etna-Troy scored two more baskets making the final score Etna-Troy 25, Thorncreek 7.

By UNITED PRESS

The Fort Wayne Pistons finally were "squared away" today to defend their Western Division title in the National Basketball Association.

Beaten in their first three starts of the season, the Pistons broke into the win column Sunday night when they took command late in the third period and went on to a 93-79 victory over the Syracuse Nationals. The New York Knickerbockers won their fourth straight game, 94-91, over the Rochester Royals in the only other game.

Larry Foust scored 19 points and Bob Houbregs 22 to lead the Pistons, while John Kerr tallied 16 for the Nationals. Fort Wayne outshot Syracuse, 34-28 from the field and 25-23 from the free throw circle.

The Royals made 37 field goals to New York's 29 but the Knickerbockers sank 36 of 42 free throws to earn their triumph. Ray Felix, who sank 12 of 13 foul shots, led the Knicks with 18 points. Maurice Stokes, prize rookie from St. Francis (Pa.), led Rochester with 19.

Canadiens Triumph Over Hawks 2-0

By UNITED PRESS

Jean Beliveau, Maurice and Henri Richard and Boom Boom Geoffrion hog most of the headlines but goalie Jacques Plante has been every bit as valuable to the Montreal Canadiens in their bid to take an early stranglehold on first place in the National Hockey League.

The 26-year-old native of Shawinigan Falls, Que., who often wanders out from his net to chat with Montreal defensemen, scored his second straight shutout and fifth of the year Sunday night in the Canadiens' 2-0 triumph over the Chicago Black Hawks. Plante's five shutouts already match his entire output during the 1954-55 season.

The victory enabled the Canadiens to retain their five-point hold on first place, although the New York Rangers moved into undisputed possession of second place via a 4-1 win over the Toronto Maple Leafs. The Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings played a scoreless tie in the other game.

M. Richard took a pass from Henri to score Montreal's first goal and his eighth of the season at 19:-15 of the second period and Beliveau tallied his 10th goal at 18:10 of the third session. Plante had 29 saves compared to 28 for Al Rollins.

At New York, Andy Bathgate scored one goal and assisted in the other three as the Rangers dealt the injury - riddled Maple Leafs their fifth straight defeat. At Boston, Capt. Ted Lindsay of the Red Wings was handed a total of $75 in automatic fines for a 10 - minute misconduct and game misconduct penalty in the final period. The fines came after he and Red Kelly argued with Referee Frank Udvari when Detroit goalie Glenn Hall was penalized for holding the puck more than three seconds.

East, West Germany To Compete As One Nation In Olympics

BERLIN (UP)—East and West Germany reached their first major agreement in an international field since the end of World War II today when they agreed to send a single national team to the 1956 Winter Olympics at Cortina D'Ampezzo, Italy.

Dr. Karl Ritter von Halt, president of the West Germany Olympic Committee and Heinz Schoedel, his East German counterpart, announced that the team will be composed of 68 athletes in skiing, ice hockey, bobsledding, figure skating and speed skating.

They added that the nomination of the teams will be made strictly on the basis of the candidates' achievements and physical form.

Arguments over the makeup of the team were already beginning, however, because of the West Germans' belief that their athletes are more experienced in international competition. The West German Bobsled Association suggested last month that the national committee name only West German bobsledders for that reason and West German hockey officials suggested 10 days ago that East German selections to the sextet be limited to three players.

Also left undecided was the question of who should be the head of the team.

West Germany competed in both the 1952 winter and summer Olympic games, winning the twin and four-seated bobsled championships.

Two Cases Filed In Circuit Court

An affidavit was filed in the circuit court against Victor L. Hampton on November 10, which states that Hampton unlawfully secreted an automobile without the consent of the mortgagee, the Churubusco State Bank.

Aircraft Gear Employes Federal Credit Union has filed a complaint in circuit court on a note against Jerry Fry.

The complaint asks for the unpaid balance due on the note plus interest in the sum of $791.01.

The complaint was filed by Fred H. Taylor, attorney of Fort Wayne.

Pierceton Has Six Returning Lettermen, Cubs Have Split Two Games So Far In Season

First foe for the Columbia City cage squad will be the Pierceton Cubs Tuesday at Pierceton. With their season already underway, the Cubs have already won one and lost one game.

Pierceton has turned its attention to basketball, but Cub fans are pleasantly remembering the 1955 baseball season which was ended by Pierceton winning the county championship. Coach Niles, of Pierceton, has six lettermen back from the 1954-55 team, which compiles an overall record of 17-7, so this year's aggregation should record another successful season.

In Pierceton's opening games, the scoring has been well-balanced, according to Coach Niles. Watters, Derf, Mort, and the Slusher brothers, John and Dick, have scored evenly. The first game was a victory over Syracuse, 67-63, and last week Leesburg downed the Cubs 44-30.

Returning Lettermen

Pierceton does not have a great deal of height on this year's team, as the Slusher brothers who stand close to 6-0 are the tallest boys on the varsity. They are two of the returning lettermen. Both play forward, and John is a junior, while Dick is a senior. Watters, a 5-9 senior guard; Derf, 5-11, senior forward; Mort, 5-6 senior guard; and Gebert are the other four returning lettermen.

Coach Johnson has not yet indicated which five will start the opener for the Eagles.

The preliminary game Tuesday at Pierceton will begin at 7:00, with the varsity tilt following at about 8:15.

Courchesne-Berrios 10-Rounder Tonight

NEW YORK (UP)—Lightweight Bobby Courchesne of Holyoke Mass., and Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico were quoted at "even money" today for their 10-round television fight at St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

Each is a speedy, swarming type of fighter.

It will be Courchesne's third TV appearance at St. Nick's. He stopped Tony Puleo there on Sept 15, but lost a decision to Lulu Perez in a thriller on Oct. 10.

Left-hooker Berrios will be engaging in his first New York main event although he had a couple in Brooklyn. At 23, Berrios is two years older than Courchesne; but he has had only 16 professional bouts for a 12-4-0 record. Bobby had 42, for a 36-4-2 record.

Berrios was impressive in his last bout on Oct. 21, when he won the decision over Harold Smith in a semi-final at Madison Square Garden. That was his first fight since a two-year hitch in the Army. Earlier this year he had two scraps while in uniform and dropped decisions to Pedro Tesis and Joe Wilkinson He hadn't trained much for either.

Before becoming a G.I., Miguel—then a featherweight — was a very bright prospect. His outstanding victory was a decision over Henry (Toothpick) Brown of Philadelphia. Brown stopped Libby Manzo last week.

Courchesne won eight of 10 fights this year, four by kayoes. He has knocked out 15 of his 42 opponents Berrios belted out but one of his 16. Miguel never was stopped. Bobby was stopped once.

the head with a brick and "Boy, it hurt," he told some of Chicago's top police officials.

Story Stirs Storm

Earlier, Fijak's story had stirred up a storm at investigative headquarters. He lives only a block from the Schuessler home and it was hoped that the killer had at last provided a break in the case.

But the boy's shamefaced confession left police back where they started, with no tangible clues or leads.

Four weeks ago, the Schuessler boys, John, 13, and Anton, 11, were murdered along with their friend 13-year-old Robert Peterson on Chicago's Northwest Side.

Two days after the murder, on Oct. 18, their nude, mutilated bodies were found dumped in a forest preserve ditch. An all-out manhunt failed to turn up a single clue and the tragedy became greater last week when Schuessler died, leaving his wif alone in the world.

Fijak, his eyes red from tears, told officials "I wanted to give Mrs. Shuessler some hope that the killer would be found."

Pledge Of Ousted President Eases Threat Of War

Luz Will Accept New Government

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP)— A threat of civil war eased today with the pledge of ousted President Carlos Luz to accept the new government of Brazil "to avoid bloodshed."

Luz said he would offer no resistance to the military coup that overthrew him and installed Nereu Ramos in his place.

Tension began building up when Luz returned to Rio harbor aboard the crusader Tamandare, aboard which he had fled the capital with a number of supporters at the outset of the bloodless revolt.

He remained aboard ship part of the day and then was brought ashore and held in the naval arsenal. Brazilian marines armed with tommyguns stood guard.

He was released Sunday night and went to his apartment. There he gave United Press an exclusive interview in which he renounced any claim to the presidency.

Feared Change Of Mind

Although he had said earlier he would not resist the new government, it had been feared he might change his mind when he returned to Rio and urge his supporters in the military to fight.

But he acknowledged, instead, that "the presidency has passed to Hereu."

"I plan to resign the presidency of the chamber of deputies, probably in the next meeting, so as to avoid any judicial situation," he said.

Luz became acting president when Joao Cafe Jr., who succeeded to the presidency after the death of President Getulio Vargas, suffered a heart attack and took a leave of absence to recover.

Elected Acting President

Nereu, president of the Senate, was elected by the Senate and Chamber of Deputies to be acting president until the inauguration of President - elect Juscelino Kubitschek next January.

The revolt, led by Army Minister Gen. Henrique Teixeira Lott, was staged to prevent a coup by a group of army officers who sought to prevent Kubitschek from taking office.

Luz admitted that Lott's swift "preventive coup" had "developed so fast that I couldn't do anything about it."

After he had gone aboard the Tamandare and received reports of the military and political situation throughout the country, he said he ordered ousted Air Minister Brig. Eduardo Gomes "to cease all resistence."

3 Seamen Die Aboard Radar Sentry Vessel

Fuel Tank Explodes, Fire Sweeps Ship

NEW YORK (UP)—Navy ships today towed a fire-blackened radar sentry vessel toward a ship yard here where experts will search for th cause of a fire in which three samen died and two others wr injurd.

The USS Searcher, a converted World War II Libert ship, was swept by fire 125 miles at sea Sunday when a fuel tank exploded and burst into flames.

The Navy reported today that the bodies of two seamen, trapped in the ship's hold, had been found. They had been missing since fire broke out in the radar sentinel's starboard fuel tank at 6 a.m. Sunday.

The Searcher had just started a 30-day patrol in the Atlantic Ocean east of Cape May, N. J., as a floating link in the Continental Air Defense Command's chain of vessels and planes guarding the nation against attack.

The 10,800-ton vessel carrying a crew of 14 officers and 170 men was crusing through the Atlantic some 125 miles southeast of New York City when the disaster struck.

A second plane arrived an hour later at about the same time as the Ingham.

Three injured seamen were transferred to the Coast Guard cutter Ingham and then to two planes which flew them to the Coast Guard air station at Floyd Bennet Field, Brooklyn. From there they were flown by helicopter to the St. Albans Naval Hospital.

Fireman Dennis Cook of Milligan College, Tenn., was pronounced dead at the hospital. The other men, Boilerman 2-c Calvin H. Crisp, of Newport, R. I., and Fireman Lelund Terry, Memphis, Tenn., were reported in critical condition.

The fire was brought under control at 11:32 a.m. more than five hours after it started.

BIG LIFT FOR LUMBER—Logman's prayer answered is this Goliath on wheels. Shown lifting 40,000 pounds of iron-wood logs, it's capable of unloading a 50,000-pound truckload with one bite. The huge machine merely inserts its 10-foot wedges beneath the load on the truck, then clamps two tremendous tusks over the top. This is a far cry from the old method of dumping the load then lifting a few logs at a time for stacking. Engine and generator at rear power the lifting mechanism and electric motor in each wheel. It's made by R. G. LeTourneau, Inc., of Longview, Tex.

Backstairs At The White House

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

WASHINGTON (UP)—Backstairs at the White House:

This being Mrs. Eisenhower's 59th birthday it might be interesting to note that the President's reliance and dependence on his wife is at an all time high.

Although she herself suffers from a chronic heart condition dating back to her girlhood Mamie Eisenhower was a pillar of strength and inspiration when the Chief Executive was in the hospital.

Almost entirely on her own she took over the monumental task of directing the replies to the more than 100,000 letters and "get well" messages which poured into Fitzsimons Army Hospital at Denver.

The first lady put in amazingly long hours working on correspondence in her hospital room. Because she must have a certain amount of rest much of the mail was dictated and signed as she sat in bed.

She preferred to work most of the mornings at the hospital in a dressing robe but she gave this up when she went out on the sun terrace beside her husband's bed one day and discovered cameras peering up at the terrace from the ground below.

In addition to handling the mountainous mail, Mrs. Eisenhower was the leading source of cheer around the President's hospital suite. She saw to it that his meals were served as attractively as his diet and hospital surroundings permitted.

She worked carefully with the medical staff to do all she possibly could to make the President's recuperation pleasant.

And woe to anyone who did anything which Mamie thought might disturb the President. The offender, however, well meaning, heard about it fast and forcefully from Mrs. Eisenhower, herself.

It may be a source of curiosity to many Americans that the President apparently is able to work in a strange office here in Gettsburg but yet must spend an extended period of recuperation away from the White House.

Actually Mr. Eisenhower could convalesce at the White House just as conveniently, possibly more so, than in Gettysburg. But the doctors know he will be much happier in his own home than he would be in the White House.

The physicians also want their patient to begin to exercise again and they believe he can do this more naturally and with greater ease here than in the executive mansion.

Before the President left the hospital in Denver, Army dieticians prepared suggested menus to guide the household staff in Gettysburg. Mr. Eisenhower's caloric intake will be permitted to increase somewhat as he becomes more active but the doctors still want him to stay away from fattening foods in any quantity.

Western and neutral blocs to the United Nations all at once.

The sources said the deal may go through before the end of this year.

In New York the United States announced it would not oppose admission of Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania if 13 free nations were admitted — Italy, Austria, Finland, Ireland, Portugal, Spain, Cambodia, Ceylon, Japan, Jordan, Laos, Libia and Nepal.

It was understood the main purpose of the Mecmillan - Molotov meeting was to decide what to do about Indochina elections. Under the Geneva accord, preparations should have begun this July.

Rigged Elections Feared

Soviet Russia Communist China and Communist North Viet Nam have been exerting strong pressure for a conference between the split halves of the country in accordance with the truce agreement. South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem has opposed this for fear the elections in the North would be rigged.

Britain and Russia were the cochairmen of the truce conference and it was up to Macmillan and Molotov to decide what to do—if they could do anything .

The Big Four Foreign ministers went into today's plenary session deadlocked on everthing else—German unification European security world disarmament and East-West contacts.

The meeting ends Wednesday when the delegates are expected to issue a communique expressing hope of further meetings but not containing any major agreements.

National Book Week Is Being Observed Peabody Free Library

National Book Week is being observed this week throughout our country.

Despite the programs of entertainment and instruction being enjoyed daily through radio and television in almost every home, books have lost none of their popularity, and libraries still offer the world's greatest bargain in free entertainment.

It has been well said that "the library is the true arsenal of democracy, where are made available the weapons of the mind and the spirit" a storehouse of all that is best in civilization of all ages and countries.

Our city is indeed fortunate in having a beautiful and functional library. The building which houses the 25,000 books which comprise Peabody Free Library is so attractive that tourists sometimes stop when passing through the city to visit the library and express their interest. Yet an occasional longtime resident of the city is heard to say he has never before been in this library.

As is the custom, the grade school children of Columbia City will come to the library in groups with their teachers during the week. Many new books are on display, and children will examine them, hear book talks and stories, and receive instruction in the use of books and the library.

Many parents take advantage of the display of new books and the suggestions of the librarians to make selection of books as Christmas gifts.

While the emphasis of Book Week is on books for children and young people, it is one of the occasions of the year when every resident of the community is invited to visit the library and take advantage of the privilege of owning a free library card.

Ditch Contracts Are Approved By The Court

Two ditch contracts were approved in circuit court Saturday by Judge Lowell Pefley. These were the contracts of Harold Waldek in the Robert J. Keiser drainage and the contract of Magley & Son in the Ross V. Heintzelman drainage. Both contractors' bonds were approved by the court.

their kindness and their prayers during his recent illness.

Tuesday he will go to the tiny office in the Gettysburg post ofice from which he and his aides will conduct business of the nation and the free world.

To Keep In Touch

Although the time actually spent in the 12 by 24-foot office may be limited the President will be in finger-tip touch with the government's far flung operations at all times through a massive communications system set up in his farmhouse study. The President's aides made clear that Mr. Eisenhower personaly would be directing the government.

Having made the airplane trip from Denver to Washington Friday without serious fatigue, Mr. Eisenhower looked more and more like a man ready to step up the pace of his activities.

Over the weekend he slept well, attended a movie playd with his grandchildrn chatted with two old Army buddies—Gens. Walter Bedell Smith and Alfred M. Bruenther—and gave his son, John, pointers on putting form. Church attendance was the only Sunday activity Mr. Eisenhower passed up. His doctors felt the crowds might overtire him.

As part of his increased pace, the President will preside at meetings of his National Security Council and cabinet next week for the first time since his ilness.

To Meet At Camp

For these meetings, the President will travel about 25 miles from Gettysburg to Camp David, his catoctin Mountain retreat.

But plenty of relaxation will be interspersed.

Neither the President nor his wife have made any secret of their love for the Gettysburg farm, an affection that probably figured in the decision to let the President convalesce there.

A well - manicured putting green and sand trap have been added and along the half-mile road from the front gate 48 trees—gift of the White House staff and symbolic of the American union — have been planted.

A well-stocked bass pond sparkles behind the mansion and the farm's Black Angus steer are fatter and the meadow greener than when the Eisenhowers last visited the farm in the hot summer.

Petit Larceny Term Suspended

Found guilty in circuit court Saturday of petit larceny, Gene Carl Faust, 27, of Fort Wayne, was sentenced Saturday to a 60-day term at the Indiana State farm, but Judge Lowell Pefley suspended the sentence for two years conditioned upon Faust's behavior.

He was also fined $1 and costs. Faust was charged with taking a dish drainer, clothes hanger, two ash trays, three pictures, and a water faucet handle from an apartment he vacated at the Riley Pressler property in Smith township. Faust was represented by Mrs. Phil McNagny, public defender.

The state's case against Faust was presented by Prosecutor Edward J. Meyers.

Supreme Court Unable To Rule On Marriage Law

Banning Inter Racial Marriages

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court said today it was unable to rule yet on the constitutionality of state laws banning inter-racial marriages.

It sent back to lower courts in Virginia for re-trial a case in which a Chinese-American challenged the state law under which his marriage to a white woman was declared illegal.

The high court said the record of the case was "inadequate" and did not present a "clean cut" test of the constitutionality of anti-miscegenation laws which are in effect in Virginia and 27 other states.

In other actions today, the court: cial relations, the court left standing a lower court's decision forbidding Oklahoma officials to place the word "Negro" after the name of a Negro candidate for office in a state election.

The U.S Court of Appeals in Denver ruled last July that listing a candidate's race on the ballot was unconstitutional discrimination. The Supreme Court indicated its agreement by refusing to review the decision.

In other actions today, the cout:

Agreed to rule whether employes of a company must pay extra taxes when they buy stock at a cut rate under a stock option plan such as many corporations now have in force. The U.S. Court of Appeals in Philadelphia previously had thrown out the government's attempt in one case to tax the difference between the market value of the stock and the bargain purchase price.

Blocked an attempt by local authorities in Detroit to tax an airplane parts plant which was under subcontract to the Air Force. The high court refused to review a lower court decision that the tax would be lievied on federal property, which is unconstitutional. A lower court held that the terms of the contract were such that all property of the plant involved in the defense production became the property of the federal government.

Agreed to rule whether states have the right to tax privately operated housing projects on military bases. There are about 160 such projects on U.S. military bases in which the government technically holds title to housing developments built and operated under long-term lease by private firms.

Later this week the court turns to the problem of Communism in America. Arguments are scheduled on the Communist Party's attack on the 1950 Subversive Control Act and on the legality of state anti-subversive laws.

Stevenson help.

Among those close to Stevenson the talk today was not speculation about his announcement. It's taken for granted that he'll declare his availability for president.

Rather, Stevenson's associates were talking strategy aimed at nailing down the nomination at the 1956 Democratic national convention. Stevenson himself is expected to give some of his views on th ecampaign for the nomination at a news conference Wednesday.

He may give some clues about which Democratic promary elections he will enter. Minnesota where he claims important backers, is one state where he is likely to be a candidate.

Gopher State Primary

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) added weight to this belief over the weekend when he said he believes Stevenson will run in the Gopher State primary. Humphrey said he will also encourage Stevenson to enter the California primary.

Stevenson also may announce Wednesday the appointment of a manager to direct his pre-convention campaign. James A. Finnegan secretary of the common wealth in Pennsylvania was reported to be the top candidate for that post.

Stevenson's announcement will precede a round of party meetings which Democratic leaders will attend here Thursday through Saturday.

Odds are he will have a chance to chat at a Saturday night rally with two Democrats who may oppose him for the top nomination if not sooner. They are Tennessee Sen. Estes Kefauver and New York Gov. Averell Harriman.

Kefauver's camp said he will announce his candidacy for president within a few weeks. Harriman won't say yet what he's going to do but he is regarded as a possible presidential candidate too.

Insurance Agents To Attend Convention

The members of the Whitley County Association of Insurance agents will be among an estimated 1,500 Hoosiers of the insurance field planning to attend the 57th annual convention of the Indiana association of Insurance Agents this week at Indianapolis.

The convention is held from Monday through Wednesday at the Claypool Hotel. Two local agents, Robert Estlick and Keith Dowell, are scheduled to be on the Monday afternoon program to give a sales skit, entitled "Better Insurance Coverage for the Farmer."

Others planning to attend from Whitley county are Ralph Ferrey, Edwin Pugh, Willis Goble, Scott Holderbaum, John Markley, Merl Plattner, Columbia City, Pat Isay, Churubusco and Merritt Norris, South Whitley.

These sessions are sonsored by the local agents and representatives of the Capitol Stock Insurance Companies.

In Jail At Peru

Paul M. Smith of Albany, released from the state reformatory last May, is a prisoner at the Miami county jail, Peru. He is charged in the Whitley circuit court with non-support on two minor children. The charges against him are the result of the complaint of his former wife, Mrs. Delores P. Smith, Larwill, R 1. The Smiths were divorced last Dec. 21.

Arab States And Israel Expected To Open Fight

In United Nations Committee Today

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The Arab states and Israel were expected to open a knock-down drag-out propaganda fight today in the United Nations special political committee on the Palestine refugees problem.

The ad hoc, or special, political committee's annual debate (3 p.m. EST) on the Palestine refugees gives the Arabs and Israelis a chance to air publicly their grievances and issue propaganda blasts before a U.N. body.

Each year they take full advantage of the debate to issue charges and counter-charges and this year's debate is expected to bring longer and louder attacks because of the new tense situation in the Holy Land and the Soviet sale of arms to Egypt.

Arabs Outnumber Israelis

The Arab states outnumber the Israelis six to one since only two of the eight-nation Arab League are not members of the United Nations. But, the Israelis are expected to hold their own on the subject considered one of the sorest points between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

Before the Palestine debate, which is based on a report by the U.N. Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees, begins India and Pakistan are expected to make short statements in the committee on the minority situation in South Africa.

Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett said Sunday night he doubts that United Nations border guards could prevent Arab bands from crossing the border and making raids against Israel.

Patrols Not Enough

Sharett commented on the proposal by Adlai E. Stevenson. He said such U.N. patrols might prove "ineffectual" if Egypt is not ready to stop attacking Israel.

Sharett said his government had no thought of a "preventive war." But he said Communist arms will give the Arabs a "massvie superiority" over Israel and said his country "must get arms to defend herself against aggression."

The problem of the Palestine refugees has been called by inofrmed U.N. sources one of the sorest and most explosive existing between the Arab nations and Israel.

The UNRWA lists more than 887,000 refugees scattered over more than 100,000 square miles in Egypt, Lebanon, Syria and Jordan along the Israeli frontiers.

Henning Says Farmers Should Pay Penalty For Too Fat Hogs

CHICAGO (UP)—An agricultural economist said today farmers should pay a penalty for producing hogs that are too fat.

George F. Henning, Ohio State University specialist, told the Illinois Agricultural Association convention the present hog marketing system is out of date.

In selling wheat and corn, Henning said farmers are penalized for poorer grades by getting paid less.

"Our hog marketing system is lagging behind when producers aren't similarly penalized for turning out over-fat hogs," Henning said.

He said that farmers now get o price differential for hogs of No. 1 grade, "but even in these markets there is still no significant difference in the market price of No. 2 and No. 3 hogs."

A large number of heavy hogs still are coming to market, despite the fall in demand for lard, Henning said, because farmers still haven't learned that they would be better off producing meat-type hogs.

Hobby Backfires

NEWARK, N.J. (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dvorin's hobby of collecting money has backfired.

For years Dvorin stuffed an extra $1 or $5 he didn't need into an old two-gallon whiskey bottle. Mrs. Dvorin dropped in pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters. When they collected two gallons of money they put it in their bedroom closet.

A burglar broke open their locked closet and stole $2,000 in change and $3,000 in small bills sometime during the weekend.

Cool Weather Moves Into Indiana After Weekend Warm Spell

By UNITED PRESS

Cooler weather moved into Indiana today on the heels of a weekend warm spell which saw temperatures soar to an all-time record high of 77 at Indianapolis and a mid-summer 82 at Evansville.

The previous record high for Nov. 13 in the capital city was 75 recorded in 1879. It was the first time in the Indianapolis weather bureau's history that temperatures had reached 77 after Nov. 2.

The blanket of warm air covered all of the state, with Fort Wayne reporting 73 and Lafayette 75.

The unseasonal warm spell was brought to an end in most parts of the state by thunderstorms, strong winds and hail late Sunday.

Fort Wayne reported .65 of an inch of rain during the 24-hour period. Indianapolis had .43 of an inch and Lafayette .25.

Other cities not on the daily weather report list got even more rainfall and fiercer storms. Franklin recorded 1.15 inches and suffered a power blackout for two hours.

The weatherman said it would be "colder" today, with temperatures ranging from 40 north to 55 south. Lows tonight will range from 25 to 38.

Tuesday will be cold and rainy, with temperatures slated to range from about 40 to 50.

Lows today ranged from 44 at Lafayette to 51 at Evansville and 48 at Indianapolis.

Greatest Flood Of Pork On Hoof In Nearly 12 Years

CHICAGO (UP) — The greatest flood of pork-on-the-hoof to enter the Chicago market in nearly 12 years was reported from the stockyards here today, and prices went down.

There were 32,000 hogs on the market here, the biggest number since Jan. 17, 1944, and similar shipments were reported from 11 other major terminals. In all, about 170,000 hogs were on sale at 12 big markets.

Prices went down 50 cents to as much as $1.25 per hundred pounds in early sales. Most of the hogs were selling from $13 a hundredweight down.

Market men have been warning that the hog supply was due to remain high.

Only Saturday, at the 50th annual meeting of the American Meat Institute, J. Russell Ives, associate director of the AMI's marketing department, had said an 11 per cent increase in federally inspected hog slaughter was anticipated for the market year which began last August.

He said that obsevers had wondered if the large supplies, bringing prices down, might not mean a "substantial cutback in production in 1956," but added "the little bit of evidence we have thus far indicates that this is not happening."

He said that even at relatively low prices the hog-corn price ratio had remained favorable. In other words, farmers found it more profitable to feed their corn to hogs to sell as pork, rather than sell it as corn.

Drummer Boy In Confederate Army Celebrates Birthday

FRANKLIN, Tex. (UP) — Col. Walter Williams, a drummer boy in the Confederate Army, celebrated his 113th birthday today and announced he expects to live to be 120.

"I figure I stand a chance of making it," he said. I feel real good now."

Williams, the oldest surviving veteran of the Civil War, has a special reason for wanting to live to be 120. He wants to outlive his father who died at the age of 119.

Some 150 to 200 persons joined him Sunday in a birthday eve barbecue at his home. He said he expects to outlive some of them.

Government Says Colorado Can Charge Graham With Mass Murder

By POLLY WITTE
United Press Staff Correspondent

DENVER (UP) — The fedeeal government told the state of Colorado today that it could prosecute John Gilbert Graham for mass murder in the United Air Lines bomb plot crash that killed 44 persons, including his own mother.

The federal action, announced by U.S. Atty. Donald E. Kelley, prepared the way for the state to file charges against Graham, 23, that could send him to the gas chamber.

Graham confessed Monday that he sweated for 35 minutes waiting for the delayed takeoff Nov. 1 of the plane carrying his heavily insured mother and his homemade time bomb. It exploded minutes afterward while the plane was in flight killing all aboard.

Readies Murder Charges

Denver Dist. Atty. Bert Keating immediately announced that he would file murder charges against Graham for the death of his mother.

The state prosecutor said he already had begun preparation of the murder charges.

Keating, a veteran prosecutor, did not indicate how quickly he would file the charges against Graham.

Keating said he personally would take charge of the prosecution.

Kelley, in a formal statement, said "it would be in the best interests of justice to permit the prosecution to be in Denver."

He said, however, this action by the federal government did not

Water Tower Bids To Be Considered By Council Tonight

Bids for erection of a 500,000-gallon water tank and tower near the north city limits on land acquired from Harry J. Redick, are to be considered by the city council tonight.

The council's meeting, originally scheduled for Nov. 8, was delayed one week due to the city election.

The project of providing a water tower is to be paid for by a sinking fund which now totals approximately $80,000, and by borrowing from the city light fund. The borrowing, approximately $68,000, is to be repaid by the waterworks department, over a five year period. Total cost of the project is estimated at about $148,000.

The water tower which will hold equivalent to the city's minimum daily usage in water, is expected to offer protection in case of emergencies such as power failures, bad fires, etc. Its erection has been urged by the state rating bureau for several years, otherwise a rerating of fire rates here would have resulted.

The capacity of the tower and pressure it will supply in case of failure of electrically operated pumps, is expected to tide the city over through emergency shutdowns which might occur.

The $148,000 estimated cost includes not only the erection of the water tower but the piping connections and valving necessary to link it to the water system.

At present several of the wells, source of local water, have standby gasoline powered pumps but these are not of sufficient capacity in case of electrical failure to maintain water pressure at normal.

1956 License Tags Reach Local Bureau

The first shipment of the 1956 automobile license tags was delivered today from the Indiana State Prison to the local auto license bureau. The shipment included 3500 tags, about one-half of the number ordered by the local license office.

The 1956 tags are of metal, gold numbers on a blue background. Each bears the safety slogan "Drive Safely." The prefix for tags issued here will remain in the DA-series. In 1956 but one tag will be issued to each vehicle, according to Charles White, license bureau manager. This is to be displayed on the rear of the vehicle.

FBI Arrests Ex-Convict Who Killed Housewife

Had Vowed Never To Be Taken Alive

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A 30-year-old ex-convict, who casually admitted the kidnap-slaying of a Kansas City, Mo. housewife, today faced still other charges of attempted murder, kidnaping, rape burglary and car theft.

The suspect, Arthur Ross Brown, had vowed never to be taken alive. He was arrested Monday without a struggle when FBI agents and police found him asleep in a stolen car with two loaded pistols at his feet.

An FBI agent testified at a bail hearing Monday that the stocky, blond ex-convict admitted the kidnap-slaying of Wilma Allen, the attractive 34-year-old wife of wealthy Kansas City automobile dealer last Aug. 4.

U.S. Commissioner Joseph Karesh ordered Brown held on $100,000 bond pending action by Kansas City authorities. He was held on a charge of transporting a stolen car across state lines.

Mrs. Allen's nude body was found in a field 25 miles from Kansas City three days after she disappeared from a fashionable shopping area. She had been shot twice in the back of the head.

The FBI said Brown confessed he forced his way into Mrs. Allen's car and made her drive out of town where he killed her and dumped her body in a field. He drove the blood-spattered car back to Kansas City and abandoned it near the Union Station.

The murder of Mrs. Allen, a mother of two boys, ages 9 and

Strike Seems To Have No Effects In Buenos Aires

Giving Victory To New Government

By WILLIAM L.F. HORSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

BUENOS AIRES (UP)—A general strike called by Juan D. Peron's General Confederation of Labor appeared today to have failed, giving the new government of President Pedro E. Aramburu a victory in a major test of strength.

The CGT, whose 6,000,000 members were the backbone of political strength of the ousted Argentina dictator, called the strike of unlimited duration with the knowledge that failure might doom it as a power in the Argentina of today.

More than five hours after the strike went into effect at midnight there were no appreciable effects in Buenos Aires and telephone calls to the more important provincial cities showed that everything was normal there too.

Newspapers were appearing on schedule—even El Lider, the official newspaper of the CGT. It announced it was appearing thanks to an "emergency staff."

Telephone and power services were normal. The state radio and most other stations kept transmitting long after the usual hour, broadcasting official communiques and appeals to the workers to pay

Storm Warnings Are Hoisted For Northern Indiana

Forerunner Of Near Zero Cold Wave

By UNITED PRESS

Severe storm warnings were hoisted for a wide area in Northern Indiana today as the forerunner of a near-zero cold wave.

"Scattered severe thunderstorms with hail and locally damaging surface winds are expected in northern and north central Indiana from 10:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. CST," the weather bureau said in a noon-hour advisory.

The weatherman said temperatures are expected to drop as low as 10 above zero early Thursday after soaring to the 70s this afternoon and dropping to 28 to 40 tonight with snow flurries over perhaps the entire state.

A low of 10 to 20 was predicted for Thursday, by far the iciest temperatures of the season.

Fog and a drizzle engulfed much of the state in advance of the delayed cold wave.

The storm skipped across the central Rockies and raced across the Great Plains to western Kansas and Nebraska.

The Kansas City, Mo., Weather Bureau issued a warning of locally severe thunderstorms and possibly one or two tornadoes 50 miles on either side of a line stretching from Springfield, Mo., to Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The twister danger would last from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. CST, the Weather Bureau said.

Cold wave warnings were also posted for parts of Nebraska and Kansas. Heavy snow warnings of from three to seven inches were issued for parts of Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The storm had already spread new snow from the northern Rockies to the upper Mississippi Valley, plus freezing rain in Minnesota and the eastern Dakotas and more rain farther south.

Icy winds mounted to from 30 to 40 miles per hour and temperatures took a nosedive. Salt Lake City, Utah, got six inches of snow and elsewhere in the snow area the fresh snow cover ranged from one to three inches.

In the northern Rockies, temperatures stayed below zero for the fourth straight day. It was 28 below zero at Drummond, Mont., and a frosty 23 below at Butte, Mont.

Unseasonably mild weather hung on in the nation's eastern half and the temperature set a record at New York City Monday when it climbed to 68.3 degrees.

Downpour Over 3-4 Of An Inch

A deluge, although brief, provided more than three-quarters of an inch of rain early today. The exact total, which included lighter rains which later fell, was .76 of an inch.

The heavy rains started about 7:45 a.m. The driving showers practically completed stripping the trees of their foliage. Catch basins quickly became clogged with leaves and the storm water at many points backed up to curb-top level.

Many students were driven to the schools by their parents to prevent them from getting their clothing water-soaked.

Better Farming, Better Living Group To Meet

Discussions Will Begin November 22

The Whitley County Better Farming and Better Living group meetings have been set, Hugh Reinhold, assistant county agent, announces. The first discussion groups will be held Tuesday, November 22, November 29, and December 13. The first two meetings will be held in the county extension office and the third will be devoted to a farm tour.

The sample farm site has not been selected at this time. The Better Farming and Better Living families will set-up different systems of farming on this farm to see what system will best fit the labor, capital and land available. From this information they will be able to examine their own farm business to see how they can make more profits from farming. Some farms in Whitley county could profit from a program in farm planning. The increased size and complexity of the farm business and the more complex society in which farmers live make it difficult to properly plan a farm business.

The women will work chiefly with the house and business in the home on the sample farm. They will cover house planning, home and family management.

Reinhold states that the first group is filled, but enrollment is being taken for the second group which will begin in February. Anyone interested in enrolling may sign up with an advisory committee member in his community or at the county extension office in Columbia City.

Ike's Farm Home Temporary Hub Of Government

Adams To Give President First-Hand Report On Session

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—President Eisenhower worked and rested today at his farm house—headquarters of a new temporary center of government in this historic small town.

The Chief Executive was mainly concerned today with matters discussed by his cabinet which met in Washington. Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams was to fly here immediately after the session to give Mr. Eisenhower a first-hand report.

Ms. and Mrs. Eisenhower drove to Gettysburg from Washington Monday for the remainder of the President's convalescence from the heart attack he suffered in Denver Sept. 24.

Cabinet Officer Expected

The President will confer Wednesday with Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, his first major visitor outside his immediate staff and the only member of the cabinet he did not see during his confinement in the hospital in Denver.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is expected here Friday to report to Mr. Eisenhower on the Geneva foreign ministers meeting.

As Mr. Eisenhower's work pace quickens, he will occupy a new business office in the Gettysburg post office. But the move probably will not occur until later this week because refurnishing and equipping of the small room have not been completed.

The President showed no strain from an auto trip from Washington and a large civic reception in the town square Monday.

Birthday Observance

Monday night the Eisenhowers entertained quietly and informally at dinner for a few friends, continuing the observance of Mrs. Eisenhower's 59th birthday. The guests left early, however, because the President's schedule still calls for his going to bed early.

There will be a steady stream of other high-ranking visitors to Gettysburg as the President's strength increases and he is able to add more hours to his daily working schedule. As long as he is in Gettysburg, however, he won't follow anything like the work schedule of his pre-illness days in the Washington White House.

Life on the farm, itself, was tranquil. One of the big events of a bucolic afternoon Monday was the arrival of a new Black Angus heifer for the growing Eisenhower herd. The heifer, a two-year-old bred during the summer, was the gift of E. Taylor Chewning, Washington building materials dealer and a cattle raiser on the west Maryland shore of Chesapeake Bay.

Thorncreek Township Farm Bureau Meets

The annual potluck supper was enjoyed Tuesday evening at the Thorncreek Center school by the Thorncreek Township Farm Bureau. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sherman and Mr. and Mrs. Argyle Beard served as hostesses.

Mrs. Don Conrad used for devotions the 96th Psalm.

Robert Pontzius gave the current events and also reported that the modern kitchen being installed at the community 4-H building was nearing completion.

Don Gerdes was selected as a delegate to the National Farm Bureau convention at Chicago.

County agent B. V. Widney showed an interesting film.

Mrs. Guy Jagger had charge of the Pet and Hobby group.

Faure Fights For December Election Bill

Early Forecasts Predict Failure

PARIS (UP) — Premier Edgar Faure went before the Senate today to fight for his December election bill and early forecasts said he would be routed, plunging France into its 21st postwar political crisis.

Senate Speaker Gaston Monnerville called the 320-member upper chamber to debate the premier's plan to hold nationwide elections Dec. 18 under a modified version of the 1951 voting system.

Faure was given little if any chance to push his bill through the Senate although it was approved by the lower house, the National Assembly, in a confidence vote last Saturday.

The Senators objected to Faure's proportional representation plan which means seats in the National Assembly are divided proportionally if no single party gets a majority in the voting.

Faure threw out an election rule allowing small parties to form alliances and swap votes after the elections, which was mainly directed against the Communists.

The senators feared this would seat 160 Communist deputies in the future chamber rather than the 94 members the Reds now have.

The Senate election committee rejected Faure's bill Monday night and introduced a bill of its own calling for adopting of pre-war district voting whereby ballots would be cast for individual deputies rather than for party slates.

A defeat for Faure in the Senate would not force him out of office. But it would mean a stiff new battle in the National Assembly with an increased chance that the Senate-sponsored system would be accepted this time.

The deputies have rejected the district system of voting three times. But it was only Communist support that saved Faure on the third vote.

Faure's government also faced internal troubles. The Catholic labor unions decreed a virtual air blockade of France by extending a strike of ground crews against Paris terminals to out-country airports.

Gives 3 Reasons For His Seeking The Nomination

Shall Do All He Can To Persuade His Party

By TOM NELSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP) — Adlai E. Stevenson declared today he will "do all I can" to win the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination.

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic standard-bearer, became the first candidate to toss his hat into the ring for 1956.

His announcement, anticipated for months, came in the form of a 350-word statement handed to newsmen at 9:30 a.m. CST. He was to read it later before newsreel and television cameras.

Stevenson referred to Republican talk about "prosperity and peace" as a possible GOP slogan next year. He said it should be the Democratic Party's "task" to make the phrase "not a political slogan but an active search for a better America and a better world."

"I am ready to do what I can to that end either as a worker in the ranks or at the top of the ticket if my party sees fit to so honor me," Stevenson said.

Gives Three Reasons

The 55-year-old former governor of Illinois made no reference to plans he may have for entering presidential preference primaries in the various states next spring.

However, he is expected to discuss the primaries, as well as announce the appointment of a manager to direct his campaign for the nomination, at a news coferece Wednesday.

Stevenson gave three reasons for seeking the nomination:

1. "I believe it important" for the Democratic Party to take over

Western Allies Pledge To Continue Work For German Unity Despite Failure To Agree

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA (UP)—The Western Allies are writing a solemn pledge to continue working for German unity despite failure of the foreign ministers to agree on a single major subject, an authoritative Western spokesman said today.

The decision was made known as West Germany made a final effort to win some promise of German unity before the Big Four conference comes to an end Wednesday with the spirit of Geneva a mere memory to a hopeful world.

Dr. James B. Conant, U.S. ambassador to Bonn, rushed here with what he called a "few suggestions" by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer for the last discussion today on German unity — the topic that brought the deepest split at Geneva.

The West also was hardening its attitude on the sale of Communist arms to the Middle East but was getting nowhere with Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov who insisted blandly it was strictly a commercial transaction between Egypt and Czechoslovakia.

Showdown Expected Today

Some sort of showdown was expected at today's meeting.

Molotov was reported going into the afternoon session with three more proposals on the security of Europe, but Western diplomats said only a last minute sensational Kremlin move could break the deadlock.

An authoritative conference source said the West would pin squarely on Russia the guilt for blocking free all-German elections and German reunification. The pledge will be contained in a joint declaration by the United States, Britain and France.

All four foreign ministers were agreed they should leave the way open for another conference next year, but they differed on how to go about this. The United States especially wanted to steer clear of any definite commitments as to time and place.

Record Of Conference

With the end of the meeting in sight here was the score:

1. German unity and European

Truck Driver Killed Trying To Avoid Crash

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)—Charles R. Hill, 34, Payne, Ohio, was killed Monday when his truck rolled over as he tried to avoid a crash with an auto at a city crossing.

Mrs. Garnett K. Heemstra, Fort Wayne, driver of the car, was injured when her car jumped a curb and struck a tree. Authorities said the drivers swerved sharply to avoid a collision after one of them apparently ran a stop light.

Japan Has First Two-Party System Since World War II

TOKYO (UP)—A powerful new Conservative Party was forced today with the merger of the dissolved Democratic and Liberal parties, giving Japan its first two-party system since World War II. The left and right-wing Socialists merged into a single party last month.

The new Conservative grouping will hold a heavy parliamentary majority.

Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama, who headed the Democratic party, will remain as head of government until next spring under the merger deal with the Liberals. But actual management of the party will be in the hands of a joint committee of four, led by Hatoyama and former Liberal President Taketora Ogata.

Under the agreement, Hatoyama will step down next spring to pave the way for election of a permanent party president and prime minister. Ogata presumably will be chosen.

The Democratic and Liberal parties were formally dissolved Monday night. The formal merger of the two conservative groups came today. Some 2,000 members and supporters of the two parties met in the Chuo University Auditorium to inaugurate the "Liberal-Democratic" party.

Officials of the new party said it controlled 298 seats in the 467-member House of Representatives and 115 in the 250-member upper House of Councillors. In the upper house, it can count on the support of the 47 members of the Green Breeze party.

The new party is pledged to uphold "peace and democracy."

Governor Craig Speaks To Economic Club Of New York

NEW YORK (UP)—Democrats are too impulsive in foreign affairs to be trusted with the nation's future, Indiana Gov. George Craig said Monday night.

He told the Economic Club of New York there will be four principal issues in the 1956 presidential campaign—peace, prosperity, farm policy and taxes—and the Republican record on those is best.

Craig was the first of several "interesting" political leaders the club will hear before the 1956 election. Associates said he was selected as a possible GOP nominee for president.

The governor said in a prepared text the paramount 1956 issue will be which party is best able to maintain peace. This should be an "easy choice" for American voters, he said.

Says Actions "Rash"

"The overriding reason Democrats should not be entrusted with our quest for peace is their past record of impulsiveness in foreign affairs," Craig said. "In recent years, the party leadership has been characterized by a tendency toward rashness of action and a lack of sufficient deliberation in the matters of greatest importance."

He said Republicans take a "calm and patient" stance, have maintained a powerful national defense and are lifting stadards of the world.

To bolster the latter, Craig proposed a federal program givig business an incentive to invest in foreign countries and "help other people develop themselves."

On the farm issue, Craig said 90 per cent parity was adopted in 1942 as a temporary measure, which since has led to "fantastic over-production and incredible surpluses."

Democrat Plan "Worse"

The GOP program of flexible supports is a "courageous" plan to eat up farm surpluses and will work "if it is not sabotaged," he said, while the 90 per cent policy recently endorsed by Adlai Stevenson and New York Gov. Averell Harriman "will only make this problem worse."

Charged With Drunken Driving

Calvin E. Livingston, Fort Wayne, gained release from the local jail Monday after providing $1500 bond. He was arrested early Sunday morning on U.S. Highway 30 for driving while intoxicated and for public intoxication. The arresting officers were State Policemen J. W. Reese and G. E. Pierson.

Another Fort Wayne man, Frank A. Edsall of 120 West Main street, was arrested by the same officers Sunday for public intoxication on U.S. Highway 30. He is at the local jail awaiting a hearing before Judge Lowell Pefley.

Luz Resigns As Chamber Of Deputies President Monday

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UP) — Ousted President Carlos Luz resigned as president of the Chamber of Deputies Monday, removing the last constitutional obstacle to the new government of acting president Nereau Ramos.

Luz reviewed his short-lived administration in a speech to the chamber which lasted an hour and a half. He prefaced it by saying he had presented a letter to Chamber President Flores Dacunha formally resigning the presidency.

But Luz said he was not resigning his seat as a deputy. Members of the Labor and Social Democratic parties walked out of the chamber when he began speaking and returned when he had nearly finished.

Luz could have caused a constitutional scrap for the administration of Acting President Nereu Ramos if he had not chosen to step down as president of the chamber.

Luz became acting president as next in line of succession when Joao Cafe Jr., took a leave of absence to recover from a heart attack. But Congress declared him unfit to serve after the military coup last week and named Ramos, President of the Eenate, to replace him.

On Sunday morning four families were ready to attend church.

The programs had an autumn leaf design which was repeated in cut-out colorful leaves above the stage and runway. The furniture was from Loxleys and flowers from Franks and the West Side Greenhouse.

All clothing came from Columbia City stores: Floxes, Blumenthals Style Shop, Smart Shop, Strouses, Bates and Peabody, and Blue Bell. Prices were given on all clothing.

Hair arrangements were by the Nu Mode and La Rue Beauty shops. Small plants served as decorations and prizes for the 75 tables of cards. Favors and tallies were given by O'Daniel Drug store, Fuller Brush Co., Roland Wunderlich, DeMoney Funeral Home, Pence Cleaners, Farmers Loan and Trust Company and Citizens State Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance were accompanied on the trip through the western states by the parents of Mrs. Vance, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Waltz. The slides showed interesting scenes along the way and the flowers growing on the desert.

Oe. of the slides of unusual beauty was a story arrangement titled by Mrs. Vance as "Land of Little Rain" made by Mrs. Vance, of drift wood, sand and brush she had collected on the desert and arranged in a gold miner's pan which she had purchased in a little shop along the way.

One of the most beautiful slides of the group was the concluding slide, that of a sunset, taken at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vance at Tri Lakes.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — The United Nations shorty may number 78 members through adoption of an East-West agreement ending a five year deadlock on new members, an informed source predicted today.

U.S.-Soviet differences over Outer Mongolia and the procedure for introducing the compromise on 18 new members to the United Nations were reported to be the only things in the way of increasing the membership of the 60-state world body.

Consultations were being held to settle these differences, informed sources said. It was predicted Monday night that the 11-member Security Council would meet probably this week to get the ball rolling on the move to introduce the new members.

But, this appeared to be the core of a difference on procedure between the United States and Britain and Canada. Th United States was reported to favor the Security Council again tackling the problem — since the General Assembly last year instructed its number-one organization to work on the problem.

The Canadians, who originally presented the United Nations with the compromise idea, and the British would like the plan to be introduced through the General Assembly before it is presented to the Security Council.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. already has announced the U.S. would abstain in the voting on Communist Romania, Bulgaria, Albania and Hungary. This appeared to assure these four Soviet satellites of membership.

Lodge also told a press conference Sunday that "it has been reported that the Soviet Union would be willing to withhold its veto" on the 13 free nations. This would bring Austria, Italy, Ireland, Finland, Portugal, Spain, Cambodia Ceylon, Japan, Jordan, Laos, Libya and Nepal into the United Nations.

Well-informed sources said that even Outer Mongolia would "make the grade" despite Lodge's protest that this was not possible Sunday. The sources said that the U.S. delegate appeared to be talking for American home consumption and that the United States would back down and accept even Outer Mongolia to break the deadlock .

security — Technical progress toward a European security system. But the United States, Britain and France refused to build such a system on a divided Germany; the Russians flatly refused free elections to unite the nation.

2. World disarmament — The Soviets rejected President Eisenhower's open sky offer of mutual inspection as a first step, and the ministers were ready to throw disarmament back to the United Nations.

3. East-West contacts — The West butted hard against the Iron Curtain and came away with sore heads. Molotov said Western attempts to lift the Iron Curtain to the free flow of information was interference in internal Russian affairs.

4. Admission of new members to the United Nations — The United States agreed in Dulles-Molotov talks to admit 17 of 18 proposed nations. Molotov replied that the 18th, Outer Mongolia, must come in, too, or there was no deal.

the national administration.

2. He has been "assured" of support from "representative people in and out of my party throughout the country."

. He believes all citizens should contribute what they can "to the search for a safer, saner world."

Text of the statement:

"I shall be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President next year.

"I shall do all I can to persuade my party to entrust that immense responsibility to me again, because

"First, I believe it important for the Democratic Party to resume the executive direction of our national affairs;

"Second, I am assured that my candidacy would be welcomed by representative people in and out of my party throughout the country;

"Third, I believe any citizen should make whatever contribution he can to the search for a safer, saner world."

"It is of first importance to return the executive branch of our government to the Democratic Party because it is apparent that wisdom and responsibility began to reappear in the conduct of our affairs only with the return of Congress to Democratic leadership in the 1954 election.

"Seldom before has the United States faced a period of greater opportunity—and greater danger.

"Our great opportunity lies in the fact that our prosperity and wealth can now be used to give all our people the higher standards and wider opportunities which are mankind's universal dream. These are now within our reach, not simply for the favored few, but for every family in America.

"Our danger lies in the ambition of a new tyranny for mastery of the world, and in Communist exploitation of the hope and discontents of the two-thirds of mankind who now demand a share in the good things of life. In partnership with our friends and Allies, with confidence born of strength and influence born of magnanimity, we must work to uproot the deep causes of conflict and tension and to outlaw the very means of war in this atomic age.

"The task of the Democratic Party is to make 'prosperity and peace' not a political slogan but an active search for a better America and a better world.

"I am ready to do what I can to that end either as a worker in the ranks or at the top of the ticket if my party sees fit to so honor me."

The statement was handed to newsmen in a three-room suite already engaged as his political headquarters, a short distance from his law offices.

Stevenson was not on hand when the statement was issued at his office but planned to read the statement later before television cameras.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) is expected to include himself among the presidential hopefuls next month and Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman of New York also is spoken of as a possible candidate for the nomination.

Stevenson lost to President Eisenhower in a landslide in 1952.

The real fireworks may come Wednesday when the former Illinois governor holds a news conference. Stevenson is expected to reveal his campaign strategy at that time, saying what, if any, state primaries he will enter and probably naming James A. Finnegan of Philadelphia as his campaign manager.

Political writers from all over the nation were in Chicago to cover Stevenson's announcements.

They were also in Chicago to report on a three-day national Democratic meeting, which Stevenson may well dominate because of his presidential announcement.

The meeting will reach its climax Saturday, when the 55-year-old Stevenson will address a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner at the International Amphitheater. Kefauver and Harriman also will speak, but were expected to yield the limelight to Stevenson.

Stevenson, who was practically a political unknown only seven years ago, has been acting and talking like a candidate since late summer.

He has made widespread speeches attacking the Eisenhower administration and has set up skeleton campaign headquarters next to his Chicago law office.

These headquarters were expected to expand almost immediately upon Stevenson's announcement. Finnegan, secratary of the commowwealth in Pennsylvania, was scheduled to arrive today, presumably to take charge of the campaign.

Sen. Hubert M. Humphrey (D-Minn) let the cat out of the bag concerning some of Stevenson's plans in a speech at Jefferson City, Mo., Monday.

Humphrey, who has been mentioned as Stevenson's possible running mate, said the 1952 candidate had already removed "all doubt" that he would run again.

Stevenson has given his word that he will enter the Minnesota presidential primary next May, Humphrey said. In addition, he said, Stevenson has approved a list of delegates which could not be filed without the candidate's approval.

Workers Strike At Nappanee Furniture Firm

NAPPANEE, Ind. (UP)—About 300 members of the AFL Carpenters union went on strike at Nappanee's largest industrial plant today and members of the same union threatened to close down another firm unless their demands are met.

The workers set up picket lines around Mutschler Bros., Inc., a furniture firm, after negotiations between company and union representatives broke down Monday.

Local 3138 president Robert Frenger said a strike also would be called at Coppes, Inc., manufacturer of kitchen units, unless the company agrees to union demands at a bargaining session today. About 200 employes are involved in the dispute.

The Mutschler strike stemmed from a wage dispute. Lamar Mutschler, president of the company, said he has offered the union a 5-cent hourly increase for hourly workers and 2½ cents for incentive workers.

Frenger said the union asked 12-cent and 6-cent raises.

The threat of a strike has hung over the company since contract negotiations opened Oct. 11. The employes voted at that time to stage a walkout in 30 days if their demands were not met.

Delegates Hear Bright Prediction For Nation's Economy

CHICAGO (UP) — Delegates to the American Meat Institute today heard optimistic predictions for the American economy, despite the farm problem, stock-market fluctuations, and recession threats.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett (R-Utah) praised the efforts of the Eisenhower administration to restore the power of the individual citizen to solve his own problems.

"Under the wise leadership of President Esienhower the American people have begun to re-establish their faith in themselves and in their traditional principles of government and to rebuild again a firm foundation for a future of prosperity and happiness," Bennett said in a speech.

He warned that this withdrawal of the central government depends on the ability of local governments or private citizens to take over and cannot be accomplished "over night by edict."

Bennett said no one underestimates the seriousness of the agricultural problem, but the farmers' problem "must not blind us to the over-all national prosperity" achieved thus far under the Eisenhower administration.

The income of the "individual farmer is holding steady and has even risen recently" despite the adjustment from a wartime to a peace-time volume of production, he said.

He pictured the government now as an "underwriter of prosperity" standing ready to act in real emergencies rather than as an "economic dictator."

United Press Salutes Indiana High School Football 'All State," Power-Packed Crew

By KURT FREUDENTHAL
United Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — The United Press today saluted the Indiana high school football "All State," a power-packed crew of gridiron gladiators composed of the best talent from the Calumet to the Deep South.

No less than eight schools were represented on the first team, and nominations from the state's sportswriters and sportscasters again were so heavy the first three "elevens" have five-man backfields.

East Chicago Roosevelt's NIHSC play-off champions and Evansville Reitz each qualified two players for the first club.

From Roosevelt came guard Ed Sojka and fullback Jack Davidson, from Reitz center Frank Harrington and guard Danny Cain.

Johnny Robis, South Bend Adams' triple-threat, won out in the first-team balloting for quarterback. This triple-threat piloted the Eagles to a share of the East NIHSC title and scored 56 points in nine games, including 14 conversions.

Danny Thomas Makes It

The No. 1 backfield is rounded out by Danny Thomas, who paced Seymour to the South Central Conference title and an unbeaten campaign; Dolan Bozeman of East Chicago Washington, and state scoring champ Bobby Crick of Sullivan.

Also in the line were George Everbach of New Albany and big Tom Donlon of Indianapolis Broad Ripple at ends and tackles Paul Puglise of Hammond Morton and P.J. Marks of Plymouth.

Actually, there was little to choose between this "mythical" All State outfit and the next two. And a good many youngsters who settled for "honorable mention" were well qualified for higher recognition. The balloting alone determined the line-up.

Here are the other teams:

Coach Johnson Lists Starters For First Game

Coack Ralph Johnson this morning named his probable starting lineup for the Eagles' basketball opener at Pierceton this evening.

Players named on the "first five" by Coach Johnson are Woodham and Carpenter, forwards; Schwartz, center; and Bridge and Deutsch, guards. There will possibly be one change made, Coach Johnson reported. That change would be Carpenter. He was not in school on Monday, due to illness, and it could be he would not be ready to play this evening. In that event, Coach Johnson says, either Smith or Ewing will fill in at forward for Carpenter.

If Carpenter were able to start tonight's game, the Eagles could floor a team which would average over 6-1 in height. This team would be the tallest team which Columbia City has had in many years — if not the tallest. The three big boys, Schwartz, Woodham, and Carpenter should be able to control the bankboards, while the smaller players, Deutsch and Bridge could handle the back court duties.

Regardless of the team's size, Coach Johnson still expects them to run, and he indicates some difficulty getting the boys in shape.

Wabash is the only new-comer on the 1955-56 Eagle schedule.

Courchesne Wins Over Miguel Berrios

NEW YORK (UP) — Featherweight Bobby Courchesne's victory over Miguel Berrios Monday night earned him another television fight at St. Nicholas Arena on Dec. 12.

Rangy Courchesne of Holyoke, Mass., who won a majority 10-round decision over stocky Berrios of Puerto Rico at St. Nick's will get a return bout with lightweight Lulu Perez or with Berrios, promoter Tex Sullivan said today.

Courchesne, 20, returned to the featherweight ranks Monday night for his exciting fight with Berrios, 23. Each weighed 128 pounds. Bobby was faster than on Oct. 10, when he tried to invade the lightweight division and scaled 131¾ for Perez, who took the unanimous decision.

"I'm a natural featherweight," Courchesne stressed today. "And I felt much better at 128 pounds last night. I want a return bout with Perez if he'll pare down to 130 pounds. He weighed 135 when we fought before."

Courchesne's speed and aggressiveness in the first half of the fight Monday night enabled him to offset Berrios' stronger finish. Judge Bert Grant favored Bobby on rounds, 6-4, and Judge Bill Recht agreed, 6-2-2.

But Referee Petey Della called the fight even on rounds, 4-4-2, and even on points, 5-5. The United Press favored Courchesne, 7-3.

Going into the fifth session Monday night, Berrios had earned but a single round on one of the three official sheets. But the Puerto Rican came on and was going full blast in the 10th, which all three officials gave him.

In his first New York main event Berrios suffered his fifth defeat in his 17 professional bouts. It was Courchesne's 37th victory in 43.

Around The Clock: Around The World!

By UNITED PRESS

LONDON (UP)—A penniless nun planned today to appeal to the Pope against a British court's rejection of her claim for damages from her mother superior and a nursing home on the ground they falsely imprisoned her.

Sister Priscilla, 57, whose real name is Margaret McCann, said she had twice written Pope Pius XII but "I don't know if my letters ever got there.

Sister Priscilla charged that she had been assaulted and imprisoned by Mother Plascidus, local superior of the Order of the Poor Sisters of Nazareth at Hammersmith.

She further charged that she was imprisoned and assaulted at St. Joseph's nursing home, whose trustees include Bernard Cardinal Griffin, Catholic Primate of England.

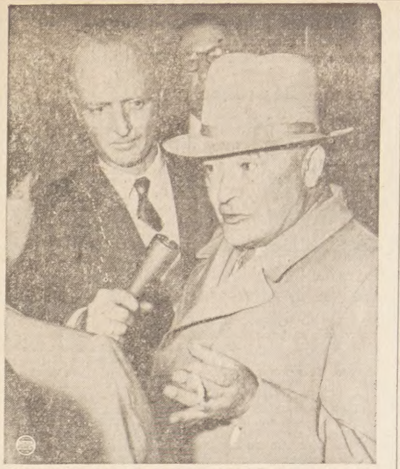
MOSCOW UP) — Communist Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev conferred today with Soviet agriculture officials and ordered the "quickest elimination of the shortcomings of the agriculture program."

He particularly demanded consolidation of collective farms, improvement in seeding systems, especially for hybrid corn, and better organization of animal husbandry.

The conference came as the sheep breeders' meeting disclosed that wool production does not fulfill the nation's needs and costs exceed the budget.

BONN, Germany (UP) — West Germany today answered a Soviet request that some 37,000 Soviet expatriates be "allowed" to return home by pointing out that every one of them had expressly asked not to be sent back to Communism.

Federal Interior Minister Gerhard Schroeder said his government would under no circumstances put pressure on Russian refugees to leave Germany after they had been granted asylum here.



DISMISSED—Alexander V. Vlasov, right, talks to newsmen as he leaves his New York hotel to return to Moscow. Vlasov was a member of the ten-member Soviet housing delegation which has been inspecting U.S. housing. He had just been advised that he has been dismissed as chief architect of Moscow and president of the Soviet Academy of Architecture, as well as stripped of his medals. Vlasov said he was "happy" to be going home so that he might learn the details of the charges against him.

DURBAN, South Africa (UP)—One of the world's most colorful transport services ground to a halt today when 600 Zulu rickshaw pullers took off their leopard skins, monkey tails, lions' teeth and ostrich plumes and went on strike.

The gaily bedecked rickshaws lay idle for the first time in history because the husky, six-foot Africans refused to pay an extra three shillings rent for the vehicles.

Many of them have given up the lucrative tourist trade and returned to their villages in the jungles.

State Headed For '55 Traffic Death Toll Of More Than 1,100

By UNITED PRESS

Indiana appears headed for a 1955 traffic death toll of more than 1,100 and possibly pretty close to 1,200.

If the average daily rate for the first 10½ months of the year prevails to New Year's Eve, the total will be closer to 1,100. If the average daily rate for the last couple of weeks continues, the figure will be nearer 1,200.

At any rate, the year is almost certain to close out with a toll somewhat above the 1954 total of 1,076. And it appears the list will be more than 100 shorter than the 1,275-plus recorded in 1952 and again in 1953.

As of last Sunday midnight, the United Press had listed 977 deaths. This was a gain of 33 in just a week, a little more than four deaths per day.

If the four-a-day rate continues, the 1,000th death will be registered Nov. 20. But the rate for the year thus far is only about three a day, thanks to safer driving during the first half of 1955. If the three-a-day pace continues, the 1,000th death will be held up until about Nov. 22 —two days before Thanksgiving.

Last year, the 1,000th death was recorded on National Safe Driving Day, which fell on Dec. 15. This year, Safe Driving Day is Dec. 1 and by that time it appears Indiana will be eating into its second thousand.

Chile Now Seems To Have Overcome Threat Of Revolt

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Chile seems to have overcome the threat of revolt which has hit the other two "A-B-C" powers of Latin America.

Argentina has ousted a dictator and a provisiona president within two months.

In Brazil, a president has resigned and an acting president has been overthrown within the last week.

But in Chile, 78-year-old President Carlos Ibanez del Campo is reported to be in a stronger position than at any time since he was inaugurated on Nov. 3, 1952—his 75th birthday.

Only two months ago, Chile was linked with Argentina and Brazil as ripe for an explosion.

The powerful Central Labor Union was threatening a nationwide general strike which, had it been successful, might have resulted in Ibanez's overthrow.

Union leaders left no doubt that they planned a direct test of strength with the Ibanez regime.

But the old cavalryman, after having tried conciliation for a long time, acted firmly. He ordered the arrest of hundreds of union leaders all over the country.

To the general surprise, the labor unions gave in.

It is now reported that Ibanez is in firm control of the situation and that it looks as if Chile may look forward to a period of political stability.

Ibanez is fighting hard to stop the inflation which has caused enormous rises in living costs and thus has resulted in labor unrest.

He has before congress a plan to reduce radically the number of employes in government enterprises — railroads, city transport services, electric power plants, air lines and so forth.

Ibanez says he is not a dictator, and he opposes the frequent suggestions of his supporters that he openly give himelf dictatorial status.

But there is no doubt that, at 78, in the middle of his second political career, Ibanez is Chile's "iron man."

Daniel J. Tobin Dies Monday Night

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — Daniel J. Tobin, an Irish-born wagon driver who became one of the most powerful figures in American labor as president of the AFL Teamsters Union, died Monday night at the age of 80.

Tobin had bossed the teamsters for 45 years, the longest rein in organized labor's history, and had been a power in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations.

His death came three years after he had relinquished control of the powerful teamsters union and assumed the role of president-emeritus.

He and his wife left Indianapolis for a Florida home bought by the union. But they returned in late October and Tobin entered St. Vincent's Hospital, suffering from high blood pressure and heart trouble.

His condition was listed as critical two weeks later and he died in the hospital Monday night at 6:55 p.m. CST with his son, Frank, at his bedside. His wife had left the room a short time earlier.

Tobin became president of the teamsters seven years after he joined the union in 1900.

Tobin, who had held several non-salaried posts under President Woodrow Wilson, became a political power when Franklin D. Roosevelt made his first campaign for the presidency.

But Tobin cooled towards Mr. Roosevelt's successor, President Truman. He was angered when Southern Democrats teamed up with Republicans in 1947 to pass the Taft-Hartley Act, and in 1948 he refused to even attend the Democratic national convention.

Killer May Have Used Garden Rake To Beat One Victim

CHICAGO (UP)—The murderer of three young Chicago boys may have used a short-handled garden rake to beat one of them, it was revealed today.

Coroner's Pathologist Dr. Jerry Kearns said bone-deep gashes on the head and neck of 13-year-old Robert Peterson indicate a rake-variety tool was used to beat him before he was strangled.

The weapon left three parallel cuts above the boy's left eyebrow, four on a level with his eye, two below the left ear, and two farther down on the neck, Kearns said in a supplemental report on the Oct. 16 murders.

He speculated that a garden tool, shaped like a rake and having four sharp tines, could have inflicted the wounds. The tool probably had a short handle and might be a rake-like instrument used to break up clods of dirt, he said.

The two other murdered boys, John Schuessler, 13, and his 11-year-old brother, Anton, met death in different ways, Kearns revealed. John was killed by a "judo-like" blow across the front of his throat and his little brother died of strangulation by pressure, he said.

no attention to the strike call.

Strike Follows Coup

The strike call came from the CGT only 24 hours after Aramburu took over from Maj. Gen. Eduardo Lonardi, the provisional president who was ousted Sunday afternoon in a palace coup.

The CGT issued the call despite a broadcast over the state radio warning that all work stoppages were forbidden and that labor leaders calling them would be arrested.

A column of Sherman tanks, half-tracks and weapons carriers roared through the streets of Buenos Aires Monday night, past government mansion and the CGT headquarters to the suburbs and there were reports labor leaders were being arrested.

There were reports of a "shooting" at the textile center of Berisso, close to La Plata, but the reports were not confirmed. Marines were guarding the oil distilleries at La Plata and the army was guarding the big La Plata meat packing facilities.

Earlier reports from the area told of only slight absenteeism when the strike went into effect.

Strike Call Denounced

Leaders of the movement for the recovery of free unionism — bitter foes of the Peronista CGT — denounced the strike call as a political maneuver of the totalitarian type and typical of the old Peron regime.

The CGT said the strike was called as a protest against the outrages being committed against the central workers' organizations and its federated unions.

It listed six reasons contributing to the strike which chiefly boiled down to the fact non-CGT members were seizing control of some unions and the order of government comptrollership of the CGT newspaper El Lider.

The labor disturbances began Monday in Rosario, Argentina's second city, where metal workers walked out and there were partial strikes in the packing houses and transport services there. The CGT call followed in the same day.

Aramburu early today issued a communique affirming his stand against the strike and promising he and his new labor minister would study the present problems.

11, touched off the most intensive Kansas City police hunt since the kidnap-slaying of Bobby Greenlease in 1953.

Federal authorities said Brown also was wanted for investigation of burglary, attempted murder and assault in Sheridan, Wyo.; for the kidnaping of his own wife in Kansas City, and a rape-burglary in San Jose, Calif.

Brown is charged with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for the shooting of Sheriff Willard H. Marshall, at Sheridan, on Aug. 31, when the peace officer was questioning Brown about a local burglary.

He abducted his wife, Jean, in Kansas City last week, but the terrified woman jumped from his stolen car and escaped unharmed.

Brown was on parole from San Quentin Prison in California. He was sentenced in 1947 in an arson case.

Midwest's Number One Ike Man Tells Folks in Kansas, Missouri What's What On Issues

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Midwest's No. 1 Ike man, back home after an eastern swing, has been telling the folks in Kansas and Missouri what's what on two of the hottest political issues of the day.

He reported:

1. The Eisenhower administration is getting ready to shoot the works for the farmer.

2. High administration officials increasingly believe President Eisenhower will seek reelection.

The reporter is Roy A. Roberts, a veteran political writer, but more recently president of the Kansas City Star Co.

"Just what the detailed (farm) program will be hasn't yet been worked out," Roberts wrote in the Star.

Plan For Long Pull

"Apparently, the only thing definite in the thinking of the Republican leadership is that something will be done, that it is a waste of time to do anything small, and that what is done should dramatize, if possible, the administration's sympathy for the farmer without jeopardizing the soundness, for the long pull, of the program now staked out."

Roberts said it is a big order, almost requiring a miracle. But such, he added, is the objective of the Eisenhower administration for the 1956 presidential election year.

He reported that the big men in the administration who are swinging to the belief the President will run again may be doing some wishful thinking. Roberts, himself, does not think the President will go again. But he wrote that the outstanding impression gained during an eastern swing was the attitude of top administration men toward a scond term. They were without hope only a few weeks ago.

Shift In Thinking

"The shift in thinking," Roberts wrote, "apparently flows from the President's steady but amazingly consistent rate of recovery, plus much deeper appreciation of the realities of the situation.

"Nearly everyone you talk to among the White House or cabinet intimates has a different slant. But they generally wind up with the opinion, or let's say hope, that Ike will see it as his duty to carry on first for the cause of world peace, and second for completion of the domestic program he has laid down for the country.

"Most often you hear the intimates tell how Ike twice has sworn to do his dull duty as soldier and president to the country.

"Summing up, if it is not to be Ike, the Republicans haven't begun to give serious thought to the man they will select.

"They can see an awful mess ahead."

An awful mess, that is, if Mr. Eisenhower retires.

Two Children Die, Another Critically Burned In Fire

KENDALLVILLE, Ind. (UP)—Two children were killed and another was burned critically in an early morning fire which destroyed their Jones Lake cottage.

The dead were John David Lucas, 11, and Thomas Eugene Lucas, 6. In critical condition was their sister, Sharon Kay, 8.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lucas, suffered minor burns in the blaze which the father said probably was due to a faulty fuel oil heater.

Lucas said he awakened about 2:30 a.m. to find the house filled with smoke. He rushed upstairs to arouse the children and then leaped out a window to safety.

He said he ordered the children to jump, but only Sharon obeyed.

Firemen discovered the bodies of the two boys beneath the charred bedcovers.

Search Spreads For Russell Tongay

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — The search for fugitive swimming coach Russell Tongay spread today to the marshy wastes of Plaquemines Parish following a tip that he was seen in the area.

Tongay, sentenced to 10 years in prison in connection with the diving death of his little daughter, escaped from officers who brought him here from Florida for treatment of a lung condition Sunday night.

John W. Graham Widow Sole Heir

The will of John W. Graham, 62, who died Nov. 2, was offered today in circuit court for probate by Gates & Gates, local attorneys. The will, drawn on March 4, 1944, bequeaths all property real and personal to the widow, Mrs. Eunice P. Graham. She is nominated as executrix of the will.

The will was witnessed by Ralph F. Gates and Miss Florence Buffenbarger. Mr. Graham, Richland township resident, served as township trustee from 1950 to 1954.

mean that the government would drop its charges against Graham but would "merely defer" them to "the more serious charges" for prosecution in a state court.

Kelley announced the decision less than 24 hours after Graham's preliminary hearing in a U.S. commissioner's court on a technical charge of sabotaging a national defense utility—the plane.

The federal prosecutor said that Graham actually could be prosecuted in state courts in either Denver or in Weld County, Colo., in which the plane crashed.

Put Bomb in Suitcase

But he said inasmuch as both the "primary victim"—Mrs. Daisy King, Graham's mother—and Graham himself were residents of Denver, the former boarded the ill-fated plane in Denver, and "preparation" for the crime was carried out in Denver, he thought that prosecution should be commenced in the courts of the latter county.

Graham planted the bomb to collect $37,500 on an insurance policy which he had taken out in his mother's name. The policy was worthless because she had not countersigned it according to law.

Graham said he collected 25 sticks of dynamite, rigged them with a battery and placed them in his mother's suitcase shortly before she boarded the plane to visit her daughter, Mrs. Helen Hablutzel in Anchorage, Alaska.

When news of the airliner crash broke Graham went home to his wife and children, put his face in his hands and cried, his neighbors said.

The FBI declined to reveal the details of how Graham got the dynamite bomb into his mother's luggage.

The Rocky Mountain News said Graham tied 25 sticks of dynamite together, removed some of his mother's things from a suitcase and replaced them with the explosive.

The Scrips - Howard newspaper said Graham set the bomb to explode in 90 minutes, bound his mother's suitcase with straps and carried it to Stapleton Air Field for his mother.

"After my mother had finished checking her luggage, my wife and I went with her to the passengers' gate where we told my mother goodbye and watched her board the plane with other passengers," Graham said, according to the News.

Graham said he took his wife to the airport coffee shop and "as we were leaving I heard the cashier say...that there had been a wreck of an airplane."

"Later on that evening after my wife and I had returned to our home, we heard over the radio... that all the passengers had been killed."

Graham, charged technically with a federal offense of sabotaging an airliner, was held under heavy guard in Denver's county jail. His bail was set at $100,000.

U.S. Attorney Donald E. Kelley said the sabotage charge was "hardly worth while."

He asked the Justice Department for an opinion on whether Graham should be turned over to the state to face murder charges. The maximum penalty for sabotage is 10 years. If he is charged and convicted of murder he could receive the death penalty under state laws.

Dr. Earl J. Miller, the Graham family physician for 20 years said the 23-year-old explosives expert "bordered" on mechanical genius. He learned to use dynamite while working on construction jobs.

Elvin West, a neighbor, said Graham "once told me he'd do anything for money. He didn't seem to have much feeling for people."

The FBI did not disclose details of how Graham was traced to the explosion. But it seemed assured the trip insurance he arranged provided the tip off.

Another clue might have been the weight of Mrs. King's luggage Her suitcases weighed 103 pounds, 27 pounds over the limit. She had to pay $27.82 for the extra weight.

Graham, married and the father of two children, is technically an heir to part of his mother's $150,000 estate.

"NO, IT'S NOT THE PRESIDENT!"—With all due respect, Marine T/Sgt. Albert J. Eisenhower sometimes wishes he had another name. He and his family live at Bolling Field in Washington, D.C., and their number is in the phone book—which is where all the trouble starts. They get so many calls from "crackpots, drunks and just kids" who want to talk to the President they're thinking of getting a private listing. Dulles Pins The Blame For Failure Of Conference On Soviet Union

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA (UP) — The United States pledged itself today to continue working for a united Germany despite the failure of the Big Four conference.

In a speech to the closing session of the parley, U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles pinned the blame for failure squarely on the Soviet Union.

He said Moscow's attitude "will almost certainly impair the development of confidence which the summit meeting sought to foster."

But he reiterated that there can be no "solid peace in Europe" without German Reunification.

Reports to Eisenhower

"The government and the people of the United States," Dulles said, "want to develop better relations with the Soviet Union."

He said he would report to President Eisenhower at once when he returned from Geneva.

He said the President then "will evaluate the conference result against the background of his vast knowledge and abhorrence of war, and his dedication to the cause of a just and durable peace."

Dulles addressed the 17th and last plenary session of the parley after the Big Four foreign ministers agreed on their final communique.

This is a short two-paragraph document, merely recording the fact that the ministers met in Geneva aid adding that they were reporting back to their respective governments with the recommendation that a decision on future negotiations should be made through diplomatic channels.

John Graham Seems Sure Of Securing Release

Adjusts To Jail Routine With Calm

DENVER (UP)—John Gilbert Graham's jailers reported today he appears supremely confident of securing release from the jail where he is held on murder charges for planting the explosive which killed 44 persons aboard a United Air Lines plane Nov. 1.

"He seems to feel he'll get out of the position he's in," said Capt. Neal Wright, the county jail training officer. "And he talks like he's quite hopeful of making his bond and getting out of jail."

Wright said Graham eats well, sleeps soundly, and chatted once with a guard about explosives.

He has adjusted to jail routine with almost unbelievable calm, his guards said.

Wild Storm Rips Nation's Middle, Spews Tornadoes

Fog Blamed For Two Traffic Deaths In Chicago Tuesday

By UNITED PRESS

A wild storm ripped up the nation's midsection, spewing tornadoes in three states, and pounded the Ohio River Valley with heavy thunderstorms today.

To the west, a long-delayed cold wave cracked out of the icy northern Rockies and ran chilling fingers through the northern Plains. Another storm center rolled out of Missouri into Illinois and Wisconsin.

Tornadoes and devastating wind storms hit communities in Arkansas, Indiana, and Ohio.

Near Batesville, Ark., a twister killed a 74-year-old woman and injured five other persons. Another storm, described as a "small twister," ripped an Ohio area between Greenville and Union City. Houses, barns, and autos were damaged, but no injuries were reported.

More violent storms struck in Illinois, Oklahoma, and Texas. Near Mt. Vernon, Ill., children were told to stay home from several schools today because hailstones "as big as eggs" had mashed in the windows.

Meanwhile, an Arctic cold mass increased its grip on the west and a new snow storm laid up to four feet of snow on some Colorado mountain passes.

Snow at Denver snarled traffic so badly that it took an hour and 10 minutes to take a normally 25-minute bus ride. Farther north, the temperature went to 35 degrees below zero at Drummond, Mont., while the cold front dropped

4,400 Pounds Used Clothing Collected By County Schools

Harry Yoder, county superintendent of schools, announced today that the ten Whitley county schools participated in the "used Clothing drive," conducted during the last week.

Children in all the Whitley county schools brought in the used clothing and 110 bags of clothing weighing 4,400 pounds was collected. Mr. Yoder said the clothing was sorted and sent to the Save The Children Federation, in Knoxville, Tenn.

The Save The Children Federation, distributes the used clothing to needy families in the United States and overseas.

The Whitley county "used clothing drive" was held in conjunction with the state wide program. The county schools were asked to participate in the drive by Wilbur Young, state superintendent of public instruction.

Contract For Water Tower Is Let By Council

Tower Cost $71,035; New Council To Get Bids For Tower Base

The Board of Works with the City Council concurring, awarded the contract last night for construction of a 500,000-gallon water tank and supporting steel tower to the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co. The cost will be $71,035.

The construction of a base for the tower, to be erected at the north city limits, is not included in the bid. The new city administration after Jan. 1 will advertise for bids for construction of the tower base upon specifications to be supplied by the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company and approved by the consulting engineers.

Four bids were submitted last night for supplying the tower and tank.

These were from: the Graver Tank Manufacturing Co., East Chicago, $69,024; Ptisburgh-Des Moines Steel Co. of Pittsburgh and Des Moines, $71,035; the Chicago Bridge & Iron Co., Chicago, $73,060; the W. E. Caldwell & Co., Louisville, Ky., $73,550.

The fact that the low bidder, the Graver Tank Manufacturing Co., until recently had not undertaken this type of construction work, led to awarding the contract to the next highest bidder, according to Clerk-Treasurer Franklin Dillman. A number of years ago the Graver company built water towers but had not re-entered this field of construction until just recently.

Offered To Reject Bids

The Board of Works and City Council, which had invited Mayor-elect Garland Stickler to attend the bid-letting session last night, offered to reject all bids if the new administration preferred to handle the water tower contracts after Jan. 1.

Mr. Stickler and his legal advisor, John W. Whiteleather, advised the present administration to award the tank-tower contract last night inasmuch as the present council some weeks ago had advertised for the bids.

Area Is Lashed By Storms; 1.75 Inches Of Rain

Sidewalks, Streets Become Rivers In Space Of Minutes

The Whitley county area was lashed by a series of storms Tuesday night. The most severe of these hit at about 8:00, rain arriving in sheets which obscured motorists' vision and in the space of minutes sidewalks and streets became running streams. Most of the 1.75 of rain which fell came between 8:00 and 8:30 p.m.

Day-long work Tuesday by the street department to relieve leaf-clogged storm sewers following the early morning rains Tuesday, paid off. About a half-hour after the height of last night's rains, the storm sewers had carried off most of the surface water.

Many householders, however, had water standing in their basements in varying amounts. Some reported as much as a foot of water which put out furnace and water heater pilot lights. Some were faced today with having electric motors dried out before re-use.

Intersections throughout Columbia City were flooded. Worst were Main at Spencer street, Main and Van Buren street, and Walnut and Jackson street. From the Columbia Woolen Mills the water drained down the sidewalk along Main street in a flowing stream until it sought out Blue river a block below.

Farther south at Main and Hanna streets a lake developed through which U.S. 30 and state road 9 traffic had to cross.

Nearly every low spot in town was flooded and water coursed through basement windows into cellars. Today the street workers lent aid in pumping out basements. They worked all night unclogging sewers, where they again were stopped by leaves and debris.

Flares last night were placed on state highways where water was over the roads. On U.S. 30 east motorists encountered water just east of the Eel river bridge, near the Glenn Pumphrey farm, and at a point about a half-mile west of the Whitley-Allen county line. Standing water on state road 14 also was marked.

Cars left standing in places where the water was deepest had to be towed to garages. Motors and car interiors were flooded.

Although the rains followed severe lightning, no reports today were received of power outages due to the storm.

Stevenson Will Enter Primary In Minnesota

Appoints Professional Political Figures

By TOM NELSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP) — Adlai Stevenson today announced he is starting his campaign for the presidency by entering the Minnesota presisional political figures to take dential primary.

Stevenson appointed two profescharge of his effort to win the Democratic nomination at the Chicago convention next summer.

At a news conference Stevenson said his decision, announced Tuesday, to run again for president was made without any consideration of the effect of President Eisenhower's illness.

"It was largely made in the early part of this past summer after getting evidence of interest in my candidacy, and the decision was confirmed around Sept. 1 after conferring with my children," Stevenson said.

Names His Aides

He said he did not make his announcement earlier "mostly for personal reasons." However, he added, he wanted to be "quite sure of certain regions and certain individuals" before throwing his hat into the ring.

Appointed as Stevenson's preconvention campaign manager was James A. Finnegan, secretary of state in Pennsylvania. As executive director for Finnegan, Stevenson named Hyman B. Raskin, of Chicago, a former member of the Democratic National Committee and a law partner of former National Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell.

Stevenson also said that two leaders in his 1952 campaign would be active this time. He named Wilson Wyatt of Louisville, Ky., who was his personal manager in 1952 and Mitchell.

The decision to enter the Minnesota primary was made to meet the time requirements of Minnesota laws, Stevenson said. He disclosed that he had notified the Democratic Farmer - Labor Party of Minnesota by letter that he is

Heavy Wet Fog Keeps Ike From Going To Office

To Cope With Pile Of Official Business

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP) — A heavy wet fog blanketed this area today and prevented President Eisenhower from going to his office to cope with a mounting pile of official business.

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks' scheduled visit with Mr. Eisenhower was postponed until Thursday. So was the visit of Sherman Adams, the assistant to the President.

Both will come here Thursday to see the President. They will be accompanied by Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes.

It will be the first time that the director of the budget will sit down personally with the President to discuss the fiscal 1957 budget.

The fiscal discussion will mark the opening of a erie of conferences between the President and Hughes on the government's finances.

Dulles Arrives Thursday

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is expected to arrive here Thursday afternoon to give the President a first-hand report on the Geneva conference of foreign ministers.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters that bad flying conditions made it impossible for Weeks and Adams to fly here today in a special aero commander reserved for such shuttle flying of government officials between Washington and Gettysburg.

The President was to have begun supervising the sprawling federal government today from tiny quarters in the Gettysburg Post Office.

Lightning Kills Man; 2 Persons Are Electrocuted

At Least 21 Persons Injured

By UNITED PRESS

An unseasonal wind and rainstorm with tornado force swept across Indiana Tuesday night, centering its fury on five counties, killing three persons and injuring at least 21.

The wind, rain, lightning and hail followed a day of unusually warm temperatures and ushered in a cold spell which weathermen said will result in sub-freezing temperatures and snow tonight.

Some areas were flooded in the downpour, and families were forced to flee from their homes.

Weathermen could not verify whether the high winds constituted tornadoes. But victims in the damaged areas of Vanderburgh, Warrick, Spencer, Randolph and Marion counties said the storms had tornadic violence.

The storm made its big sweep across central and southern Indiana. Wind damage was most severe near Evansville, Indianapolis and Winchester, and the rainfall was heaviest at Knightstown in Henry County and Bowling Green in Clay County.

Knightstown had 4.67 inches in the 24-hour period ending today at 7 a.m. Bowling Green had 4 inches. Indianapolis had 3.02 inches, just shy of the 3.13 average for the entire month.

Two Are Electrocuted

United States Starts New Review Of Middle Eastern Policy To Solve Arab-Israel Dispute

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States is starting a new review of its Middle Eastern policy in search of a solution to the Arab-Israel dispute, administration sources disclosed today.

The review will get a big push when Secretary of State John Foster Dulles returns this weekend from the Big Four foreign ministers conference at Geneva. The administration hopes to come up with final answers soon on what to do about supplying arms to Israel, guaranteeing Israeli - Arab borders and giving economic aid to develop the area.

President Eisenhower appealed anew Tuesday night to Israel and the Arab states to settle their border disputes. He repeated that the United States would be willing to join in a formal treaty to guarantee the disputed borders if the two nations would agree on a boundary and stop their fighting.

State To Consider

Israel's appeal for additional U.S. arms was expected to be presented formally to the State Department today by Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban. The department has said it would consider Israel's request.

The President's offer to guarantee Israeli-Arab borders was sent to Jewish leader Rabbi Hillel Silver for reading to a mass rally at New York's Madison Square Garden. It was worded almost identically with a similar offer made by Dulles in an Aug. 26 speech. Israel and the Arab nations have not yet accepted the Dulles' plan.

The President said that if a settlement is worked out, "I would be prepared to recommend that the United States join in formal treaty engagements to prevent or thwart any effort by either side to alter by force the boundaries upon which Israel and its immediate neighbors agree."

Dulles To Report

Dulles, who has spent much of his time at Geneva talking with Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov and others about the Middle East, will report immediately on those conversations to Mr. Eisenhower.

The new review of Middle Eastern policy is certain to go through the National Security Council, the nation's top policy-making body. The council is scheduled to meet with the President next week.

On the question of arms for Israel, the United States is not yet sure how serious the recent Czech arms deal with Egypt is. The State Department doesn't know whether the Communist weapons will give Egypt a heavy military lead over Israel or whether the arms deal means Egypt is swinging to the Soviet bloc.

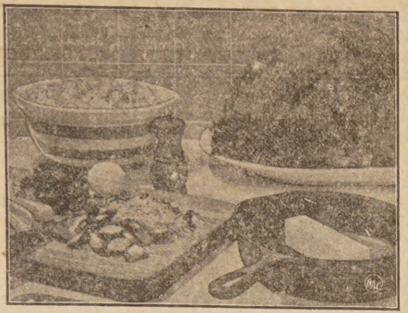
Brazil Nut-Bread Stuffing Glorifies Holiday Bird



CHOPPED Brazil nuts bring new texture interest and a distinctive nut flavor and richness to poultry stuffings. The Brazil nuts going into a traditional bread crumb stuffing make a stuffing which will compete in interest with turkey.

Brazil nuts have been used in poultry stuffings long enough now to have won a loyal following. So popular is this nut-enriched stuffing that many home cooks make an extra portion and bake it in foil.

It helps during the holiday dinner rush to have the Brazil nuts already shelled before assembling the stuffing. The crinkly tough shells of Brazil nuts are easily cracked if the nuts are boiled three minutes in water. Then drain, cover with cold water a minute; drain and crack.

Brazil Nut Stuffing

- ½ cup (1 stick) butter
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 2 cups chopped Brazil nuts
- ¼ cup chopped parsley
- 1 cup chopped celery and leaves
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 8 cups soft bread crumbs
- 2 eggs, beaten (optional)
- 1 cup stock or water

Melt butter in large saucepan or skillet; add onion and cook over low heat until onion is tender, but not brown. Stir in Brazil nuts, parsley, celery, salt, pepper and poultry seasoning; add bread crumbs and toss lightly. Remove from heat, stir in beaten eggs and stock or water. YIELD: Stuffing for 12-pound turkey, or 2 6-pound turkeys, using ¾ stuffing per pound dressed weight.

Note: If desired, stuffing may be baked separately to serve with chicken, veal or beef. Place stuffing in foil; seal edges tightly. Bake in a moderate oven (350-375° F.), 35 minutes, or in a slow oven (325° F.), 45 minutes.

MANILA (UP) — Suicide today ended World War II for an emaciated Japanese marine who evaded capture in the Philippines jungles for 11 years, convinced that Japan would win the war and he would return home in triumph.

Marine Cpl. Noboru Kinoshita strangled himself in a prison stockade because he felt he had disgraced himself and Japan by being taken prisoner two weeks ago.

After 11 years of jungle life Kinoshita finally was taken prisoner Nov. 2. He thought the war was still going on and refused to believe it when told that the battles had ended almost 11 years ago.

Daily, he begged Filipino police to kill him. He grew almost hysterical in demands to die "honorably" and finally resolved his problem with a rope.

RAMSTEIN, Germany (UP)—An American F86d fighter plane crashed in a field near here Tuesday night but its seat ejection mechanism enabled the pilot to parachute to safety.

The plane, piloted by 1st Lt. Daniel J. Mourey of Fort Wayne, Ind., was on a routine training flight from the Landstuhl Air Base.

When the plane got into trouble, Mourey triggered his seat ejection mechanism, opened his parachute and drifted down onto the roof of the city hospital at Kaiserslautern.

TOKYO (UP) — The government decided Tuesday to limit the export of cotton goods to the United States in an effort to head off any American trade quotas.

The North American Market Committee of the minister of International Trade and Industry imposed restrictions on the volume of exports of all cotton goods with emphasis on textiles that compete with American manufacturers. The committee feared the United States Congress might pass a bill putting import quotas on Japanese cotton goods if Japan did not impose the restrictions herself.

TAIPEI, Formosa (UP)—Nationalist China's provisional capital is leading all other cities in the world in traffic accidents, the newspaper China Post said today.

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, Virgin Islands (UP)—Laurence S. Rockefeller has launched a campaign to interest Virgin Islanders in his project to give the United States government a large portion of his land holdings on St. Thomas Island for development as a national park.

Manchester Orchestra To Be Featured On 'Command Performance'

The Manchester College and the North Manchester Civic Symphony orchestra will be featured on "Command Performance," to be aired on radio station WOWO, Fort Wayne, next Tuesday. The hour-long program will begin at 9 p.m.

WOWO feels the music of the North Manchester orchestra is outstanding, inasmuch as North Manchester is the smallest community in the United States to have a symphony orchestra. "Command Performance," which was first aired last June, normally features only nationally-renowned vocalists. It will deviate from the program's regular format to feature the North Manchester symphony orchestra and its guest vocalist, Bob Cocherille, it was stated by Guy Harris, program director of WOWO.

Selections to be heard will include "Zampa" Overture by Herold, the "First Movement of Symphony in G Minor" by Mozart, "The Moldau" by Bedrich Smetena, and "The Knightsbridge March" by Eric Coates. Bob Cocherille will be heard in songs by Sigmund Romberg and Hammerstein.

Scientists say that if the ice melted from the Antarctic contnent, the world's oceans would raise 105 feet.

U. S., Britain Want Showdown Now With Russia

Action Brings Sharp Rift With Canada

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — The United States and Britain moved swiftly today for a showdown with Russia in the powerful Security Council on admission of 18 members to the United Nations.

The action brought a sharp rift with Canada and 21 other sponsoring powers which feared the American move might wreck any chance of bringing new members into the world body.

Informed sources pointed out that the difference did not appear to be a permanent block to final agreement.

"What we all are after is not competing action but something helpful and constructive," Canada's Delegate Paul Martin said after a meeting with the delegates of 21 other nations.

Britain Backs U.S.

U. S. delegates, weary of Soviet foot-dragging on admission of new members, Tuesday demanded a meeting of the Security Council to settle the question once and for all. Britain backed this move.

The West sponsors Austria, Italy Ireland, Finland, Portugal, Spain, Cambodia, Ceylon, Japan, Jordan, Laos, Libya and Nepal for U.N. membership.

The Communists are backing Outer Mongolia Albania, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

Outer Mongolia is the sticking point. The United States claims it isn't even a nation but part of the Soviet Union and Communist China. Lodge said the United States would not bar the other Communist nations but added he didn't think Outer Mongolia would make the grade.

Showdown Expected Soon

The Security Council showdown demanded by Lodge was expected to take place next Friday or Monday.

The move brought consternation in the ranks of the other sponsoring powers. They feared a showdown in the Security Council, traditional battleground between East and West, might kill all chances of new admissions.

They moved, instead, that a membership compromise be worked out in the General Assembly where no power of veto exists even though the settlement would eventually have to be approved by the Security Council.

the mercury 45 degrees from 65 to 20 at Amarillo, Tex.

More spectacular temperature drops were expected in the Midwest, where a cold wave was finally moving in almost six days behind predictions.

Cold wave warnings were posted for parts of Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, and Nebraska, and a special weather bureau bulletin warned of one to three inches of snow, plus freezing rain, in the Chicago area.

The cold wave followed record-breaking temperatures through Illinois, Missouri, and the southeast.

At Chicago, a heavy fog was blamed for two traffic deaths yesterday, but the sun broke through and the temperature went to a record-breaking 71 degrees.

Heat records for so late in the year were set at Springfield, Ill., with 78 degrees, and West Plains, Mo., with 81. In the South, high temperature records were tied at Mississippi Georgia, Alabama, and South Carolina.

Fruit Storage Advice Listed

LAFAYETTE: — Hoosier farmers and gardners can safely store fruits and vegetables for use this winter if temperatures and moisture are controlled in the storage room.

W. B. Ward, extension horticulturist in vegetables at Purdue University, says most fruits and vegetables keep best when temperature is around 33 to 40 degrees and the moisture content between 70 and 75 percent.

Vegetables such as peanuts, pumpkins, squash, and sweet potatoes require warm storage, 50 to 60 degrees, and a fairly dry atmosphere. Onions shuold be stored at 32 to 40 degress in a dry place.

Ward advises that handling should be kept to a minimum and only good produce should be stored.

A dry atmosphere is evident if produce shrivels and dries. Sprouting and rot means too high a temperature. A close watch on the storage places will prolong the season for quality fruits and vegetables, Ward concludes.

Cold dry air lends itself well to the preservation of organic matter. Scientists say that food stuffs could be stored in the Antarctic to build up reserves or to stabilize the the world markets.

Millis To Be GOP Candidate For Governor

Of Indiana Next Year

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Frank T. Millis, Indiana state commissioner of revenue and a prominent figure in Hoosier Republican affairs the last 20 years, announced today he will be a GOP candidate for governor next year.

Millis announced his candidacy formally in a statement issued from his office this morning.

He is a loyal member of the Republican faction headed by Gov. George Craig and has been considered generally over the last couple of years as the man Craig would back as his successor.

Millis' fight for the nomination will be waged at the state nominating convention next June. If the present split in the Republican party faction headed by Sen. William E. Jenner doubtless will have a "favorite" candidate to oppose Millis.

In the 1952 nominating convention, no less than seven candidates waged battle for the gubernatorial nomination. Craig, thanks to American Legion colleagues, won the nomination despite his lack of organization blessing.

Millis' home is Campbellsburg. He was a druggist before he made government a career with his election as Indiana state treasurer in 1944. Millis served two two-year terms as treasurer and two two-year terms as Indiana state auditor. He was appointed first commissioner of the State Department of Revenue.

Before he was elected a state official, Millis served three two-year terms in the Indiana House of Representatives and was GOP majority leader in the 1939 and 1941 sessions.

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UP)—Police said today John Henry, 36, probably set some kind of a record with his car.

Henry was booked on various traffic charges after his auto was ivolved in six separate collisions —all Tuesday.

Plan Early If You're The Dinner Chairman

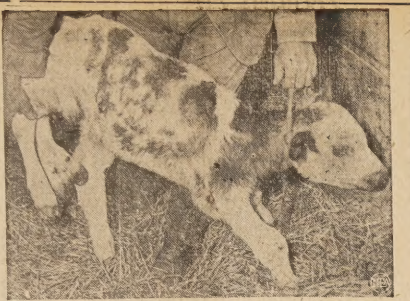
LAFAYETTE, — Begin to plan early and carefully when asked to serve as chairman of a dinner for a large number of people.

Early planning will help make the work move smoothly the day of the event and will avoid emergency shopping and many unnecessary physical and emotional strains, advises Miss Lois Oberhelman, food and nutrition specialist, Purdue University. A planning committee, with the chairman and sub-chairman present, might arrange the menu, select the recipes, make out grocery list with amounts to be used, and appoint a preparation, serving, and cleaning committee. These committees should be supplied with copies of the menu and a description of their individual responsibilities. Each person should have a definite written outline of duties to avoid misunderstandings.

The duties of the preparation committee are to study the menu and recipes, and prepare work plans, listing duties to be done with each person's name assigned to do the work. This committee prepares food according to the work plan.

The serving committee's duties might be to check serving equipment and table appointments, arrange tables, lay covers and decorate tables, train waitresses, and decide on the plan of serving.

The clean-up committee's duties are to plan a systematic method of work; provide space for soiled dishes and plenty of hot water, with detergent, and scalding rinse water; scrape and stack soiled dishes, and cooking utensils before starting to wash; wash, dry, and put dishes in assigned storage places; clean kitchen and dining room; care for laundering tea towels and dish cloths; and leave kitchen in order.



DOUBLE-JOINTED—This half can't stand by itself, because it has five legs. The "extra" leg of the animal, born on the Frank Veldheer farm near Holland, Mich., separates from the right hind leg about halfway down and appears to end in two hoofs. The calf also has a double hip joint. Veldheer says the calf seems to be perfectly healthy.

Winter Mulch Strawberries

LAFAYETTE: — The best way to obtain top performance from the strawberry bed is to start with a good winter mulch," says W. B. Ward, extension horticulturist at Purdue University.

Ward says that it isn't so much the cold winter weather that causes the damage as it is the alternate freezing and thawing that heaves the plants up and out of the ground. When the plants are lifted up, roots are broken off and the crown of the plant dries out. A good straw mulch helps reduce this winter heaving.

Even after the cold weather is over the mulch continues to be beneficial. The stronger plants will push up through the straw next spring, and the berries will be cleaner, larger, and brighter in color. Throughout the producing season the mulch will serve to conserve moisture, help control weeds and grasses, and often times protect the blossoms from late spring frosts.

It's easy to apply a mulch. Around December 1 spread a 2 to 3 inch layer of clean straw over the plants and the row. The straw should be free from weed and grain seeds. If there is any doubt about the straw being clean, open the bales away from the patch and separate the chaff and seeds from the straw by shaking it out in the wind.

A bale of straw should cover from 30 to 50 feet of row.

A four-inch layer of sawdust or corncobs will provide a good winter mulch around trees, shrubs, and berry bushes, report horticulturists at Purdue University.

New Government Arrests Hundreds Of Strike Leaders

As Movement Gains Ground

By WILLIAM L. F. HORSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

BUENOS AIRES (UP)—President Pedro E. Aramburu's four-day-old government was reported today to have arrested hundreds of strike leaders in a growing walkout of the Peronista-dominated General Confederation of Labor.

Most essential services were running at normal or slightly below normal and no major disturbances were reported though a 100 per cent walkout in some industries dealt a major blow to Argentine economy. But efforts by the strikers to deal a knockout blow to the new revolutionary government were not successful.

The army ministry in Buenos Aires was under strong guard and the government added eight 40 millimeter howitzers to the defenses ringing the key building. The city streets were completely normal and throughout Tuesday merchants carried on business as usual.

Waterfront Nearly Normal

Reports from outlying sections of the capital told of 100 per cent shutdowns in such industries as meat packing, glassworking and soap manufacture. The waterfront was nearly normal and barely five per cent of transport and railroad employes were off the job.

Reports from outside Buenos Aires told of the spread of the strike. In Santa Fe streetcars and buses were abandoned in the streets at midnight by CGT workers who once swore allegiance to ousted President Juan D. Peron.

The CGT, which claimed six million members when it formed the main political strength of the ousted Peron, called a general strike at midnight Tuesday. It was slow getting started but apparently was gaining momentum.

Business As Usual

Government and business activities continued as usual, but the strike halted much of the industrial production in the Buenos Aires area and in other industrial cities.

The Aramburu government which threatened punishment of "illegal" strike leaders moved swiftly, and police wagons began hauling in labor leaders when the strike began. Conservative estimates today said 300 or more had been arrested in Buenos Aires, many others in the interior of the country.

Two of the CGT's top leaders, Andres Framini, a textile workers delegate,sand Luis Natalini, a light and power workers delegate, were believed in, hiding. Unconfirmed rumors said they had been arrested.

There was only token strike activity on the Buenos Aires waterfront while the belt of industrial cities and towns ringing greater Buenos Aires were reported almost quiet.

Special Commission Meets To See If State Agencies Are Working Together For Safety

By KEITH L. MARTIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—A special commission met today to find out whether four Indiana governmental agencies are working together in the interests of traffic safety, and, if not, why not.

The Indiana Legislative Study Commission on Traffic Safety convened to hear four witnesses—the heads of the departments the 1953 Legislature intended should work together, according to Chairman Philip L. Johnson.

The meeting was held while Indiana's 1955 traffic death toll soared near the 1,000 mark as it advanced at a pace about seven per cent ahead of last year's rate.

Sen. Eugene Bainbridge, a Munster Democrat on the commission, indicated he felt the administration of Governor Craig would "have to take the blame" for the increase in traffic deaths over last year.

Critical of Jessup

Bainbridge was particularly critical of State Police Supt. Frank A. Jessup, whose department has a big responsibility in policing drivers and preventing accidents.

Beginning at 1 p.m. CDT, the commission scheduled half-hour appearances by Jessup, state traffic safety director Joe Lingo, Motor Vehicles Bureau chief Morris Carter, and State Highway Commission chairman Virgil Smith.

Johnson said the rising death toll is "the most serious matter the commission has ever encountered."

"There's something wrong somewhere," he said, pointing out that the 1954 death toll was cut 200 below the 1953 toll but this year's toll is running about 75 ahead of the same time last year.

Sidesteps Prejudgment

Johnson cautiously sidestepped any prejudgment of safety officials. He would not comment on the criticism of Jessup but said the National Safety Council had suggested to states with higher death rates that the first place to look is enforcement.

Johnson said the commission will try to discover why the deaths are increasing and particularly whether the intent of the Legislature is being carried out regarding cooperation among the departments.

The chairman said also he may try again at the next Legislature, in 1957, to enact legislation making mandatory drunkometer tests for drunk driving suspects.

Drunkometers, he said, have "developed to the point where they are as factual as fingerprinting." But he said only half the suspected drivers will voluntarily submit to the test.

What's New In Washington

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — What's new in Washington:

The lovable poet, Robert Frost, was a guest speaker at the Library of Congress. After his recitation of some of his best known poems, somebody asked him how he came up with the title for "North of Boston." He scratched his head and said: "I reckon I got it out of farm advertisements."

Charles E. Wilson, our defense secretary, came back from Geneva the other day and reporters noted that he was wearing a Homburg. Photographers asked him to take off his new topper. He was disinclined.

"You want me to look more like a business man than a diplomat?" The lensemen said "Yes." The former executive of General Motors said "No." Usually, Wilson wears a snap-brim hat, at a cocky angle.

Men on Operation Deep Freeze with Adm. Richard E. Byrd, won't have to worry about good food. Mama maybe couldn't do better. In the vessels on the way to the South Pole are such as: 43,000 pounds of frozen meat and poultry; 80,000 pounds of canned meat and fish — and more poultry; 63,000 pounds of flour, meal and crackers; 48,000 pounds of coffee, tea and cocoa; and 50,000 pounds of sugar.

for which will be let after Jan. 1, is expected to make the total tower cost better than $80,000. Additional expense will be the piping and valving, acquisition of the site from Harry J. Redick.

The water tower site includes two acres. A portion of this tract is beyond the city limits. By action of the council last night an ordinance was passed to annex the portion of the tract outside the city.

Annex H.S. Site

During its session last night the council also passed an ordinance to annex the land upon which the new Joint High School will be erected. This had been delayed until the Planning Commission determined the extension of North street easterly. When extended, 30 feet of the street width will be taken from the R. L. Holden land, the balance off the high school tract.

Referred to the Planning Commission last night was a petition to vacate an alley on the north side of North Park subdivision.

Fund Transfer Authorized

Authorized by the councilmen was the transfer of light fund monies to the waterworks fund in an amount sufficient to complete the water tower. As the sinking fund is not sufficient for the entire cost, the light fund borrowing is to be repaid within five years.

ALVIN C. CAST

He is a member of a number of civic organizations and has worked in various political positions, rising from precinct committeeman to head of his party in Indiana in a span of four years. Cast gained his present job in 1954.

The public is invited to hear the address and join in the discussion following the program.

Chase

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UP) — A somewhat shaken farmer called police Tuesday when he observed a damaged truck speeding down a highway with a horse in hot pursuit.

State police joined the chase and arrested the two men in the truck one on a charge of being drunk and disorderly and the other for leaving the scene of an accident.

It seems the horse was bounced out of the truck bo when the truck sideswiped a car and was only trying to catch up, police said.

accepting its invitation to enter the primary.

"The only firm decision I have made with respect to primaries is in Minnesota," Stevenson said. "The others we will consider as we come to them."

How Reached Decision

In reaching his decision to run again, Stevenson said "during my travels in 1954 raising money for the Democratic National Committee and speaking coast to coast in the congressional campaign, I discovered a surprising interest in my being a candidate again."

"There was additional evidence in breadth and depth of the interest in my candidacy at the Governors' Conference this past August . . . evidence of support, and indeed enthusiasm," he said.

Stevenson, no longer the "reluctant candidate" of 1952, will make his next major move Saturday, when he addresses a giant fund-raising dinner at the International Amphitheater.

His speech will be delivered before two other possible contenders for the Democratic nomination—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

The dinner will be the climax of a four-day meeting of the Democratic National Committee which began today in Chicago. Stevenson was expected to dominate the gathering, although a hot fight on the post of national committeeman from Oklahoma was already being waged before the party's credentials committee.

Stevenson's announcement Tuesday that he will do "all I can" to head the Democratic ticket two times running was enthusiastically received by some Democrats. But the reactions of some others ranged from cool to openly hostile.

Snubbed By Stevenson

Rep. Francis E. Walter of Pennsylvania voiced the bitterest Democratic reaction. Walter, who was snubbed by Stevenson in 1952 because of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act, called the former Illinois governor a "laughing boy" and "the most discredited presidential candidate ever to foist himself upon the voters."

At the other end of the scale, Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming hailed Stevenson's announcement and said he has "one of the keenest minds in public life."

Kefauver said the early announcement was "a good thing" but "has nothing to do with my plans."

On the Republican side, GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall predicted Stevenson would be defeated in 1956 just as he was defeated in 1952 when he ran against President Eisenhower.

"No defeated candidate in history ever said 'give me another chance' with more coyness or with more elaborate staging," Hall said.

Instead, it was likely he would remain indoors most of the day at his farm house, three miles away.

The President will meet next week with the National Security Council and the Cabinet. Site of the meeting will be Camp David, the presidential hideaway in the nearby Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

The Dulles conference is expected to be more trying for the recuperating President. Winging in from Switerland with a rest stop at Bermuda, Dulles cannot bring the President a very good report on the Geneva foreign ministers meeting because the Russians blocked into a jeep for a brief ward easier relations. But Dulles may have some "inside" interpretation of Russian tactics at Geneva to give Mr. Eisenhower continued hope for a continued relaxation of tensions in the cold war.

Spent Leisurely Day

The President spent a leisurely day Tuesday. He walked around the farm buildings near his house with Dr. Howard McC. Snyder, the White House physician, then crawled into a jeep for a brief ride to the nearby farm of his good Washington friend, George E. Allen.

When Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams and Press Secretary James Hagerty arrived for a late afternoon business conference, they found the President at his new golf putting green. Mr. Eisenhower putted four balls and then joined his advisers in his first floor study and bedroom for action on some of the problems of the day.

It Is Adlai Stevenson Against Field Now In Long Race For Presidential Nomination

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—It's Adlai E. Stevenson against the field now in a long, hard race.

The several Democrats who also aspire to the presidential nomination next year must either fold or stop him. The man whom President Eisenhower licked in 1952 by a score of 442 electoral votes to 89 is the acknowledged front runner among Democrats at this moment. But at this moment Stevenson is the only entry in the field.

Eight full months of political maneuvering lie ahead before the month of the major party nominating conventions. There are politicians who will concede readily that Stevenson has a long lead today but who predict trouble in the months to come if the other hopefuls join to stop him.

Stevenson's announcement in Chicago Tuesday that he would seek next year's Democratic presidential nomination long had been foreseen. Chief interest centered on the public reaction of key party figures to his open candidacy.

Leaders Decline Comment

There was a remarkable lot of them who heard the news with friendly interest but without committing themselves to Stevenson's nomination. Former President Truman had no comment.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, a dark horse, himself, jockeyed by Tammy boss Carmine Desapio, said nothing which would prevent an all-out convention fight for his own nomination.

Tennessee's Sen. Estes Kefauver ob served that Stevenson's "I-will" opened to him the opportunity to contest a lot of presidential primaries. Kefauver's own presidential announcement is expected in December.

Stevenson said nothing of primaries Tuesday. But Chicago writers report he will enter at least four—Pennsylvania, Minnesota, California and Florida. That excludes New Hampshire where Kefauver earned his giant-killer reputation in 1952 by defeating Mr. Truman in a presidential preference vote. Kefauver is sure next year to go back to New Hampshire which holds the first of score of primaries. The date is March 13.

Big Delegate Slate

Kefauver split Pennsylvania with Stevenson in 1952 and divided Florida with Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia. He scared all real opposition out of California and won the big delegate slate. Kefauver wasn't on the Minnesota ballot but polled nearly 20,000 write in votes, a solid showing.

The various strategies now are evident: Kefauver to enter as many primaries as possible; Harriman to avoid all primary contests; Stevenson to enter a select few. Kefauver, for example, might not want to challenge Stevenson in Minnesota next year, a March 20 primary. He was up against only a favorite son in 1952, Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

The Minnesota Democratic organization is now solidly pledged to Stevenson. But Kefauver well might decide to make it a contest in California on June 5. His primary achievements made Kefauver top man in the first two ballots of the 1952 convention which finally switched to Stevenson on the third.

Stevenson's over-all strategy is as is his greatest prob-lem. The lem. The strategy is to build up a quick, fire-ball preconvention campaign calculated to bluff all others out of the contest.

His greatest problem is that of all who reach the top of a greased pole—which is, to stay there.

Treat Orchards This For Fall Rodents

LAFAYETTE, — A rodent specialist at Purdue University, G. C. Oderkirk, said today that Hoosier fruit growers should take time now to treat orchards for field mice control.

Severe damage by mice to fruit trees often comes with the first winter snow or sleet, which can be expected in November.

Oderkirk warned that field mice numbers have their ups and downs — with peaks and lows in population occuring about every four years. There are indications that mice will be more numerous in Indiana orchards this year, making it doubly important to apply control measures now.

Strychnine-treated oats and zinc phosphide treated apples are effective baits to use. Full directions for mixing baits can be obtained from any county agricultural extension office.

Orchards or areas in nurseries to be protected should be carefully treated. Four bait placements around each tree base under matted grass in mouse runways are recommended. If runways are evident under grass in open areas away from trees, placements should be made at about ten foot intervals.

Not Suitable For The Times

LONDON (UP) — British War Minister Anthony Head told Parliament Tuesday that Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery was oversimplifying things when he said the War Office accounting system was "suitable for the time of Moses" but "completely and totally unsuitable for modern war."

Cubs Bump C.C. 48-37 In Opener

Columbia City dropped its opening basketball game Tuesday night at Pierceton in a decisive game that ended 48-37.

The small, scrappy Pierceton Cubs jumped into a 7-0 lead and were never in any trouble. Despite a distinct height disadvantage, the Cubs handled the greater percentage of rebounds, and alertly drove through the Eagle defense for nice close-in and lay-up shots. By their constant driving toward the basket, caused the Eagles to commit a total of 20 personal fouls, which was one of the deciding factors of the game. Pierceton scored 22 of its 48 point total on charity tosses.

While the Eagles were drawing 20 personals, the Cubs received 11 personal penalties, and Columbia City chalked up 13 points at the free throw line.

The hitting percentage of the Eagles was not good, about .200, but they were not successful in working the ball in for close up shots.

Pierceton held quarter leads of 20-9, 29-19, 44-27. The Cubs was unusually well balanced with three players scoring 11 points, one with 8, one five and one with two. Coach Niles did not switch from his starting lineup of Derf, Mort, E. Kissinger, R. Slusher, and Watters until the final period.

Pierceton's reserves also won, taking the preliminary game 31-26. The home team also led during practically all of the game, but the Eagles pulled up to a 29-26 score with 1:45 left to go, after the third period had ended 28-17.

New faces were seen among the Columbia City's yell leaders. Emily Carpenter and Bill Weigold are the cheerleaders for the reserve team and Carl Gipson has been added to the quartet of girls who have been leading varsity yells since last year. The girls are Lois Ruby, Susie Quinn, Pat Puckett, and Barbara Lefkowicz.

Hawks Trounce Knicks 121-95

By UNITED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks, treating the fans of their new home town to the greatest scoring spree in their club history, took over first place today in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

The Hawks soundly trounced the New York Knickerbockers, 121-95, Tuesday night for the Knicks' first loss in five games so far this season. It was the second win in three starts for the Hawk, who moved to St. Louis from Milwaukee this season but never enjoyed anywhere such a scoring night as this.

Oddly enough, the Knicks had the game's two highest scorers in rookie Ken Sears with 26 points and Gene Shue with 25, but these were the only Knicks in double figures. Six Hawks scored in two numbers, topped by Bob Pettit with 23 and Frank Selvy with 20.

The teams were tied at halftime, 43-43, but the Hawks pulled out to a 79-69 lead after three periods and breezed home. They outrebounded the Knicks, 72-45, and the cold-shooting Knicks sank only 31 of 113 shots from the floor.

In a doubleheader at Rochester tonight, Philadelphia plays Rochester and Fort Wayne meets Minneapolis.

Spieser Favored Over Paddy Young

CHICAGO (UP)—Light heavyweight Chuck Spieser, even though he has had only 19 pro tests, was a five to two favorite today to beat veteran Paddy Young in the Chicago Stadium tonight and probably improve his ninth place ranking among the 175 pounders.

It will be Young's fourth start bouts as a middleweight, and only his fourth fight in 1955. Young defeated Tony Johnson and Jesse Turner in 175 pound scraps before he lost to Willie Pastrano.
